-Don't forget the band benefit at the Patriotic theatre tonight. The program is the largest ever given at the "Movies" here, and you will miss a rare treat if you don't go. The performance will start at 6:45 and continue till 11:15 o'clock. Remember the band gets the benefit of this best show of the season.

-The Express thinks it would be a good stunt to book our old friend, J. W. Baxter of Gilroy, for a talk on cattle raising at the farmers' institute to be held at Marienville this month. From what they tell us, Mr. Baxter has the rest of 'em beat to frazzle in this industry, and could give a very instructive talk on the subject.

-The burning of a couple of films at the moving picture show Thursday evening near the close of the performance caused little stir among those who were watching the pictures. The flames were confined to the operating booth and were subdued by a dash from one of the chemical extinguishers before most of the audience had gone out.

-Farmer W. H. Shaffer of the Proper farm, German Hill leads them all so far as heard from in the line of big porkers. He butchered one last week that tipped the scales at 540 pounds, a two-year-old raised by himself. There's $54.00 spot cash in one critter, and it comes so easy that it's just like getting money from home. Raise more hogs, ye yeomen.

-Rev. W. F. Fleming of Tarentum is here assisting Pastor Bailey in his special meetings at the Presbyterian church, and preached to good congregations both Monday and Tuesday evenings. He is a very pleasing speaker whom you will want to hear frequently and you have the most cordial invitation to come out to all the meetings, which begin at 7:30 o'clock.

-Mrs. Margaret Greenawalt, widow of the late Lewis Greenawalt, died at her home at Marienville Tuesday morning, Jan. 27, 1914, aged 71 years. Four daughters and one son survive her. The family formerly resided near Lickingville. The deceased was a member of the Catholic church and a woman universally respected in the community where much of her life had been spent.

-George Ays and William Shawl, overseer of the poor of Manner township, Armstrong county, were here Monday to meet our County Commissioners relative to a man named Britt and his family to whom the Commissioners had extended outside relief. Britt is a coal miner and had recently moved with his family of six children to near Stewart Run, and fallen ill, and needed help to tide him over his misfortune. -adv.

-The Dutch supper served in the M. E. church by the Ladies' Aid Society directed by Mrs. R. L. Haslet, Mrs. S. M. Henry and Miss Ida Paup, was a success in every particular. The ladies in a very clever manner served lunch to a large crowd of people and at the same time gathered into the treasury of their society the neat sum of $73.37. We congratulate the ladies upon their success.

-A committee of both the Presbyterian and M. E. churches has called upon the business houses of the town and asked them to close their places of business at 7:30 in the evening, Saturday evening excepted, during the time that the special meetings are in progress, and most of those who have been interviewed have consented to the arrangement, and it is likely that all will do likewise after having been waited upon by the committee.

-Owing to the special meetings now in progress at the M. E. church here, a slight change in the service schedule at Nebraska becomes necessary, and next Sabbath the hour for Sabbath school will be 1:30 p.m., with preaching services at 2:30. Preaching services in the Tionesta church will be at 11:00 Sunday morning. For the balance of this week and all of next week gospel meetings will begin each evening at 7:30 o'clock. Everybody cordially welcomed.

-Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Hepler last week purchased the Lightner restaurant in the Kepke block, taking possession of the same on Saturday night, and will no doubt keep it up to its previous reputation for good service and meals.

Mrs. Christine Wert and Miss Bessie Hepler have moved their bakery from the Clark building to this restaurant, where they will continue to serve the public with home baked goods. Mr. and Mrs. Lightner have moved to the rooms on the second floor of the Lawrence block.

-The borough council has been informed that its application for state aid in the reconstruction of the road from the end of the pavement at South Elm Street to the Tionesta creek bridge, has been approved by the State Highway department. The distance is about 1100 feet, and it is the intention to make the newly constructed road at least 16 feet in width. Whether it will be of brick or improved macadam is not yet determined. Engineer Frame of Warren was here the latter part of last week making a preliminary survey of the road, and it is the intention of the Department to have the work begun as soon as weather will permit.

-John F. McCormick, a prominent resident and business man of Lock Haven, Pa., died at his home in that city Sunday morning, Jan. 25th, 1914, after an illness of nearly three years. He was aged 52 years and is survived by one son, J. Kennedy, and one daughter, Emily. The funeral was held at the family home Wednesday afternoon and was conducted by Rev. C. H. Williamson, pastor of Great Island Presbyterian church. Interment was made in Highland cemetery. Mr. McCormick was known here as one of the partners in the lumbering firm of Coleman, Harter & McCormick, who own and operate the plant at Johns Run, two miles up Tionesta creek from Tionesta. Out of respect to his memory all work at the plant was suspended during the afternoon of the day of the funeral.

-Peter J. Keiser, a former Marienville boy, where he learned his trade as a baker, was instantly killed by a fall in Pittsburg last week as told by the Gazette Times of the 27th ultimo: "When Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schmetter of 5119 Lytle street returned to their home at 10 o'clock last night they found Peter J. Keiser, a baker lying dead at the foot of a flight of stairs on the first floor. Keiser had been employed by Schmetter but, it is said, was discharged yesterday morning. It is supposed he returned to the house last evening to get something he had forgotten when he had left yesterday morning and fell down the stairs. His neck was broken." He was aged 41 years and married, having left Marienville ten years ago, where his mother still resides, and where his body was taken for burial Friday.

-The customary January break up came just in time last week to "save the day." It looked for a spell as though the turn in the weather to colder would postpone the annual event and it would have to be pulled off in February, but on Wednesday the ice in the river began crumbling, and by evening it had all passed out leaving the river comparatively clear. The continued melting of the heavy body of snow and rapid rising of the river caused some apprehension that a flood of unusual magnitude was imminent, and the water did fill the banks by Saturday night, but colder conditions checked the rise and a dangerous flood was averted. The roads throughout the country are no longer passable with sleighs, and wagons and other wheeled vehicles are again brought into requisition. But we are promised more cold weather and snow flurries this very week by the weather sharp, as well as by the groundhog, who could have basked in the sunshine all of Candlemas day, Monday, it is cared to. So with six weeks more of snug winter weather the best as well as the worst of us should be satisfied.

-The first passenger train to enter Tionesta over the Sheffield & Tionesta Railway was brought down from Nebraska last Saturday night when a special excursion was run to accommodate those who desired to attend the concert given by the Galbreath Brothers at the M. E. church. The regular train was pressed into service after completing the daily run from Sheffield and arrived here at 8 o'clock, coming as far as the Tionesta creek bridge. There were 73 passengers on board when it arrived here. The trip was made without incident and the train left shortly after 10 o'clock for the return trip. Conductor A. H. Hunter has the honor of bringing in the first train and the other members of the crew were E. S. Blauer, engineer, Walter Scott, fireman, and Clevis Richards, baggeman. Fred R. Killestiver, the vice president of the road, also came along to see that all was running smoothly. The passengers were met at the bridge by a tallyho to meet the train with the band on its arrival here but the howling blizzard raged at that hour knocked out all the plans.

-How to Prevent Bilious Attacks.

"Coming events cast their shadows before." This is especially true of bilious attacks. People who have suffered from bilious attacks take nothing else.
