The Oil City Blizzard, which never does bliz in hot weather, by-the-way, very coolly offers these rather refreshing suggestions: "Keep as cool as you can these dog days. -J. F. Proper of Tionesta Thursday filed a statement of claim in a suit be commenced recently against C. J. Birk of Buffalo. He alleges that there is due him on account of 3 cars of lumber sent to the defendant the sum of $2,589. The lumber was shipped between January 10, 1911 and March 2, 1911 and Mr. Proper alleges that Mr. Bork agreed to pay for it and the freight charges thereon. The plaintiff's attorney is John M. McGill .-Titusville Herald. We understand this suit will be tried in the Venango courts.

-"All signs fail in dry weather," and that's no joke. For the past ten days all the rain signs have been present at some time during the day or night, but the rains fail to materialize, and Old Sol continues to get hotter and dryer with each succeeding day. In the meantime lawns and grass plots are burning up from the sun's hot rays. We sure need rain to save the crops that are still growing-or we might better say, are at a standstill, But we are not yet as bad off as some of the western sections, though that is no consolation. Misery in this case does not like company.

-Here is a true egg story that, for freakishness and all-around wonderfulto come, we think: Saturday Charles Hunter of the west side, Tionests, butchered a hen for the Sunday dinner that had laid an egg a few hours previous measuring 6 by 734 inches. On dissecting the hen he found in her egg case six shells, and each egg measuring 6 by 71 ches! Thinking that his story might be doubted, Charlie called to witness several persons and full investigation was made, so that there is no getting around or disputing the story or any part of it. > -Mrs. J. A. Cropp narrowly escaped a serious injury at the P. R. R. station Monday. She was seated in a buggy and as a train pulled into the depot the horse frightened and backed the buggy against a freight car on the sidetrack that caught Mrs. Cropp in such a manner as to severely squeeze her body between the vehicle and the car. Dr. Boward found Thursday night, no evidence of internal injury, but at last accounts the lady was still confined to her bed at her home on Cropp bill.

-Lewis Parker, aged 24 years, a teamster, committed suicide by shooting Saturdsy night on the farm of W. G. Power, a dairyman, on Bully bill, near Franklin. He killed himself because a girl jilted him. The girl is Miss Delilah Crawford, who is employed as a domestic in the Power family. Two weeks ago they had a quarrel, and when the girl refused to see Parker when he called, he walked a short distance from the house and shot himself in the forehead with a .38 calibre

-Henry J. Sines of New Castie has been appointed state game protector for Lawrence, Mercer and Venango counties. The appointment was made by Governor Tener, under a recent act. The position carries with it a salary of $900 per year and expenses. Mr. Sines is one of 20 who are to be appointed in Pennsylvania under the new act. #### A Gala Day For Endeavor.

"One grand success," that is the only term we can use in describing the street fair held at Endeavor on the evening of Thurdsay, Aug. 14th. It was a hummer from the word go, all the features meeting with the approval of the more than 1000 visitors that crowded the grounds from 4 to 10 o'clock.

To explain the extent of the entertainment would take up too much space, but let us picture for you in words how very beautiful that "Little Pocket in the bills" looked in her festive garb, with hundreds of lights arrayed into a "Gay White Way." First came the fish pond in its rustic setting; then the candy booth which was the storm center for the children, Then a cute little novelty-"Rebecca at the well," an original idea of serving cooling drinks from a stone well, with a pretty maiden doling out the delicious lemonado.

Space will not permit us to describe all the features of the day. If you missed it we are sorry for you, but we will say that it was one of the prettiest sights we have ever seen.

The "Cave of the Winds," the "Parcel Post office," the "Fish Pond," the "Fortune Teller," and the "Trip around the World," were all mighty entertaining and as well patronized.

Danny Wallace was there with his eighteen entertainers in the "Dark town Minstrel Show." Danny deserves much credit for training these boys so well. He had one Little Tot, Master Gene Hart, who sang "I'm the Guy" in a very professional manner. Then five boys about 12 years of age did a darky song and dance in a very pleasing way. His ten big singers were also well received. Mr. Willard Porterfield was the middle man and carried the show off in great style. Mr. Throm with his violin, and Lloyd Cleveland and Lee Thomson with the horns, furnished most excellent instrumental music.

Danny appeared in his minstrel Jumble but he was the one busy man all over the grounds. He did not stay very long in a place but had the audience with him on his "Another Rag" song. The athletic meet under the able direction of Rex Wheeler held the crowd
