

Calendar for November 1913 showing days of the week and dates.

Up in New York the legislature is also strongly anti-Tammans, the Republicans having a decisive majority over all elements of the Democracy.

It is rumored that Huerta, the Mexican dictator is drinking heavily. This calls for another ultimatum from the Washington White House.

The Republicans of Venango, Warren and Jefferson counties elected their entire tickets last week, but the two latter counties slumped badly on the vote for good roads, more's the pity.

COMPLETE but unofficial figures make Kephart's majority over Grim 25,000, for Superior Court Judge. Henderson led the ticket, having 8,122 more votes than Kephart, both being elected.

SAYS the Buffalo Express: "Republican success was epidemic on Tuesday. There were some sporadic cases of Democratic and Progressive triumph, but the returns show that Republicanism has come into its own again. The pendulum of popular favor has swung back to the Grand Old Party."

ONE of the things that friends of the good roads amendment did not seem to take into consideration was the quiet opposition of most of the big corporations of the state. They assumed that the corporations, upon whom the whole burden of state taxation is primarily placed, would have the bill to pay, and inferred that among the first things the legislature would do would be to increase the corporation tax.—PUNXY SPIRIT.

We have no great grief over the defeat of the bond issue. We think it was a great mistake, but it is worth a great deal to the voters to have what they want. As they drive through sloughs, splash through puddles, grind in the sandy places of the road while horses strain or autos stick, they can reflect that they voted for it and should feel a quiet content. We have no auto, no fine span, but trust to trolley lines, the railroad trains, and keep to the paved streets and improved roads when we walk. We are sorry for the doctors who must plow the slush each winter and for the mail carrier, and especially sorry for the horses that must bear the heaviest burden as the result of the vote; but, somehow or other, the American people always manage to correct their mistakes and we hope for good roads by and by.—FRANKLIN NEWS.

NOTWITHSTANDING that a few of the big fellows, who are expecting to be elevated a peg or two and reap all the glory, are beating tom-toms to hold their lines intact, the recent election has clearly shown that there is a strong tendency among the rank and file of those who "broke over" to get back where they belong—in the Republican party—and no longer aid the Democrats, with their nefarious policies, to gobble up everything in sight. Commenting on the situation in Philadelphia the Press says: "Many elements contributed to the success of the Republican party in Philadelphia Tuesday. First and foremost was the revival of the spirit of Republicanism itself, clearly discernible even in States where the Democrats still continue to win elections, more clearly defined in the counties of New York and Pennsylvania and sharply marked, as naturally ought to be the case, in this great manufacturing city. One of the most impressive lessons on this point may be had by a study of the reversal of the result of two years ago in the great manufacturing districts of the Northeast and of Manayunk and the return of the workmen in those sections to the party of Protection."

Last Week's Election.

As will be observed by the official table in this issue of the REPUBLICAN, Forest county voted pretty much in the affirmative. M. A. Carringer, Esq., the Republican candidate for District Attorney, who was also on the Washington ticket, carried the county for re-election by 69 majority over T. F. Ritchey, Esq., the Democratic candidate, and 350 over Homer Blair, a Franklin gentleman, who was the Prohibition candidate. Judge John J. Henderson led in the vote-getting for Superior Court Judge, he having 73 more votes than Webster Grim, who was the only Democrat on the non-partisan ballot. John W. Kephart, of Johnstown, was a good third in the race, and he and Henderson were elected in the State at large. Dr. Detar, Republican, of Kelleysville, was elected Coroner of the county.

All the amendments carried in the county, Forest being the banner county, outside of Philadelphia, in the State for good roads, our vote being a little more than 2 1/2 to 1 for the amendment. The proposition went down to defeat in the State by from 15,000 to 20,000, a surprisingly small majority considering the fact that less than one-fourth the interior counties gave majorities favorable to the amendment. Forest, Elk, Cameron and Venango counties were the only ones in the northwest to return a majority for good roads. Counties like Clarion, Crawford, Jefferson and Warren were "scared of the graft," and voted two and three to one to stay in the mud. All of the other amendments voted on seem to have gone down with the road amendment in the State.

—Advices from Forest county are to the effect that the road loan carried in that county by a vote of about four to one. The people of Forest county are evidently anxious to have the roads of the State improved and were willing to help pull Pennsylvania out of the mud.—WARREN MIRROR.

For Greater Efficiency Among The Churches.—A Religious Survey of Forest County.

Two watchwords of our present age are efficiency and co-operation, the one in order to the other. The religious forces of the country are catching this same spirit. Church bodies long divided are now learning how to march in step, as separate regiments in one united brigade. In 1905 the first National Interchurch Conference was held, and the movement thus started developed three years later into the "Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America," which now represents more than thirty protestant denominations. Similar federations have come into being in many states, counties and cities. Their object is to cultivate friendship and good understanding, and to secure economy and thoroughness in all the service, local and national, which is the common responsibility of the churches.

The latest step in this direction is the organization this year of the Interchurch Commission of Northwestern Pennsylvania, in which so far six leading denominations are co-operating. Its first work is to be a thorough study of conditions in the counties of Clarion, Crawford, Erie, Forest, Lawrence, Mercer, McKean, Venango and Warren, to get at the facts concerning the overburdening of some sections and the neglect of others. These facts will furnish material to guide all the churches to the wisest use of money and workers for the saving of men, and the upbuilding of righteousness and the highest welfare of each community.

The United States Census Bureau published in 1906 two bulky volumes of statistics concerning religious work throughout the country. Certain facts recorded there concerning the counties now being surveyed ought to be of general interest. For instance, the percentage of the total population enrolled as communicants of all churches, protestant, Catholic and Jewish, varies to a remarkable degree. In Mercer county it is 54, in Clarion 49, in Venango 41, in Warren 29, and in Forest less than 17. This last is doubtless due in part to the floating character of the lumbering population, and to the isolation of many families; but it seems to indicate that money might be saved in some other counties by uniting churches, and wisely spent here among these Forest county hills. At any rate the facts are to be gathered and made available for the use of all who are interested in them.

The committee having this survey in charge for Forest county consists of Mr. W. K. George and Rev. E. B. Welsh of Oil City. Printed blanks are being mailed by them to representative citizens in each borough and township.

BURNS PROMISES FIGHT

Famous Detective to Prosecute Pittsburgh Police. Prosecution of Pittsburgh's police officers through all grades of the department is indicated in a statement given out by William J. Burns, head of the Burns National Detective Agency, through Walter Hochberg, manager of the Burns agency in Pittsburgh. Mr. Burns declares that his men while locked up were denied meals or consultation with counsel; that their treatment at the hands of the Pittsburgh police was dictated purely with malice, and that he is going through with the prosecution and that nobody will escape. Instructions from Burns followed the arrest on election day of fourteen Burns detectives on the technical charge of being suspicious persons. They were thrown into jail, kept in cells until late Tuesday night and, it is alleged, were given nothing to eat or drink. Even bread and water were denied them, it is claimed.

2,000 Co's Miners Quit Work. Two thousand employees of two collieries of the Susquehanna Coal company at Nanticoke, Pa., quit work. The men made a demand upon the company officials that nonunion men be not allowed to enter the mines. The officials refused to take any action and claim that the employees have violated the general agreement entered into between the operators and miners.
