

Small Vote at Primaries.

There being no local contest on the Republican side in this county the vote was very light at the primaries yesterday.

So far as heard from Dimmick seems to have a slight lead over Penrose for U. S. Senator on the Republican ticket.

Miller of Mercer for Congress in this district, and Howard for State Senator, having no opposition, are the Republican nominees.

At Republican headquarters, Philadelphia, it was estimated this morning that Penrose would have about 175,000 majority over Dimmick for Senator.

The vote between McCormick and Ryan, Democrat, is said to be close for the nomination for Governor.

Palmer will be the Democratic nominee for Senator. McClain seems an easy winner for Lieut. Governor on the Republican ticket.

This instrument was in bad tune for an occasion of this kind and our sympathies were with the performers after we heard the first few bars of the first number by James Flynn and Miss Amy Kinch, who are about as fine a pair of players as you will find in these parts, and some of the higher grades were executed with good technique, showing great ability. Mrs. Jones has a large class and is putting the pupils right to the front as far as grades are concerned. We enjoyed the music very much and hope to hear more of it later on.
