Four Sticks of Dynamite Under Executive's Window

ENOUGH TO DESTROY BUILDING

How Explosive Was Placed at Spot Where Found a Mystery-Police Believe an Italian Could Explain It.

Four sticks of dynamite, enough to destroy the foundation walls of the city hall and bring down the superstructure, were found bundled together and set with a fuse beneath one of the windows of Mayor Gaynor's office in New York.

The discovery set going the machinery of the fire department. Commissioner Johnson was in the mayor's office at the time and he gave orders with a dispatch that landed the savage looking package in Owen Eagan's bombproof magazine very quickly. Nearly everybody that was in the neighborhood got excited except the mayor himself.

The dynamite was discovered by J. J. Madden, an employe of the department of public buildings, while he was cleaning the windows of the city hall. It lay directly in the most on the westerly side of the building.

Expert Eagan informed the reporters that the package contained four sticks of 40 per cent Dupont gelatine dynamite, with fuse and detonating cap attached; also a piece of chinz punk and three burned matches. The matches and punk were attached to the powder fuse. The punk was partly burned.

How the dynamite could have been set where found is a matter of conjecture. It was too far from the railing to admit the suggestion that someone thrust it through with his hand then lighted the punk. To have thrown it over the railing would have been very dangerous for the person doing the throwing.

The Italian cambric in which the dynamite sticks were found may be the means of apprehending the maker of the package or the person who left it there. Such packages are not unknown in the Italian sections of the city and it is regarded as not unlikely that some love lorn Italian swain, mourning the loss of a bride, decided to dynamite the building in order to get even with the marriage bureau.

MAS MAPPED OUT LEGAL PLAN

Possible That Prisoner Will Be Fight ing For Freedom in Canada For Long Time-Vermont May Get Him.

Behind an iron grilled window of the Sherbrooke (Quebec) jail Harry Thaw fretted and fumed and talked erratically. He is still confident in him self and exclaimed more than once: "I am not afraid of Matteawan. I have braved the death chair twice.

There is nothing to fear."

ROBERT MCAFEE, Secretary of the Commonwealth.

He was much concerned lest the people should think he is not personally in charge of his case. "It must be made clear," he asserted, "that I must be understood as well that my lawyers are in accord with me."

George Lauder Carnegie, Thaw's orother-in-law, explained in a lengthy interview just what the family attitude toward Harry is. The family is going o stick by him.

"My brother-in-law escaped from Matteawan so that he could get back to Pittsburg, not South America or any place outside the United States," said Mr. Carnegie.

He declared that Harry could not get a square deal in New York. "We are all delighted," he coninued, "that he made his escape. A break for liberty was the only resource left to him. He knew it; we knew it; everybody knew it."

Someone asked: "Will Thaw stick by the five men who escaped?" "Yes," and he spoke emphatically.

'What is more the family will stick by them in so far as possible. We don't consider that they did anything wrong in giving liberty to a man who has every right to it.

"But you must remember that Harry, if his sanity is proved, will have plenty of money. It won't be necessary for his family to give aid. We are ready to, however, and I don't hesitate to say it.

"There is one thing I want thoroughly understood. Harry Thaw's family was not cognizant of his intention to escape. Perhaps some of us had come to hope that he would engineer the thing. I won't say that is not true, but I shall say that no one ever talked about such a matter with him."

"Does the Thaw family really think that Thaw is sane?"

"That question is absurd, sir. Don't you know that we would be the last people to want him to get out of Matteawan or any other asylum if we thought him insane? Do you think that we would take the chance of Harry doing an act of violence and causing the family to go through an other seven years like the last have been? Let the public think of that. "I'm going back to New York and Mrs. Carnegie is going with me. Harry is to take entire charge of his own case here in Canada. Isn't that a proof of his family's belief in his sanity?'

It leaked out that Thaw's coming to Canada was all a trick of fate and not at all according to the planned flight. By some underground channel Thaw had been in secret communication with the leader of the men who alded him in his escape for months according to one of Thaw's attorneys. Shortly before the data set for the dash and be ore the route to be followed had been clearly determined then that L was to end at Pittsburg Thaw's ens_.el of communication was hand over immediately. Finally at a point some place in Vermont Thaw washed his hands of the outfit, left the touring car and took a train for Canada on a moment's inspiration. Two of the men stuck by him despite the fight. One of them is supposed to be "Educated" Roger Thompson. There is still doubt about the other.

Dr. Joseph Emil Noel, Sherbrooke jail physician, made a forty-fiveminute examination of Harry K Thaw in the jail. At the conclusion he said that he found the prisoner

"perfectly sane." Dr. Noel acted at he request of the immigration bureau Dr. Noel, following his examination. said that he had prepared a report to be forwarded to Ottawa. "Mr. Thaw is fully as same as you or L" said the physician. "I have heen carefully examining him since his arrival here. I discussed his case with him. He knows more about it than his lawyers. There was not an intricate point that we did not cover. He has a wonderful analytical mind and there was not a single second that he did not know what he was talking about." The Thaw lawyers were jubilant when they learned of Dr. Noel's state ment. They professed to believe that it would convince the dominion authorities that Thaw had been badly used in New York.

Dr. G. L. Hume, Dr. J. O. Ledoux nd Dr. Stirling, who examined Thaw at the request of Dr. Britton Evans, New York allenist, have made an affidavit to the effect that Thaw is rational and sane. W. A. Blakeley, district attorney of Pittsburg, in Sherbrooke at the request of Thaw and an intimate friend If the family, said that if Thaw does hot stop talking he will "talk himself back to Matteawan."

"I'm not up here as Thaw's attorney," said Blakeley. "I have known him for many years and I have known his family as well. It is purely a personal visit, I saw Thaw and found him in good spirits."

Although Blakeley did not come ere as an attorney for Thaw he was in conference for two hours with W. K. McKeon, Colonel H. A. Frazer and ex-Governor William Stone of Pennsylvania. After the conference all five men called on Thaw in the hospital ward and remained with him for about an hour.

Governor Stone declined to say what he thought of Thaw's case. It is known he is here to make himself acquainted with the Canadian end of the fight pre paratory to extradition proceedings it Newport, VL, the place where Thaw shut off. So the day came last Sun- | will probably be sent if deported.
