Secretary Stanton's Official Bulletin.

WASHINGTON, June 15th, 7 A. M.—To Major-General Dix.—The movement of the Army of the Potomac to the South side of Richmond, across the Chickahominy and James rivers, has progressed far enough to admit the publication of some general facts, without danger of premature disclosure.

The James river was to be crossed by the army at Powhatan Point. A dispatch from Grant, dated 5:30 p. m. Monday, Headquarters Wilcox's Landing, states that our advance had reached that place, and would commence crossing the James river on Tuesday, and that Smith's Corps would commence arriving at City Point that night.

On Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock General Grant was at Bermuda Landing. Ira dispatch from him dated three p. m., he says: Our forces will commence crossing James river to-day. The enemy shows no signs of yet having brought any troops to the south side of Richmond. Our movement from Cold Harbor to James river has been made with great celerity, and so far without loss or accident.

An unofficial dispatch dated General Butler's headquarters, 2:20 p. m., says General Smith's corps was coming in, 5,000 having already landed. A dispatch from Gen. Sheridan's headquarters, dated three o'clock yesterday afternoon, near Kenshaw, states that the General is in the front, advancing his lines on Kenshaw. Another unofficial dispatch dated nine p. m., reports some advance to-day. Thomas has gained ground, and one rebel brigade was nearly surrounded. It further reports that the rebel General Polk was killed to-day, and his body sent to Marietta. [This proves that the reports current that Marietta is taken, and that the rebels have retreated beyond the Chattahoochee, are unfounded.—Chronicler.]

Gen. Washburne, at Memphis, reports that Sturgis' expedition met a large rebel force under Forrest at Gun-town, just after a severe fight and heavy loss, he was worsted, and was at Collierville, retreating toward Memphis. Late arrival of troops renders Memphis safe. General Sherman has made arrangements to repair Sturgis' disaster, and has placed A. J. Smith in command, who will resume the offensive immediately. No other intelligence has been received since my last telegram.
