—The REPUBLICAN is indebted to W. A. Shewman for a copy of the industrial edition of the Morning Enterprise of Oregon City, Ore. It is made up in magazine form and is replete with fine half-tones showing the many industries of the city and Clatsop county. Mr. Shewman is editor of the Western Stock Journal and has a finely illustrated write-up of the industry represented by his periodical in the edition of the Enterprise.

—Weather Prophet Groundhog saw his shadow Sunday, the 23d inst., for the day was one of bright sunshine from morning till evening, and just the sort that would tempt any prophet to come out of his hole and have a look. If we are now to have six, or even four, weeks of winter it will please the populace hereabout, for almost every sort of business upon which this section depends is suffering from lack of snow and good hauling weather.

—A. D. Goal, formerly of Lynch, this county, but now known as one of Warren's most active and experienced oil operators has begun further operations in the Matthews Run district near Youngsville, where he already has opened a good field. He holds leases of upward of a thousand acres in Brokenstraw twp., which it is believed will turn out well, and at the present high and rising price of crude ought to prove a veritable bonanza for his company.

—A note from L. J. Osgood formerly of Endeavor, but now a resident of Fairfax, Wash., states that they are having a snug winter in that section. "The snow for the past four weeks has been 25 inches deep at the mill and 5 feet in the logging camp, but not uncomfortably cold, the coldest morning being 10 above zero. With this depth of snow, should we get a Chinook wind for 48 hours it will clean out all the river valley in this section. This is the most snow they have had here in 20 winters."

—During the present shortage of gas for domestic use extra precaution against fires should be observed. With the gas fluctuating between practically no pressure and a ten to twelve-ounce flow, and this extra pressure coming on usually during the night, when most fires are turned off, the danger of fire from over-heating is greatly increased. Watch your fires on retiring for the night, or when leaving the house for a time, to see that the valves are not left wide open on your stoves or jets.

—Edith McKee, a young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McKee, of Tionesta township, had her right hand severely burned Monday afternoon by the explosion of a quart bottle containing a mixture of acids. The little girl found the bottle and gave it a vigorous shake, causing the stuff to explode. Her hand was badly burned and some clothing in the room was set on fire, starting a brisk blaze. Mrs. McKee heard the child scream and coming quickly to the rescue succeeded in smothering the flames.

—The Sheep purchasing agency is now paying $2 47 the barrel for Pennsylvania oil which is the highest price paid in 18 years. To this may be added 15 cents a barrel premium which the Wilburine company is paying, making the price to most of its locality $2 62. There is a whole lot of mystery connected with these rapid jumps, and no fellow seems able to offer a satisfactory solution. It may be for the purpose of stimulating operations, but who has heard that any one has been loading on the job during the last few years even at $1.35 oil? The last seven cents raise came yesterday.

—The Itasca Conservatory of Music Concert Co. gave us a fine concert at the court house last Wednesday night and a large audience gave audible expression to their delight in many encores. The company is composed of Mr. George Fuller, rector, Miss Alice MacPherson, violinist, Miss Grace Covey, vocalist, and Mr. Glenmore Holmes, pianist, and each is an artist in his or her line. They easily proved their right to appear before the public as entertainers, both as to ability and charm of manner, and our people left at the close of the entertainment with a feeling of satisfaction.

—Saturday Judge Reed of Jefferson county sentence Charles Abrams of Summerville to 12 years in the penitentiary on a conviction of arson. Some time last summer a large portion of the town of Summerville was destroyed by fire which started in a store owned by Abrams. His arrest as the responsible person followed and his trial resulted in a jury verdict. He was again placed on trial and at the recent court was convicted. A motion for a new trial was overruled by the judge who passed sentence upon the young man. His father says that an appeal to a higher court will be taken.

—General Manager S. C. Long of the Pennsylvania railroad and other officials of the company have just completed an inspection of the Valley division of the company, where great improvements are to be made the coming spring and summer. Bids are about to be opened by the company for the construction of three long tunnels on that division. One of these is to go through the hill back of East Brady, and will cut off what was known as the "hickory bend," now called Brady's Bend. It is expected to shorten the distance fourteen miles between Pittsburgh and Oil City by this system of tunneling.

