Abolition Treason in Congress .-- The Conspiracy against the Union no long-

I would love to see you ing the independence of the Southern Confederacy. We make a few brief extracts of the man and his political associates.-The conspirators grow bolder every day, and their purpose to establish a Northern anti-slavery Confederacy on the ruins of the old Union, will soon be known and read of all of them. This is their only hope of perpetuating the Abolition dynasty, and tell. I feel too weak to write much at they would sacrifice the liberties and hap- this time. But to the speech :

HE IS AGAINST RE-UNION.

Sir, I am not in favor of restoring the constitutional relations of the slaveholders to the Union, nor of the war to that end. On the contrary, I am utterly and forever opposed to both. I am in favor of the Union as it exists to-day. I am in favor of recognizing the loyal States as the American nation, based as they are on the princlple of freedom for all, without distinction of race, color, or condition. I believe it to be the manifest destiny of the American nation to ultimately control the Amer ican continent on this principle.

I conceive, therefore, that the true object of this war is to revolutionize the national Government by resolving the North into the nation, and the South into a distinct public body; leaving us in a position to pursue the latter as a separate State .-I believe that the direction of the war to any other end is a perversion of it, calculated to subvert the very object it was designed to effect.

HIS UNIONISM.

1 have never allowed, myself to indulge in that superstitious idolatry of the Union so prevalent among simple but honest people, nor that political cant about the Union so prevalent among dishonest ones. I have simply regarded it as a form of Government, to be valued in proportion to its merits as an instrument of national prosperity and power.

THE DEMOCRACY TRUE TO THE UNION. The Democrats will not, of course, listen | Speaker of the House of Representatives. to separation for an instant. Such a suggestion in their eyes, now, is treason—a proposition to dissolve the Union-for which one ought to be hanged. They expect the question whether the Union shall be restored by force or compromise to be aubmitted to the people in the next election; and upon that to carry the country. Their plan is to oppose the Administration simply on its anti-slavery policy. They put in issue the confiscation act, the Missouri emancipation act, and the President's proclamation of emancipation. Those measures they pronounce unconstitutional, deny their validity, and everything done or to be done in pursuance of them. In addition to this, they attack the Administration on account of its suspension of the writ of habeas corpus, false imprisonment, corruption, imbecility, &c., and a thousand other incidents. But on the war and the integrity of the Union, they are like adamant itself. They claim to favor the war for the sake of the Union, but to be for compromise rather than war. They say very truthfully that the Republicans have tried force for two years, and exhausted the country, and upon this claim the adoption of their method as all that is left to be done. This is the manner in which the politicians of the country propose to terminate this great conflict.

THE PROCLAMATION A FAILURE.

Many suppose that the effect of the proclamation of emanc pation will be to so thoroughly, speedily, and completely annihilate and extirpate slavery that the slaveholders will have no longer a motive to act together. This is an egregious mis-take. The proclamation will have no such effect. It cannot have any such effect .-Its constitutionality is denied. It is still unexecuted, and its validity undetermined. The whole subject is yet open to debate and final settlement. The judiciary department is to render its decision upon it; and, is the meantime, it is to be the con-trolling issue in a popular election for strong doctrine is worthy of a Major Gen-President. This state of things will un-doubtedly inspire the slaveholders with a more resolute purpose than ever. Their effort will not, as heretofore, be to prevent the abolitionist from freeing the slave, as, applied to the postal currency and tax a distant and speculative proposition, but stamps. We have Lincoln money, Linto rescue him from the grasp of the enemy already actually laid upon him. It will redouble their will, and bring out every la-

The Lancaster Election -- A Signal Democratic Victory,

Hon. George Sanderson, the consistent and fearless editor of the Lancaster Intelligencer, was re-elected Mayor of the city of Lancaster on Tuesday last, by the handsome majority of 265. His majority last year was only 84. The great re-action is still "marching along." The following are the returns, showing the majorities in the several wards. They are refreshingly one-sided:

Sunderson, (D) Cassidy, (A.)North West Ward......65. South West Ward.....157. North East Ward.....17.

South East Ward......26. Sanderson's major. 265.

Well done, old Lancaster!

It will Leak Out.

Republicans will seldom admit that the party in power at Washington are steeped in corruption to the lips, but occasionally their real sentiments and thoughts will leak out. We overheard one of them remark a day or two since that he "did not believe the war would end as long as there was a dollar in the Treasury for the office holders, great and small, to steal." There are very many who think like him .-Where these same office-holders strike one blow for the Union they strike a dozen for their pockets.

W. H. Hodgson, of the West Chester Jeffersonian, has recovered $517 damages against Marshal Millward and his Deputies, in the Nisi Prius Court in Philadelphia, before Justice Lowrie, of the Supreme Bench, for interfering with the publication of that paper, during the wife to her husband has lately appeared in summer of 1861, without due process of print, and affords melancholy proof of the law. > "The Union as it was," has outraged the common sense of the country long enough. The Union, as it was, is buried in a grave from which there is no resurrection. No Union is now possible, except of free States .- Lincoln's Organ at Wash-

The author of such a sentiment is an infamous disunionist and traitor to his country, and he who endorses it is no better .--The people will teach the Union destroyers of this administration what it is that "has outraged the common sense of the country" as fast as time can give them the opportunity.

That's So .- We occasionally hear of a Republican who says he is no Abolitionist, and who yet approves of Lincoln's emancipation proclamation. Mr. Cox, of Ohio, says he can see no difference between the republicanism that sustains emancipation proclamations and the real, old, genuine, Congo abolitionism. They from his harangue to "show up" the loyalty | see each other. Our little children fret so | are links of the same sausage, made out of the same dog.

> When will the War Cease?-The Louisville Democrat thus answers the inquiry: The people of the free States are, of course, eager to know when the rebellion will subside. Let them observe the thermometer at home. As Abolition subsides, so will rebellion.

> The New York Tribune calls the Proclamation a "paper spade," and admits that it can do no good in crushing the rebellion or freeing the negroes .-Will not this open the eyes of the dupes of Abolitionism?

In order to explain more fully the condition and expenses of the institution, so as to estimate, with some degree of certainty, the annual charge upon the county, it is to be observed that a large portion of the expenditures so far made were for stock and the necessary implements for the farm, and furniture for the house. The paupers generally came destitute of bedding, and of course the entire house had to be furnished. which has, so far, been done substantially and economically. The house itself was unfinished, at least so far as the safety and comfort of the insane paupers were concerned; and considerable expense had to be incurred in arranging a room for the most 119 02 violent of them. The expense to the farm, in making and repairing fences, setting out a fine orchard of fruit trees, and other indispensible work, was considerable. These charges of course will not occur again to the same extent, and we may reasonably infer, from what has been done, that the poor of the county will eventually be kept under thissystem cheaper and far more comfortably. From the annexed exhibit the public will see what other work has been done, and what has been produced upon the farm, and also what stock, &c., we have on the farm. Of course, since last spring, there has been but little yield from the farm, but under a proper system of cultivation, we have no doubt its productiveness will in a few years be very much enhanced. The abundance of coal and limestone upon the land the old school house above mention is an important item There is also a sufficiency of timber for fuel fencing and building, if properly used. For the latter purposes an arrangement has been made with the owners of a portable steam saw mill, by which means the timber upon all the farm, not fit for rails, can be cheaply converted into lum-

In conclusion, the Directors invite the tax-paying community who have an interest in the institution to visit the farm and house, and judge for themselves as to their condition and management.
