Encouaged by the past success which has crowned their editorial labors, the publishers of the "Democratic Union" propose to issue their paper daily during the approaching session of the State Legislature, and trust to the liberality nage commensurate with the undertaking. Measures of vital importance will claim the public attention during the coming winter.-Among them we may briefly enumerate : the devisement of means for the extrication of the state from her financial embarrassments, and the liquidation of the accumulating interest on her debt-the relative policy of selling or retaining her improvements-the final extinction of the relief issues-the further curtailment of Exccutive patronage ad power-with other incidental questions of equal public moment. If, superad-ded to these considerations, it is reflected, that the new Canal Board will assume its duties on the second Tuesday of January, whose policy as to men and measures will constitute a subject of general anxiety-and that on the 4th of March next a Democratic State Convention will convene at Harrisburg, for the purpose of expressing the preference of Pennsylvania on the subject of the next Presidency, and nominating a candidate for Governor, delegates to the National Convention, &c., the public will scarcely be so uncharitable as to demand an additional incentive to the encouragement of a daily paper. Perhaps no former period of our public bi afforded a greater variety of topics to render such a publication one of immense public use fulness.

As one of the proprietors, who was at the last sion chosen to the office of State Printer, has the advantage of being a professional stenographer, and has for many years been engaged as a reporter of debates in Congress, in the Reform Convention, and in the State Legislature; and has drawn to his aid, also, other competent reporters so as to occupy borh branches-the Un-ion' will possess facilities for furnishing reports of legislative proceedings superior to these enjoyed by any other paper at the seat of governnent. These advantages will be much enhanced by our proposed daily, which will enable us to report the speeches of members of both political parties with far greater accuracy and despatch than has been the case heretofore. The editorial. literary, miscellaneous, and news depart-ments of the paper will, in the mean time, suffer no neglect, but every effort will be made to ren-der the "Democratic Union" a vebicle of useful intelligence to all busices of readers.

We have also engaged the services of several intelligent correspondents at Washington. who will furnish us with a daily synopsis of the buiness transacted in Congress, and an account of all the political movements that may be made t the seat of the General Government-which n this age of "President making," will doubtless be neither " few nor far between."

TAs we shall incur a very heavy expenditure, independent of our own labors, in getting up our Daily, and in the employment of reporters, correspondents, &c., we trust our friends throughout the State will exert themselves to give our paper as wide a circulation as possible. The semi-weekly "Union" (double royal size) will be published during the session, as usual, viz: on each Wednesday and Saturday morning.

UT Subscribers will be careful to discriminate which of the proposed publications they desire -and papers will be furnished to members of the Legislature by the hundred at considerable reduction. The following are the TERMS.

Daily during the session [super royal size] $3 Semi-weekly, [double royal size] Weekly permanent subscribers [twice a week .
