Not Selfish.
"Mary" said the sick man to his wife, after the doctor had pronounced it a case of smallpox, "if any of my creditors call, tell them that I am at least in a condition to give them something."—Tilt-Bits.

Idea Not Modern.
The brass paper fastener which is still used for thick documents was patented in 1867 by a government clerk by the name of G. W. McGill. Yet it was not new, for the Romans used a similar device 2,000 years ago and the modern appliance was a resurrection.

Credit Societies.
There are now 3,456 urban and rural co-operative credit societies in India, with a membership of 226,958 and a working capital of $3,442,580, of which only $240,590 is contributed by the government. These figures represent the work of about seven years.

Letter Undraped.
Little Lola, aged five, went to the door in answer to the postman's ring, and was handed a postal card, the first one she had ever seen. "Oh, mamma," she exclaimed, "here's a letter for you, but it hasn't got any skirt on!"

THE GOVERNORS OF EIGHT STATES

WHO WILL BE IN ATTENDANCE AT THE PERRY CENTENNIAL IN ERIE, PA., JULY 9.

J. B. McCreary, Kentucky A. J. Pothier, R. Island E. F. Dunne, Illinois

F. E. McGovern, Wis. Wm. Sulzer, New York James M. Cox, Ohio

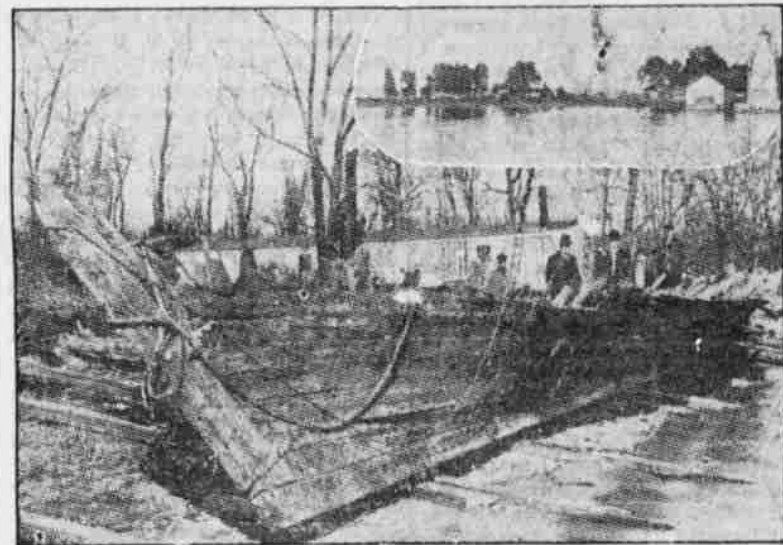

W. N. Ferris, Michigan John K. Tener, Penn.

One of the most notable gatherings of governors for the year is looked for at Erie, Pa., July 9, when Gov. John K. Tener and the patriotic citizens of Pennsylvania will entertain the executives of seven states who have joined to make the success of the Perry's Victory centennial celebrations. Rhode Island, the native home of Perry, will head the list. Ohio, New York, Kentucky, Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin are expected to join. For the governors, the military force of the western half of Pennsylvania, numbering 4,000 men, and the naval militia of the Great Lakes, more than 3,000 bluejackets, with 2,000 other troops will be reviewed.

THE HISTORIC HULL OF PERRY'S FLAGSHIP "NIAGARA"

FRAME-WORK ON WHICH WILL BE BUILT THE RECONSTRUCTED SHIP BY THE STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA.

In Upper Right Hand Corner is Picture Showing View of Erie Harbor, Where the Hull Has Lain Nearly a Century.

After resting on the bottom of Misery Bay, a small arm of the Presque Isle Bay (Erie harbor), for nearly a century, the historic hull of the second flagship of Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry in the "Battle of Lake Erie," Sept. 10, 1813, has been raised and rebuilt by the commonwealth of Pennsylvania at a cost of $75,000 for the admiration of thousands at the centennial celebration in Erie, July 6 to 12, and in other lake cities later. The great iron spikes, hand forged, held the massive timbers together as strongly as on the September morning a hundred years ago, when the "Niagara" poured broadsides into the British fleet. Many of the loose spikes and splinters have been eagerly seized during the rebuilding for souvenirs.

