Waynesboro Village Record
Thursday, July 20, 1871.

The 12th of July being the day which the Orangemen or Irish Protestants generally celebrated as the anniversary of the battle of the Boyne, fought in 1690, when Protestant King William III routed Catholic King James II, driving him from Ireland into perpetual exile, the Irish Catholic societies of New York city determined, if possible, to prevent by force the parade of the Orangemen in that city. So threatening were they that the police authorities at length issued an order prohibiting the parade, but this called forth such a storm popular indignation that Governor Hoffman revoked the order and issued his proclamation guaranteeing the protection of the State to those who chose to march in the procession. Accordingly the parade came off, and a bloody time ensued, as the following summary of events from the Baltimore American fully shows:

Yesterday was a day of bloodshed and terror in New York. The Orangemen paraded, as they had a right to do. In consequence of the contrary determination agreed on by their officers on Tuesday night, and the fact that Governor Hoffman's proclamation was not made public until yesterday morning, there were only about two hundred men in the line. They were protected by the police and military, but the column was several times attacked by the Ribbonmen, and there was severe fighting along the streets. The militia apparently did their duty, and repulsed every assault of the mob of Catholic Irish attacking their countrymen for giving expressions to their feelings, as those in the procession had often permitted them to do without interference. Special dispatches state that thirty-one persons, two of whom were women, were killed, and seventy wounded during the fighting. With the exception of probably not more than half a dozen soldiers and police-men the sufferers were all from the mob. The Eighty-fourth Regiment of the New York National Guard was the most active in driving off the rioters who assaulted the Orangemen, and many other persons were by their fire. The procession went over the appointed line of march and then dispersed. At eleven o'clock last night quiet was restored. It is apparent from the despatches that the attacking parties in every case received what they richly merited—a sound thrashing—and that they were taught a severe lesson by the militia, who seem not to have hesitated to fire upon them whenever they were attacked or made a threatening demonstration.

POISONING IN HIGH LIFE.—The Baltimore American gives an account of poisoning case, the most remarkable that has ever occurred in Baltimore, or perhaps in any city. The lady accused (Mrs. Wharton) is the widow of a deceased officer of the United States army, and has always moved in the highest circles of society. Gen. Ketchum, the victim, was her guest and had for many years been an intimate friend. Mr. Van Ness, who is now recovering, was her confidential business agent and adviser. They both took ill at her house, No. 263 North Euthal street, on the same day, and showed the same symptoms. General Ketchum died June 28, four days after he had taken the first poison. His attending physician suspected poisoning, and advised a post-mortem examination. Twenty grains of tartar emetic was found in his stomach. The same poison was found in a glass of milk punch prepared for Mr. Van Ness during his illness. It is said that Mrs. Wharton was indebted to General Ketchum in the sum of $2,600, and in this circumstance a motive for the murder is found. Others think that the accused was affected with the poisoning mania, and four sudden deaths which have occurred in her family are cited in proof of this theory. The accused has been put under arrest.

A Southern paper says: "We have much to be grateful for, in the place of our perpetual grumbling. Every man who is free from the tooth-ache ought to feel thankful. How much worse things might have been! How much worse it seemed a few years ago that they would be! Let us beseech our farmers not to get miserable now about the price of wheat. Let them enliven our broad acres with an occasional smile. There is a happy lot compared with the life of the poor printer, they beat the murmur of the strife,

But enter not the toil of life.

A great tornado passed over Dayton Ohio, on Sunday afternoon, which was terribly destructive. The German Lutheran Church was thrown down and three persons killed and a number injured. Other churches and buildings were injured. A bridge over the Miami was wrecked, and two boys on it killed. A Gipsy woman was killed by the falling of a tree into the midst of an encampment of Gipsies near the city. Church spires were demolished, houses uprooted, trees blown down and crops destroyed in the immediate vicinity of Dayton, and the whole community thrown into utmost consternation.

For the "Village Record"

G. T. and the Liquor Law.

Mr. Editor:—I wish to say a little on the subject I have chosen and want to say it through your paper. One of the objects of the Good Templar organization, is to obtain a "prohibitory liquor law," if they can well, but would it not be much better if they would have the "liquor law" as it now is enforced. If Good Templars wish to effect a temperance reformation by the aid of the civil power of the State, let them aid the State in the enforcement of the law as it now is. I do not know a landlord who has not so far violated the law but that his license would be forfeited and himself imprisoned, and fined, if some earnest Good Templar was to go to a Justice and make the necessary information. Such action would convince the people that they are working for the cause of temperance. Other organizations employ detectives to ferret out those who violate the law, and rest not until the guilty receive the punishment they deserve. If Good Templars are afraid to incur the ill will of those who violate the law made to help the cause of temperance, they are a "chick and cat" affair. So far as moral courts are concerned, they cannot excuse themselves by saying that they see none of those violations of law. It is their duty to see them.

