The Gilfoyle Oil & Gas Co., of Kane, recently struck another good gasser on their 1200-acre tract near Gilfoyle, this county, said to be good for a million and a half feet a day. This is only one of many good wells in that territory. With the drilling in of this well operations will cease for the winter, but will again be started in the spring. The Gilfoyle Co. sells its gas to the Tri-County Gas Co. as its own and never dies and the agents who come around and bore holes in fruit trees, filling them up with sulphur and iron rust mixed, or with cyanide mixtures, which gradually kill the tree, are proofs of the fact. If one appears in your vicinity, get the sheriff after him for obtaining money under false pretenses. There is no such thing as "vacuuming" trees in a way to do them any good whatever, thus positively asserts the Franklin News, and the News must know.

Bear in mind that every time you purchase one of the Red Cross Christmas Seals, little emblems of health, you are assisting some individual fight tuberculosis. If you buy a hundred or a thousand you are doing that much towards eliminating the dreaded white plague, the greatest enemy of man kind. They will soon be on sale at the various business houses in all communities. Make up your mind to purchase some, for the existence of Bon Air Sanatorium at Belle Camp, Penna., means much to you.

While driving in a buggy over the Smoky Hill road Sunday evening, and when near the school house, Jacob Armbruster saw a big black bear leisurely strolling down the road toward him. The horse first noticed the big fellow and pricked up his ears suspiciously. Bruin kept the road until within a few yards of the horse and then turned off into the woods, and it is well perhaps, that he did, for the chances are if he hadn't, Jake and the horse would have. Neither was inclined to dispute the right of way with the ferocious looking brute.

A week of the deer season has passed without a kill so far as reports go. This noble game animal is fast passing off the scene, and the capture of one will soon be as much of a wonder as the slaughter of a roaming buffalo, with which the western prairie once teemed, or the bagging of a wild pigeon with whose flight the heavens were often darkened. We see it stated that the incoming legislature intends to prohibit the killing of deer in this state for a period of three years. The prohibition should be made absolute. Never should another of these wonderful beauties be legally slain within the borders of the Commonwealth.

Since the Bon Air sanatorium at Belle Camp near Bradford and the Grandview sanatorium were consolidated recently, under the title of the Northwestern Anti-Tuberculosis League, it is believed the efficiency of the institution for good to the poor sufferers will be more than doubled. Harry Alvan Hall, Kellettville; W. H. Davis, Kane; Hon. W. E. Rice and E. D. Wetmore, Warren; Hon. N. P. Wheeler, Endeavor; S. Y. Hancock and W. T. Borkland, Oil City; O. D. Bakerly and Hon. J. C. Sibbey, Franklin; John H. Schwida, Titusville; M. F. Melvin, Bradford. The main office of the institution will be at Bradford under the management of Mr. Melvin.

The upward movement in the oil market is general for all grades. On Wednesday the price of Canada oil was advanced two cents making the market $1.40. On Friday North and South Lima, Indiana, Princeton and Illinois light and heavy were each given two cents additional, making North Lima $1.11, South Lima and Indiana $1.05, Illinois light 94 and heavy 91 and Princeton 94 cents. On the same day the price of Wooster oil was advanced five cents making the price $1.23. The price of Pennsylvania oil was raised another nickel, making the price $1.75, to which a "premium" is still to be added in almost all fields producing this grade, making the price $1.85. Pennsylvania oil got another raise of five cents Monday, making the price under the premium $1.80.

The right to take private land and other property for a private enterprise, the right of eminent domain as it is called, is one that ought very rarely to be given to any citizen or body of citizens. When it should be used for privately owned enterprises it should be granted jealously and with practically the unanimous consent of the people. Once given, it can not be taken away and only for the public good should this supreme power be delegated. The demand of the promoters of the scheme to erect dangerous dams, that the incoming Legislature grant them the power of eminent domain, is deserving of the prompt opposition of every citizen. Under the name of "conservation" they plan to seize streams useful for creating light, heat and power all over the Commonwealth, to make them private property, take to themselves this great natural source of wealth, endanger with such dams as wiped out Johnstown and Austin, the lives and properties of the public and sit comfortable and safe while they get the dividends they can squeeze from the public. There are many kinds of legal rascality, but this is a kind which seeks legitimacy which it does not now have. The best men of the state will oppose it with every means at hand and the member of the incoming Legislature who votes for it votes for his own retirement to private life. The better class of newspapers will remain hostile to any such project and the Oil City Derrick especially is to be admired and congratulated for the public for its enterprise in securing and publishing inside facts as to this scheme to wrong the people.-Franklin News.

