BUILDING dams and water storage projects are reported to be one of the causes of the financial disaster in Pittsburgh.

Under a new law recently passed by the state legislature, and which is now effective, constables must visit every place within their ward or district, where liquors are sold or kept, and for so doing they receive twenty-five cents for each visit and six cents for each mile traversed.

It is stated the legislature has put Governor Tener in the predicament of trying to make a $50,000,000 income pay an $80,000,000 appropriation bill, or in other words, shave down the greater amount to fit the lesser.

An Interesting War Letter. Simultaneously with the soldiers' reunion at Gettysburg a letter written on the battlefield by the late Lieut. T. J. Van Gieslen to his sister, Mrs. Jane Myers of President, Venango county, has come to light.

Dear Brothers and Sisters: I received a letter from you several days ago, but have not had a chance to write before. We have met the Rebel army here and have had three days' heavy fighting. The battle began on the first, and on the second we had a severe fight with the Texas Rangers and whipped them. Our boys were behind the rocks when they made a charge. They left the ground covered with dead and wounded. We had 10 killed in our regiment and 40 wounded; one killed and three wounded in our company. John and Charlie (brothers of the writer) are all right yet; none of the "Heimlock" boys were hurt.

Porkey. The stork was a visitor at the home of Frank By, at Sheriff, on Friday last, and left a fine baby boy there. He then hit the boy for Mayburg and left another just as fine boy with the Chas. Deshner family of that place. This season's crop is just as good as the ones left by this old bird years ago, but the gentler sex is not so numerous lately.

Chas. Eastwood and Harry Card, who have been in California for some time, are visiting the E. T. Downey family of this place for a few days.

George Blum is preparing to build himself a new house here near the location of the one he now occupies, and will put up a larger house than the old one. He has given the job of building to Claude Littlefield.

Mr. Clark, a book agent of Crawford, was the guest of the Rupert family here on Friday last, but did not see Rupert as he was near the Watson farm that day.

Proper's last will at Minister was no good in the Balltown sand but will be drilled on to the Cooper sand before leaving. Mr. Proper and his driver spent Sunday in Tionesta.

Beaten and Robbed at Warren.

Up to the present the police of Warren have been unable to find any clue to the person who beat and robbed John C. Lougee, a citizen of Kelleitville, in the night of July 2d, and since so much time has elapsed since the occurrence, they have small hope of catching the assailant now that the victim says he would not even be able to identify the property taken from him let alone the guilty person.

Mr. Lougee had gone to make purchases of fire crackers and fireworks to be used by his children on the Fourth. Arriving at Warren during the afternoon, he went about town making purchases and, incidentally, fell into the hands of the Philistines.

Lougee, who is 63 years old, is an employee of the Salmon Creek Lumber company. After eating his supper at the Exchange hotel, he inquired as to the location of the residence of friends and a man offered to show him the home. Another man joined them and they crossed the suspension bridge together. The man who had joined the two, after crossing the river and nearing the railroad bridge, left Lougee and his companion there. They went some distance further and opposite Oak street his companion turned and struck him a hard blow in the face, knocking the old man down. He then began kicking Lougee in the face and side. Then he searched the Kelleitville man's pocket and extracted about $17 in cash and a watch valued at about $12, after which he left his victim lying on the ground. Lougee was able to arise and was discovered wandering about in a dazed condition.

The Tionesta boys were up on the fourth and were treated to a trouncing by the locals in a game of base ball. Score 10 to 9.

A. D. Bently died Saturday, July 5th, of cancer and his body was shipped to Kinzua Monday for burial. Rev. Henry Smalberger conducted a prayer service at the home Monday morning. The family will return this week and ship their household goods to Kinzua, where they will make their future home. Mr. Bently had charge of the meat market at the Salmon Creek store for some time and had many friends in town.

Oil Notes.

Contractor James Canfield finished a well for Michael Finnegan last week on the Wheeler lands near the public road above Trunkerville, on the east side of the river. It was dry, and is the third which Mr. Canfield has drilled for this operator, one of which was a fair producer. He has started the fourth well about a quarter of a mile south of the last one, on the Swab place between the public road and the river.

Contractor Geo. Holeman started the drill Monday morning on a well on the Homestead lease for Fleming & Co. This will make the third well for the same operators this season, the two first ones being on another lease, a mile or more east of the Homestead, and were dry.

Welsa and Low, who found it cheaper to abandon a well on the A. L. Stricklen farm, Smokey Hill, Tionesta township, than to tussle longer in trying to extract a string of tools, moved their beam a few feet and expect to finish the second well today.

Proper Brothers on the J. H. Allio farm, Tionesta township, found a fairly good gasser, but little showing of oil. We understand they will not give it up at this, but will try another location.

Killed By Falling Oil Derrick.

While a number of employees of the South Penn Oil Co. were pulling a well near Blue Jay, Forest county, Tuesday of last week, one of the legs of the three pole derrick broke and the structure collapsed. The men ran and all escaped except Peter J. Morrison, who was struck on the head and killed.

The deceased was 21 years of age and a son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Morrison, of Seneca, Venango county. He made his home with his parents until two years ago when he secured employment with the South Penn with headquarters on a lease between Henrys Mills and Blue Jay.

The body was taken to Oil City Wednesday and sent to the home of the parents where the funeral services were held Saturday.

The deceased was a young man of excellent character and genial in manner and had a wide circle of friends throughout this vicinity. He spent the Fourth with his parents and visited a young lady of Victory, to whom he was engaged to be married within a short time, returning Monday to the lease of which he was in charge, and where he met his death.

Church Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Albaugh spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Albaugh.

Jeff Barber and his brother John were over on our hill one day last week. They drove over from Whig Hill and said the roads were in very good condition, considering the amount of rain we have been having.

Clifford Shaffer and some of his friends were down to Tionesta Saturday night. Milo Barber helped Joe Albaugh move a drilling machine from West Hickory to Albaugh Hill. He said if anybody ever wanted to see good pulling they should have been at Hickory when they hitched onto the machine. Some thought it would take more horse power to move it but they did not know what kind of horses Joe and Milo pulled the ribbons over.

We are very glad to say that Ira Barnes is getting along very nicely. His daughter Rose is home for a few days.

Earl Walters was over from Cropp Hill and spent Sunday night with some of his friends here.

We are going to have Children's Day services on the hill two weeks from the coming Sunday, in the evening. All are invited to come and take part.

The fourth passed over and nobody was hurt, so we can say we had a sane fourth.

The farmers are making their hay between showers.

Charging It.

"Come in and have it charged" was the inviting sign in front of a place of business in a Jersey town. A stranger, being somewhat low in funds, walked in briskly. "I understand that I can get things charged here," he said, addressing one of the employees. "Only storage batteries," replied the other man.—Judge.

The Medicine Dropper. A medicine dropper is very useful in the pantry for measuring flavoring extracts, coloring matter and so forth. Many a delicate cake has been spoiled because too many drops of flavoring got into the icing.—Woman's Home Companion.
