Pennsylvania Railroad.

Life at Indiana is healthful; work is rounded out with play. Health and strength and cheerfulness are here recognized as factors in the building of character.

And yet this school is most famous for the thorough, practical training it gives, and for the great success of its graduates. If you aim for success go to the

LUCKY.

"I am afraid," said the doctor, after he had thumped the gentleman on the chest and again and again tried his pulse, "that there is something radically wrong with your heart. I don't want to scare you, but be careful about running to catch trains and don't hurry when you go upstairs. If you are careful you may live for years. Still, if you have not made your will and arranged your affairs so that they would be in good condition if you were suddenly taken off it might be well for you to attend to those matters. I would not tell you this if I did not feel that it was—"

"Thank heaven!"

"What do you mean?"

"Now, I'll have an effective excuse when life insurance agents come to see me and I wish to get rid of them in a hurry. Just put it all in writing, will you, doc?"

A Monument Fund.

The meanest man in town having died and been duly buried, a bunch of his late acquaintances and neighbors were discussing the kind of party he was.

"We ought to raise a fund to build him a monument," one man suggested. "Rats!" chorused the crowd in protest. "Who'd give anything to build him a monument?"

"Everybody would," insisted the first speaker. "We'd raise it by unpopular subscription."—Lippincott's.

Not as Bad as It Might Have Been.

"Why are you so bitter in your opposition to Burgess?"

"Well, he's been talking about me behind my back."

"What has he said about you?"

"He told one of my warmest friends that he regarded me as a man of one idea."

"Was that all he said?"

"Wasn't that enough?"

"He might have gone further and said that your one idea was yourself."

A Knotty Problem.

"Yes, sir! The question is: What would this country do without Morgan?"

"No, that isn't it. In the present impoverished condition of countries in general, the question is: What would Morgan do without this one?"—Life.

NOT EASILY CRUSHED.

Stern Father—I tell you, Maria, I'm tired of seeing that young man coming here two or three evenings a week. I shall have to sit on him.

Maria—I wouldn't, dad. It would be no use. I've done it myself several times, and I think he rather likes it.

A Question Answered.

What's in
A kiss?
Microbes
And bliss.

That's Where.

Bill—I see that vaccination is a voting qualification in Norway.

Jill—And doesn't it make any difference where a man is vaccinated.

"Oh, yes; he's got to be vaccinated in Norway."—Yonkers Statesman.

Driving Him.

Overdressed Youth—I say, my man, would you like to drive me to Piccadilly?

Cabby—I shouldn't mind, old sport, only I don't think the 'arness would fit yet.—Tit-Bits.

The Reason.

Mrs. Jones—Mrs. Meyers says that she was told by a lady the other night that she was beautiful.

Mrs. Smith—Um—I see; somebody wanted to borrow her shirt waist pattern."

Nothing Unusual.

"A man was robbed while riding in a taxicab the other day."

"Did he seem surprised?"

"Yes."

"He must be a greenhorn."

A Gilded Youth.

"Son attending to business pretty regularly since he started in?"

"Fairly so. Only once or twice has he failed to get to the office in time to go to the matinee."

His Thought Exactly.

"How did he make such a hit with Agnes Maude?"

"Every time she said 'Dear me!' he said 'I agree with you.'"

An Offer.

"My kingdom for a horse!" cried Richard.

"That's me," said Richmond. "I'm the dark horse."

Heavy Annual Rainfall.

The rainfall of a village among the hills of Assam, during the ten weeks from May 1 to July 9 this year, was 250 inches. The village is Cherrapunji, the rainiest spot in Asia and presumably in the world. Its annual rain fall is something over 450 inches—say fifteen times as much as London Cherrapunji stands on a plateau, over looking the plain of Sylhet, and it is 4,455 feet above sea level.—Westminster Gazette.

A PECULIAR THING.

Mr. Wise—I wonder how those two fellows came to be buried together.

Fortune in Stamp Collection.

A lady living in Sydney for many years has hoarded a collection of postal stamps left by her father, who had pursued his hobby of collecting for 50 years. The daughter was ignorant of any knowledge of philately and threw the stamps into an old trunk. Last week she visited a stamp exhibition, and for the first time awoke to the value of the stamps in her possession. She secured the assistance of experts, who estimate the value of the collection at $100,000.

Exercise in the Open Air.

Any system of physical culture which does not include at least from two to four hours' gentle exercise a day in the open air, three square meals and nine hours of sleep is of the Evil One. So far as it passes itself off as a substitute for real exercise and fresh air, or encourages you to neglect these, it is a fraud and a failure. Practically nine-tenths of all the advertised systems must be put down in this class.—Woods Hutchinson in "Exercise and Health."

From His Own Experience.

A west end school teacher told a funny one the other day. The teacher was attempting to drill the class in the use of the word "felt." She expected some one of the children to say "The ice felt cold" or "The stove felt hot," or something of the sort. She was much discouraged when one little alien who had raised his hand to volunteer a sentence said: "I felt downstairs."—Boston Post.

First Jaunting Car.

The first jaunting car was established in Ireland in 1815 by a Milanese, Carlo Bianconi, who settled in Dublin and drove every day to Caher and back, charging twopence a mile. From this small beginning in 1837 he had established 67 conveyances, drawn by 900 horses.—National Magazine.

When Baby Bumps His Head.

Hot water is better than cold for bruises. It relieves pain and prevents congestion. If used at once it will invariably keep off discoloration.
