It's proved a big seller, and will be advertised by us in your territory. For particulars address the Excelsior Drum Works, Camden, N. J.—Adv. 41.

—The river road between Tionesta and the Hickory bridge, including the "narrows," was never in as fine condition as now. But of that piece from the bridge to East Hickory, not quite so much can be said and the "King drag" is badly needed there. It has been used to mighty good effect on the lower end, under the direction of F. M. Hoover, who is employed by the state highway department.

—The borough school board, at its regular meeting Monday evening, made some changes in the faculty for the ensuing school term. Following is the list of teachers elected: Principal, L. P. White; assistant principal and teacher of room No. 5, Miss Ruth Diamond; No. 4, Miss Ida Paup; No. 3, Miss Evelyn Groves; No. 2, Miss Katharine Osogood; No. 1, Miss Sarah Carson. At a previous meeting the board fixed the tax levy at 18 mills, which is 2 mills less than last year.

—The Tulane Engineering College of New Orleans is one of the strongest schools of the kind in the country. Recently it has secured the services of Prof. Donald Derickson, a brother of our townsman, J. H. Derickson, and of this acquisition a leading New Orleans paper says: "Prof. Derickson, formerly the professor of civil engineering of Cornell University, is a man of international repute. In his new Orleans will get an authority on steel construction who has been extensively consulted by the great contracting firms of the East." Our Mr. Derickson no doubt feels a just pride in the achievements of his young brother, whose age is yet below forty.

—A Sheffield news item states that John Gilderleeve of Brookston recently received a new two-cylinder Indian motor cycle. The item further states that the machine is a fine appearing one, with the new spring attached and foot rests as well as foot brake control, features of the Indian machine. And right there is where we want to advise our friend John to keep a good eye and tight foot on that brake. About these horrible go-devils we think the brake is the most admirable feature by far.

—A fleet of barges in charge of Albert Lawrence arrived here late Friday afternoon and on account of the swift current and adverse winds were compelled to tie up in Morans eddy. The barges are owned by the Forest Barge Co., of Hickory. The crew report a large number of barges and barge bottoms ready for river shipment, but the river stage is not favorable for movement at the present time, the current being rather too swift for safely piloting these unwieldy river craft.—Derrick.

—S. P. Whitman, of Tionesta township, was home over Sunday from Lincolnville, Crawford county, where he is erecting a saw mill for Lyman Cook, of Nebraska, this county. Mr. Cook has a tract of fine timber to saw out near Lincolnville, having recently purchased it. The tract contains about 3,000,000 feet of hemlock, beech, hard maple and cherry, and this, with other timber that can be had to saw in that region, will keep the mill busy for a number of years. They expect to be ready to begin operations in about ten days.

—The annual reunion of the famous old 83d regiment will be held at Little Round Top, Gettysburg, this year on the 2d of July, when the survivors will meet at their monument on that historic battle ground where so many of their number lost their lives or were severely wounded, and where their beloved Colonel Vincent fell mortally wounded. The meeting will take place at 2 o'clock, p. m. No doubt there will be a good attendance at this meeting as we hear that most of the old boys of Co. G, recruited here in '61, expect to be at the great reunion provided for by the State.

—Mrs. Frank Hindman died at the family home at Wick, Butler county, Pa., Monday evening, May 25, 1913. She was the daughter of Thomas Sankey, deceased. Besides her aged mother she is survived by her husband, and son, Carr Hindman at home. Also by the following children by a former marriage: John Henderson of West Virginia, Thomas Henderson of Harrisville, Pa., and Vant Henderson of Harrisville, Pa. These brothers and sisters also survive: Mrs. Cass Wington of Braetchton, William Sankey of Wick, Lewis Sankey of near Kiester, and Mrs. Margaret McKeely of Evans City, Pa. Funeral services were held Wednesday, 28th ult., at 11 o'clock at her late home, followed by interment at Harrisville, Pa.

—Group seven of the Pennsylvania State Bankers' association held its annual meeting at Erie Tuesday, which was attended by representatives from Crawford, Venango, Forest, McKean, Mercer, Cameron, Warren, Elk, and Erie counties. Following the business session which was held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms the bankers went to the Kabwa club where a banquet was served in the evening. Chess Lambertson, Franklin National Bank, Franklin, Pa., was chosen president. Jas. H. Kelly, Cashier of the Forest County National bank attended the meeting and was made a member of the executive committee. Russell J. Hopkins, Cashier of the Citizens National bank, of this place, also attended the meeting.

—Carl, the 12-year-old son of Thomas Sibbe, was accidentally shot with a 22-caliber gun which he and Clark Myers, about the same age, son of Wm. Myers of Nebraska, were handling Monday afternoon. The ball entered below the boy's right shoulder and came out on the opposite side. Happily the wound was not a serious one and yesterday the lad was out as though nothing had happened, and he complained of only a little soreness. Dr. Gregg attended the injured boy and does not expect any serious results from the wound. The boys do not know just how the accident happened further than that the gun was in young Myers' hands when it went off. Mr. Sibbe's farm is the old Mathias Wertz place, located on the road leading from Piney creek in Green twp. to the John Wolfe farm on the Tylersburg road.