Five feet of the bottom of the battleship for almost the entire length of 120 feet, were preserved by the sands that covered the hull. Great care was exercised in the raising on pontoons so that the boat could be rebuilt exactly as it was when constructed by the hardy pioneers along the lake. The picture shows the hull after it was dragged upon the sands of the Presque Isle peninsula. In the upper right hand corner is a sketch of Misery Bay in summer with the bathhouse and channel lighthouse of the United States life saving station near the entrance to Erie harbor.

PERRY'S VICTORY FLAG PRESERVED AT THE U. S. MILITARY ACADEMY.

Light Men.

At a certain hotel in Liverpool an Englishman, an Irishman and a Scotsman were arguing as to which of their respective countries had the lightest men.

The Irishman led the argument by saying: "We have men of Cork." "What may be?" said the Scotsman; "but we have men of Ayr." "Well," said the cockney, "that is very light, but we have lighter men on the Thames."

Pretty Sad.

"After all," said the pretty made philosophy, "honor and pulchritude are very closely allied."

"That's right," replied the comedian. "I don't know of anything sadder than to tell a funny story that doesn't get a laugh."—Washington Star.

Happy Ending.

"Did the play have a happy ending?" "Comparatively so. All money was refunded after the second act."—Exchange.

A CENTURY OF GLORIOUS PEACE

FOREMOST IDEA AT PERRY CELEBRATION WILL BE INTERNATIONAL PROGRESS.

SPLENDID PROGRAM PLANNED

First Day of the Monster Celebration at Erie, Sunday, July 6, Will Be Devoted to Peace Gatherings.

At the Perry's Victory Centennial Celebration in Erie, Pa., July 6 to 12, the foremost idea will be recognition of the century of peace that has existed between the United States and Great Britain along the boundary line of the naval and military successes in 1813. The first great day of the celebration, Sunday, July 6, will be given over to the peace gatherings with a happy mingling of the people of Canada and the United States. All churches will unite in a monster outdoor assemblage with parade and festivities.

The military engagement will continue July 2 to 12, the official opening taking place July 5.

A Crime Self-Punished.
A thief entered a house in Riverside Drive and stole five volumes of poetry. There's a crime that carries its own punishment.—New York Herald.

The Workers.
"Did a musician of note score your opera?"
"No; the critics did."

Danger in Pride.
No man had ever a point of pride that was not injurious to him.—Burke.

Program of the Celebration.
The outline of the program for other days of the week's celebration is:

Monday, July 7—Reception and home coming day. More than 100,000 people are expected during the week. In addition to 40 hotels, 2,000 homes and several small villages of tented camps will be opened. The old powder train and Perry with his crew will be welcomed in the evening.

Tuesday, July 8—Mothers' and children's programs, with 12,000 school children participating, will be given. In the evening will be the pageantry, costing $45,000 to place on the streets.

Wednesday, July 9—Governor's and military day. The executives of eight states will review 6,000 soldiers and sailors. Fireworks in evening.

Thursday, July 10—Naval day, with review by Secretary of the Navy Daniels. Nine training ships will sail on Erie bay with the Perry flagship "Niagara," that will be on exhibition daily.

Friday, July 11—Fraternal day, with grand parade of floats by 20 lodges of national membership. In the evening, a mardi gras carnival on the principal streets.

Saturday, July 12—Industrial and commercial day devoted to exploiting Erie's 400 industries. Sailing of Perry flagship "Niagara," with escort of vessels from the harbor, in the early evening.

The military engagement will continue July 2 to 12, the official opening taking place July 5.

Household Philosopher.
"Strange what a difference there is," said the household philosopher, "between things we need and things we want. There are many things we need in the house, but never can find the money for, while somehow we can always find the money for things we want that we personally fancy."

No Excitement.
"A man doesn't seem to take any pleasure in writing letters to a woman after he has married her," said Mrs. Gloomer.
"No," replied Miss Cayenne, "he seems to lose all interest when there is no possibility of his letters being read to a jury."

Common Sense a Bad Master.
In creative thought common sense is a bad master. Its sole criterion for judgment is that new ideas shall look like old ones. In other words, it can only act by suppressing originality.—A. N. Whitehead in "An Introduction to Mathematics."

New Thrill for the Jaded.
Could personally conducted tourist shipwrecks be scheduled in advance there are doubtless some persons needing a change to whom it would appeal as an added attraction of the ocean voyage.

One of Man's Oldest Works.
The necropolis at Bahrein, the center of the Gulf pearl fisheries, is one of the oldest pieces of man's handiwork in the world.
