—Although there is said to be seven to nine inch ice on the creek, none of our citizens have attempted to harvest any of the crop up to this date. Ray Birtch has a good ten-inch covering on his pond and is putting up the first cutting this week. Those who want ice for next summer's use should be getting busy.

—Positive arrest of Bright's disease by a newly-evolved treatment of "washing" the human kidneys with certain alkaline substances was claimed as a medical certainty Monday when John Frohman, a patient at a Los Angeles hospital, was declared immune from further ravages of the disease. Dr. A. T. Charlton, who devised the new treatment, declared that in the case of Frohman and in twenty other cases the disease had been stopped in its progress to such an extent that each patient treated could live his natural span of life, as far as kidney trouble would be concerned.

—The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago is planning an International Prophetic Conference, February 24 to 27, the fifth only of its kind in the history of the country, the second having been held in Chicago in 1888. Among the themes to be discussed are the Premillennial Coming of Christ, and the relation of that event to Missions, Evangelism and Practical Christian Work. They will also deal with modern delusions of a spiritual kind and suggest their corrective from the Biblical and Theological point of view. Mr. Swartzfager and family were former residents of Howe township this county.

—Our citizens generally did nobly in keeping their walks clear of snow during the blizzard of the past few days, but a few vacant properties were given the going, making travel over the walks very disagreeable and more or less dangerous. In cases like this the borough authorities should put a husky shoveler on the job and charge the expense against the property as a penalty. A little reminder of this sort would work a reform in just no time.

—Last night was sure the hummer of the season. At six o'clock thermometers registered four degrees below zero. At 7:30, ten below; at 10:30, thirteen below, and this morning at 6:30 the machine indicated 23 degrees below the sought mark. Many water pipes needed thawing out and in some cellars a new invoice of potatoes will be necessary. Note it down, Jan. 14, 1914. The river is frozen over solid enough to carry a team of horses this morning.

—The men who have been engaged in fishing for a bailey at Bradford's famous deep well have finally succeeded in their work. The bailey has been pulled out of the hole, now 5,710 feet in depth, and drilling operations will be resumed. It is planned to go down at least another 100 feet in the hope of hitting something of value. The hole is still an eight-inch one at the depth stated and the equipment is in good condition for continuing the test.—Bradford Era.

—Recorder Maxwell has just placed on the Forest county records the largest mortgage, by several million dollars, that has ever been recorded in this county, if not in the whole State. —The Printz Company of Oil City are holding their "Dont Shoot" sale early this season, having in mind, no doubt, the giving of big bargains to their many customers while the season for winter wearables is at its best, instead of waiting till the cold and disagreeable days are on the wane. In this way the customer gets the benefit of much wear from his purchases before carrying them over to next season. They invite you to this special sale that you may prove to your own satisfaction their claims of great bargains.

—An important change announced at the State Highway Department is the appointment of Thomas C. A. Wynn, transferred to the newly formed bureau of township highways. It is said that in the future this rule will be closely adhered to.

—The county fell into the grip of one of the worst blizzards Sunday night that has prevailed hereabout for years past, and all day Monday a terrific gale filled the air with clouds of light snow that had fallen during the night and continued throughout the greater portion of the day. All sorts of travel in the country districts was interfered with, and all rural mail routes were "snowed under," so to speak. Monday night the high wind subsided to an extent, and yesterday conveyances were showing themselves out of the drifts and showing signs of life again. The railroads in this section were not as greatly hampered as would be supposed, because the snow was light and there was not a great lot of it, but the country roads as a rule were packed solid filling the beaten paths so as to make the going well nigh out of the question. People who could sit indoors by cheerful fires and use the telephones for communication and gossip were the only happy ones.

