Oleomargarine always fresh, always the same price and making new friends each day, at 20c per pound in nine pound lots, at the Salmon Creek Mercantile Co., Kellettville, Pa.

James Canfield has the right about ready to drill a well on the Canfield heirs land on the river hill, across from town. The well is located just across the road from the watering trough.

Acknowledgment of subscription renewals is made as follows, with thanks: M. L. Weikal, West Hickory; Miss Nancy C. Morrow, Tidoute; E. W. Salsgiver, Tylersburg; Jacob Busch, Starr.

Another 5 cent raise in the price of Pennsylvania oil Saturday inspires the hope that before the holidays $2.00 oil will be here as a Christmas gift for the producer. Perhaps more than that.

Why pay an agent six or seven dollars for a National Vacuum carpet cleaner when you can get one for four dollars with a year's subscription to the best paper published in Forest county thrown into the bargain.

Henry Wagner, son of Jacob E. Wagner, of River Hill, while crawling over a fence Saturday with an axe in his hand, received a bad cut on his right leg above the knee. He came to town and Dr. Dunn sewed up the wound.

Union Thanksgiving services will be held in the M. E. church tomorrow, Thursday, evening at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. G. A. Garrett of the Free Methodist church will preach the sermon, and a cordial invitation is extended to all.

Wait till Dec. 6th to select your Christmas presents. That's the evening on which the ladies of the Presbyterian church will hold their annual bazaar, and you are no doubt aware of the many pretty things they always have on sale.

Gov. Tener has issued a state thanksgiving proclamation, following the custom of naming the same day the President has, Nov. 28th, to-morrow. So you may also legally follow custom by eating a big dinner, and "taking your medicine" afterwards.

Committee No. 3 of the Ladies Aid will serve a good hot supper in the dining hall of the Presbyterian church, Friday evening, Dec. 6, bazaar night. The eating begins promptly at 5:30 o'clock, the price will be 25 cents, and the supper will be worth double the money.

Following is the list of letters lying unclaimed for in the Tionesta, Pa., post-office for week ending November 27, 1912: Mr. Lee S. Trimm, Miss Lillian Irwin, Prof. W. M. Denison, Mrs. M. J. Barr, R. A. Bryant, Richard Erwin.

The civil service examination for the position of postmaster at Cooksburg, this county, which was to have been held on the 15th inst., has been postponed to Dec. 7th, at Clarion, as heretofore stated. Applicants will be furnished with full information by the postmaster at Cooksburg on request.

J. A. Adams shipped 470 dressed chickens to Boston last week to be used in furnishing a Thanksgiving dinner which the Salvation Army gives each year. The shipment weighed over 1700 pounds and required 10 large sugar barrels in packing. The express charges amounted to nearly $28.00.

Last Sunday practically ended the beautiful fall weather which this latitude had been enjoying for several weeks previous, and in the early morning hours robins were singing and chirping as upon a spring morning when preparing to set up business for the summer. But, unlike the beginning of spring weather, they must in this instance have been the harbingers of winter, for since then we've had a fairly good fall of snow, and the robin's song has been superseded by the accelerated click of the gas meter.

—Our old friend and former chum, R. C. Shriver, who is prosperously located at Coody's Bluff, Oklahoma, has again placed us under obligations to him for a generous supply of large, fat Oklahoma peacocks, enough to keep the family munching all winter. Our best thanks, Rob., and may your shadow and the peacock crop never grow less.

—The Western Stock Journal is one of the handsome monthly publications to reach this office within a few days past. It is published at Oregon City, Ore., and we note the name of our former citizen, William A. Shewman, as editor. The Journal, which is profusely illustrated, is devoted exclusively to the stock raising industry and judging from the copy before us we would predict for the new magazine decided success from the start.

—We now approach the season when brazen automobile manufacturers try to slip one over on the publishers of country newspapers by mailing them letters and circulars, more or less cleverly constructed, and especially designed to advertise their machines, remarks the Oil City Blizzard. Could they know how unerringly and regularly the missives wind up in the waste basket they might readjust their spark-plugs and thereby save postage. No one paper in a thousand publishes the stuff.

—Joseph G. Richards, formerly of Mayburg, but now residing at Warren, has been here the past week as the representative of a company of capitalists who expect to do some deep drilling for oil in this vicinity. Mr. Richards has already taken a large number of leases within a radius of a mile or two of the borough limits and expects to have several hundred acres under lease shortly. His company will make a test of the deeper sands and will drive the drill below any depth that has ever been attained heretofore in this locality. Here's the hopin'.

