Republican Ticket.

President—Hon. William H. Taft, of Ohio.
 Vice President—Hon. J. S. Sherman, of New York.
 State Treasurer—Hon. R. K. Young, of Tioga County.
 Auditor General—Hon. A. W. Powell, of Allegheny County.
 Congress-at-Large—F. E. Lewis, of Lehigh County; A. R. Ruple, of Cumberland County; A. H. Walters, of Cambria County; J. M. Morris, of Allegheny County.
 Congress—Hon. P. M. Speer, of Venango County.
 Assembly—Hon. A. R. Meehling, of Clarion.

VOTE for A. R. Meehling. Forest county needs a representative in Harrisburg this winter who has the ability to cope with the water power grabbers. Meehling has had the experience and is by long odds the very man to send to the legislature. Be sure your vote counts for him.

EVERY veteran soldier and every friend of our worthy veterans in the 28th district owes it to himself and to his steadfast friend and benefactor, Congressman Speer, to give him loyal support at the election next Tuesday. No representative ever did more for the Union soldier than Mr. Speer, and we believe every one of them has the gratitude to repay him with hearty support in this campaign. Help to return him to Congress where he can accomplish still more for good to you and to all the people of his district.

ACCORDING to all reports Hon. Peter M. Speer, Republican candidate for Congress, stands exceptionally well in Mercer county. On Friday evening he closed his speaking tour of that county. He has addressed meetings at Fredonia, Shenandoah, Sandy Lake, Greenville, and Paradise. At each place he has been listened to by large audiences, and leaves the county in splendid shape. In each address he has been fearless and frank in his discussion of the principles of the campaign. He evaded none, and his views have been so liberal that he has made many new friends and supporters.

If the Payne-Aldrich tariff law is such a fearful bad act as the Democrats try to make it out why it is that the country is enjoying the greatest degree of prosperity ever known in history? The Democrats say they will destroy this tariff measure if they win. Does that not mean that our wonderful prosperity will be destroyed with it? Did it not happen so when the Democrats passed the Wilson bill in 1893? Do you remember the years of distress that followed that act? Do you want more of it? If you vote for it you do not want more of it in the neck. A Democratic President and Congress will give you the dose.

HON. A. R. MEHLING has the unanimous endorsement of the Progressive or Washington party in this county for Assembly. His name will appear on the ballot in both the Republican and Washington party columns. Supporters of Col. Roosevelt for the Presidency who desire to vote for Mr. Meehling must use the Washington party column. If they vote in any other column their ballot will not count for either Congress or Assembly. This point should be borne in mind when marking your ballot. See that you are well informed before entering the booth to mark your ballot. Republicans who desire to vote a straight party ticket have simply to put a cross X in the square connected with the name "Republican" on the left of the big ballot sheet.

ALTHOUGH a man of only moderate means, and by no manner of means a wealthy man at all, Peter M. Speer has not gone over the district with a hard luck story to sing to the voters. While the average voter sympathizes with the poor man and is ready to help him, all other things being equal, he has no time for a "whiner" whose only claim to an office is that he needs the salary attached to it. Whatever Speer is in point of ability and manly character he has made himself by hard study and honest, persistent effort. The National House of Representatives had no able men than he and there is no taint of jobbery or trickery in his record as a member of Congress and there never would be any, no matter how long he served the people. What the average voter admires most in a candidate is a plain, straightforward, frank and manly man, who fights in the open and who takes his bumps without a grimace, and from whom you never hear a whine or whimper. Such a man is Peter M. Speer, and the people of this district will re-elect him for the good he has done, and for the good he will be able to bring to his people in the future.

—President Taft's visit to Cambridge Springs, Crawford county, last Saturday, where he spoke at the dedication of a new Polish college was what might justly be termed a triumphal tour. All along the way, while his visit was in no sense a political one, vast throngs met and cheered the President and gave him such a welcome as must have been an inspiration to him. At Meadville ten thousand people turned out to greet him, and on his homeward trip stop after stop were made at Union City, Corry, Warren, Sheffield and Kane, and at each place the crowds were so large that many were unable to get within hearing of the big-hearted chief executive, and in every case he was cheered to the echo. At Kane, where the last stop was made, after nine o'clock in the evening, practically the whole population had turned out to greet the President who made them a splendid five-minute speech, congratulating them upon the fact that they were sharing well in the great prosperity that our whole country is now enjoying.

