Certified from the Records. S. R. MAXWELL, Recorder. Mr. Arner desires further to state, although it has no connection whatever with the case, that when he met with the deplorable accident which caused him great distress and suffering, and finally the loss of his leg, Feb. 9, 1881, he was not in the employ of Mr. Collins, but was living on his farm on Whig Hill, and had gone to the woods to work for the late Wm, Tobey, jobber for the firm of Wheeler & Dusenbury. Some time after his recovery Mr. Arner was appointed postmaster of Tionesta and moved his family to this place, retaining the office for five years. After his retirement he was elected prothonotary of the county, which office he held for three successive terms. At the expiration of his last term he established a real estate and insurance office, in which business he has been suc cessful. In all these years Mr. Arner has "paddled his own cance" very suc cessfully, and although bandleapped by the loss of his leg, he has, by close attention to business and careful management, been able to live comfortably and keep the wolf from the door quite handily, As to the settlement of his affairs with the Collins estate he anticipates no trouble. His reason for not filing the agreement earlier was on account of the request of Mr. Collins that it be with held from the records until after his death for reasons best known to himself.