—County medical inspector, Dr. F. J. Bovard, has received word from State health commissioner, Dr. S. G. Dixon, to the effect that it has been reported to the State department that whooping cough prevails in the borough schools, and calling his attention to the law's regulations in such cases. It may be that on account of this notice a number of pupils will be deprived of schooling for some time to come. A strict enforcement of the rules governing whooping cough would cause such a degree of absenteeism as to practically nullify the work of the schools.

—Ellis C. Shawkey of Warren, a former Forest county boy, while suffering from a temporary aberration, used a heavy cane in an assault upon three of the citizens of that place last Friday evening, and was held on a charge of aggravated assault and battery and for carrying concealed weapons. The parties whom he attacked were I. N. Adams, George Bogren and Charles Gordon, employed at a meat market, on the latter of whom he attempted to pull a revolver, but was prevented from shooting by the concerted action of the three men. Ellis was admitted to bail in the sum of $800, having waived a hearing before Justice Wheeler.

—The "boy problem" is the foremost theme in American life. It has been the glorious privilege of about a half dozen men to set about to save and to restore the youth, to study the ways and thoughts of the boy. Foremost among this select and devoted few "Path Finders" of boyhood is Dr. Roscoe Luper Foulke, a brilliant and inspiring speaker. He is recommended by such men as ex-Governor or Hoeh of Kansas, Judge Willis Brown of Utah, and Dr. E. E. Hight of Denver, Colorado. Dr. Foulke will give his lecture, "Uncheisled Gens," in the Court House, Tionesta, Tuesday Evening, Dec. 3. The second number on the lecture course.

—Another accident by the careless handling of a gun is reported this week from the vicinity of Leeper, Pa. A young man stops to rest and converse with his partner in the hunt and while doing so sets the butt of his gun on the ground, crosses his hands over the muzzle and lools upon it with his legs usually crossed and swaying back and fourth on one foot. If you have hunted much in your time we venture to say you can recall frequently such attitudes on the part of persons you have met in the woods. If men and boys in the habit of jangling firearms could be taught the simple rule of always keeping in mind the direction in which the gun's muzzle is pointed scores of accidents would be thus prevented.

—M. L. Weikal spent Tuesday night of last week as a guest at Hotel Weaver, having been engaged in work pertaining to his duties as assessor of Harmony township. Mr. Weikal owns a well fact farm of modest size on Fleming Hill two miles from West Hickory, and as an evidence of what thrift and good management can accomplish it may be stated that during the past season he has sold nearly $500.00 worth of produce from the place for the cash, and still has an abundance left for the needs of himself and family and the wintering in good shape of all his livestock, of which he always keeps a sufficient supply for furnishing his table with milk, butter, eggs, meat, etc., besides marketing a good share when these products become scarce and high-priced. This illustrates what a little good management and attention to business will do.

—The forty-sixth annual session of the Forest County Teachers' Institute will be held in the Opera House, Marienville, Pa., December 16th to 20th, and the Annual School Directors' Convention will be held December 18th and 19th, 1912. Sept. J. O. Carson has arranged a fine program for these two educational events and will have his program booklet ready for distribution next week to the teachers, directors and others interested in the fare of our county schools. A strong list of instructors has been engaged for the institute and convention, as follows: A. S. Martin, B. S., A. M., Superintendent, Norristown, Pa.; D. C. Murphy, Ph. D., Professor of History, Slippery Rock State Normal; LeRoy A. King, A. M., Department of Pedagogy, Lock Haven State Normal. The evening entertainers are the Euclid Male Quartette, L. B. Wickersham, lecturer, and the Pilgrim Girls Orchestra, all of whom rank high among first class entertainers. The superintendent is hoping for a good attendance at all the sessions, feeling assured that all will be well repaid for the time spent at this institute and convention.

PERSONAL.

—Prof. L. P. White spent Sunday with friends at the Edinboro Normal School.

—Comrade Wm. Albaugh, of East Hickory, was calling on old friends here Saturday.

—J. W. McCrea, Erie station agent at Reno, is circulating among old friends here today.

—Misses May Reynolds and Louise Hightgate, of Oil City, spent Sunday with Miss Hazel Foxes.

—Mrs. Cora Watson Feit has gone to Bradford to visit her friend, Miss Belle Titus, for two weeks.

—J. S. Carr, of Lottsville, Warren county, is a guest at the home of his brother-in-law, F. R. Lanson.

—Mrs. James J. Landers delightfully entertained a dozen of her lady friends in a fancy work party at her home Friday afternoon.

—Charles Inel goes to Pittsburgh to attend the football game tomorrow between State College and the University of Pittsburgh.

