A camp of Italians who were cutting chemical wood near Crown was burned to the ground recently and the fire came near cremating about 20 men. They were asleep upstairs and were not wakened by the fire until the whole first floor was a mass of flames. The loss was about $1,000.—Clarion Democrat.
The Tionesta Gas Company drilled in another good well in its territory out in the Township the last of the week. This makes the third new well in that territory this summer, and the managers are assured that the company will have an abundant supply for their patrons at all times in the coldest weather next winter.

Up to the hour of going to press, the pestiferous army worm has failed to show up in this vicinity, and, pleased to note, very little damage is reported from any section of the county by this little trouble maker. It will be cause for rejoicing if this condition should continue throughout the season and our crops, lawns and garden truck escape destruction.
The Printz Company of Oil City are putting on their annual "Don't Shoot Sale," next Saturday and are telling the people of this section so in a broad-gauge ad. This week, Mr. Shore, the affable manager of this wideawake mercantile concern is very timid about firearms, and promises to gracefully "come down" if you'll not shoot. So there's your chance.
Because two men, John Hudechek, aged 39, and John Chervenec, aged 27, Slavs, employees at the American Plant Glass plant, at James City, were too venturesome, they lost their lives by drowning in the artificial lake at Crystal Springs, near Kana, Sunday afternoon. They had gone out in a rowboat where the water was deepest, and to increase the fun proceeded to rock the boat until it filled with water and capsized. Their bodies had not been recovered at last accounts.

Mrs. Margaret Hunter, relict of the late Jahu Hunter, died at her home in Tidoute, Wednesday morning last, mourned by the entire populace of her town and vicinity. Mrs. Hunter was born at Magee, about three miles from Tidoute, in 1838. She was the daughter of Alexander and Nancy Magee. In 1860 she was married to Jahu Hunter, who preceded her to the great beyond March 15, 1897. There were two children, Lelia Lillian, who died in youth, and Livingston L., whose death occurred in 1902, in a steamboat accident on the Ohio river.

The Express jubilantly exclaims: "All we need now is to turn on the gas and we will be ready to blow bottles at our glass factory which is said to be the nearest small bottle factory of any. We expect to run this factory and make some money and not one resident in Marienville will lose their home by the starting of it either. Look for us building an addition next year to take care of our business."
John Marley of Sheffield drilled in another well last Friday on the Cherry Run Oil & Gas company lease near Brookston, this county, which is owned by Marley and Youngville capitalists. The well came in with a natural flow of ten barrels per day and after it is shot it is expected to do even better. This makes about five wells that Marley has drilled in with good luck. He does not seem to know what a duster appears like.
Wayne, the 12-year-old son of Arthur Emerson of Titusville was accidentally killed Thursday afternoon while playing on a pile of logs at the hub factory, Tidoute. He was standing on the highest log which was a number of feet above the ground. The log started to roll and threw him to the ground, after logs following. He was crushed across the head and chest. When help reached him he was still breathing, but died in a few minutes.

A note from our old friend Peter Youngk of Tylersburg informs us that his son, Henry Youngk, has been confined to his bed with an attack of typhoid fever for the past two or three weeks, but is getting along nicely, with favorable prospect for an early convalescence. Mr. Youngk also reports the arrival of the army worm in his section, a fine field of oats belonging to J. P. Hoffman having been well nigh ruined by the pests, which have also attacked the cornfields and gardens in that vicinity.
The Warren Times of Saturday says: The Sisson family who have been living in Chestnut street since their return from Mt. Alto early in the spring will go back to Mt. Alto this afternoon to remain until their condition of health is improved. When the Sissons were sent to the sanitarium last winter at the expense of the county commissioners, they expected to remain until cured, but after they had been there several months the elder Sisson prevailed upon his wife to return to Warren. The man has been working part of the time, but has not been earning enough to provide for the family which consists of twelve children although two of the elder boys were also working.
New potatoes, the finest the market affords, are selling rapidly at the City Fruit store for $1.20 a bushel. Beat that if you can anywhere. All other vegetables and fruits, and we have the stock that counts, are selling at correspondingly low prices. Come and see. The proprietor, Mr. Cohen has another surprise in store for his customers. Having acquired a large selection of hand painted pictures on heavy plate glass, all put up in the latest style frames, he is going to present to every customer who buys $25 worth of goods at his store one of these elegant pictures absolutely free. To be appreciated the pictures must be seen. They are very well.—adv.

