Stop Now.

Young man, if you are just commencing or practicing any vice or bad habit, the time to stop is now. You have arrived at a stopping place, and you may stop now, if you please; but if you suffer yourself to be whirled on by appetites and passions, you may go so far, that when you desire to stop, it may be out of your power to do so.

If you swear, or drink, or break the Sabbath, "stop now." If you think evil thoughts or tell things not quite true, or sometimes tell a little more than the truth, 'stop now.' If you are going to a dance, or play, or any place where you are in the habit of jesting about religion, or ministers, or preaching, "stop now." If you think there is time enough to become religious by-and-by, and that you will pursue the way you are going awhile longer, "stop now;" for the course you are going leads to death .- [Puritan Re-