—Dr. Karl Wenk was home from Kane for a few days of the past week trying his luck in the woods for game. But the pheasants wouldn't "hold still" much.

—A marriage license was issued Nov. 21st at the office of Clerk of the Courts S. R. Maxwell, to Amos J. A. Anderson and Miss Lucy Leola Hannah, both of Gilfoyle, Pa.

—G. G. Gaston entertained his brother, A. E. Gaston, of Meadville, a few days of the past week. Mr. and Mrs. Gaston leave this morning to spend Thanksgiving with the latter's mother at Utica, Pa.

—Mrs. S. M. Whitehill and granddaughter, Miss Jane Leech, of Marienville, on their way home from a visit at Muncie, Ind., are guests at the home of the former's daughter, Mrs. J. E. Wenk.

—Mrs. Siggins and Dickey came up from Oil City yesterday morning to join a couple of our local sports for a day in the woods after the wild grouse, and it is reported on fairly good authority they got some.

—Judge and Mrs. Joseph M. Morgan have gone to Monaca, near Pittsburgh, to spend Thanksgiving with their daughters, Misses Mary and Bessie Morgan, who are conducting a flourishing millinery establishment at that place.

—B. A. Shotts, a well known resident of Leeper, is recovering from a severe case of blood poisoning, after much suffering. A couple of weeks ago he was hunting, during which one of his fingers was punctured by a thorn, from which blood poison resulted.

—Mrs. James D. Davis has gone to Annapolis, Md., to visit her son, Kepier, a cadet at the naval academy, and will go with him to Philadelphia to witness the football game between the Army and Navy eleven tomorrow. Mrs. Davis expects to remain a guest of her mother in Philadelphia for a couple of months.

—Fred G. Prenatt, R. A. Hays, Earl C. Huidekoper and Samuel Clark, of Meadville, spent a portion of last week here enjoying their favorite pastime of hunting small game. Mr. Huidekoper brought his fine "coon dog" along, but the "coons kept well under cover," as though they did not court acquaintance with "Rush."

—John Mark Barton, of Redelyffe, and Miss Bessie Maude Cook, of Clarion, were united in marriage at the home of the groom on the 19th inst., the pastor of the M. E. church officiating. The young folks will make their home at Philipps-ton, Pa., where the groom holds a responsible position with a large lumbering firm.

—Mrs. Orion Siggins hospitably entertained at luncheon Friday at her home at West Hickory the following ladies: Mrs. L. L. Hunter, of Tidoutie; Mrs. Hopkins, of Tionesta; Mrs. D. I. Ball, Mrs. M. Beshlin, Mrs. L. T. Borebers, Mrs. Durand, Mrs. Robert Mackay, Mrs. Alton Rogers, Mrs. Levi Smith, Mrs. Myron Waters and Mrs. Jennie Wood. An excellent time was enjoyed by all present.

—Homer Harp, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Harp, and Miss Eva, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Myers, all of Marienville, were united in marriage Wednesday evening, 20th inst., Rev. H. E. Phipps, pastor of the M. E. church, officiating. The ceremony was performed at the bride's home in the presence of the immediate relatives only. The young couple will reside in Marienville.

—The marriage of Harry H. Head of West Hickory and Miss Martha A. Rodgers of Walnut Bend, Pa., occurred Thursday evening last at the home of the bride's brother, J. W. Rodgers, 217 Oak-grove street, Oil City. Rev. C. H. Framp-ton, pastor of Bethel M. E. church, officiating. The pretty ceremony was witnessed only by immediate relatives of the two families. A wedding dinner was served at the conclusion of the ceremony. The young folks will reside at West Hickory, where the groom was born and reared, and where the best wishes of a host of friends will attend them.

Recent Deaths.

KATZ.

Mrs. Lovica Katz, of Eldred township, departed this life November 8th, 1912, at the age of 75 years and 5 months, her husband, Peter Katz, preceding her in death some 20 years ago. She is survived by one son, Emery Katz, living in Mt. Vernon, Ohio, and one daughter, Mrs. Ida Stahlin, living at Tionesta. Quite a number of grandchildren also survive. Annt Vica, as she was familiarly known, was a great sufferer in her declining years. She will be missed among children as well as older folks, who cared for her much. Interment was made in Mt. Tabor cemetery Sunday, November 10th, Rev. Humbert conducting the services.

—Brookville Republican.

LANDERS.

