Farmers' Institutes are billed to take place in Forest county somewhat later than usual.

Clarrington is first on the list, where a two-day's session will be held March 3d and 4th. Tionesta will also have a session lasting two days, March 5th and 6th, next. A good corps of speakers and instructors has been assigned for these meetings.

—The address by Rev. H. A. Bailey, of Tionesta, at the meeting of the Presbyterian Brotherhood last Tuesday night was one of the best ever heard by the organization. His subject was "Religion" and the address made his hearers think, which is the highest compliment that can be paid a speaker. There was a large attendance.—Emlenton Herald.

—The deer-killing season, which closed Saturday, was almost barren of results so far as Forest county, once the deer hunter's paradise, is concerned, the killing of but one buck having been reported. It is claimed a doe was killed near Brookton and left lying in the woods, and it may be this is the doe said to have been killed in McKean county and afterward sent to the Kane hospital by a game warden.

—The ladies of the Presbyterian Aid Society will hold their annual bazaar Friday evening, Dec. 6th. At 5:30 a fine hot supper will be served, price 25 cents. —Manager Jack Dunn, of the Baltimore base ball team, was here Monday and secured the signature of Pitcher Bob Shawkey to a contract for the 1913 base ball season. And Shawkey is pleased with the terms of the contract, as the salary is double what he received the past season, and there are other favorable features of the contract. Shawkey's pitching for Baltimore the past season is appreciated by his manager.—Sheffield Observer.

—Mrs. Phipps, wife of Rev. H. E. Phipps, pastor of the M. E. church at Marienville, died at her home in that place, in the evening of Thursday, Nov. 28, 1912, Thanksgiving day. She had been ill for many months from lung trouble, but bore her suffering uncomplainingly. She was aged about 38 years, and the husband and three children, two boys and a girl, are left to mourn the loss of a faithful, loving wife and mother.

—Mrs. Verna Watson Shawman, of Portland, Ore., who acted as delegate for Forest county at the National Convention of the W. C. T. U., held in Portland, Oct. 19, 20, has sent an excellent report of the deliberations of that great gathering. The report will be given at the home of Mrs. A. B. Kelly, Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock, Dec. 10th. Mrs. Kelly will also conduct a Mothers' Meeting at this time. All members and those interested in temperance are invited.

—While the day weather has been quite on the order of the sublime for several weeks past, considering the season, the nights have been strenuous enough, so much so, in fact, as to bridge the creek and back channel with ice of sufficient thickness to permit of skating by the boys. The freezing process occurred Wednesday night, and the morning after Thanksgiving the skating wasn't bad for the lightweights. It's all of now and the river is again considerably up.

—W. T. Hart shot a nice deer near Marienville Tuesday. He appears to be one of the successful deer hunters, as he secured a nice deer during the hunting season last year. O. A. Hoyer was in "at the death" of the buck shot this year and the friends of Messrs. Hart and Hoyer will feast on venison, as the deer was brought to Sheffield Wednesday evening and was admired by many would-be hunters. A man named Long, of Marienville, killed a buck near Lamona the first of the week.—Sheffield Observer.

—The parcels post system which goes into effect on January 1st, all over the United States, is one of the most important postal extensions of years. A few features that should be born in mind by all who wish to take advantage of the new law and rate are: That distinctive parcels post stamps should be used on all fourth class matter, and such matter bearing ordinary stamps will be treated as held for postage. Parcels post stamps can be secured at postoffices after January 1st, 1913. All parcels must bear the return card of the sender, otherwise they will not be accepted for mailing.

Abbott; first vice president, Miss June Herman; second vice president, Mrs. G. B. Robinson; secretary, Miss Fern Dunn; treasurer, Miss Elva Lanson; librarian, Miss Margaret Blum; press superintendent, Miss Blanche Pease. Program Committee—Miss Olive Lanson, Mrs. G. B. —Merlen Weast, whose parents, Mr and Mrs. George Weast, removed from here to the Illinois oil fields when he was a mere bit of a lad, some 12 or 14 years ago, is back on a visit to friends and relatives, being a guest at the home of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Smeatbaugh.