The automobile speed craze is again approaching the limit on our streets, and if not checked it is quite likely to end in a bad accident if not a fatality sooner or later. It is easy to understand how the fine stretch of pavement on Elm street may tempt a driver to "let'er out another notch," if for no other reason than to throw a silver into bystanders or overtake the more timid ones, but that is no excuse for making our main thoroughfare a speedway or race course, and this not always by strangers either. Unless drivers shall concede that the average citizen has some rights which they are obliged to respect a little "pinching" should be resorted to 'ere the town is appalled by a killing or a maiming, either of which would be deplorable. Observe the speed limit. Other towns are enforcing it, why not Tionesta?
State Highway Commissioner Bigelow is working with commendable energy to make up for lost time, now that the auditor general and state treasurer can no longer withhold the automobile license money from his intended use for repair of the state roads.—Sheffield Observer. The same conditions prevail throughout this county, many men and teams being employed on the state highways, which are being put in good condition. This work should and would have been done three months ago had these fiscal officers not persisted in holding up the funds from their intended use, and instead of almost impassable roads the country could have been enjoying veritable boulevards. Another session of the legislature will doubtless put such tactics beyond the power of a couple of accidental office holders with a notorious boss back of them.

There have been few occasions in the history of Tionesta where the community so generally showed their respect to the memory of a good man or woman, as at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, when the funeral of Daniel Walters took place at the family residence. The attendance was remarkable for number, the flowers were beautiful and in profusion, almost filling the room in which the body lay in state. A gallant soldier during the Civil war, the colors of Stow Post, G. A. R., which attended to a body, were laid across the casket while bunting of the National colors was fringed around its sides and ends as a special tribute to him. Rev. H. A. Batley, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who officiated, was ably assisted by Rev. B. F. Felt, a comrade in arms. Incidental to the services "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and "The City Four Square" were sung by Prof. F. W. Gill, of Tidoute, with piano accompaniment by Miss Elizabeth Randall. There were eight active pall bearers, Charles Clark, James Hagerty, G. G. Gaston, C. A. Randall, John Jamieson, G. W. Holman, J. C. Scowden and J. E. Wenk. The interment was in the Mt. Collins cemetery, the members of the Post acting as an escort. The funeral party was conveyed to the cemetery in automobiles.

Recent Deaths.
MANROSS.
George N. Manross, one of the aged residents of Harmony township, died at five o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, July 23, 1914, at the home of his son, Henry Manross, at Fagundus, with whom he had made his home for the past year. His demise followed an illness of two months from heart trouble. Mr. Manross was aged about 79 years. Beside his wife, who was formerly Miss Jane Robinson, he is survived by the following sons and daughters: Henry and George W. Manross of Fagundus; Mrs. Nancy Bunting of Pleasantville, Pa.; Mrs. J. M. Porkey.
Yesterday was a very unlucky day for the men working at the bark job just across the creek from here. Wm. Mesger got too near the ax used by his litter and lost the end of the index finger of the right hand and had the next finger badly cut. He went out on the morning train and had the doctor at Sheffield dress the injured member. He says he will work Monday but we don't think he will as his injuries will hurt him more than he thinks about Monday morning. Fred Dobson of the same town and on the same job, stepped on an old log and the outer casing of the same slid off throwing him to the ground and he fell on his ax, cutting his right arm near the elbow joint quite badly. Also, another boy who is just back to work from some injuries received last week, cut his knee the same day the other accidents happened. His name is Dewey Spencer and he works with his father, James Spencer. If things go next week as they did last we may need some men for the present to finish the job.
J. W. Dunkle took a trip to Johnsonburg Saturday last for business purposes. George Blum, who works for the Watson Lumber Co., at Mayburg, was out of commission last Thursday morning and had to phone his employers. The cause was neuralgia in his face.
Last week was the great raspberry week and many of our people availed themselves of the opportunity to get a nice lot of them. People were here from the outside as well, and many bushels were taken from the woods.
Mrs. Alvin Highgate of Phelps was a visitor in town Wednesday, calling on friends between trains.
Mrs. Geo. Cuthbertson of Lynch was over the township last week enumerating the school children of which we have over three hundred in the twp., and many are away back in the remote sections making it an unpleasant job.
A fire signal was blown from the log engine Friday morning and for a time it was thought a fire was in progress, but later it developed that some one was fooling with the whistle to hear it blow. This is a very bad practice as our people are not used to this kind of fooling, and if it continues a real fire signal may not be regarded, so we think the best plan would be to cut it out.