—A. J. Hunter, of Endeavor, who is employed at the Pine Camp logging job for Wheeler & Dusenbury, had a harrowing experience in the big snow storm of Saturday night, January 3d, which nearly proved his finish. During the afternoon Mr. Hunter had gone over the hill to Mayburg, a distance of four miles. In the evening he set out to return to the camp and was overtaken by the terrific storm. The snow fall was so dense that he became bewildered and lost the path, and then wandered about the woods until far into the night. In his efforts to find his way out he was completely exhausted and had about given up. He kept up a cry for help and finally got within hearing distance of the camp, although not aware of it. Some persons sitting up with a sick man heard his cries and sent out a rescue party, which found Mr. Hunter under a pile of brush, where he had crawled for shelter. He was about unconscious and nearly perished. He was taken to the camp and for a number of days was so badly used up that he was confined to his bed. He is 35 years of age and unmarried, and had not been a strong healthy man would no doubt have frozen to death in the woods.

Recent Deaths.

Christopher Kagle died at his home in Nickleville, Pa., Jan. 1, 1914. He was a son of George and Barbara (Bowers) Kagle, deceased, of Clarion county, Pa. "Christ," as he was familiarly called, was well known throughout this section and highly respected by all. He was born in Wittenberg, Germany, August 21, 1850, and came to America with his parents when a boy fourteen years of age. All but a few years of his life was spent on the old homestead near Leikinsville, Pa. He was a kind, industrious citizen, and leaves a wife and nine children, namely, Edward and Charles Kagle of Tionesta, Pa., George of Parker's Landing, Pa., Willis of Salem, Pa., Webster of Cleveland, Okla., Mrs. Oscar Jackson of St. Petersburg, Pa., Myrtle, Lloyd and Nora at home, to mourn the loss of a good husband and kind father.

Dearest father thou hast left us, Here thy loss we deeply feel, But 'tis God that hath bereft us, He can all our sorrow heal.

Walking Stick From Borneo. Constable J. B. Eden of the Township received a very acceptable holiday gift from his young friend, John A. Wolf, son of John Wolf of Tionesta township, who is on the island of Borneo with a drilling crew for the Standard Oil company. The letter is as follows:

Silico, British North Borneo Mr. John B. Eden:—

Just to show you that I still think of an old friend, I am sending you a walking stick by registered mail. The wood is what is known as "nabong" one of the strongest woods on the island, and the head or handle is of solid silver, beat-n-out of the coin of the realm. All the work is done by hand. The work is very crude, but at the same time no "rucky" or crooked, as you use to call them, could do the job without serving a term or two in the "guard house." This is a great country, especially for snakes and colored folk, centipedes and lizards, scorpions and scorpions, dobe itch and prickly heat, but with all this track on the outside the gate, I am feeling fine; off twenty pounds in weight, but you know me, feeling all the time like an old soldier after a good Christmas dinner. If you don't get the stick in sixty days let me know and I will look it up. Washing yourself and family a Merry Christmas and happy New Year.

As ever your old friend, J. A. WOLF

Lauben Straits Settlement.

Some Snow Seventy-five Years Ago. Dr. F. E. Allison, of Nebraska, Pa., furnishes the following interesting local history of the "big snow of 75 years ago:

"An old-timer says that on Saturday, December 24, 1839, snow commenced to fall about 1 o'clock in the afternoon, continuing without intermission that day and night and throughout Christmas day until evening. On the following morning the snow was two feet deep. During the succeeding week it settled down about four inches. On Saturday, December 31, about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, it commenced to snow again, fell steadily during that night, throughout New Year's day, and for some time during the night.

"On Monday morning there was an additional depth of 26 inches on top of what had fallen Christmas, making a total of more than four feet.

"While the highways were all blocked and had to be shoveled out, there was only one railroad and one telegraph line affected in this State. That was the Pennsylvania-Central it was the only railroad completed in the State at that time—the telegraph line was from Philadelphia to Harrisburg.

"Seventy-five years ago it was said to have been the deepest snow ever known by the oldest inhabitants.

"The succeeding summer was the time of the Harrison and Van Buren Presidential campaign. The Democrats declared that 'Harrison's log cabin and elder barrel had all been 'snowed under' hence the phrase 'Snowed Under' has been in use for the past 74 years, but the log cabin and elder barrel won out. General Harrison was elected in 1840, but only lived one month after being 'snowed' in to the office."