David E. Landers, a native and for nearly 40 years a resident of near Neiltown, Forest county, died at his home at Bradford, Pa., Saturday, Nov. 23, 1912, following an illness that for several months baffled medical skill, but which was finally diagnosed as an affection of the spine, and from which he suffered excruciatingly until relief came in death. The deceased was born on the old Landers homestead near Neiltown in May, 1855, being a son of Peter and Caroline Landers and was one of ten children, but two of whom, Byron Landers of Cassadaga, N. Y., and Mrs. A. C. Carson of Neiltown, survive him.

Early in life he married Miss Margaret Peebles of Cherrytree, Pa., and as a young couple they began housekeeping at "Landers Corners," on the old homestead. Here their four children were born. About 20 years ago they moved to Bradford and Mr. Landers became an oil producer and a prosperous one. He was always a cheerful, kind hearted man and of exemplary habits. He was held in highest esteem by those who knew him at his old home and as well by the acquaintances he made at his new abode, and his circle of friendships was limited only by the number of his acquaintances. The deceased is survived by his wife and four children, Mrs. Anna Tracy, Mrs. Emma Kater, Mrs. Mary Reed and Robert Landers, all of Bradford.

The funeral was held yesterday at the East Bradford Methodist Episcopal church, where Mr. Landers was a member. Interment at Oakwood cemetery. Joseph W. Landers of this place, a nephew of the deceased, attended the obsequies.

Porky.

Samuel Lobaugh of Kellettville was the guest of the Dunkle family here Saturday evening and night, returning to Kellettville Sunday morning.

Mrs. W. A. Booth, Miss Cecil, Master Henry, and Elmer Shay, all of Watson Farm, were guests of the D. W. Downey family on Sunday last. Mrs. Booth and Miss Cecil remaining until Monday morning.

J. W. Littlefield and son Claude finished their job on Cooney Grove's barn and returned home on Saturday last. They will next get after a job they have secured at Mayburg next week.

Wm. Heasley and family spent a pleasant day at Blue Jay on Saturday last, guests of the Lobdell family of that place.

Mrs. L. N. Benningshoff of Warren was the guest of the Rupert family a few hours on Thursday.

Several of the "sure shots" of this part of the country attended the pig-turkey shoot at Blue Jay on Saturday last, and we are pleased to say that some of the game came down our way. The sights may have been a little blary but our boys got there just the same.

Wm. Bradybaugh moved his family from Balltown to Minister last week and they are living in the Barr house.

We are very sorry that the items from Trueman's were too late last week but hope they will appear this week. When news comes from this place there is a good letter.

The school children who come up from Kingsley and have to wait for the train have made preparations for the cold by laying in a stock of wood for bon-fire fuel, and have it under and around the depot ready for instant use.

Peter Larson of Sheriff got a large wildcat last Thursday evening near his home on Upper Sheriff. It was at the Pools Creek store all day Friday and was viewed by many people who admired his catch.

Mrs. W. B. Card of Grand Valley spent a few days with her sister, Mrs. K. T. Downey here last week, and went to Henry's Mill to visit the Charles Card family over Sunday, where she was joined by her husband to spend the day.

Miss Ruth Lindsey of Cozy Nook was the guest of friends at this place over Sunday and had a fine time.

Miss May Black was a visitor at Mayburg on Saturday, returning in the evening.

Miss Lois Rupert spent Sunday with the Blom family at Kingsley, returning Monday morning in time for school.

Miss Vernita Rupert has been out of school several days with a bad cold but is improving the time in practice on the piano.

Mrs. Richard Fair and children of Conneaut, Ohio, are visiting friends and relatives at Wellers for a few days. Mr. Fair is working for the Salmon Creek Lumber Co., and will move here when he can secure a house.

Mrs. F. A. Littlefield and children of Watson Farm have been the guests of her mother for a few days, and Mr. Littlefield spent Sunday with them, returning in the evening.

There is a large number of hunters from all parts in this part of the country and the game is not yet getting killed off. The most they get are bad crows. There are long fervent prayers going up for snow from their camps and it looks as if their plea had been heard.

Sunday school was not very well attended on Sunday, same as last two weeks, and we hope it will improve so as to make it more interesting and keep it going. There has been no preaching service here for some time and we are getting anxious to hear something.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer of Cozy Nook were the guests of the John Black family on Sunday.

W. R. C. Meeting.

The regular meeting of Capt. George Stow Corp., No. 137, W. R. C., will be held in their hall, Wednesday evening, Dec. 4th, at which time officers will be elected for the ensuing year. A full attendance of the members is requested.

Mrs. GARRIE HOLMAN, President.

Accidentally Shot Himself.