Good Templars you can effect very little until by your own determined effort to have the law enforced, you compel the fear and respect of those who every day violate the law and laugh at you. Every Good Templar should be a detective to notice each violation of the liquor law, and straight make the information. Actions of this kind would soon induce landlords to observe the law, and would promptly stop the sale of liquors to minors and persons in a state of intoxication.

MALTA.
The case of Mrs. E. G. Wharton, charged with murdering General W. Scott Ketchum by poisoning him on the 28th of last June, and also with attempting to poison Mr. Eugene Van Ness, was investigated by the Grand Jury of the Criminal Court of Baltimore on Saturday last. True bills were found in both cases. The accused, who had been permitted to remain in her house, guarded by officers detailed by the Marshal of Police, was taken to jail as soon as the presentments were made. In order to prevent any gathering of a crowd about Mrs. Wharton's house, she was taken away very quietly by the officers, before the action of the Grand Jury was generally known. Her demeanor was composed, and she betrayed no weakness or emotion.

USE YOUR PARLORS.—A farmer's wife gives the following sensible advice through the Germanian Telegraph: "Don't keep a solitary parlor, in which you go but once a month, with your parson, special guests or sewing society. Make your living room the house. Let the place be such that when your boy has gone to distant lands, or even when, perhaps he clings to a single plank in the waters of the wide ocean, the thought of the old homestead shall come to him in his desolation, bringing always light, hope and love. Have no dungeon about your house, no room you never open, no blinds that are always shut."

Little "Ted" Lincoln, youngest son of President Lincoln, died in Chicago on Saturday, and was buried on Sunday at Springfield beside his father. He will be remembered by all who were in Washington during the war as the bright light and light of the White House during those gloomy days. He was 18 years old.

At Washington some time since the Police Court fined a restaurant keeper fifty dollars and costs for refusing to sell a man refreshments because he was colored. An appeal was made to a higher Court, which has just affirmed the judgment of the Police Court in the case.

The State Assayer of Massachusetts, (A. A. Hayes, M. D.), having made an analysis of Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer, reports it the best preparation for promoting healthy excretions of the scalp, increasing the growth and restoring the color of the hair.

On Friday Frederick Lawrence, colored, was hanged at Exeter, Maryland, for the murder of Emeline Handy. He confessed his guilt and on the gallows professed repentance.

During the week ending July 18 there were only one hundred and forty-seven deaths in Baltimore—sixty-two were children under two years of age.

President Grant will remain at Long Branch until the 5th of August, when he will go to California.

The mutilated remains of a man were found on the Pennsylvania Railroad track in West Philadelphia last Tuesday morning. He had laid his neck across the rail, having previously written in the sand beside the track the following: "James Davis, born '39; without friends; destitute; tired of living."

A comely young lady, named Joan McCormick, 17 years of age, daughter of a wealthy farmer's widow, residing in Doebble county, Ill., was shot, while sitting at the tea table, and instantly killed, on the 4th inst., by a farm hand named John Reed, whom she had refused to accompany to a celebration.

In Staunton, Clay County, Ind., last Saturday, a hen belonging to a Mrs. Fish laid an egg in a neighbor's barn. She demanded it, and the other woman refused to yield it. A fight then ensued, in which the sons of the parties joined. Mrs. Fisher's son whipped his male opponent, and then held the latter's mother while Mrs. Fisher broke her neck with a club. She cannot survive.

The railroad is coming!

Town and Country

RAIL ROAD MEETING.

A meeting will be held in this place, on Saturday next, at a o'clock, P. M., in behalf of the Miramar Railroad, which will be addressed by several distinguished R. R. men. Among others, invitations have been extended to Gov. Geary and Judge Hall, who are expected to be present. By order of the R. R. Com.

FARM FOR SALE.—Christian Stouffer offers his farm for sale. See advt.

PUBLIC SALE.—We call attention to a advt. of Jacob J. Miller, administrator of Elizabeth Barnhart, dec'd.

