EXCESSIVE PAPER MONEY ISSUES.

AND WHERE WE ARE DRIFTING. Paper money is increasing daily, says a Philadelphia cotemporary, and as a necessary consequence, gold and silver are quoted at extravagant prices. But gold is not of higher value than before, and although it is said to be 29 per cent. above par, yet in quantity so much greater will be the grandeur. depreciation. What then must be the effect if, in addition to the amount authorized by law, there should be, as is too probable, an over-issue? The paper is made without the usual caution, indeed with a determined carelessness; for it is a fact, known to all, that no part of the hundreds ately wears thin and susceptible of ready and stricken ones. counterfeiting. ALL AMERICA "DISLOYAL."

We see it alleged that the late elections are the consequence of "disloyalty" in the people. "Disloyalty" to what? To New ordinate the people spread over two millions of square miles to the corner-cupboard alongside of Masachusetts Bay and the Bay of Fundy? To Abolitionism, which rather than fail in its black enterprise, would topple American liberty from awful loss of life attending it, and after all its pedestal, and set in its place a Despotism with some root-colored Solouque for Emperor, at no remote period? What if Massachusetts herself should turn "disloyal," and Maine and Connecticut? This euckoo-cry of "disloyalty" is a match for the complaint of the man in the madhouse. He was asked by a visitor who had known him in former years, how he had managed to get there? "Why said world is crazy; the world thinks I am crazy; but the world is strongest, and here I am." The box into which the madman was placed for thinking all the world crasy, furnishes an image of the close quarters in which those maniacs will soon be people are "disloyal."
