

The Farm-House. mis should be an object of beauty in e landscape as the mansion; why not ! It is not costly, massive mansion, towering up with its bare walls. that adds beauty to scenery any more than the walls of the farm house. If the farmers would only learn to cultivate a knowledge of the beautiful in nature, and mingle around their dwellings the cheerfulness and comfort derived from the advantages of trees and shrubsthe evergreen to smile on the desolate and hoary frost of winter, and the dehightful shade yielded from the noble elm and the beautiful maple in the summer-their rural homes would smile triumphantly over the bare walls of many a palace in the country. Trees not only yield their shade in summer, but they pretect us from the ice, chilling blasts of winter. Trees tastefully arranged around the dwellings of the farmer's home not only materially enhance the real value of his homestead, but they are a protection to his property. If his barns and outhouses were so arranged that groups of evergreens were interspersed between them, a very beautiful effect could be produced and in many instances would be a perfect safe guard against fire, for the surrounding of buildings by thi kly studded belts of evergreen trees (such for instance, as the Norway spruce and many other kinds of trees) would be found oftentimes to curb in the flames of barns and such buildings and save the regidence. We have known this to be the case in several instances, so that the trees are often of more value to us, perhaps; than we are ready to admit.

Farmers, Look to Your Interest, and Drain your Land.

Draining has made great progress in the estimation and practice of our progressive farmers. Tile factories have been established in many parts of the country, and consequently tile can be procured conveniently for making permanent drains, in low grounds, where most needed. Should the next ten years witness an equal advance in this direction, underdraining will be regarded as among the most indispensible operations of the farm, and its benefits will soon be fully realized. Underfits will soon be fully realized. diseases which it originates take various names, according to the organs it attacks. In the longs, Scrofula produces tubercles, and finally Cousumption; in the glands, swellings which suppurate and become ulcerous sores; in the stomach and bowels, derangements which produce indigestion, dyspepsia, and liver com-plaints; on the skin, eruptive and cutaneous affections. These all having the same origin, require the same remedy, viz. purification and invigoration of the blood. Purify the blood, and these dangerous distempers leave you. With feeble, foul, or corrupted blood, you cannot have health; with that "life of the flesh" healthy, you cannot have scrofulous disease.

is compounded from the most effectual antidotes that medical science has discovered for this afflicting distemper, and for the cure of the disorders it entails. That it is far superior to any other remedy yet devised, is known by all who have given it a trial. That it does combine virtues truly extraordinary in their effect upon this class of complaints, is indisputably proven by the great multitude of publicly known and remarkable cures it has made of the following diseases : King's Evil or Glandular Swellings, Tumors, Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches and Sores, Erysipelas, Rose or St. Anthony's Fire, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Coughs from tuberculous deposits in the lungs, White Swellings, Debility, Dropsy, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Syphilis and Syphilitic Infections, Mercurial Diseases, Female Weaknesses, and, indeed, the whol series of complaints that arise from impurity of the blood. Minute reports of individual eases may be found in AYER'S AMERICAN ALMANAC, which is furnished to the druggists for gratuitous distribution, wherein may be learned the directions for its use, and some of the remarkable cures which it has made when all other remedies had failed to afford relief. Those cases are purposely taken from all sections of the contry, in order that every reader may have access to some one who can speak to him of its benefits from personal experience. The vast importance of these considerations has led us to spend years in perfecting a remedy which is adequate to its cure. # This we now offer to the public under the name of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, although it is composed of ingredients, some of which exceed the best of Sarsaparilla in alterative nower. By its aid you may protect yourself from the suffering and danger of these disorders. Purge out the foul corruptions that rot and fester in the blood; purge out the causes of disease, and vigorous health will follow. By its peculiar virtues this remedy stimulates the vital functions, and thus expels the distempers which lurk within the system or burst out on any part of it. It is said that an ointment made of white lead and milk will greatly soothe and heat galls on horses, occasioned as they frequently are, by a harness that in the source of the source o does not ht, or from some other cause. In cases of long standing, it will be necessary to repeat the application daily for a week or more, gently rubbing and stirring the blood about the injured parts. Care must also be taken not to cause fresh irritation by riding or otherwise exciting the wounds.
