"A sentiment not to be appalled, corrupted or compromised. It nows no baseness; it cowers to no danger; it oppresses no weakness. Destructive, only of despotism, it is the sole conservator of lib-erty, labor and property. It is the sentiment of Freedom, of equal rights, of equal obligations--the law of nature pervading the law of the land."

THE PRIMARY ELECTIONS. On next Saturday week (May 31st,) the Democracy of the County will meet at their various election places to nominate candidates for the several offices to be filled on the 2d Tuesday of October .---Let there be a general turn out. Let no man stay at home who wants competent and available candidates, and desires the overwhelming success of the party at the Fall election. Now is the time to make vour selections, brother Democrats, and see to it that they are men of the right stamp, honest, capable and in every respect entitled to your confidence and worthy of your suffrages.

SLAVERY.

"The laws of emigration, of climate and physical geography have already deter- can and his production, and we do it that mined. and will continue to determine he may not misunderstand us. We say, the question of slavery. Natural causes, the laws of political economy, are working out the problem. Why, then, should it continue to mingle in the politics of our country? Why should this question still continue to vex and disturb the public repose, and divide this Union into hostile camps, as it were, and build up what was so much feared and deprecated by the founders of the republic, geographical parties? Must all other questions be postponed? Must the fanatical pro-slavery man on the one side, and the fanatical anti-slavery man on the other, usurp the public attention, and with their hobby override all other considerations ?"

The above paragraph is an extract from an editorial in the Philadelphia North American, a leading Republican journal, (of March 18th, 1859.) It embodies the opinion ably and consistently maintained by the lamented Douglas, and entertained by nine-tenths of the Democracy of the United States, that slavery in this country is a question of climate and soil, and will be determined by these, and not by political considerations or Congressional legislation. Where it is likely to prove profitable, it will be introexist as in the cotton and sugar-growing English. regions; but where it will not pay, as in cold and grain-growing localities, it will neither be introduced nor perpetuated .--neath or beyond the reach of human rea- Perhaps we may be forced to give certain and convictions. xert their irresistible influence upon it. and will ultimately either abolish or perpetuate it. The question of slavery belongs to the States, and to the people of the States, and not to the General Government, and we agree with the "North American" that its "transfer to the arena of Federal politics' was to "jeopard all the great interests of the country, and even the stability of the government itself." Indeed, this has now been demonstrated. Notwithstanding the dangers and mischiets growing out of Congressional interference with this question, however, it seems to be the persistent purpose of the Abolition zealots in Congress to legislate the institution out of the Territories and out of the country, if possible .-To this end, the Lovejoy Bill, forever excluding slavery from the Territories, has passed the House by the unanimous vote of the Republican and Abolition members, and will doubtless pass the Senate by a similar vote. This will be followed by a wholesale and sweeping emancipation or "so called" confiscation Bill, which, if approved by the President, will prove the "crowning glory" of Republican legislation, if it does not utterly destroy all hopes of a restoration of the Union of our fathers. The dominant party in Congress have been struck with a negrophobia which will be satisfied with nothing else and nothing less than the ruin of the country. If they should complete their unhallowed work before the PEOPLE get their strong hands on them, posterity will consign them to the immortal infamy they have so richly earn-

In all cases of rebels left upon the field, they were shot in the head, or wounded in the neck or breast. The enemy left on the field about forty killed and one hundred wounded.

Deserters from Corinth all report an entire absence of chloroform in medical stores. There is probably none in the Confederacy.

The weather is very warm, and the roads quite dusty. CAIRO, May 18.—The steamer Swan, from Pittsburg, has arrived. The news is unimportant. A picket skirmish had taken place, lasting nearly two days. The rebels were driven back, but not until they succeeded in burning a bridge over a small stream, four miles from Corinth. Twelve of our men are reported wounded.

Deserters continue to report a scarcity of provisions in the rebel camp. Many of their cattle are starving for the want of forage.

AN ABLE ADDRESS. We give place, this week, to the Address of the Democratic Members of Congress to the Democracy of the United States .--It is a convincing, logical, out-spoken and patriotic paper, and should be read by every man who loves his country and her Constitution, and sincerely desires the restoration of the Union and of our ancient and fraternal relations as States, sections and communities. To the wisdom and moderation of the national Democracy, and to the broad and conservative policy it has always maintained and seeks to restore we can alone look, with any degree of confidence, for the realization of these important and beneficent results, "Give the document a careful and candid reading, and hand it to your neighbor.

REV. PAGE ARRESTED .- We learn from the Wheeling papers that Rev. Page, formerly pastor of the Episcopal Church in Brownsville, was arrested at Clarksburg, a couple of weeks ago, on a charge of disloyalty. He refused, it seems, to take the oath of allegiance.—Brownsville Times.

The reverend gentleman, to our certain knowledge, hadn't sense enough to his hearers any good.