Lloyd, the 18-year-old son of Solomon Brewster, of Leeper, Clarion county, was accidentally shot and seriously injured while out hunting Saturday afternoon near his home. The young man was standing on a stump, with the butt of his shotgun resting on the ground and his hands over the muzzle, when the load was discharged, the charge carrying away several fingers of each hand, and some of the pellets entering the abdomen. His companion in the hunt was Edward Walters, who secured assistance and the young man was conveyed to his home, where physicians dressed his wounds. At last accounts the injured boy, though in a critical condition, was doing well, and it was thought there would be no doubt of his ultimate recovery.

Chadman Wakes From Long Sleep.

PUNTA GORDA, FLA., Nov. 25, 1912. The winter season is here and we are in the midst of the spring planting. Oh, this farming in the winter is fine. For the past six months people in southern Florida have, in a measure, loafed about and waited for the long moist summer to pass, hoping that there would be an early fall so that they could get their crops in. Already the potatoes are up, cucumbers are in blossom, and lettuce fields are ready for the transplanting of the plants. Radishes have been in market for sometime and strawberries will soon be ready to ship. This is the country of perennial crops. No deciduous trees here, and no falling of leaves. One season merges into another imperceptibly and without any external change in the appearance of nature. It is sad to think that the entire winter will pass without a single soul falling on the icy sidewalk, and without hope of opportunity of grabbing up a handful of snow and ramming it down your best girl's back.

Oranges and grape fruit are turning yellow. I have been feeding off the heavily laden trees standing in the rear of this hotel for a month past, but the fruit was green. You got some of our green citrus fruit up north during October, and likely you all read of the scrap the independent growers had with the members of the Fruit Exchange. Some of the growers pulled the fruit and shipped it before the redolence of the orange blossoms had left the trees. It put me in mind of the time when a number of us boys in Center county climbed into Tommy Caster's cherry trees, and that worthy gentleman came out and asked us "If de blossoms had come out dem trees yet!"

I am satisfied this Punta Gorda region is the finest in the state of Florida. It is just in the making and the makers will reap boundlessly. There is plenty of land yet to be had here and what surprises me is the indifference of the northern people in regard to it. Good land can be had at $20 an acre within a mile or so of a town, and 3 or 4 miles out at $10, and even less. Of course it costs something to clear the land and drain. But there is lumber on all of it—lumber that is worth twice what the land costs. As roads are made and county ditches put through the land advances to $35 and $50 an acre.

Homesteaders come here carrying their earthly belongings in a paper sack. They come to stay because they can't get back. The weather is so mild all the year that, no matter which they come, they sleep out of doors until they get a rude shock built. Then they clear a small patch and put in garden truck. They collect a few chickens and a couple "bawags" and let them roam. One man told me it cost him $1.50 to bring up his family of eight. They can catch fish and pick guavas all the year round, and that is all the simple-livers need. Of course they miss some of the thrills of city life, and they are without a telephone in the sitting room, such as your Butterfield patrons have the joy of possessing. Even in the towns here when you ring a man on the 'phone, you will immediately get responses from all the residences of the ward in which he resides. This arrangement suits the women very well, and they strenuously oppose any attempt to change it.

What would you think of 31 days of steady sunshine and 51 nights of brilliant stars and varying moon? That is exactly what we have had here to date and there is no indication of a change. The temperature is around 80 in the day time and 70 at night. One or two nights were slightly cooler, just right for slumber. I am satisfied that there is no place on the globe with a climate superior to this part of Florida. I have been here almost a year now, and I have discovered that the monotony of a good thing fails, just as continuous adversity discourages, and sometimes I wish that, for a day at least, I was back in that dear old North-Ohio where, about this season of the year, before leaving the house, you hunt up those wrist warmers, that pair of ear muffers, and that neck scarf, and then get into all the heavy clothes you can find hanging around.

—WALLACE CHADMAN.

Good Farm Lands For Sale.

To those who are looking for an opportunity to go into the farming business a fine opening has been provided by the Kelly estate, which has lately run off the large tract of land known as the Oldtown property, two miles from Tionesta, into convenient farming plots of 60 acres or more to suit purchasers. These lands are all tillable and will make fertile farms capable of producing any desired crop, and the price and terms will be made attractive to any prospective buyer. Inquiries of J. H. or H. E. Kelly, Executors, Tionesta, Pa. Adv.

How to Bankrupt the Doctors.

A prominent New York physician says, "If it were not for the thin stockings and thin soled shoes worn by women the doctors would probably be bankrupt." When you contract a cold do not wait for it to develop into pneumonia but treat it at once. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is intended especially for coughs and colds, and has won a wide reputation by its cures of the diseases. It is most effective and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by all dealers. Adv.