Mrs. Hyssong, the lady who was injured by a fall from Mrs. Hoover's residence in Staufferstown, died one day last week.

The Franklin County Agricultural Society will hold its annual exhibition on the 3d, 4th, 5th, and 6th days of October next.

PREACHING.—Rev. Samuel Phillips, of Philadelphia, will preach in the Presbyterian Church, on Sunday next, morning and evening.

BALLOON ASCENSION.—Professor Wise the distinguished aeronaut, will make a balloon ascension from the Diamond, in Chambersburg, on Saturday, the 29th inst.

Since we issued the Record with new material, it has not mechanically presented the appearance it should, owing to the fact that we have been unfortunate with our rollers. We have ordered composition from Philadelphia, and in a short time expect to present a cleaner sheet.

MISS ANNE DUNCAN, only child of Augustus Duncan, one of the proprietors of the Valley Spirit, died on Monday night last at Gettysburg of typhoid fever. She was just emerging into womanhood and is represented as an unusually intelligent and otherwise interesting young lady.

TEMPERANCE CONVENTION.—The Good Templars Quarterly Convention will be held in this place on the 25th, 26th and 27th days of July, inst. Delegates will be in attendance from the different local lodges in the State. Rev. Mr. Kirby of Chambersburg will deliver a lecture on the evening of the 25th. Other able lecturers are expected to be in attendance.

AN IMPROVEMENT.—The I. O. O. F. have determined to enlarge their Hall by the addition of another story, which will make it three stories high. The store room is to be sixty-five feet long. This improvement will be a creditable one to the order and an ornament to our town. As soon as arrangements can be made the work will be commenced.

The ordinance prohibiting the shooting of fire arms within the corporation limits was enforced by the Burgess one day last week. A Bachelor friend, not having the fear of the aforesaid law before his eyes shot a neighbor's cat, and in consequence was arraigned and quipped to "foot" fine and costs. This should prove a warning to others who set at naught our Borough laws.

PROFESSIONAL.—Dr. Benj. Frantz has resumed the practice of medicine in the office of Lew. W. Detsch, in the Walker building, as will be seen by reference to his card in to-day's paper.

Dr. A. H. Strickler, formerly of Mercersburg, and who comes well recommended as a physician, has also commenced the practice of medicine in this place. The Doctor has built himself a very tasty office on Mechanics Street, adjoining the residence of Mr. Geo. Besore. See card.

ENCOURAGING.—Out of about three hundred copies of the Record sent to persons who were not subscribers, nearly two hundred have so far been retained. Four weeks having elapsed since they received the first number their names have been entered on our books as subscribers. With this increase our circulation exceeds one thousand copies. The Record is therefore second to few newspapers as an advertising medium.

POTATOE BUGS ROOSTING.—A farmer of this vicinity, Mr. Jacob Shank, informs us that the potatoe bugs are unusually numerous about his premises. In the evening they literally cover his fences, where they roost until morning. It would be well under such circumstances to apply the torch.

The Wyoming Valley Journal gives an account of the Seventh Annual celebration of the Caledonian or Scotch Games, at Pittstonville vicinity, on the 4th of July. Our friend, Mr. David Patterson, we notice, was among those entered for the championship in the "fat race," and got out second best, A. D. King winning the prize. Among the guests present we notice the name of Gen. D. W. Mickle, of this place, who no doubt enjoyed the sport amazingly.

GOOD.—Jeremiah Gordon, residing near Shady Grove in this County, had an extraordinary yield of wheat from a single field of 15 acres. He threshed it out of the field and from the fifteen acres named got 399 bushels, clean wheat making over 26 bushels to the acre. This is a handsome turnout, and we think worthy of record.

Cyrus Wakefield, of Boston, has given $100,000 to Harvard College, for the erection of a recitation hall, with dormitories, to be called Wakefield Hall.

THE RAILROAD.—A corps of engineers are now engaged running a temporary line for the proposed Miramar Railroad from Shippensburg to this place. They are expected to reach our town to-day or to-morrow.

