November coasting in this latitude is not an annual occurrence, yet a fairly good track was found on May street where the kiddies were enjoying the stunt Monday, and if the conditions at this writing continue a little longer there is no reason why the old Dutch Hill road may not afford good "sliding" long before Thanksgiving comes around.

Following is the list of letters lying uncalled for in the Tionesta, Pa., post-office for week ending Nov. 12, 1913:
A. G. Doshong, Mr. E. P. Dyast, Elizabeth Harling, Mr. Chas. B. Salesman, R. W. Mraibom, Mrs. Elizabeth Huey, Mrs. James Huey, Mr. George Goode, Mr. Fred. Cooner, Dominick Randeni(card) J. W. JAMESON, P. M.

Acknowledgment of subscription renewals is made as follows, with thanks: W. O. Blauer, Newtown Mills, Pa. (new); Joe Cunningham, Kellestville, Pa.; Dr. C. P. Stahr, Lancaster, Pa.; Chas. M. Whitmer, Kittanning, Pa. (new); Judge Aul, Marienville, Pa.; R. P. Kerr, Nebraska, Pa.; Ed. Klabbatz, Union City, Pa.; H. V. Matthews, Mayburg, Pa.; H. W. McCoy, Tidionte, Pa.
The Red Cross Seal Campaign will begin after Thanksgiving. Every year more of these little emblems of health are sold and it is to be hoped that the proportion of increase will be maintained in this district. There are few districts in the United States where the revenue from the sale of stamps goes directly to the work in that locality, as is the case here. Everybody should take it upon themselves to boost the sale by putting a stamp on every letter mailed in December.

A Sheffield item says: "After having been laid up for repairs a week or more, the Sheffield and Tionesta Ry. engine, No. 5, resumed its regular run on the passenger train yesterday in place of the relief engine, No. 8. The passenger engine has been given a general overhauling and has a newly painted tank that is decorated with the name of the road in full in yellow letters that appear very handsomely. We hope to see this and several other engines of the S & T. railroad booming into our town before much snow flies, making regular schedule time. Our people will be ill-appointed with anything less, now that the track has been completed well into the borough limits.

The McKean county authorities are still keeping up the quest for Fred Eck, the alleged assailant of 13-year-old Lillian Hineman, who fled immediately after the child's suicide. Searchers have been at work through Jefferson, Clarion, Forest and Clearfield counties to find the missing man, but without avail. He is said to have been engaged as a tool dresser in the Jefferson county oil field shortly before the occurrence at Kane.

In the Superior Court at Philadelphia, Monday, Judge Head handed down an order discharging a rule for modification of judgment or for re-argument in the case of George R. Johnson vs. Citizens National Bank of Tionesta, Pa., versus J. F. Profer et al., appealed from the Common Pleas Court of Forest county. The Superior Court had, during the past summer, affirmed the decision of Judge Hinckley, which was in favor of the plaintiff.

Cyrus Hunt Blood, for ten years prothonotary of Jefferson county, died last Saturday, following an operation for appendicitis in a hospital at Ontario, California. He was a resident of Brookville, and three weeks ago had gone to the Pacific coast to visit his brother and other relatives. He was a son of the late Kennedy L. Blood, and a nephew of the late Col. John D. Hunt of Marienville, and was well and most favorably known to many Forest county residents. He was aged 53 years and is survived by his wife and one daughter, Marien. Mr. Blood was one of Jefferson county's best beloved citizens.

The oil report for the month of October in the Pennsylvania field shows a big gain in the completed wells and a big loss in the rigs and drilling wells. There is an increase of 39 in the number of completed wells, an increase of 758 barrels in production, and an increase of 15 in the number of gas wells. The October productive wells shows 582, or an average of 2.8 barrels, as compared with 558, or an average of 7.7 barrels, the preceding month. There was an increase of two in the number of rigs in October, but a decrease of 88 in the number of wells drilling or a net decrease in new work of 84.—Oil City Derrick.

Covers for nearly 300 were laid at the annual game supper given by the Oil City lodge of Elks in their club rooms Tuesday evening, when Frank O'Day and his team of 35 men were banqueted by Mont Parks and his team of an equal number of men, the result of winning in the annual ring hunt. The feast included on its bill of fare rabbits, squirrels, pheasants, two suckling pigs and five wild turkeys, which owing to the season on these birds being closed for the next two years in this state were imported for the occasion.—Venango Herald. Harry H. Watson, R. A. Fulton and G. H. Herman represented Tionesta at the big feast.