—The Kingsley township school board at a recent meeting elected the following teachers for the ensuing year: Kellestville, Principal, J. L. Simmons; No. 6, W. H. P. Keister; No. 5, Maude Berlin; No. 4, Edith Gayley; No. 3, Blanche Hendricks; No. 2, Lorettis Dunkle; No. 1, Verma Miller; Mayburg, No. 2, E. C. Terrill; No. 1, Margaret Franpton; Newtown, Constance Copeland; Whig Hill, Flora Kerr; Starr, Evelyn Kiser; Ross Run, Ruth Hulet; Muzette, not elected. The third high school teacher made necessary by the change to a four year course and lengthening the term to nine months, was not elected. The tax levy was fixed at 22 mills. The board is planning to make the Kellestville high school one of the best in the county. The contract for the erection of the new high school building to replace the one burned some time ago was awarded to George Zuendel, of Kellestville.

—The new 46-ton locomotive for the Coleman lumbering plant was transported down from Nebraska Saturday. The trip was made by water, two coal flats coupled together being needed to carry the heavy machinery. A track was laid from the railroad in the Nebraska yards to the boats upon which timbers had been laid to distribute the weight as much as possible. When the boats, which were manned by Lewis Cook's crew, reached the Coleman plant, tracks were again laid to the logging road and the locomotive was run with its own steam to the main track, and has since been making regular trips to the timber woods. The company now has two engines in commission, and it is not thought that there will be any further delays on account of a shortage of stock, as has been the case for several weeks while awaiting the arrival of the new engine and the repairing of the old one. That the new locomotive was landed at the plant within six hours of the time it was turned over to him at Nebraska, and without a scratch on her paint, shows how well Lewis Cook planned and carried out the transportation problem, and as one man remarked, "it was a man's job."

—A Vieles gasoline Motor Car, made in Warren, has been placed on the S. & T. Railway. The car was brought down to Nebraska from Sheffield Monday night and made its first trip up the road Tuesday morning. It has been having some trouble from heating journals, but when these difficulties are smoothed out it will make a fine passenger service for the road. The car is 70 feet long and will seat comfortably 45 passengers, but the seating capacity can be increased in an emergency. The makers of the car wish to give it a good test under actual working conditions and have placed it on the S. & T. road for a month. Whether the S. & T. management purchases the car will depend on how well it makes good.

—During the storm which passed over this section Sunday evening shortly after nine o'clock lightning struck George Monday's best farm located on the right of the road leading to Hunter's station, two miles below Tionesta. The fire that ensued consumed the structure in a very short time. Fortunately Mr. Monday had turned his horses and all the livestock out to pasture during the day thus saving them from cremation, as all the contents, a buggy, two sets of harness and some farm implements, were burned up, the fire being so fierce that these articles could not be rescued. The loss on the building is at least $700 on which there was an insurance of $400. The loss on contents will total about $75, fully covered by insurance.

—The barn connected with the Maple Shade Hotel, at Tylersburg, was totally destroyed by a fire which broke out about 2:30 last Saturday morning. When discovered the fire had gained such headway that it could not be checked. The property was owned by John Oudet, who purchased the Central House from Christ Miller about a year ago. At that time he moved over to the Central, and since then the Maple Shade property has been vacant. The building was a one-story structure, about 50x50 feet. It contained nothing of value and the loss will not be heavy. We understand there was some insurance. The origin of the fire is not known. The barn of George Brewster, standing across an alley from the burned building, was on fire but was saved.

—The criminal charges of involuntary manslaughter, growing out of the breaking of the dam at Austen, Pa., September 30, 1911, which resulted in the loss of 80 lives and practically obliterated Austen, a village of 3,000 persons, was to have come to trial against George C. Bayless, president, and Frederick M. Hamlin, superintendent of the Bayless Pulp and Paper company, owners of the dam, at Wellsboro, Pa., on Monday. Upon the representations of the defendants that a fair trial could not be had in Potter county, Pa., where the catastrophe occurred, change of venue was granted to Tioga county a year ago. Several times the trial of the cases had been postponed, but District Attorney Harry Nelson stated that he will now insist that there be no further postponement. The Austen dam horror occurred nearly two years ago and the fact that the trial could be staved off this long tends to show how lax the authorities are in bringing to punishment those responsible for such catastrophes.

Fire At Forest Barge Co. Yard.