—Prof. F. W. Gill is certainly making his influence and example felt among the young people of our Boro schools. Himself a polished gentleman, he is making his pupils feel that they are gentlemen and ladies, that they go to school for a purpose and that it is a mark of good breeding to fulfill every duty assigned them.—Tidouste News. That's the way the Professor was regarded when he was in Tionesta, and our friends to the north will like him better at the close of every term.

—Benj. Charleston one of our Tionesta boys now located in Oregon, sends us a specimen apple from that state that sure is a beauty for size and looks. It measured 1 1/4 inches around the waist and balanced the scales at an even pound, while the flavor was not to be sneezed at, although hardly up to the standard of those grown in this latitude. Benjamin is a citizen of Portland, where he conducts the elevator in the court house and has charge of the cigar and collection stand as a side issue.

Snow in Alabama.

That we have the most wonderful country on the face of the globe in climatic as well as in all other conditions is evidenced at all times and seasons, as the following letter from a former northern girl, Mrs. L. A. Buzard, now a resident of Lamison, Alabama, will show. She writes under date of Nov. 27, 1912, to the REPUBLICAN:

"I thought it might be of interest to you to know I have seen my first snow in the South. To-day has been a beautiful 'white day' and it is now snowing hard. Jack has been making snow balls and is quite delighted with it, as it's the first he has ever seen. This is the first snow they have had here in 10 or 12 years and it makes the northern men here want to go fox or rabbit hunting, and I, as old as I am would love to go for a sled-ride. I had to make some excuse to get out in it, and Oh, but it felt like home! You see it has been five winters since I left Tionesta, and during that time I haven't seen our snow and ice up there. Presumably you have had both? I just couldn't resist writing to tell you about seeing my first snow down here."

Barn Burns Consuming Valuable Horses.

By the burning of a barn on what is known as the Elliott farm, and owned by R. O. Carson, one of Neilltown's most prominent residents, four horses were cremated, and about 20 tons of hay and some farm machinery were consumed, last Wednesday morning. The farm was occupied by a man named Albaugh, who had gone to the barn to attend to the horses, and shortly after eight o'clock left the premises and went down to Mr. Carson's other horse barn, hitched up a team and started out to still another place to get a load of hay. Shortly after that one of Mr. Albaugh's little boys ran down to Mr. Carson's house, a distance of 15 or 20 rods and told him the barn was on fire. When he reached the place the fire had gained such headway that nothing could be saved, and the barn and all contents were destroyed. Mr. Carson had a team of valuable brood mares in the barn for which a short time previous he had refused an offer of $325.00 each. Two other good horses were also in the barn, and several sets of valuable harness, besides some farming implements and machinery, of the hay above mentioned, and a quantity of seed and feeding grain, all of which were licked up by the flames.

Mr. Carson's loss will be near the $2,500 mark, and is almost total, as he had less than $300 insurance on the property.

Fly Wheel Blows Up.

By the "explosion" of a large fly wheel on the Dunt & Foreman sawmill on Johns Run last Thursday, considerable havoc was created about the premises, and the mill crew experienced the fright of their lives for a few seconds. Through some mishap a large belt flew off and so rested on the generators as to stop their motion, thus allowing the engine to gather a fearful momentum and cause what millmen call a "runaway." This was too much speed for the fly wheel and it burst into a hundred pieces, more or less, and instantly the atmosphere was full of flying missiles, some of which were thrown with such frightful velocity as to cut great chunks out of the heavy hardwood beams of the mill, and one piece of the wheel was thrown a distance of fifty yards and knocked two ties out of a pile that lay near the mill.

Strange to say but one of the crew was injured. Floyd Brooks, aged about 21 years was cut below the knee cap, and so badly injured as to require the attention of a surgeon, and Dr. Dunn was obliged to insert several stitches to close the wound. He is getting along all right now, and no permanent injury is expected to result from the hurt. It is not definitely known whether he was hit by a piece of the wheel or was injured in jumping out of the mill.

