Huma and Athlese Had a wise and timely centrel, by some minds of Hume and Gibbon, how different might have been their course and influence in the world! But, unhappily, Best lot of Ewe Lambs, 8 in number, they were left to themselves at a period of life when the self-sufficiency of which we speak was unchecked; and they fell easy victims to the temptation of thinking Best yearling Buck, Best Buck Lamb, Best lot of Ewes, 6 in number, more highly of themselves than they ought to think. Hume, while in childhood, lost his father, and seems to have met with no one who cautioned him against the absorbing desire to be known as a discoverer in philosophy, which, as his friends admit, controlled his tastes and pursuits before he had arrived at the age of manhood. Gibbon's father lived to see his son growing up to matured years; and yet owing to various causes, he left the care of the boy to instructors who usually left him to take care Best Red Flannel, of himself; the consequence was that his Best dress ... mind ran wild, and the ambition to master Best pair Blankets, home-made, abstract questions became a passion with the lad. It is melancholy to see him, when yet in the greenness of his youth, grappling with subjects beyond his strength; and his mind becoming bent and distorted under burdens from which no kind and faithful hand came to relieve him, while no friendly voice was raised to rebuke the presumption which so overtasked his faculties. By the surrender of Colonel Mulligan and his brave followers, who, if they had had water, would have combatted to the last, General Price will obtain over two thousand horses and mules, a large lot of excellent arms, and a variety of Best Fancy Quilts equipments and baggage wagons, the very things he has so much needed.