A Mighty Close Call.

A Fryburg correspondent sends us the following account of a near fatal hunting accident:

When returning from the woods where he had been hunting Monday morning, Conrad Dechant stopped to talk with one of his neighbors. He set the butt of his shotgun on the ground and rested his left hand on the muzzle. He had killed three red squirrels which he had in a hunting bag which was hanging from his shoulder. While talking the bag-strap broke and the bag hit the trigger of the gun. The full charge of shot went through his hand, tearing a large hole in the hand. Twenty shot lodged in the muscles of his neck under the angle of the jaw on the left side. Several cut furrows on the left cheek and lodged below the eyebrow but did not injure the eye. He spit out a number of shot. One shot broke off a piece of a decayed tooth. It was necessary to put two stitches in his upper lip and a dozen in the hand. His face is badly swollen and the left eye swollen shut. The jugular vein on the left side is surrounded by shot but not injured. He will recover. At present writing he is suffering from considerable pain in the hand due to injury to the nerves. Dr. J. M. Hess is attending the injured man.

The November Court.

The attendance was small at the opening of the November term of criminal court Monday morning, and after a few motions and arguments were heard and the constables' returns made, the court was adjourned until the third Monday in December. Judges Hinckley, Aul and Morgan were present.

An opinion was handed down reducing the verdict to $310 in the case of Elmer Walters vs. Dunn, Landers & Co., giving the plaintiff twenty days to accept or reject the amended verdict. In case the amended verdict is objected to a new trial will be granted.

The case of the Commonwealth vs. Maud Hullings was continued upon the renewal of the bail bond, and was also that of the Com. vs. P. Phillips.

Upon motion the case of E. M. Bigelow vs. The Sheffield and Tionesta Railroad was discontinued on payment of costs.

In the settlement of the estate of Victor Pequinot, of Barnett township, deceased, sixty acres of land was set aside for the use of Jane Pequinot, widow of the deceased.

Bail in the sum of $500 was declared forfeited in the case of the Com. vs. Charles O. Thomas upon a charge of receiving stolen goods.

The widow's appraisement was confirmed in the estate of Andrew Babonick, deceased.

A motion was made to quash the mandamus proceedings in the case of W. M. Wolcott et al. vs. The Tionesta Water Supply Company. This case was continued until the third Monday in December, when a hearing will be held.

The first and final account of G. T. Anderson, executor of the last will and testament of Mary Ann Canfield, deceased, was confirmed nisi.

G. A. R. Post Meeting.

At a special meeting of Capt. George Stow Post, No. 274, on Tuesday, 12th inst., to consider the advisability of disbanding pursuant to cards sent to the members, there was a good attendance of the members. It was thought by some that on account of the decreased membership, caused by migration and death of late years, and the consequent light attendance, that it would be policy to discontinue the monthly meetings. This was duly considered and after discussion it was resolved unanimously that we continue as an organization an order which has had its meetings since 1882, and consequently about thirty years old. Many other organizations since that time, having been of a kind of mushroom character, have faded away and been lost sight of, but the Post has prospered marvellously through all these years, thanks to the patriotism, zeal and efficiency of the good Woman's Relief Corps, which has been a continuous aid and encouragement to our beloved order. This is appreciated and understood, and without that aid the Post would long ago "have gone over the woodbine twine." But one spirit seemed to prevail at the meeting-that we must still support the Post-and the vote for its continuance was unanimous.

Remarks were made by most of the members and officers in attendance, and the burden of the song was, "let the good work go on!" that we were the only Post in the county, and that it was likely that since the disbanding of Berlin Post at East Hickory some of the members might now take it into their heads to unite with us, as they could come down on the 11 train and return on the 3:30 p. m. train, and fix the meeting here at 1:30 p. m. This would be convenient, and would in a measure swell our numbers and prolong our existence. These points were all, and many more, hopefully, earnestly and ably argued by Comrade Robinson, Adjutant Clark, Chaplain Feit, Q. M. Irwin, S. V. Walford, O. D. Eden, and Comrades Walters and Lindal. All formed and expressed themselves favorably.

The next regular meeting will be held on Tuesday, Dec. 3, at 1:30 p. m., at the Hall. It is an important meeting, and there will be the yearly inspection of the Post, as well as the election of officers for the year 1913. It is to be hoped that there will be a full attendance on the occasion and be a rally of the comrades.