Has Taken Boat Building Contract.

Under the above heading a Monongahela, Pa., paper has the following mention of Frank J. Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Morgan, of Tionesta:

"Frank Morgan, who has been foreman at Dock No. 12, of the Pittsburgh Coal Company in this city, has taken an extensive contract for boat building in McKeesport and leaves shortly to assume his new duties. As a testimonial of their esteem and regard for their popular foreman the employees of Dock 12 on Saturday presented him with a handsome solid gold watch chain and charm. The charm was the design of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, of which he is a member and bore the inscription of the donors. The presentation was made by Superintendent Samuel Sesser and Mr. Morgan replied in a few well chosen words, thanking the men for their co-operation and assistance in his work. Mr. Morgan severed his connections with the Pittsburgh Coal Company Saturday, but for the present will leave his family in this city. His many friends are wishing him success in the new work."

Pleasantville Defeats Kelletville.

The Thanksgiving basket ball game between the Pleasantville and Kelletville High Schools resulted in a victory for the visiting team, notwithstanding the persistent efforts of the home team to have the higher score at the end of the game. The score was 31 to 16. When the game was called for the first half the excitement was intense, for the visitors were only four points ahead of the local team. Both teams exhibited clever passing, which was generously applauded by the large audience witnessing the game. The decisions of Referee Keister were abided by at all times, thus avoiding the much dreaded disputes so often witnessed in such games. Shortly after the second half had started, R. Detar at forward was displaced by Dewey Detar. The line-up was as follows:

Kelletville—16	Pleasantville—31
R. Detar, D. Detar	F. White
G. Graham	C. Swathers
C. Swathers	F. McDonald
R. Carbaugh	G. Young
C. Carbaugh	G. C. Roth

Death of Anthony Walters.

Anthony Walters, a familiar figure in these parts for many years, who had lived beyond the scriptural time allotted to man and the last but one in the family of his age and generation, passed peacefully away at the home of R. L. Haslet, in this place, at about 9:30 Saturday morning, from infirmities incident to old age. He was a son of Anthony and Catherine (Rosa) Walters, and was born near what is now Freeport, but in Westmoreland county, Pa., February 25, 1832. In the following month of March, when he was but a babe in his mother's arms, the family migrated to what is now Newmansville, Clarion county, his father and two of his cousins, David and Daniel Walters, having jointly purchased a warrant and its allowances of land in that vicinity, upon which they erected homes, cleared the land and resided until removed by death. Anthony Walters, Sr., the father of the subject of this sketch settled upon the southern part of the warrant lying along the Lickingville road, near the oldest and first log church erected in all that part of the country. It was here the deceased grew from childhood to manhood, experiencing many of the hardships and privations incident to the pioneer life of the early settler. It should be borne in mind by the present day readers that between sixty and eighty years ago there was not even public roads in all that part of the country, no grist or woolen mills, no stores, within a radius of perhaps fifty miles, even physicians being few and far between, so that about everything needed for the sustenance and comfort of a household had to be home-made. Some conception can therefore be formed of what these sturdy early pioneers had to contend with in those times, and it is safe to say that of the present age do not begin to pay the homage we ought to our ancestors, who by toil and many privations made it possible for us to enjoy the comforts and pleasures that now abound on all sides. He was one of a family of five sons and two daughters born to this venerated couple, all of whom were well known hereabouts and have passed on, with the exception of a half-brother, William Walters of Nebraska. Some years ago the infirmities of old age crept upon him, and he was no longer able to labor, and was tenderly cared for at the homes of his nieces, Mrs. J. G. Carson, of West Hickory, Mrs. J. H. Fones and Mrs. R. L. Haslet of this place; in fact it seemed to be a pleasure for all in any way connected with him to do all they could for his comfort in his declining years. At 2 p. m. Monday, relatives and friends gathered at Mr. Haslet's home, where Rev. W. S. Burton conducted funeral services, and Mrs. J. F. Sheasley, of Kittanning, a niece of the deceased, sang two sweet solos after which the body was laid to rest in Riverside cemetery.