—Friends in this section of Wm. D. Summerville, a former teacher in the school at West Hickory will be interested to learn of a novel invention on which he has recently received letters patent. The gentleman now holds a position with the Diamond Rubber Co., of Akron, Ohio. The invention consists of an improvement in typewriter keys and "has particular application to a cap adapted to be placed over and upon the ordinary key of the machine in the same manner in which the resilient or cushion keys now in use are applied, said cap being perfectly formed of transparent material, such as celluloid or cellulose having characters raised thereon, so that such keys may be adapted for use in teaching or practicing 'touch' typewriting. Its object is to enable the typist to know, without looking when he is striking the proper key; to be of benefit to the inexperienced 'touch typist' by enabling him to know when he is striking the wrong key, thereby giving warning of any impending error, and further, to provide a typewriter key suited to the use of blind operators, to whom, in particular, it will no doubt be a welcome advance."

—Forest county men who have been in this city and who have scoured the country in this section for some good heavy working teams, have been unsuccessful in getting any of the equines. There are horses enough of this kind, but they were not for sale, though the visitors were willing to pay as high as $200 a pair. One team was offered that could have been purchased for $150, but this was not good enough for the traders. The men intend going to the western end of the county with the hope of doing better than they did locally.—Titusville Herald, 2d.

—The Tidoute News reports that "P. A. Anderson has sold to A. L. Confer, Ex-Mayor of Oil City, eleven acres of land from the south end of his farm in Hickory Township, Forest Co., fronting 500 feet on the Allegheny river, opposite Trunkville station on the P. R. R., on the Trunkville eddy. Mr. Confer expects to improve the property with a fine cottage, water works, etc. It is rumored that there will be two cottages built at Trunkville this coming summer mostly by Oil City parties." The only cottage now located at that place is that of Harvey Fritz of Oil City. It is one of the pleasantest, best equipped with water, etc., among the many along the river, having a splendid spring right at the cottage, which Mr. Fritz has walla, cemented and housed up, and which affords an abundant supply of ice-cold water the year around, making it an ideal place to keep butter, eggs, vegetables, and other liquids fresh and cool in the hottest kind of weather.

—The rig for the deep well on the German Hill road will be completed today and it is expected that drilling will be in full operation by the end of the week. The crew will consist of Jos. G. Richards who was foreman on the deep well at Mayburg, which was sunk to over a mile in depth, Ed. Conger, Bruce and Gib Hagerty of this place. The contractor is John R. Reek of Bradford, who has put a very substantial outfit on the job. The final depth to which this well will be drilled is undetermined, but sure it is that operations will go on till every last chance of tapping a prolific oil bearing sand has been exhausted. The outcome of this venture will be watched with interest by everyone who is at all interested in oil operations. Upon the Kelly tract near the Green township line, and about forty rods back from Tionesta creek, Proper Bros. have begun drilling, and they will also go to extraordinary depth if need be to demonstrate their faith in the existence of a pay streak in that locality.

—The town of Leeper, Clarion county, narrowly escaped a disastrous fire on Friday night, Jan. 24th, through the heroism of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Roth, who discovered the fire and put it out without any outside help. About eleven o'clock that night Mr. Roth discovered a fire burning in a stock room back of Mrs. A. Dolby's millinery store, on the second floor of the Roth building. He called his wife and ran for water, while Mrs. Roth fought the fire with her bare hands, and in a few minutes they had the flames quenched. What caused the fire is not known but possibly a match was dropped by some one who had been in the room a short time before the fire broke out. The loss was not much over $150, confined to the millinery goods, and was covered by insurance. Mr. and Mrs. Roth have a grocery store on the first floor of the building and living rooms at the rear of the millinery store. Had the building burned a whole row of buildings on the same side of the street would no doubt have gone with it, as the town has no water works.

—The Oil City Derrick's oil report for the month of January, which was issued Saturday, stated that at the close of the month there were seventy-six new rigs and 144 wells drilled, an increase over December of seven rigs and a decrease of two drilling wells, in the New York and Northwestern Pennsylvania field, the summary of operations in the Pennsylvania field being as follows for January: 453 wells completed; new production, 4,416 barrels; 145 dry holes and gas wells; 775 rigs and drilling wells under way. Bradford, Middlefield and Venango-Clarion gave a slight increase, while Allegheny and Butler and Armstrong showed less work. There were no features of special interest during the month in any of these counties. Weather conditions were unfavorable to starting new wells except where the material had been moved in December, as the continuous rains made treading too expensive. In all the divisions 1,482 wells were completed with a new production of 66,075 barrels. As compared with the December report, there were fifty-three more wells completed and the new production was 8,250 barrels greater. The Mid-Continent fields are responsible for the greater portion of new completions, though the production of that division shows a large decrease. The increased output comes from the Gulf Coast region, where fifty-four wells were reported with 16,883 barrels greater initial production than in December.

