Yet not alone do the heathen kneel To their gods of wood or stone; Men build e'en now, as in ancient times, Altars to gods unknown.

It is true that no more to our vales and mounts

Do we idol offerings bear; We shrine them now in our several hearts. And worship before them there.

Men bow in their souls to gold, bright gold; More eagerly now by half,

Than e'er they knelt in ancient days To Aaron's molten calf.

The leaves of our lives are strangely marked,

We battle at fearful odds With hosts of idols that stand between Our secret souls and God's.

We set up idols and pull them down,

Like children at idle play, And what we worshipped but yester-morn We scorn in our hearts to-day. A name, a station, or wealth, or fame,

Or favorite scheme may be; There are scores and scores of "unknown gods,"

Whose altars we do not see!

The love of our lives-the charmed cup Of pleasure our senses drown; Ah me, for some Hezekiah to come, And cast our idols down!

The mounts and vales of our hearts and

Are heavy with smoke and flame; O God, for some Moses to lead us out From this bondage of sin and shame!

Death of a Colored Patriarch. Mr. William Shaffer Director of the Muskingum county, (Ohio) Infantry, records the death, on the 11th inst., of old Joe Boning, familiarly known as "Uncle Joe," ared 121 years! Uncle Joe was the proper v of Rev. Scott, on Strawberry Farm, Fairfax, county, Ya., it the days of General Washington, and retained to the day of his death a sufficient recollection of the General to give an accurate description of him. Mr. Shaffer became acquainted with him twenty-five years ago, and in the year 1847, to test the accuracy of his opinion as to his age, inquired of old Joe if he had any recollection of General Bradock's defeat and how old he was at the time. Joe replied that he recollected the time of Braddock's "feat" and that he was then a boy 13 or 14 years of age. As Braddock's defeat took place in 1755, history confirms Joe's statement in relation to his age.

To Clear a house of Vermin. Burleigh, of the Boston Journal, says: "I tell your ladies a secret worth ther knowing—a new remedy to clear a house of roaches and vermin has been found. So complete is the remedy that men offer to rid premises of all these pestilential nuisances by contract. The article is sold under the name of French green and other high sounding names, at quite a high price. But the article, in plain English, is common green paint in powder. Six cents worth used about any house 'will clear the kitchen,' and all its surroundings.

The sports and griefs of a child, seem to manhood as folly. Yet amid these sports and sorrows, he is cherishing the tempers which are to go with him through life, and form its happiness or woe. So, the pursuits of men, their love of variety, their eagerness for wealth, their bloody strife after honor, their agony when their rainbow promises fade, are folly to the eye of angels. Yet by the agency of such pursuits and disappointments are those dispositions which either fit to dwell sintments are those dispositions ters and beds. with angels, or exclude from their society forever.—Sigourney.

THE PAST NOT LOST .- Why should men so sadly lament the past? Whatsoever of virtue, honor, loyalty, courage, heroism-whatsoever of true love and selfsacrifice-whatsoever of truth, beauty, loveliness and goodness the past contains, is not lost or lessened, or perverted.