Speer Earnestly in Favor of Conservation of Our Natural Resources For the Benefit of All The People.

In his speech at Spring Creek, Warren county, Monday evening, before a large and enthusiastic gathering of voters, Congressman Speer expressed himself in these strong terms on the proposed water power grants on Tionesta creek:

"One of the most progressive ideas in our governmental policy is the conservation of our remaining timber lands, mineral lands and water power sites for the benefit of the people and so as to prevent their getting into the hands of a few syndicates.

"The withdrawal of these lands from the public entry was a great advance and we now need proper legislation covering the subject so that we, the people, who own these natural resources, may derive benefit from them in the future.

"No general act was reported out of Committee during the last session of Congress covering this most important subject, but on the other hand a number of special bills were reported granting special privileges to certain companies to build dams on certain streams and principally in the southern states. I opposed all these special grants, one of which finally passed the House, known as the Coosa River Dam Bill. It provided for the granting of the right to a company to build a dam on the Coosa River to create electric power without any adequate regard to giving the public any share of the profits to be derived therefrom. I voted against this bill as well as all other such legislation, and it was vetoed by the President.

"I opposed charters to dam Tionesta Creek. This question has been brought home to us by the efforts of certain parties to obtain charters to build dams on Tionesta Creek. My action in this matter shows my attitude upon this question. While not a part of my congressional duties, I immediately filed a protest against the granting of these charters in which I particularly protested on account of the monopoly it would create of the water power privileges of Tionesta Creek, as well as on account of the grave danger of flooding the entire Allegheny valley in case of a break in the dams.

"The people of Forest county were aroused at the outrage proposed and a vigorous fight was made against granting the charters, in aid of which I used all influence I could bring to bear. As a result the charters to dam Tionesta Creek were refused. Later during last spring new applications were filed and I immediately made a trip from Washington to Harrisburg to file a new protest in order that action could not be taken without a proper opportunity for a hearing. As a result of protests filed the applications were held over and I believe will never be granted. I intend to continue my fight against this outrageous proposal to dam Tionesta Creek to the great danger of all the people of the valley.

"In addition I am opposed to all such grants as creating a monopoly and granting valuable franchise to special interests without compensation. I shall earnestly oppose all such special grants by Congress."

Base Ingratitude.

In trying to justify his action in deserting the Republican party, and becoming a candidate for congress in opposition to the regular nominee, General Hulings endeavored to convey the idea that he has been ill treated by the Republican organization. Nothing could be farther from the truth. A way back in the early '80's he was sent to the legislature, where he was known as the "Oil Prince." That he was given Venango county no fewer than three different times, in his candidacy for the state senate, without opposition, would indicate that the organization was not opposed to him. More than this, the organization has repeatedly showered favors upon him, and his attacks upon it now that he believes it to be his political interest to do so, does not speak well for his sense of gratitude. Political favors have been extended to him in many ways. Through the assistance of the Republican organization he has had two positions appointed as cadets at Annapolis, a position much sought after and generally considered the best appointments any boy can have. More than this, when in the state senate he obtained a free scholarship in the State College for another son, and had still another son made secretary of the State Board of Health. Thus four of the Hulings boys were taken care of, and yet he claims the Republican organization was opposed to him.

In addition to this the "Penrose ring," as he calls it, appointed him a member of the State Armory Board, which position he still holds and is drawing therefrom the salary of $1,500 a year and expenses, which is a sinecure, pure and simple, as there is nothing for him to do. While holding this position, a beneficiary of the "Penrose ring" and "meat out of the trough," as he calls it, he issues a circular claiming that the old parties are both corrupt, and feeding from the same trough and while feeding from it himself he is going about the country crying out against the people who have showered him with favors. He bites the hand that feeds him before the meal is over, and then tries to arouse sympathy on the ground that "the bosses" are against him.