CAMPBELL.
Geraldine, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Campbell of Torpedo, Warren county, died Wednesday evening at the home of her aunt, Mrs. John Godell, at North Warren, after an illness covering a period of five weeks with diabetes. The parents were former residents of Tionesta where the sweet little girl is remembered by many. She was aged about seven years. Bright and prepossessing and of a very cheerful disposition, the child was the light of her parents' lives and her sad taking away has caused them greatest sorrow. The funeral was held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of John Godell of North Warren. ELLIS.

Elizabeth Lowrey was born in County King, Ireland, May 2, 1836, and died, after quite a lingering illness, at the home of her son, William H. Ellis, in this place, on last Saturday evening, Nov. 16, 1912, at about eight o'clock, aged 76 years, six months and fourteen days. In the year 1861 she pledged her troth to William Ellis, also a native of the same county in Ireland, and the day following their marriage they sailed for America, arriving in New York City on the following Easter Sunday. They resided in New York until 1866, when attracted by the early oil excitement they removed to Tidouite, Pa., where they resided until some twenty-six years ago, when the accidental death of her husband left this good mother with a family of three small children to care for. Some fifteen years ago the family moved to this place, where they have since resided. Early in life Mrs. Ellis was confirmed and became a member and communicant of the church of England, to which faith she consistently adhered until the final summons came. She was the mother of five children, two of whom survive, as follows: William H. Ellis, of Tionesta, and Robert J. Ellis, of Tidouite. She is also survived by ten grandchildren. As an evidence of the high esteem in which the deceased was held in this community a large number of neighbors and friends assembled at the home of her son at 10 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, where very impressive funeral services were conducted by Rev. H. A. Bailey, pastor of the Presbyterian church, after which the body was taken by train to Tidouite for burial.

Suicide of Former Marienville Resident.

Albert Maze, aged about 35 years and single, committed suicide Wednesday afternoon last in the toilet room of a barber shop at Warren by cutting his throat with a new pocket knife he had purchased and hour before with the evident intention of committing the rash act. His home had been in Marienville in which community he was well known. He had lately been employed by Hart & Henderson, lumbermen, near Sheffield, and prior to that at Kane where his sister resides. His father, mother and one brother also survive, the father being employed at Dahoga, while the mother is at present living in Kane. Despondency on account of ill health and worry over financial matters is supposed to have been the cause of the suicide.

The facts in connection with this distressing affair are about as follows: A few minutes after 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon Maze walked into the Reed Brothers barber shop and, getting into a chair asked quietly to be shaved. He talked little to the barber who waited upon him, and no sign of drink or other unusual excitement was visible about the customer. After being shaved, he went down stairs to a toilet room. Returning he stopped a copy of Leslie's Weekly. Then he went out. As he passed out, he neglected to pay his bill, and at the door, Proprietor Reed asked him if he had his check.

"I beg your pardon," said Maze, "I overlooked it; I was thinking of something else." He tendered three nickels in payment. Then he left the shop, and went across the street to a hardware store where he purchased a cheap knife which he used with such terrible effect. In a few minutes he returned to the barber shop asking in a low tone if he might again go to the toilet room on the floor below. He was handed a key, and those in the shop never gave the subject another thought. An hour later, when Grant Mathews went down stairs, he returned with a white face and reported what he had seen. In a room under the street, forward from the toilet rooms, and used as a store room, lay the body, the throat cut from ear to ear, and the head so jammed by the fall of the body that the head hung back, just about half severed from the trunk.

Mr. Reed telephoned the police and the Coroner, and Chief John Berdino, arriving in a few minutes, took charge of the body pending the arrival of the Coroner. The man must have been possessed of a desperate nerve, for two slashes had been made, the second one severing the jugular vein. The suicide had staggered about five feet after inflicting the first wound, and then, apparently, after again gashing himself with his knife, had fallen on his face. The loss of blood made the room a fearful sight.

The man was well dressed in a blue suit of basket weave, wearing a black working shirt. In the pockets were found 25 cents in coin, a few cigars, and in the pocket of the shirt a letter addressed to "Albert Maze, Sheffield, Pa., care Hart Henderson Lumber Camp." This was about the only clue. The merchants and maker's label had been removed from a soft brown hat, but the suit of clothes bore the label of Will Epstein, a Sheffield clothier.

The letter was from a woman signing the name "Sadie." The letter had been mailed on November 21, and dealt with private family affairs. It was marked to be returned to "218 Bayard Street, Kane, Pa." and it was in this way that identification was established.
