GREAT BATTLE LASTS 3 DAYS

Russians Pressing Austrians
Along 100-Mile Front

MILLION TROOPS ARE ENGAGED

Russians Report Capture of Allenstein and Investment of Koenigsburg—Panic Reigns at Danzig.

Engagements of tremendous importance between the Russians and Austrians are being fought along the course of the Vistula river, according to an official statement issued at St. Petersburg and telegraphed to the Reuter's Telegram company. The Russians claim successes, saying that they have captured several thousand prisoners and that the Austrians lost 3,000 men in one engagement.

Scattered encounters in eastern Galicia have developed into a general battle extending 100 miles from the southern districts of Lublin, in Russian Poland, to a point beyond Lemberg, in Galicia, says the St. Petersburg correspondent of the London Daily Mail. He adds:

"In east Prussia the Germans have been driven further back. Their losses were particularly heavy at Muhlen, twenty-two miles southwest of Allenstein, and it is only a question of a few days when the Germans will be driven beyond the Vistula.

"Panic now reigns in Danzig, the population of which is fleeing to Berlin. The result of the general battle now being fought is expected to influence largely the whole campaign against Austria. The scant reports thus far received indicate that Russia is on the road to a decisive victory."

LOUVAIN HEAP OF ASHES

Belgian City of 40,000 Wiped Out by Germans.

The Belgian foreign minister reports that the Belgian city of Louvain in the Province of Brabant has been burned by the Germans.

On Tuesday a German army corps after receiving a check withdrawal in disorder to Louvain. The inhabitants were ordered to leave their dwellings and some were made prisoners. The women and children were placed on trains the destinations of which are not known and soldiers furnished with bombs set fire to all parts of the city.

"The splendid church of St. Pierre, the university buildings, the library and scientific establishments were delivered to the flames.

"Several notable citizens were shot. The city which had a population of 40,000, and was the intellectual metropolis of the low countries, is now nothing more than a heap of ashes," says the minister.

"When the Germans were retiring upon the city the Germans on guard at the entrance of the city mistaking the nature of this incursion, fired upon their countrymen whom they mistook for Belgians.

"In spite of all the denials from the authorities the Germans in order to cover their mistake, pretended that it was the inhabitants. Including the police, all had been disarmed more than a week before.

"Without inquiry and without listening to any protest the German commander announced that the town would be destroyed immediately."

FINDS DISPUTANTS DEAD

Man Kills Woman Companion and Himself Near Butler.

A murder and suicide occurred when Victor Armstrong, twenty-five years old, of Karns City, near Butler, Pa., after shooting to death Mrs. L. Reitz, thirty-five years old, of North Point, Pa., killed himself near the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh railway roundhouse, just one of Butler.

Henry Bowser of Butler noticed the man and woman and they seemed to be quarrelling. He saw the man slap the woman, and then, seizing her by the shoulders, throw her over an embankment. He followed and soon afterward two shots were heard. Mr. Bowser found the woman dead with a bullet hole in the right temple, and a few yards away the man, still living, with a wound in his right temple. Armstrong died forty minutes later.

It Is Human Nature To Follow the Lines of the Least Resistance

T. We could develop our business on the lines of 50c Ties, $1 Shirts, $2 Hats, $10 Suits and 50c Caps, but and but and but, we could never be considered a modern store, beyond the circle in which we worked.

A. It may take a little more effort on our part to sell a man a $1 Tie, a $2 Shirt, $3 Hat, a $25 Suit and a $1 Cap, but we know when we sell it to him he is getting three or four times the value at twice the cost. We sell a great deal of merchandise in this store of ours. We know for absolute truth that no store in the country sells better goods than we do. Our business ambitions are to work harder and sell the best. We believe it is for the good of the people who pay and who are looking for value received.

P. S.—We are working like "beavers" getting our new fall goods ready for your inspection.

Authoritative Style.

This autumn a new style condition prevails. There is a considerable range of styles constituting authentic fashion. For each individual woman will be permitted to select that garment which best meets the requirements of her figure and which she can wear to best advantage.

Diversity of Style Is To Be The Keystone of the 1914 Autumn Season.

Be gowned in the mode of the moment but dress to suit your personal taste and individual requirements. For once you are free from the inexorable thrallhold of a fashion which would limit you to one specific style. Of course there will be style preference. Take for example

Tailored Suits.

The coats range from 32 inches to 48 inches, with 45 inches a strong favorite. And there's a still wider range of skirt styles. In the second floor garment section suit, coat and dress cabinets are filling up rapidly and we urge early inspection.

We price some new fall suits today,
Special at $19.50.

A GENERAL SURVEY OF THE WAR

The last week of August finds the German armies of invasion steadily pressing forward toward Paris, opposed at every step by the armies of the allies. Great Britain has landed another expeditionary force at Ostend, the size of which cannot be learned, which seems to be intended first, to provide for the defense of Ostend against the Germans, and second as a menace to the German right flank, rear and communications.

During the week the operations in Belgium and northern France were characterized by the continued advance of the Germans all along the line. Longwy, Lille, Namur and other Belgian and French towns fell into the hands of the invaders. The British forces were engaged in the vicinity of Mons and Maubeuge and were roughly used, although they inflicted enormous losses on the enemy. It is estimated that the Germans have lost 200,000 men killed and wounded since the opening of hostilities and that the losses of the allies have been about one-third this number, as they have been fighting mostly on the defensive.

The Russian armies, said to number four, divided into 2,000,000 men each, have been pressing forward in east Prussia and Austrian Galicia. The Russians have captured several important fortified towns in both countries. In Austrian Galicia they have invested Lemberg and in east Prussia they are attacking Koenigsburg. The Germans have retreated to the Osterode line of defense. Reinforcements are being rushed to them, weakening the forces in France and Belgium.

On the sea Great Britain won the first great naval battle, sinking eleven German vessels of various classes from top to boat destroyers to cruisers in a battle off the German naval base on the island of Heligoland. Admiral Sir David Beatty commanded the British squadron in this fight. No British ships were lost.

The British cruiser Hightower sank the converted cruiser Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse off the west coast of Africa, where the liner had been annoying British shipping. The British saved as many of the Kaiser's crew as possible. The Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse was a vessel of 14,000 tons and had formerly been in the New York trade. At the outbreak of the war she was converted into an auxiliary cruiser by the German government. She cost $3,500,000.

In the far east Japan continued her operations against Kiauchau, bombarding the fortress without any decisive results.

The decisive defeat of the Austrian army in Serbia seems to have resulted in the withdrawal of Austrian forces from that country. Austria is sending every available man to the north to oppose the Russian invasion.

In his first speech in parliament Earl Kitchener, British secretary of state for war, warned the country that it must be prepared to make great sacrifices, as G. at Britain is fighting for her life. He sent a message of congratulation to Sir John French, commander of the British forces on the continent.

Information came from Ambassador Gerard in Germany to the effect that Germany had lifted the restrictions on shipments of dye stuffs to the United States. This means that many cotton, woolen, leather and other factories that use colors made in Germany will be able to get supplies without interruption in business that was feared by dealers in chemicals.

It was announced that soldiers from British East India were on their way to aid in the conflict against Germany.
