shout to seemble. The Senate will have and the House one sufficiently large to elect the caucus momentees for Speaker, Cleaning office. We say this without having carefully examined the tables, for we assume that the Administration would not have resorted to the something attended property means of carrying elections in the Border States unless it had been sure that these means, successfully need would give a working making. We do not find findt will a machinery used to carry Manyland and Delaware. Having nearly lost the control of the House by its blunders in the conduct of the war from March 1861, to the fall of 1862, the Administration owed it to be country to recover that control somehow. To recover it regularly was impossible; so irregularity had to be resorted to. Popular institutions will not suffer, for the Copper-head element will have a much larger number to the copper-number of the copperthan it is entitled to by its popular vote. Ohio pedicine about thousand Republican majority, will be represented by two Republicans and a dozen or more Copperheads. It is string that this mis-representation of popular sentiment in the great State of the West should be offset, if necessary, by a loyal delegation from the land and Delaware, won even at the expense of military interference. It laws are silent amidst the clank of arms, we must take care that the aggregate public opinion of the country obtains recognition samehow or other." After such plainness of speech, we need not fear that the descendants of the men who regolved that the earth belonged to the saints, and that they were the saints, are unworthy, in any respect, of their ancestors .-The present Mankee is just as unscrupulous, just as conceited, and just as ready to act the part of propagandist, as the pious pilgrims who cheated the owners of the vessel which brought them over, out of their passagamency; stole the lands of the Indians; banks of the Indians; edojabin des-ate stants important resolutions and bills against pounitting substitutes to be any longer employed. This action is demanded by public necessity, and as it involves no breath of 16th, will give satisfaction to all except those immediately affected. It is a step in the right direction. The government return and requires all to do their duty. The counter current of this session is not very deep; it will be to in the history of the country we hope for the good it will do. This action against substitutes will destroy a great evil in the army.

Dedication.