This looks as though the Miramar Company was in earnest in regard to the proposed extension of their road in this direction. A corresponding amount of interest or earnestness among the people here and along the line would, if success is attainable at all, make the movement a successful one. Our citizens, if not already awake to the importance of this enterprise, should at once consider the matter and decide upon some plan of action to secure the required amount of stock subscriptions. If it is true that valuable ore in almost inexhaustible quantities lie imbedded in the earth only a few miles North of our town, the reasonable inference is that the road would prove a paying one. Other roads to-day with less natural advantages are yielding at the rate of ten per cent., and even more. Therefore, in our opinion, handsome dividends are in store for all who will invest in the capital stock of this Company. Railroads traversing ore or mining regions invariably pay a handsome per centage; and for this reason, should the Miramar Company succeed in getting their road, as they propose, from the Susquehanna to the Potomac, investments in the stock of this Company must prove profitable. The advantages such a road would have over one running through agricultural regions alone must be apparent to the most superficial mind. Continuous heavy tonnage make companies wealthy and insure large dividends.

We understand the amount of stock required between Shippensburg and the Susquehanna has already been subscribed.

THE POTATOE BUG.—The potato in the west is being subjected to heavy ravages by a bug—indigenous to the Rocky Mountains, which is traveling east at the rate of 150 miles a year. It has already reached the northwestern borders of Ohio, stretching southwards in an irregular line to the southern portion of Indiana. It is a red bug, about half an inch long, of great fecundity and extreme voracity. It deposits a potatoe seed in less than no time. The eggs are deposited on leaves, and as soon as they are hatched they begin to eat. No remedy or preventive has been discovered—and where they pass, the potato crop is utterly ruined.—Ex.

The potatoe bug has made its appearance in our neighborhood, and if reports are true, is doing great damage to the growing crops. It differs from the one described above, being smaller and resembling in appearance the lightning or fire bug. Where the early and late varieties of potatoe are planted side by side, it is said to confine its operations to the former. This year it put in its first appearance about the 15th inst., but it has heretofore first appeared from the 1st to the 15th of July. The early potatoe is now matured, and if any serious loss is thus sustained it will be among the later varieties. To escape the ravages of this insect, farmers and others will be compelled to abandon late planting.

SAD AND FATAL ACCIDENT.—Death of George F. Heyser, Esq.—Friday morning this community received a shock such as it has not felt for a long time. Shortly after daylight the rumor became rife that one of our most enterprising and prominent citizens, George F. Heyser, Esq., had met his death in the most lamentable manner, namely, by falling from a bridge at a point on the Cumberland Valley Railroad about equidistant from this town and his residence a short distance from the corporation limits. From rumor the account assumed certainty, and Justice Skinner coming to a knowledge of the case, proceeded to the spot, when a jury was summoned, who obtained facts covering the following: It appears that shortly after daylight a lad named Randall whilst crossing the field near the spot mentioned discovered the body and gave the alarm. From the position in which the deceased lay it is thought that his death must have been instantaneous, as there was no evidence of struggling. He had apparently fallen partly on his side and front, his head striking the rocks, and being considerably crushed. In his hand he held his walking stick firmly, and even naturally. The fall must have been about fifteen feet, and occurred at that portion of the bridge where there is a fence, it being his custom in going home to get over around it, when he probably missed his foothold, and was, as stated above, dashed upon the rocks below. Upon his person was found $118 and his gold watch, which, we learn was still running. The deceased started home from this town about 12 o'clock, and it is supposed that shortly after that time he met with the accident.—Twice A Week.

We learn from the Mechanistown Clarion that the cars of the Western Maryland Railroad have passed over the Owings creek bridge in safety. The Bridge of Lodi is crossed and the grand array of track-layers are on their winding way up Harbaugh's Valley. Two miles west of the bridge the iron rails have been nailed down, and with plenty of ties, rails and spikes on hand, by the 10th of August the cars will make the trip to Sallaville with flying colors.

The intense heat for some time and lack of rain, has had the effect to retard materially the growth of corn in this section. Rain is much needed.

The Waynesboro Record comes to us this week greatly enlarged and in an entire new outfit. We congratulate Billy Blair, its whole-souled and gentlemanly proprietor, on this evidence of his prosperity. No man in Franklin County is more deserving of success.—Pub. Opinion.

NEWSPAPER ENLARGEMENT.—The Village Record, published at Waynesboro, Pa., by Wm. Blair, Esq., came to us last week in a new dress and an enlarged form. The Record is a live local paper, and we wish it long continued prosperity.—Middletown (Md.) Valley Register.

The Record, published at Waynesboro, Pa., by Wm. Blair, has made its appearance in a new dress, and is enlarged by the addition of four columns. We consider the Record one of our best exchanges, and hope it will continue to prosper.—Go for the cash, Blair.—Westminster (Md.) Advocate.

