—William Hall, who handles that branch of Wheeler & Dusenbury's business at Endeavor, was here Monday to meet Ed. Harmon of Lickingville, from whom he purchased that pretty team of black draft horses mentioned in the REPUBLICAN last week. "Billy" took the team with him and there was no parley about the price, which was quite as high as at least up to the half thousand mark. The combined weight of horses was 3,225 pounds and they were almost perfectly matched in color, size and height.
—Between 55 and 60 members of the Nebraska congregation met on Wednesday evening in the M. E. church parlor to greet their pastor, Rev. W. S. Burton and his estimable wife. After spending a "social hour" the committee in charge served a delectable spread. The plans for the evening had been kept and proved a complete surprise to Rev. and Mrs. Burton. A purse was given them and in a pleasant little speech the Pastor thanked the people for the honor paid them. All went home feeling better acquainted with their Pastor and hoping the coming year will be a profitable one to all.
—The fact that Congressman Speer has a case against the South Penn Oil Company, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company, which he argued last week in Pittsburgh before the Supreme Court, should set at rest the repeated false charges that have been made by his political opponents, that he is a Standard Oil Company man. This is not the first case he has had against the South Penn Oil Company. A few years ago he represented T. D. Collins of Forest County, in a suit against the same company involving the possession of several thousand acres of valuable oil lands in Forest County. This case also went to the Supreme Court and Mr. Speer won it for Mr. Collins.
—Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Dunkle, who conducted a boarding house for years at Halton, this county, and later at Gardner, W. Va., were in Ridgway Sat. transacting business and circulating among their friends. They made a pleasant call at this office and we are glad to learn that they have arranged to go into business again next week and will conduct a big boarding house at the busy lumber town of Mayburg, where mills are humming and an immense new wood chemical factory will soon be in operation. Mr. and Mrs. Dunkle understand their line of business and will undoubtedly succeed finely at Mayburg. Since returning from West Virginia a few weeks ago they have been making headquarters at Clarlington, Forest county.—Ridgway Advertiser.
—Misses Florence Maxwell and Clara Henry were home from Clarion to spend Sunday with their parents. They were accompanied by Miss Ethel Morgan, of Titusville, Miss Mary Brown, of Marienville, Miss Dorothy Morrow, of Franklin, and Miss Dorothy Beebe, of Pleasantville, who were their guests. The young ladies are all students at the Normal school in Clarion, where they have just completed their course. They are coming over performed a stunt in walking that most men would balk at nowadays. They walked from the Normal to Clarion Junction, a mile and a half, then coming by train to Leeper. Leaving Leeper about two o'clock they walked the eleven miles to Tionesta, arriving here at 8:30 Saturday evening. They had a jolly good time on the trip and returned to Clarion by rig and train Monday morning.
—The series of temperance lectures delivered by Rev. J. A. Lavelly in the M. E. church, under the auspices of the Tionesta Women's Christian Temperance Union, closed with a union service of the churches on Sunday evening. These lectures were of the highest order, both from a scientific and statistical standpoint, and were a treat to those interested in the question which, with respect to its influence upon the world today, is a paramount one. The earnest, convincing, practical manner in which the array of appalling facts was presented, carried conviction to the hearers. The lecture, "God's Waste in Men," is a masterpiece, and one which well merits the consideration of every cultured, thinking man and woman. The society which is responsible for the delivery of these lectures regrets that they were of minor interest to so many people, but yet trusts that out of the one hundred fifty-five school children pledged to total abstinence, at least a few will date the beginning of clean and useful lives, consecrated to the uplifting of humanity, from Mr. Lavelly's work here.

GIRL IS BURNED TO DEATH.
Ruffman Boarding House at Henry's Mills and All Contents Destroyed By Fire.
By the burning of the large boarding house of Mrs. Charles Ruffman, at Henry's Mills, a few miles above Lynch, on Tionesta creek, Monday night, one daughter, Augusta Ruffman, aged 12 years, was burned to death, and two other children of the same family were severely burned about the head and body. All the inmates were obliged to leave the burning building with only their night robes on, losing all their belongings in the fire.
