In Regard to Torn Postal Currency.

Those of our readers who are in the habit of doing business at the Post Office, understand, doubtless, the strictness with which the rule prohibiting the clerks from receiving torn or mutilated notes in payment for postage stamps, &c., is carried out. Notwithstanding all this, it appears that, unless when the mutilation extends beyond a certain limit, torn or defaced notes cannot legally be refused. Alluding to the subject, the United States Mail the official paper Treasury notes for stamps or postage, if clearly genuine, no matter how tora or defaced they may be, provided that one-twentieth part thereof be not missing-and fractional currency, if not one-tenth part be missing. Such notes and currency received as are unfit for re issue should be kept separate and distinct, and returned as occasion requires, to the Treasurer of the United Rebel spy. Such is war.
