Destructive only of despotism, it is the sole conservator of lib-nety, labor and property. It is the sentiment of Freedom, of equal rights, of equal obligations--aw of nature pervading the law of the land."

THE LATE CHANGE IN THE CABI-NET.

"Mr. CAMERON, it is clear," says our Republican cotemporary of the Pittsburgh Gazette, "was invited to retire from the War Department, because his views on the policy of the Government, in regard to the to the rebellion, were not in accordance the Republican prints and politicians. and so say we. Such being the case, our and independence of President Lincoln is greatly increased, and we cheerfully accord him the praise he deserves for his fearless discharge of what was, palpably, a high public duty. It is evident that Mr. Linschemes of the anti-slavery zealots who have attempted to give direction to his administration and to mould the policy of the war. The sentiment of the conserva-

THE TONNAGE TAX.

We invite the reader's attention to the communication of "Citizen" in another column in regard to the proposed repeal of the Tonnage Law passed by the last Legislature. The tax imposed by the State on the Tonnage of the Pennsylvania Road was most just and righteous, and was intended as some return to the State for the special and distinguished privileges accorded to that highly favored and pampered corporation. To repeal it, and annually subtract hundreds of thousands of dollars from the public treasury was an outrage on a tax-ridden people than which none could be more flagrant or unjustifiable. It is to be hoped that the present Legislature will right the wrong done by the last, and administer a deserved rebuke to the reckless Republican jobbers and speculators who sold themselves, "body and breeches," and bartered away the public interests to a monster Railroad monopoly. Shame on the miserable recreants and mercenaries!

This Mill has been in successful operation several months, under the superintendence of Wn. Rogers, Esq., one of the extending his business, and from appearances will soon have more than he can do. Devotion to our institutions and respect for law are cardinal features of Democratic faith and practice, and those who charge the party with disloyalty do it gross and shameess injustice. But to the article:

MR. STANTON.

President Lincoln designed the nomination of Edwin M. Stanton as a graceful compliment, as it is a just tribute, to the Democratic party of the North for the prompt and loyal support they have given to his administration in the prosecution of the war for the Union. It is a good invest ment for his future fame, and the effect is happy here, as it will be everywhere.

The influence of Mr. Chase is said to have prevailed in the nomination of Mr. Stanton as Secretary of War, but it is not true the bankers have presented any ultimatum on the subject. The entire history of the change was reported correctly in the N. Y. Times, but in no other paper in the country.

RIGHT, FOR ONCE.

The New York Tribune is doubtless correct, says the Washington Star, in interpreting the appointment of Edwin M. Stanton. It means a deliberate reiteration from President Lincoln, of the fact that he designs, in the further prosecution of the war, to keep faith with the great mass -eight-tenths-of the army, who, while gladly taking up arms for the defence of the time to the state of the st

Messre. Editore :-On Thursday, the 16th, Mr. Rhodes, of Cumberland, on behalf of the Committee, appointed to try the contested election case of George W. The report, which was very lengthy, embraced many facts in reference to the past history of the counties of Bedford and Somerset, now forming one rep-$3,105,000,000, (three thousand one hun- resentative district. It referred to the condred and five millions of dollars,) and on stitutional guarantee of separate representation for each county, and declared that the union of those named in 1857 was unjust and unconstitutional. Bedford, at the time of its organization, contained a sufficient number of taxables to entitle it to the usual representation, and as Mr. Cessna had 1,000 majority in that county, the Committee declare that he was duly elected. The report was accepted, and Mr. Cessna was sworn into office. I think the people should come forward in their might and back this effort of their Representatives in these movements to wipe from the statute books this corrupt law, and to expose the faithless Represen-

I may say, in passing, that the votes of the Representatives of the city and county of Philadelphia, in favor of the repeal of the tonnage tax, may be accounted for on the score of interest. When it is recollected that that city and county, as corporators, are the owners of about one-half of the stock of the Central Railroad, and that the value of the stock would necessarily be increased by relieving it from the burthen of the tonnage tax, they had at least a plansible excuse for throwing this additional taxation on the tax payers of the balance of the State. But this fact should only have stimulated the Representatives from the other parts of the State to increased exertions to protect their own constituencies from this foul wrong.

This is a time for the correction of public abuses, and bringing the Governments, State and National, back to their original transactions are principally confined purity. hide its deformed head, at least in this our hour of trial and tribulation.

To the Honombie, the Senate and House the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The petition of the undersigned, citizens of Greene county, respectfully represents: That the last Session of the Legislature of the State, in total disregard of the interests of the people, at the instigation of the Central Rail Road Company of Pennsylvania, passed a law releasing that Company from the payment of the tax, (called the "Tonnage Tax") which it had voluntarily imposed on its earnings, at the time of the creation of its charter and upon which condition it got its chartered privileges from a confiding people. This Tax at the time of the repeal referred to, amounted to over Three Hundred Thousand Dollars, and would now, doubtless in consequence of the largely increased business of that Company, amount to Five Hundred Thousand Dollars. This repeal took place at a time when the people were greatly oppressed by taxation for State purposes, and increased their burdens to the extent of the moneys thus withdrawn from the Treasury of the State.

The repeal of the law, at the time, and under the circumstances in which it took place, justly excited the indignation of the tax-payers of the State, against the Representatives who thus wantonly sacrificed their interests, and subjected the Representatives thus voting to the imputation of being actuated by interested motives.

A movement has commenced in the present Legislature for the repeal of the Repealing Law and to raise a Committee to ascertain whether this law was or was not procured by corrupt means.

We respectfully urge upon the Representatives from this Senatorial and Representative District—and upon all the Representatives of the people, from every part of the State, to exert their influence for the repeal of this iniquitous law, and for a searching investigation into the influences which were brought to bear in the passage of the law, and we will, &c.

The News from Cairo.

We have this morning another batch of telegrams from Cairo, which were published in the Eastern papers of Saturday, and which should have been furnished the press here. It don't make much differpostponed until next Tuesday, to be taken ence, however, since it is now certain that the last week's highly colored and exaggerated telegrams from Cairo denoted only a feint, and were a botch at that. The North was all that was deceived. The rebel spies are as well posted with our available strength and intended movements at Cairo and St. Louis, as if they held high position in the army. The river expedition is not yet ready, and Columbus cannot be attacked at present, simply because the force there is much larger than ours, and are well entrenched. All the clamo: raised West is intended, without doubt, to prevent the Columbus force from joining that at Bowling Green. There may be, however, an endeavor on our part to break up the railroad connection between the two places, or even to hurry off a part of our strength to aid Buell at the proper time. Buell's battles are to decide the fate of Columbus, and Memphis too, and if Polk can be restrained from shying off to Bowling Green just at the wrong time that will be enough.