WAYNESBORO RECORD.—We are pleased to note the enlargement, new dress and other indications of the prosperity of that old and excellent paper, the Waynesboro Record. It now compares favorably with any of its county contemporaries, and as such we wish it the prosperity in the future that marks it at the present time.—Twice A Week.

THE VILLAGE RECORD.—This paper published at our neighboring town of Waynesboro, Franklin County, Pa., by Mr. Blair, has been enlarged and clothed with a dress of new type. It is now a very beautiful sheet. The proprietor has published it for over 20 years. It is a very interesting paper, full of local news, and is a credit to the flourishing inland town in which it is published. We wish the energetic proprietor an abundance of success. He deserves it.—Mechanistown Clarion.

THE WAYNESBORO VILLAGE RECORD.—This old and welcome visitor to our Sanctum, reached us last week in an entire new dress, and enlarged to the extent of several columns, making it a first-class county newspaper. Mr. Blair, the present proprietor, was one of its founders, twenty-four years ago, and has been its sole publisher for the last twenty-two years. He deserves much credit for producing a fine paper, under circumstances and in a locality by no means peculiarly favorable to such an enterprise.—Hag-Herald and Torch.

ENLARGED AND IMPROVED.—The last number of the Waynesboro Village Record comes to us enlarged four columns and dressed in an entire suit of new and handsome type and printed on a new press. With this number it commences its 24th Volume, and we are pleased to see crowned with this evidence of prosperity. "Billy" Blair its present Editor and proprietor, together with the late Dr. D. O. Blair, at one time proprietor of this paper, founded the paper some twenty-four years ago. A few years after it passed into the hands of its present owner, who has ever since, at least so far back as we have been a reader of the Record—a dozen years or more—been publishing a lively, neat and spicy sheet, and with his enlarged facilities, we have no doubt, that it will now be better than ever. Long wave the Record.—Mercersburg Journal.

IMPROVED.—The Waynesboro Village Record came to us last week in an entire new dress, neatly enlarged and much beautified. The improvement was not wholly unexpected, as an intimation of what was going to be done had been thrown out several weeks ago. It had not prepared us, however, to expect such a radical change as has been made. The Record is now one of the handsomest newspapers in the county, it has seven columns of reading matter and advertisements on a page, it is neat and attractive in appearance, and it always has been readable, chatty and entertaining. We heartily congratulate Mr. Blair on his substantial improvement, and hope that his enlarged sheet, new type and increased advantages will be thoroughly prized and appreciated by his readers and patrons.—Repository.

Several exchanges containing similar notices were among things that are often missing about printing offices when they are wanted, which accounts for their non-appearance.

WHERE THE FLIES COME FROM.—Flies are now abundant, and most people wonder where they come from. Our readers, if they remember the following paragraph, can answer the inquiry: The eggs of the house fly are laid in decaying vegetable matter, such as dead leaves, and especially in the manure of stables, about seventy or eighty being the usual number. These soon hatch, and the larvae grow rapidly, feeding upon the substances near it. After a short time the outer skin hardens and becomes brown and tough, shaped like a little barrel divided into rings. The transformation of the larva is quickly made, and the animal is soon ready to emerge a perfect insect.

The intense heat for some time and lack of rain, has had the effect to retard materially the growth of corn in this section. Rain is much needed.

GIGANTIC TUMBLE IN DRY GOODS!

CALDWELL & CO. AT THE CHEAP STORE. Announcing to their customers, that, on Monday next they will inaugurate A GRAND CLEARING SALE, when will be disposed of as fast as customers can be served over $120,000 worth of SUMMER DRESS GOODS, LADIES' & MISSES' HATS, PARASOLS, &c., &c., &c., &c., &c., &c. Everything marked down to 100 percent. Price is no object at this time. These goods must, small and will be sold. We are opposed to the immense piles of Fall Goods over goods from one season to another, and are determined to dispose of our whole remaining stock, regardless of what they cost. Last March we hung our banner to the breeze, inscribed with the magic words: "Clearing out, Clearing out," and thus we cleared out over $7,000 worth of goods in two weeks. Our patrons know there was no humbug about that; that we sold goods for little more than the price of paper and twine to wrap them in, and now as we unfurl the flag again they know full well that we mean what we say.

This time the slaughter is terrible, for we are determined to close out the whole lot in order to begin the Fall campaign with an entirely new stock.
