Assumes Command of Steel Strike at Rankin, Pa. FIGHTING TO UNIONIZE PLANTS

Former Employes of the Steel Trust Appear Before Federation Officials and Tell of "System of Oppression."

Secretary Frank Morrison of the American Federation of Labor is in charge of the strike of steel workers in the Rankin and Braddock (Pa.) dis-

The steel strike will be the first battle in the new aggressive campaign decided upon by the federation against those industries which, the union officials say, are "seeking to reduce their workmen to the level of serfs.

The steel, textile, rubber and packing house industries are to be the targets upon which the American Federation in the immediate future will center its fire in an active warfare to unionize all employes and through organization to effect amelioration of working conditions, increased pay and recognition of the union. Some of the strikers said that their principal grievance is a system of paying under which a pieceworker does not know how much he is making until pay day. They assert that under the tonnage system, under which it is said that wages are pooled among the men according to their positions and general production, is unfair. They want also to be paid for time lost at their machines when repairs are being

John Blotnek, local organizer of the American Federation of Labor, said that the men want either to be paid day work for time lost when machines are being renaired and when they are compelled to wait for material, or be sent home and use their time as they see fit. He asserted that many of the men have done much work for which they were not paid.
