

How to Cultivate Sorghum.

Upland is alleged to be preferable to flat or clay soil; and it is better to be pliable, and not apt to brake after heavy rains, and all the better for having a southern exposure. The ground should be well plowed as early in the spring as practicable; before planting it should be thoroughly and deeply cultivated, and freed of clods by the liberal use of the roller. None but well ripened and sound seed should be used, the very purest that can be got-four quarts to ground one hundred fifty pounds of superphosphate of lime, or its equiva- by the government AS IS REQUIRED OF ALL PER lent in some kind of immediate fertili-zer, to be applied in the drills and cov. zer, to be applied in the drills and cov-ered with the seed. The seed thus treat- or their next of kin, as anthorized by the Resoed should by no means be allowed to lution of Congress of January 13th, 1864, as get dry before being covered.

The furrows should be shallow and about four feet apart. The seed and all kinds respectively solicited. Collections the fertilizer should be distributed carefully and covered to the depth of half to three-fourths of an inch. As soon as the plant has four or five leaves it should be partially thinned, the process being conducted with care, seeking to restrain the strongest plants, which, on subsequent occasions should be reduced to eight or ten inches in a row. If the cane is thick enough without the suckers they should be removed. Labor may be saved by planting in hills three and one-half feet square, leaving four stalks to a hill, although the planting in drills is preferable. The cane needs early and thorough cultivation, which should be continued until the plants are three or four feet high; after this the cultivator had better not be used. as the roots about this time commence spreading. The suckers should be cut off, as the pulling process disturbs the roots and incerates the stalk.

The cane is fit to cut when the majority of the seed heads have become brown, but the crop increases in value until the seeds are pretty well matured. The freezing of the uncut cane is disastrous unless worked up immediately Better to cut green, if the seeds have abot up to their full height than allow OIL WELL BORING TOOLS it to freeze on the stalk. In cutting it should be taken off obliquely just above the crown roots, the tops tapped off below the upper joint, bladed and shocked or piled where it can be sheltered from the sun and weather; it can remain in this condition for several weeks without damage. In procuring seeds for planting all canes not fully in head are too green, and should not be gathered for that purpose.

disease, low living, disordered digestion from unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems to be the rod of Him who says. " I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children." The diseases which it originates take various names, according to the organs it attacks. In th lungs, Scrofula produces tubercles, and finally Consumption ; in the glands, swellings which suppurate and become ulcerous sores; in the stomach and bowels, derangements which produce indigestion, dyspepsia, and liver complaints; on the skin, eruptive and cutaneous affections. These all having the same origin require the same remedy, viz. purification and invigoration of the blood. Purify the blood, and these dangerous distempers leave you. With feeble, foul, or corrupted blood, you cannot have health ; with that " life of the flesh " healthy, you cannot have scrofulous disease.

That it is far superior to any other remedy yet devised, is known by all who have given it a trial. That it does combine virtues truly extraordinary in their effect upon this class of complaints, is indisputably proven by the great multitude of publicly known and remarkable cures it has made of the following diseases : King's Evil or Glandular Swellings, Tumors, Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches and Sores. Ervsipelas, Rose or St. Anthony's Fire, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Coughs from tuberculous deposits in the lungs, White Swellings, Debility, Dropsy, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Syphilis and Syphilitic Infections, Mercurial Diseases, Female Weaknesses, and, indeed, the whole series of complaints that arise from impurity of the blood. ## Baising Plants from Cuttings.

Peter Henderson, of Jersey City, a noted propagator. gives a simple mode of raising plants from cuttings, such as OLE Volume. Cloth. Price $2.00. roses, verbenas, carnations, &c., adapt-ed to experienced cultivators, although not the mode used on an extended scale. A common flower pot saucer, or even a common kitchen saucer or other roses, verbenas, carnations, &c., adapteven a common kitchen saucer or other $200. dish, is filled with sand, and the cuttings thickly inserted in it. It is then watered until it becomes about liquid as mud. The cuttings should ot course be of green or unripened wood, three or four inches long. placed in a strong light room or green-bouse, kept in a temperature of 50 deg. or 80 deg., but best at 70 deg., to 75 deg, allowed to remain from ten to twenty days, till rooted and the sand kept constantly in this semifluid state, for if they become partly dry they are ruined.

FARMERS' PAINT .- Farmers will find the following profitable for house or fence paint : Skim milk, two quarts ; tresh slacked lime, eight ounces ; linseed oil, six ounces; white Burgundy pitch, two ounces; Spanish white, three pounds. The lime is to be slacked in water: exposed to the air, and then mixed with about one fourth of the milk ; the ail, in which the pith is dissolved, to be added, a little at a time, then the rest of the milk, and afterwards the Spanish white. This is sufficient for twenty-seven yards, two coats. This is for a white paint. If desirable, any other color may be produced, thus, if a cream color is desired, in place of a part Spanish white, use the ochre alone.