A fire entailing a loss of about $600 occurred at the yards of the Forest Barge Company, located at the eastern approach to the river bridge at West Hickory, Friday night. The blaze was discovered by the watchman at the tannery on the opposite side of the river about midnight and immediately the alarm was given. The prompt response and prodigious efforts of the men about the town were alone responsible for saving the entire plant from destruction, for the fire had gotten well under way when the fighters arrived. As it was, two buildings, the tool house in which are stored all of Contractor Carson's tools and implements, and the spinning house in which was stored a large amount of spun oakum and other material, were consumed. The loss to Mr. Carson will not be less than $300, and the company's loss will foot up fully as much. Neither carried any insurance. The trestle of the Hickory Valley railway road's switch runs into the yard and a car load of barge timber stood almost directly over the buildings. This trestle was on fire and the supports were badly charred, but by great efforts the fire was gotten under control before these were burned off. Had not the fire been stopped here the entire plant would undoubtedly have been taken, together with a newly finished barge that still rested upon the ways. Had this happened the loss would have been between $6,000 and $7,000, besides putting the plant out of commission for a greater part of the summer. As it is the employees will be thrown out of work for a week or more.

The cause or origin of the fire is a mystery as there had been no fire near the building in which it originated the day previous.

The Late Mr. Pierce.

The funeral of the late Joseph B. Pierce, proprietor of Hotel Weaver, whose sudden death was mentioned in these columns last week, was held at his former home in Toronto, Ohio, at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, the services, held at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank Stokes, being largely attended by friends and relatives. The Toronto Daily Tribune gives these particulars: Rev. E. A. Hodi, of Parnassus, Pa., former pastor of the Presbyterian church here, and Rev. Frank L. Brown, pastor of the Methodist Protestant church, officiated. Mrs. J. R. Thorn rendered "Face to Face," and Mrs. S. H. Carey and Mrs. J. R. Thorn rendered "One by One." The remains were borne to their last resting place in Toronto Union cemetery by W. H. Boyd, Frank Culp, J. W. Porter, Robert Stewart, Charles Wemple and Joseph Peterson. Frank Pierce, of Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. Foot, of Alliance, and Frank Stokes of New York City, were in attendance.

Mr. Pierce was born in Pittsburg and located in Toronto, where he spent the greater portion of his life, and while engaged in various pursuits, made many warm friends. Fifteen months ago he, with his wife, formerly Miss Emma McFadden, located in Tionesta, Pa., where he, up until his death successfully conducted a hotel. He was favorably known throughout this section as well as in adjoining communities. He was a member of the First Presbyterian church of Toronto. On November 20th, 1912, he was united in marriage, and his wife and one brother survive.

Cooley—Siggins.

A very quiet wedding was solemnized Monday at noon at the parsonage of the Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, when the pastor, the Rev. A. C. Ellis, D. D., united in marriage Miss Virginia Siggins, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Siggins, and Gilman Morris Cooley, son of A. P. Cooley of Tionesta. The ceremony was witnessed by only the immediate families of the contracting parties. Preceding the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents on West First street. Mr. and Mrs. Cooley went on the Niagara express for Buffalo and other points of interest. After July 1 they will be "at home" in Rochester, N. Y., where Mr. Cooley is engaged in the real estate business.—Oil City Daily.

As a former Tionesta girl the bride has a host of friends here who join in wishing her every joy in life. Mrs. George B. Robinson, one her most intimate friends, was a guest at the marriage.

Memorial Day Fittingly Observed.

Memorial Day in Tionesta, last Friday, proved another long to be remembered by those who engaged in its observance. While the day opened threateningly, Providence was kind to the few remaining veterans and gave them a day that was neither too hot nor too cold, but one that was just right, and permitted them, with the assistance of their efficient aids, the Women's Relief Corps and the Sons of Veterans, to carry out their program in a manner perfect and splendid. After the noon luncheon, prepared by the Corps ladies, a line was formed and the veterans, just eighteen in number, marched to the river, headed by a good martial band composed of Jacob Cropp, A. W. Albaugh, George Henshaw and Ed. Baumgardner, and escorted by the Sabbath school children carrying beautiful flowers, where the fragrant emblems were strewn upon the waters in commemoration of the dead sailors and marines.

From thence the march was again taken up to Riverside cemetery, which never looked prettier than on this occasion. Here the Grand Army vital was beautifully carried out, the graves of the dead heroes being strewn with flowers by the Sons of Veterans who in this service took the places of the veterans. It was noted with pleasure that during the past year not a new veteran grave had been added.

The impressive but beautiful ceremonies at the cemetery completed, the veterans and their long train of friends marched to the court house. Here the chief marshal, Geo. W. Robinson, called the assembly to order, and after prayer by Rev. Mr. Burton, and the reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg address by D. W. Clark, introduced the orator of the day, Hon. John L. Mattox of Oil City, whose address was a real gem. Mr. Mattox received his early education in a Soldiers' Orphan school, his father having died in the service of his country, and reference to and reverence for the old soldiers throughout his address touched a sympathetic chord in every heart, and we doubt whether ever a speaker on a similar occasion so held the attention of his audience to the last word as did he. At least never in this place. The address was not long, all too short in fact, and the unusually large audience would gladly have listened a full hour longer. Mr. Mattox was generously applauded and congratulated at the conclusion of his address.

The singing of "America," by the audience and the pronouncing of the benediction by Rev. Burton fittingly ended the beautiful observance of another Memorial Day in Tionesta.