Shakespeare said: "I hate ingratitude more in a man than lying, villainness, babbling, drunkenness, or any taint of vice." Were he on earth at present, and in this district he would hardly be whooping it up for Hulings—Oil City Billiard.

Porkey.

J. W. Littlefield has the job of framing the timber for the new barn to be built by Conroy Groves on Whig Hill, to replace the one burned down by lightning last summer, when he lost everything he had. John will begin this work this week if nothing happens to prevent.

Claude Littlefield has again moved back to this town and is living in the F. A. Littlefield house.

Mrs. J. W. Littlefield returned last week from a visit with her son in Warren county.

Mr. Henton, father of William and John, fell at the home of his son William at Sheriff, and made a bad scalp wound on his head when he struck a door casing but in spite of his age he is getting along fine. He is past 82 years of age.

On account of the carelessness of the patrons of this school there is a lot of pupils missing nearly half of the school and we are sorry to see this. It not only keeps the child back but it makes it very unpleasant for the teachers who have to split the classes for those behind. The patrons keep them out on the weakest kind of an excuse and we hope they will take a look at it and see what they are doing, or there will be something doing that will make Christmas money scarce and the town will go dry.

Simon Allaire was down from Cherry Grove last week with some farm produce, and was looking for a two-year-old critter that has been missing for several weeks.

A private telephone line has been started here that will reach Henrys Mill when completed, making it very convenient for those who are connected to it. Some are falling in line while others are hanging back, but we feel confident that those who are going on will not regret it when they see how handy one of these boxes is in the house.

The Allaire sisters have rented a room at the Heasley house and begun light house-keeping. One teaches at Sheriff and the other at this place.

Ben. Brennan of the United States Navy is the guest of his brother L. R., at Minister, a part of his furlough.

Fred Klinestiver and a force of men are clearing out the cellar of the Fools Creek store building and are going to put in a cement wall eighteen inches thick which is a large job, but these gentlemen are equal to the task set before them as they have had a lot of experience in the concrete line in the repairs made on the S. & T. railway road bed.

Miss May Eschelman is the guest of Mrs. Meager while her daughter Jannie is away on a visit.

Marion Rupert rode his wheel to Sheffield on Saturday to purchase materials for the correct celebration of Hallowe'en.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Blum were up from Kingsley on Sunday looking over their house here and are expecting to move back to Porkey next month.

There was a fellow at Balltown had a narrow escape with a game warden on Sunday last, which shows there is yet a shade of law in Forest county.

John Black and family spent Sunday at Cozy Nook, the guest of relatives in this beautiful place.

Dame Honor has it that there is to be a gasoline plant built at Minister this fall, and we are glad to hear it, for it may give some of our under-tired mortals something to do and save us from starvation.

NO TROLLEYS ON NEW ROADS

Gov. Toler Refuses Applications of Traction Companies.

Governor John K. Tolan's refusal to approve applications for charters for street railways in Pennsylvania which desire to use portions of state highways for their tracks is taken to mean that he proposes to keep the main highways free from trolleys. The state highway system embraces about 8,000 miles and, when completed, will be the finest set of roads in the country.

It is surmised that the position taken is due to the belief that, within a short period, the trolley companies, like the steam railroads, will be operating over their own rights of way, the demands of speedy transportation, for shipping facilities, now that they may carry freight, and the use of large cars, putting them into a position where they must have as much control of property or roadway as possible.

MANY BARNS BURNED

State Officials Surprised at Number of Rural Fires.

Pennsylvania Fire Marshal Baldwin, who is commencing to get results from the fire report service which he has been organizing to extend into every city, borough and township in Pennsylvania, has been somewhat surprised at the number of fires reported from rural districts, especially barns. Investigations are undertaken as soon as reports of a suspicious nature are received.

In the list of fires reported so far this month have been over fifty fires in barns. In the majority of these the fires started from green hay which took fire after being stored. This is said to be a common cause for fires in barns.