The statement of the Oil City Trust company, published in response to the requirements of the Banking commission, under date of November 1, sets a new high record for banks and trust companies in Northwestern Pennsylvania. Deposits are over $4,257,000.00, while assets exceed $5,280,000.00. These figures do not include $901,000.00 of trust deposits. The company enjoys the distinction of being the only financial institution in this vicinity having a capital and surplus exceeding $1,000,000.00. This amount represents the actual cash invested by the stockholders, and as it appropriates 25 per cent. of the deposit liability, it places the Oil City Trust company among the strongest financial institutions in the entire country.

One of the largest timber deals in years in this section was consummated recently when the Nusbaum Chemical Company and the Custer City Chemical company, of McKean county, took over the ownership of all the saw timber and chemical wood on the Quintuple Oil Company's land, comprising 3,700 acres in all. The other contracting party was George Reidy, who recently acquired the rights. Reservations have been made of 118 acres of the land on Little Quintuple near the city limits, on which trees less than six inches in diameter will be protected. The sale means much to the two purchasing companies as it will give them enough additional timber to insure many more years of manufacture. They have been given eight years to remove the same.—Bradford Era.

A young man who was employed for one day on the Coleman railroad bridge job, and who gave his address as Oil City, took a rather unceremonious departure from the Hotel Weaver Monday morning and it is suspected that he may know something of the disappearance of two revolvers belonging to other members of the bridge crew and a coat owned by A. J. Heinen, one of the clerks. The man pleaded illness and did not go to work that morning, and some of his actions about the hotel appeared suspicious. Later in the morning clerk John Cotter found in one of the upper halls a suit case packed with a choice collection of clothing, as well as a pocket book and money, owned by different members of the bridge crew. While the clerks were trying to locate how the suit case came to be there the suspected young man took fright and "beat it" up Elm street at a hot pace, and he may be going yet. No attempt was made to follow him at the time, as the two revolvers and coat were not missed until later.

Leonard Cropp, Horace Walters and Ed. Collins, all of Cropp Hill, killed three bear coats, weighing over 100 pounds each, Monday forenoon. They also put several loads of coarse shot into the old mother bear, but she got into a ledge of rocks from which the hunters could not dislodge her. The tracks of the bears were discovered in the snow by Cropp, and the others joined in the chase, which resulted in the capture after trailing the game less than half a mile, and only about 80 rods from the Cropp Hill road. This bear killing business right under our noses, so to speak, is getting rather monotonous, and unless the hunters are a little more considerate in the slaughter the next legislator may feel constrained to place a limit on how many one man shall kill—say not more than five or six in any one day. P. S.—Since the above was put in type we learn that the same hunters went out Tuesday morning and killed the old bear. They had barricaded her under the rocks on leading the place Monday and she could not escape. After shooting her they were obliged to dynamite the rocks away in order to get the body out of the hole. She weighed about 300 pounds.

The P. R. R. track was blocked several hours early Monday morning by an accident that happened a short distance below the station at this place. Shortly after 4 o'clock Extra southbound engine Nos. 2704 and 3302, both attached to a freight, came together derailing the tank of the former and damaging the latter. Both had been cut off from the train for water and 2704 was returning when it ran into 3302. No one was injured.

In renewing his subscription our old friend, Ed. Klabbatz, a former well remembered citizen of our county, writes: "Although a resident of Erie county for a few years I look forward for the Forest county papers and they seem just like a letter from home. There are a number of Forest county boys here and all seem to be doing well, for this is a bustling 'Chair City.'" The Bull Moose all died here last election. Everything went strong Republican. I was sick for three months this summer, having undergone an operation in the Hamot hospital in Erie, but am in good health now and enjoy life as well as ever. Hoping to be remembered in Forest county, I beg to remain, Yours very truly.

Pupils in the schools of Pennsylvania are to be given the benefit of all the expert advice possible in drawing and a plan has just been announced at the Department of Public Instruction whereby the expert assistants of Dr. N. C. Schaefer, the State Superintendent, in drawing, will meet supervisors and drawing teachers in various districts just established in the state. This is the first time that a branch of instruction has been put on this basis. Miss Rose M. Fetterolf, the expert in drawing, has worked out the plan for the purpose of strengthening the work and some of the districts and conferences are announced as follows: Jan. 17, at Ridgway, for McKean, Elk, Clarion, Potter, Cameron and Jefferson; March 14, at Franklin, for Crawford, Venango and Forest; Feb. 14, at Corry, for Erie and Warren.