At about 12:30 o'clock Rose Ruffman, aged 16, who slept with her deceased sister in a bed room off the kitchen, was awakened by smoke. Jumping out of bed she yelled to Augusta and then dashed out of the room yelling fire. Returning to the kitchen she was unable to get into the bed room again because of the flames and was badly burned about the face and hands in dashing through the house to safety.
In a very few moments after the discovery of the fire the whole house seemed to be enveloped in flames. Mrs. Ruffman escaped in her night gown, and all the boarders, of whom there were several, were also forced to leave the house in their night clothes.
Charley Ruffman, aged 13, slept on a sofa in the sitting room. In escaping he was badly burned about the face and hands. It is believed by the attending surgeon that the burns sustained by both Charley and Rose will not permanently disfigure them.
It is thought that Augusta Ruffman after getting out of the bed fainted, she being subject to fainting spells. Her badly charred body was later found near the head of the bed. The remains were in a kneeling posture, the arms resting on the springs. It is believed she became confused and was groping her way toward the door when seized with the fainting spell.
The fire is believed to have caught from the kitchen stove or was caused by a cat jumping on the kitchen table and overturning a kerosene lamp.
The husband of Mrs. Ruffman went to California about five years ago and never returned. Mrs. Ruffman had since cared for her family through the help of a son, John, and by keeping boarders.
The house was a large one and located at the east end of the creek bridge. The loss on the building and contents is a total one, there being no insurance on either. Much sympathy is expressed in the neighborhood for Mrs. Ruffman in this calamity.

Recent Deaths.
STERILE.
Mrs. Archibald B. Kelly and Mrs. Sule H. May Sharpe, with the members of their family, are again called to mourn the loss of one of their dear ones. On Tuesday evening, Oct. 8, 1912, at Waukegan, Illinois, their niece, Mrs. Bessie Louise Steele, passed into the "great beyond," after an illness of several months. She was the third daughter of Mr. John B. and Mrs. Josephine May Loguard, and was born in Waukegan, Jan. 10, 1872. Her parents bestowed upon her a fine education and she was an accomplished singer and artist. She developed great degree of character and a most loving and affectionate disposition. Her quickness of apprehension, her bright, vivacious manner, her amiability of temper, and unselfish regard were the prominent characteristics of her young girlhood.
"None knew her but to love her; None named her but to praise."
She left the parental roof Nov. 16, 1892, and was united in marriage with Mr. Nelson A. Steele, a prominent and successful banker of Waukegan, who is left with their two children, Charles Nelson and Bertha, to mourn the loss of a devoted wife and mother. Mrs. Steele's death is an overwhelming sorrow to her father and mother, who have already laid to rest their two daughters, Mrs. Bertha May Bieckley, of Franklin, Pa., and Mrs. F. Augusta Vassar, of Waukegan. Their four sons, William May, Dr. John B., Jr., Huntington May and Archibald Kelly, are left to comfort them and to mourn the loss of a beloved sister.

Big Dams Would Not Hold.
A Franklin correspondent to the Derrick under date of Saturday, says:
That an impending dam constructed on French creek, three miles above the mouth of that stream, would be a constant menace to all property below it is the belief of W. T. Bell, who is better acquainted with the geological formations in Venango county than any other man. As soon as Government Engineers Ashcraft, Archbold and Roub arrived in Franklin a few days ago they were told of Mr. Bell's knowledge in this respect and they interviewed him in regard to the geological formation of the section in which the dam is proposed to be constructed. He told them that crevices in rocks are frequent in this region, and to prove his statement he took the engineers to the abandoned reservoir at the head of Smiths run. He explained to them that the reservoir had been constructed at a large cost, but on account of the crevice in the rock formation it was never of any use. Mr. Bell says the formation in the vicinity of Sugarcraft station is practically the same.
Mr. Bell was asked if the same menace would exist with regard to the proposed dam on the river above Oil City and he said he thought the formation was about the same. The Franklin men is one of the most enthusiastic opponents of the Pittsburgh Flood Commission's project. He says that Pittsburgh has no right to inflict an injury to this community to eliminate the flood nuisance that could be overcome by the construction of a flood wall at Pittsburgh at a much less cost.

COL. ROOSEVELT SHOT BY CRANK.
