England declared war on Germany last night at 7 o'clock, says a London dispatch.

WAR is still what General Sherman said it was.

If the kings, czars, etc., were obliged to take the front rank in case of war, there would be less haste in declaring war, don't you think?

MORE than one hundred men representing all sections of the state, who voted the Progressive ticket in 1912, held a conference at Indianapolis, Indiana, last Friday, and declared their allegiance to the Republican party and issued an appeal to men of all political parties and especially to those who voted as they did in 1912, to join with them in support of the Republican ticket this year. In the appeal that was issued it is declared that there were reasons in 1912, "which we deemed sufficient whereby thousands of Republicans voted other tickets. These reasons no longer exist. The organized protest against methods and men, but not against principles, was effectual. The purpose of the third party is accomplished."

In his recent address to the Virginia editors, President Wilson said to those moulders of public opinion, "when our trust program is finished, it is finished, the interrogation points are rubbed off the slate, business is given its constitution of freedom and is hidden go forward under that constitution." Here are some interrogation points that can be rubbed off right now: The balance sheet of the Department of Commerce shows that for April and May the balance of trade against the United States was $127,453,750. The total imports for May were $163,537,386. For May, 1913, they were $133,723,713, an increase under the Underwood bill of $29,813,673. The total domestic exports in May, 1914, were $157,406,572, a decrease of $3,649,238 compared with the month of May, 1913. Taking exports and imports together the loss to our commerce for the month of May, this year, amount to $63,529,901, as compared with 1913. These figures take whole bunches of interrogation points off the slate. And all this in a single month. In a year the shortage against the United States will amount to over seven hundred and fifty millions, or close to a billion dollars. Our gold has left us to the extent of $53,000,000 in less than sixty days, and for the first time since the Cleveland administration, our foreign creditors have been dumping our securities back upon us. Great is Democratic free trade, surely. No wonder labor goes begging while the cost of living goes higher and higher.

Recent Deaths.

ZAHNISER. A telegram received by Mrs. H. S. Canfield of West Hickory, last Wednesday from her brother, A. N. Zahniser, announced the death of their brother, Frank A. Zahniser, at the hospital at Olney, Ill., from blood poisoning, July 29, 1914.

Frank was the second son of Uriah and Malissa Zahniser, both deceased, and was born at Stewart Run, Forest county, Pa., Sept. 28, 1886. He came to Tionesta when quite young where his boyhood was spent and where he is well and favorably remembered. Leaving here ten years ago, he joined his brother, Newton, in the Bridgeport, Ill., oil field, where he had spent most of his time since, residing there at the time of his death, and where he had held a responsible position with the Ohio Oil Co. for a number of years. He was married July 10, 1909, to Miss Grace Austor of Bridgeport, Ill., who, with one child, survives him. He is also survived by two brothers, A. Newton, of Bridgeport, and DeWitt T. Hollivar, Pa., both of whom were in attendance at the funeral, and one sister, Mrs. Harry S. Canfield of West Hickory, Pa.

Funeral services in memory of the deceased were held Saturday afternoon in the First Christian church of Bridgeport and were attended by a large concourse of friends and oil men. The interment was in the Lawrenceville, Ill., cemetery.

MEALY. Mrs. Hannah (Stanford) Mealy was born Jan. 17, 1832, and died at her home near Newmansville, Pa., July 29, 1914, aged 82 years, 6 months and 12 days. At four o'clock on Tuesday morning, July 21st, she was found lying on the floor by her bed. A physician was summoned who diagnosed her ailment as a stroke of paralysis. She could not speak clearly and did not seem to realize much that was going on about her until Sunday. On that day she seemed to know people and said, "Good by; I am going to a brighter home." She lingered until the following Wednesday morning, when at five o'clock, with several of her children by her bedside, she passed peacefully away. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stanford, both deceased. She was united in marriage with Andrew Mealy, of Bedford county, who died three years ago. To this union were born six children, five of whom survive, as follows: Mrs. Mary Zents of Shady-side, Ohio; Robert Mealy of Smoky Hill; George Mealy of Van, Pa.; Elmer Mealy, who made his home with her, and Mrs. Virginia Hepler, of Embleton, Pa. She is also survived by two brothers, Robert Stanford of Ohio, and David Stanford of Randolphville, Pa.; and by 31 grandchildren and 28 great-grandchildren. Mrs. Mealy passed the most of her married life on the farm where she died. She was a consistent member of the M. E. church at Washington. She was a very kind neighbor and a devoted and loving wife and mother. She will be greatly missed by her many friends and relatives. The funeral took place on Friday afternoon at three o'clock in the Lutheran church, near Newmansville, and interment was made beside her husband in the Lutheran cemetery. Rev. Mr. Summerton of Tyersburg conducted the services, assisted by Rev. Henry Smallenberger of Kelleetville.

COLEMAN. Frank W. Coleman, youngest son of the late Herman and Martha Coleman, was born near Lickingville, Clarion county, Pa., February 2, 1871, and died in the Spencer Hospital, Spencer, West Virginia, at three o'clock last Thursday morning, July 30, 1914, aged 43 years, 5 months and 28 days. The family moved to a farm in Harmony township, this county, when the subject of this sketch was but a small boy. It was here he went to school and fitted himself to enter into the battles of life. Later the family removed to Tionesta, where they resided until the death of the aged parents, some few years ago. When he reached manhood Frank became associated with his brothers, Samuel and Jacob, in the operations for oil in the McDonald oil field and soon became an expert driller. His services thus being in demand, some eight or ten years ago he entered into a contract with the Standard Oil Company to operate for oil in the Roumanian oil fields. It was while working in the foreign fields that he lost his health, returning home practically an invalid. He also visited the state of California in the hopes that a change of climate might prove beneficial to his failing health, but of no avail, and he practically spent the remainder of his life in hospitals and at health resorts. As a boy and a man he performed every duty and obligation devolving upon him, and was well liked and highly honored by all who knew him. He was a member of Salem Lodge, No. 85, Free and Accepted Masons, located at Salem, West Virginia, and at their request he was buried under the rites of that order by the members of Olive Lodge, No. 557, F. and A. M., of Tionesta, Pa. Prominent among the beautiful floral offerings was an emblematic compass and square, composed of roses and lilies of the valley, sent by the members of Salem Lodge, Rev. H. A. Bailey conducted impressive funeral services in the Presbyterian church here on Sunday afternoon at two o'clock, after which the body was laid to rest in beautiful Riverside cemetery beside those of his father and mother. As an indication of his personal popularity, and as a mark of respect to the deceased, a very large number of his former neighbors and friends far and near were in attendance at the funeral. There are left to mourn his loss four brothers, as follows: David F. Coleman of Bakersfield, California; Henry Coleman of Delmont, Pa.; Jacob Coleman of Oakdale, Pa.; and Samuel W. Coleman of Clarkburg, West Virginia. In this connection the brothers desire us to express for them their appreciation of the many acts of kindness extended to them at this time.

He says, "After trying a doctor for several months, and using different kinds of medicine for my wife, who had been troubled with severe bowel complaint for several months, I bought a 25c bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. After using the second bottle she was entirely cured." For sale by all dealers.

Not So Strange After All. You may think it strange that so many people are cured of stomach trouble by Chamberlain's Tablets. You would not, however, if you should give them a trial. They strengthen and invigorate the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. Mrs. Rosie Rish, Wabash, Ind., writes, "Nothing did me the least good until I began using Chamberlain's Tablets. It is decidedly the best medicine for stomach trouble I have ever used." For sale by all dealers, adv.