Winter hit this latitude with a suddenness last Sunday that almost knocked the props from under us, causing the shivers to dance up and down the spinal column of the average denizen of these parts to an extent seldom equaled by the severest January blizzard. Sunday night was a howler, and Monday morning the snow lay with its two to three inch covering of snow, had a look of dread that was not to be contemplated, coming so soon upon the heels of a week of most gorgeous fall weather. Much damage was wrought in this section to telephone and telegraph lines, many of which were put out of commission for the day, but on the whole the country is standing the sudden transition quite well. Besides the snowfall was so timed as to give the deer hunters a fine opening on the first day of the season. But in point of suffering from the big storm we are not in it with the states bordering on the great Lakes, where trains are snow-bound and drifts ten feet deep, entirely covering passenger coaches, are reported. Northern Ohio seems to have gotten the worst dose.

Funeral services in memory of the late Frederick Davis were held at the family residence at two o'clock last Thursday afternoon, Rev. H. A. Bailey, of the Presbyterian church, being the officiating minister. The services were attended by a large concourse of sorrowing friends and relatives, and the floral tributes from friends completely surrounded the casket. Olive Lodge, No. 557, F. and A. M., conducted the ritual service at the grave for their departed brother, the pall bearers being members of the order, as follows: J. J. Landers, W. J. Campbell, A. J. Lawrence, Edward Lawrence, J. N. Bankhead and Gilbert Hagerty. Interment was made in Riverside cemetery. The relatives present from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whitmore, Mr. and Mrs. George Porter, of East Hickory; Mrs. E. M. Eichner, of New York City; Dr. and Mrs. Harry L. Davis and son, of Chloora, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. George Davis and two children, of Meadville, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Bruner and two children, of Oil City, Pa.; Miss Maude Canfield, of Curwensville, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Canfield, of West Hickory.

Earl Albaugh Dies From Injuries.
Earl Albaugh of Hickory township, and well known throughout this section, died at the Oil City hospital at 11:30 o'clock Thursday, Nov. 6, 1913, from injuries he received while working on the Daniel Cropp mill, on the Kelly tract, above Oldtown, October 30th, mention of which was made in these columns last week. The deceased, who was 36 years of age, was taking a plank from the edging machine when it caught the end of the plank being driven with terrific force against his side. Three ribs were broken and a sharp fragment of bone was driven through his bowels perforating them. Two days following his injury he was taken to the hospital for treatment where his case was discovered to be practically hopeless.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Albaugh who reside in Hickory township. He also leaves his wife, three small children and five brothers, Forest, Frank, John, George and Harvey Albaugh and one sister, Mrs. Ida Ferringer, all residents of Forest county.
The body was brought home Saturday morning and the burial took place in the Hickory cemetery.

Notice To All Jurors.
All Grand and Petit Jurors summoned to appear at the November Term of Forest County Court, November 17, 1913, are hereby notified not to appear as such, not having sufficient business to justify the calling of same. You are therefore excused from duty at the above stated term.
As witness my hand and seal of said Court this 11th day of November, 1913.
(SEAL) S. R. MAXWELL, Clerk.

Declare War on Colds.
A crusade of education which aims "that common colds may become uncommon within the next generation" has been begun by prominent New York physicians. Here is a list of the "doubts" which the doctors say will prevent the annual visitation of the cold:
"Don't sit in a draughty car."
"Don't sleep in hot rooms."
"Don't avoid the fresh air."
"Don't stuff yourself at meal time. Overeating reduces your resistance."
To which we would add—when you take a cold get rid of it as quickly as possible. To accomplish that you will find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy most excellent. Sold by all druggists. adv.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Clark Morgan, of Oil City, visited relatives here Friday.
Mrs. Mary Rohrer of Franklin was a visitor in Tionesta a few hours Friday.
Chas. Daubenspeck of Kellestville was one of our pleasant callers Thursday.
George Watts, of Jamaica, L. I., is here enjoying his annual outing and hunt.
Fred and Harrison Blum were up from Oil City Saturday to enjoy a rabbit hunt.
Mrs. R. P. Kerr and young son Edward, of Nebraska, were Tionesta shoppers Saturday.
Mrs. Charles H. Hunter went to East Brady, Pa., Saturday, for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. George Carson.
D. L. Davis, of the Pittsburgh Court House, and J. L. Orris, of Carriage, Pa., are enjoying their annual hunt here.
Mrs. Adams returned to her home in Boston Thursday from an extended visit in Tionesta with her son, J. A. Adams.
Misses Anna Martin and Emma Wesley, of Tidionte, were guests of Mrs. W. C. Inel, Saturday and Sunday.
Mrs. G. F. Watson and Mrs. Harry H. Watson entertained seventy-five at a fancy work party at the former's home Wednesday afternoon.