Insane Man's Attempt Upon The Life of Ex-President at Milwaukee. Wound Not Serious Say The Physicians.
MILWAUKEE, Oct. 14.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt was shot and slightly wounded tonight as he was leaving the Gilpatrick hotel for the auditorium to make a speech. The wound was superficial and the colonel went on to the hall and began his speech after he had seen the assailant arrested and taken to the police station. With the colonel were Philip Roosevelt, a young cousin, Mr. Coehens, Mr. Martin and Captain Girard.
The crowd pressed close about the colonel and gave a cheer as he appeared. As the party approached the automobile, Colonel Roosevelt's companions stood aside and he stepped into the car. Martin entered directly behind him, and sat on the further side of the car.
Colonel Roosevelt stood up, waving his hat, in answer to the cheers of the crowd. The assassin was standing in the crowd, a few feet from the auto. He pushed his way to the side of the car and, raising his gun, fired.
Henry F. Coehens, chairman of the Speakers' Bureau of the Progressive party, seized the man and held him until policemen came up. A mob surged around the prisoner, who apparently is mentally upset on the subject of Roosevelt's running for another term as President.
The man, who is small of stature, admitted firing the shot and said, "Any man looking for a third term ought to be shot."
In notes found in the man's pockets at the police station were statements that the man had been visited in a dream by the spirit of Wm. McKinley, who had said, indicating Colonel Roosevelt, "this is my murderer, avenge my death."
"Lynch him! Kill him!" cried a hundred men. The crowd pressed in on them and Martin and Captain Girard who had followed Martin over the side of the automobile, were caught with their prisoner in the midst of a struggling throng of maddened men. It seemed for the moment that he would be torn to pieces by the infuriated men, and it was Colonel Roosevelt himself who intervened in his behalf. He raised his hand and motioned the crowd to fall back. "Stop! Stop! Stop!" he cried, "stand back; don't hurt him."
As soon as they reached the building, Colonel Roosevelt was taken into a dressing room, and his outer garments were removed. Dr. Terrell, with two other doctors, made a superficial examination of the wound. They agreed that it was impossible to hazard a guess as to the extent of the colonel's injuries and that he should be calm and go at once to a hospital.
Colonel Roosevelt rose and walked to the edge of the platform to quiet the crowd. He raised his hand and instantly there was silence. "It's true," he said. Then slowly he unbuttoned his coat and placed his hand on his breast. Those in the front of the crowd could catch a sight of the blood-stained garment. "I'm going to ask you to be very quiet," said Colonel Roosevelt, "and please excuse me from making you a very long speech. I'll do the best I can but you see there's a bullet in my body. But it's nothing. I'm not hurt badly." After that he talked for more than an hour. Then he was rushed to his automobile and flashed through the streets to the emergency hospital.
An examination of the wound showed that it had been made by a bullet of large size. It entered the fleshy part of the right breast, half way between the collarbone and the lower rib. The physicians found that they knew no more after their examination than before, as to the location of the bullet, and it was decided to send for an X-ray machine to determine to what depth the missile had penetrated. While he was waiting for the X-ray machine, Colonel Roosevelt sat up on the operating table and talked politics and joked with the physicians.
The colonel's assailant refused first to give an account of himself to the police officers, but after a long siege the statement was forced from him that he was John Schrenk, of 370 East Tenth street, New York. Clippings found in the colonel's pockets showed that he had studied Colonel Roosevelt's itinerary carefully, with the evident intention of selecting the place at which he might accomplish what he had in mind. The information that he formerly lived at 370 East Tenth street was confirmed by Mrs. Steve Antiko who lives at No. 270 on the same street. Mrs. Antiko said the description of the man who shot Roosevelt seemed to tally with that of the man she knew. She said Schrenk's wife was conducting his laundry at 370 East Tenth street, and she was talking with Mayor Gaynor at the time and after hearing the news sat silent for several minutes. The President said to learn of the assault upon Colonel Roosevelt and I am glad to say that no harm was done.
Gov. Wilson heard the news at his home in Princeton, N. J., and said: "It is with the greatest distress that I hear this," said Governor Wilson, "but I rejoice that Colonel Roosevelt has apparently escaped serious injury."