PERSONAL.

Kellettville.

Well I guess the groundhog saw his shadow Sunday, all right, and if the sight of it would not make him pull his head back for a breath I guess the intense cold would make him somewhat timid about venturing out very far. Saturday night and Sunday were the coldest it has been in town this winter. Although the sun shone beautifully all day Sunday, the wind was so cold that most people enjoyed the fire more than the sunshine. The heavy fall of snow on Monday looks as though the old time signs would hold good and we would have our six weeks of winter. If the gas holds out guess we can stand it.

Mrs. W. A. Hartman is visiting friends in Clarion for several weeks.

Mrs. F. McNaughton and Mrs. R. Bigman were up from Nebraska Friday and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. John Blum.

Lee Atkins' family are all down with the gripple.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Robbins drove to Tionesta Monday. They report the roads in such condition they were compelled to drive so slow that they suffered greatly with the cold.

Mrs. James Huling is up from Tionesta for a short visit with her friend Mrs. Mary Tobey.

Mrs. Charles Mimm is on the sick list, suffering with sore throat and headache. May be taking the measles.

H. E. Murphy came down from Ridgeway Tuesday and is loading their household goods on a car this Wednesday. Mrs. Murphy will follow the goods in a few days. She will be accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Johnson, who will stay with them several weeks helping them to get established in their new home.

Mrs. Seekins has been confined to her home with an attack of the gripple.

Dr. Robertson of Warren was a professional caller in town the first of the week, being called in consultation with the local physicians for Margaret Dejar, who, while suffering with pneumonia, developed the measles also, which made a complication hard to handle. We are glad to note that Margaret is doing nicely and will be out again in a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Miller of Ohio are guests at the home of the latter's sister, Mrs. Albert Dunkle, this week.

Relatives and friends in town have lately received photos of Miss Edith Spencer, who is at the Haddock Memorial in Philadelphia learning to be a nurse for small children. The pictures were taken with her uniform on and her looks indicate that the work has agreed with her. We are glad to note that her work has been so satisfactory at the home that she has been asked to remain as a permanent nurse and take the children to the seashore during the summer months.

Miss Esther Bauer of Saybrook visited her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Whitton, and other relatives in town over Sunday.

Mrs. Sager Watson has been suffering with a cold on her lungs for the past week, but is improving.

The measles are still making their rounds in town and very few families have escaped. Gordon Klinevister, Willis Maxwell, Mary Barnes, three at Wm. Merchant's, three at Scott Smith's, three at Mealy's, Ephraim Porter, Mabel McKenzie, Dolly Bean and Mary Harrington are the cases reported for the last week.

Meetings are still in progress at the M. E. church and the interest is still holding good. There was no service in the church Saturday evening on account of the scarcity of gas, but the Sunday services were all held and a crowded house greeted the pastor Sunday evening when he talked from the subject "I see no harm in it." Meetings are announced for each evening this week.

Wm. Watson and James Byler were off during the week with the gripple.

Friends in town received word from Miss May Showers, who is in a training school for nurses in Philadelphia, that she has successfully passed her trial test and will remain for the three years' training. She had just recovered from a ten days' siege of the gripple.

A meeting of the stockholders of the new town hall was called for Friday night but had not learned what was decided.

Thirty-Two Years Ago.

Items taken from the files of the REPUBLICAN of Feb. 2, 1881:

This is a right royal roaring winter. Many of our citizens lost their stock of potatoes during the recent severe cold snap.

Messrs. Whitney and Drake of Waterford, Pa., with their families, both brothers-in-law of Nelson Cole, have been paying him a visit at Nebraska the past week.

R. M. Herman, who sells tickets, smashes baggage, handles freight, smiles at the pretty girls and makes himself generally agreeable to travelers at West Hickory station, gave us a three-minute call Monday.

James Babb says that mule of Polen's which kicked and broke his (Babb's) wrist, died within two months. Jim says if the mule had struck his (Babb's) cheek it would have killed him (the mule) instantly.

Derrickson & Co.'s stove mill whistle had a little fun all its own last week. Geo. Albaugh tried it to see if it was "froze up" and it wasn't. The way the people turned out, thinking it was a fire, was a caution.