A daughter was born Nov. 1, 1913, to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Matie, of Pine Camp, Hickory township, at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Hewitt, in Tionesta.
A new daughter arrived Friday to gladden the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford H. Secor, of Nebraska, Pa., and has been named Marietta Fredrika.
Curtis Puffenberg of Wilkensburg spent the past couple of weeks at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Edward Kiser, German Hill, and enjoyed the hunting.
John Gillilan, after fifty-six years as an active horse-shoer and blacksmith, has retired his tools to another party and hereafter will live the quiet life of a soldier vet.—Tidionte News.

Wm. Smeasburgh and family, with Ed. Lawrence at the wheel, autored to Erie Friday, the last day for overland motoring this season, judging from present weather conditions.
Joseph Cunningham of Kellestville, and W. O. Blauer of Newtown Mills, returned election judges for their respective districts, called at this office while in town Wednesday afternoon.
Miss Margaret Haslet is home from a year's stay in Elkhart, Ind., and Chicago, where she completed a course in the millinery art. She expects to return to the latter city in the early spring.

Frank H. Hamilton assisted in the choir singing at the Presbyterian church Sunday, rendering as solo "The Holy City" in very pleasing manner. Mr. Hamilton possesses a full, rich voice and is a valuable addition to the choir.
Mrs. J. F. Profer and her mother, Mrs. Nellie Jackson, expect to start Saturday for St. Petersburg, Fla., where they will make their home for the winter, occupying their own cottage recently erected there. Mr. Profer will join the family later.

Thos. S. Strauss, L. M. Bell, L. B. Bossard, Fred. E. Carr and T. J. Renner, Saegertown, Pa., and A. J. Miller, of Meadville, Pa., were at the Hotel Weaver Monday night preparing for a week of camping and hunting at John Hunter's, up Tionesta creek.
Simon P. Whitman moved his family from the old homestead farm in Tionesta township, to Lincolnville, Crawford county, where he is looking after the lumbering operations of Lyman Cook in that vicinity. He expects to be engaged there for the next five or six years.

Dr. Chas. P. Stahr and friend, Mr. Deen, of Lancaster, Pa., enjoyed several days' hunting here the past week as guests at the home of the Doctor's parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Clark. They had a lot of sport and took with them a decent amount of game of various species.
Mrs. J. L. Craig and daughter, Miss Daisy, who have spent the past six weeks of their eastern visit as the welcome guests of Tionesta friends, expect to leave this week for Pittsburg to be with friends awhile before going to visit relatives in other eastern cities. They do not expect to reach home in Los Angeles until after the holidays.

Mr. W. Clark Langer, of Mayburg, Pa., and Mrs. Emma M. Woods, of Waterloo, Iowa, were married at the home of the former, Sunday afternoon, Nov. 9, 1913. Rev. Henry Smallenberger officiating. Congratulations and best wishes are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Langer that their married life may be a prosperous and happy one.
J. T. Dale left Friday for Pittsburg where he will visit friends for a few days after which he expects to continue his trip to California, where he may sojourn for the winter, probably at San Diego.

We are all sorry to lose the genial "Colonel" and shall miss him greatly from our citizenship, and we hope he may return with the robins in the spring to resume his accustomed place with his friends of a lifetime.
Judge J. G. Carson of West Hickory brought the returns of the late election in his precinct down Wednesday and visited with friends awhile. Mr. Carson finished building for the Forest Barge company a short time ago, having launched 27 of the big boats this season and would have about doubled that output if he could have kept a larger crew in the yards. It may be the "Judge" will take a notion to make a pilgrimage out to the Pacific coast country, to see his sons, where Mrs. Carson is visiting this winter.

Coming!
Rolling Thunder, chief Medicine Man of the Kiowa Nation, will be in Tionesta for two weeks beginning Nov. 19, giving lectures on customs, habits, manners and religion of his tribe. Also gives a vaudeville entertainment nightly, at Bovard's Hall.—Adv.

A Night of Terror.
Few nights are more terrible than that of a mother looking on her child choking and gasping for breath during an attack of croup, and nothing in the house to relieve it. Many mothers have passed nights of terror in this situation. A little forethought will enable you to avoid all this. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a certain cure for croup and has never been known to fail. Keep it at hand. For sale by all druggists. adv.

West Hickory Drug Store Burned.

The Wilkins building at West Hickory, the first story of which was occupied as a drug store owned by Dr. W. G. Morrow, was gutted by fire at an early hour Friday morning, and practically all the contents were destroyed. The rooms over-looked by Earl Sutley who had moved the larger portion of his household goods into the building, all of which were burned also. The origin of the fire is a mystery, there having been no fire about the building during previous evening, at least none in the rear where the blaze was first discovered.