The new barn across the creek is about completed and last week a nice bunch of hay was put in the loft.
Our foot-bridge is much used now and most of the strangers crossing it try to shake their companions to bother them and do not know that we don't allow this, so it becomes our duty to yell at strangers to stop it. Neither do we allow people to run on this bridge but as no signs are posted they take it that everything goes, but such is not the case. Two steps were broken out of the east end but were replaced by Potter's carpenters. A water line is being laid to put the water in the buildings of the camp from a spring on the hillside, which will be hailed with joy by the residents of that village.
J. W. Littlefield has made his home a double one, and Mr. Kifer from Phelps has moved into the north half of the house.
James McMichael is making the Balltown farm look beautiful by mowing all the hay, brush and weeds off the place. A good watering trough has been put at the spring that used to supply the hotel, and now the animals of the road can get a nice cool drink at that place.
The boys of town were down last week and helped McMichael with his haying and cannot get done blowing about the fine grubs Mrs. Mc. set before them at noon when they were at that work.
Nearly all kinds of auto's passed this place last Sunday, from the largest to the tiny, and many were out with rigs enjoying our good roads we now have. High speeders and people with brains, in fact all classes.
Miss Alice Bloss of Sheffield is the guest of the Report family for a few days and we are again treated to her piano playing. While she does not pretend to be a professional she entertains very nicely. At any rate she plays as well as most of them around and the best of it is no teacher ever had a chance to smack her ears for making a mistake, as she never had one in music.

More About The Army Worm.
State Zoologist H. A. Surface is yet re-ceiving at his Harrisburg office many letters, telegrams and long distance telephone calls concerning the Army worm, which has recently made its appearance in numbers in all parts of Pennsylvania. The inquiries show how little people generally know about such pests. Also, there has been a great deal of nonsense published about remedies for this pest, some of which are too complicated to be considered.
In the first place the Army worm is with us every year. It is nothing more nor less than a kind of Cutworm, but according to the natural laws which govern the increase and decrease of all living creatures there are seasons favorable for its multiplication, when it appears in greater numbers than usual, and after it eats the grass and grasslike vegetation near where the eggs were laid from which they hatched, the worm or larvae crawl to other vegetation to eat, and in this crawling they are simply moving forward like an army, and, therefore, are called Army worms. Some persons have the idea that they march across the State like an invading host, while in truth their marching is but a short distance, and this simply for the purpose of procuring food.
The remedy first given by Prof. Surface is the simplest and best. These consisted of nothing more than either to spray with one-half ounce of arsenate of lead in each gallon of water, or to apply such liquid as a sprinkle from sprinkling cans, or to mix dry arsenate of lead with about 25 times its bulk of flour, or road dust, and dust it over the vegetation liable to be attacked. The dust should be applied in the evening or morning while the dew is on. A coarse pepper box containing arsenate of lead and flour will protect any lawn from the pests.

Best Diarrhoea Remedy.
If you have ever used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy you know that it is a success. Sam F. Guin, Whitley, Ala., writes, "I had measles and got caught up in the rain, and it settled in my stomach and bowels. I had an awful time, and had it not been for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy I could not possibly have lived but a few hours longer, but thanks to this remedy, I am now well and strong."