Dr. Morrow carried insurance to the amount of $2,000 on his stock of goods, furniture and fixtures, which only partially covers his loss, which is over $3,000. Mr. Sutley's loss is practically a total one as he had not yet secured a permit to change the location of his household goods to the new quarters, thus nullifying the $200 policy which he held. Out of the wreck he saved a gold watch, a shotgun, set of dishes and a few articles of clothing. He estimates his loss at $400. W. G. Wilkins, of Titusville, who owned the building carried an insurance of $800. His loss will be $200 or $300 more than that, as the building is completely ruined. He will not rebuild.

This is the third mysterious fire that has occurred in that place within a year past, all of which appeared to be of incendiary origin.

Kellestville.
Jack Frost and Windy Snow arrived in town Sunday night and called around peeping in at the windows to see the people hovering over a small gas fire or bustling to provide a more reliable one.
Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Watson went to State College Thursday to be there for Pennsylvania Day on Friday. They remained over Sunday as guests of their son.

Mrs. F. J. Henderson left Monday for Meadville, where she will attend a review of the National Guards as a guest of her son, Rexford, who has lately joined the Meadville company. She will remain for a week's visit with friends.
Election passed off quietly Tuesday. The men going quietly to the polls gave no clue to the way they were going to vote, but the final count and the broad smile of the successful candidates told the story.

Some forty men with F. V. Hendrickson and Nelson Russell as captains took in the annual hunt last Thursday. The former succeeded in selecting the crew which scored the most points and they were treated to an eight o'clock supper served by A. C. Shannon and paid for by the defeated hunters. A scarcity of game was reported and no very great catch was secured by any one. Wm. J. Dettar and his dog succeeded in capturing a big fat porcupine. They returned home in the evening, the former with a foot and the latter with the quills, somewhat disturbed in their minds for fear it would not count.

Mrs. John Knupp of Nebraska was a business visitor in town Friday and took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. John Blum.

Roxie Kifer of Beaver Valley was the guest of her sisters, Mrs. Jay Catlin and Mrs. E. Bean, during the week.
George Shepard has moved his household goods into Jay Catlin's house and will take possession as soon as Catlin's get their goods moved out.
Mrs. M. Andrews returned to Cleveland, Friday.

The schools are selling tickets for a first entertainment lecture course, the first number to be a lecture on Nov. 14. Whitehill has begun on a house for Ralph Whitehill on the hill back of the company store.
Tressa Hendrickson of Mayburg visited friends in town over Sunday.

Mrs. White of Garland, who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Chas. Price, had the misfortune to fall off a step and sprain her wrist and hand, which is causing her considerable pain.
Sunday being temperance day in the Sunday school, the members of the L. T. L. favored the M. E. Sunday school with a temperance song.
J. C. Cunningham was down to Tionesta Wednesday carrying down the returns of election.

Mrs. Forest Beck and children of Meadville are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Dingle, this week.
There will be a meeting of the M. E. Sunday school board Thursday evening to arrange for Christmas.
On last Tuesday evening the members of Mrs. C. Y. Dettar's class met and organized into an Adult Bible class with the following officers: President, Julia Lohmeyer; vice president, Verna Miller; secretary, Blanche Hendricks; treasurer, Loretta Dunkle. While their class is not so large as the others, they succeeded better than all, for they have secured every person in the town eligible to membership in that class.

Mayburg.
Evelyn Hendrickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Hendrickson, had the misfortune while playing in a neighboring yard to fall from a fence and dislocate her left elbow and also fracture the bone.
Mrs. Wm. Desher and daughter Helen were Kellestville shoppers Saturday.
Rumors of wedding bells in the near future.

Prof. E. C. Terrill was a Kellestville visitor Friday evening and Saturday, returning Saturday on the 1:45 train.
Mrs. Samuel Whitehill left Saturday morning for West Virginia, where she will join her husband, who is engaged in work there.
Thomas McCartney is visiting Fryburg friends this week.
A surprise party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burrows, Thursday evening, Oct. 6th, in honor of their daughter, Hazel.
Rev. and Mrs. G. S. Bryan attended the district quarterly meeting of the F. M. church at Youngsville, Pa., over the Sabbath.
Miss Lizzie Harkins visited her parents at Buck Mills, Saturday and Sunday.
Dora A. Mealy visited friends at Kellestville, Sunday afternoon, a week ago. It appears that the long trip was too much for him, as he has been laid up with the grippe all week.
Tonight.
