PRESS FOR SALE.—We still have for sale the Washington Press upon which the Record was printed previous to its enlargement. Price, $100.

The end of the world is now definitely fixed for 1886.

Jeff Davis is going to live in Baltimore.

Mormondom has sent $50,000 to the relief of Chicago.

Harrisburg elected a colored constable on Tuesday week.

Baltimore has contributed the magnificent sum of $200,000 for the relief of Chicago.

The Secretary of War telegraphs Gen. Sheridan to assist the Wisconsin and Michigan sufferers by supplying tents, &c.

John Wesley, the founder of Methodism, said African slavery was the "sum of all villainies."

Mr. Rice, a contractor from Pottstown, Pa., was robbed of $16,000 in Harrisburg, on Wednesday last. Pepper was thrown in his eyes and the satchel containing the money taken.

The Presbyterian preacher at Decatur, Georgia, who seduced Miss Chevers, a member of the church, has been found guilty thereof, and sentenced to twenty years in the penitentiary.

The Government officers, in investigating the Ku-Klux in the South, and collecting secret movements against the organization so effective, discovered that in many places the agents of the Associated Press and the telegraph operators were members of the Klans. This will account for the meagerness and misrepresentation of the general Press despatches from those places where the habeas corpus is suspended.

The legal war against the great crime of Mormonism has ended successfully in the test case. This was the trial of Hawkins, a leading Elder of the Church, for adultery in practicing polygamy. The prosecution was brought by his first wife, and the verdict of guilty, given in the United States Court at Salt Lake City on Saturday, places all the polygamists at the mercy of the women to whom they were legally married. Hawkins was held as a prisoner.

President Grant is going for the Ku-Klux in South Carolina in earnest. On Wednesday of last week a den, consisting of a chief and twenty members, surrendered to U. S. Marshall, Johnson, at Spartanburg, in that State, with their arms and disguises. Another account says a fight between the soldiers and Ku-Klux took place on Broad River, and the conflict was so severe that reinforcements were called for. At another place it is said forty-four citizens were arrested and committed to prison.

A large number of fire insurance companies have failed, unable to meet their losses, but it is estimated that between forty and fifty millions of dollars will be returned to the Chicagoans by the fire insurance companies. It is estimated that 70,000 persons will have to be provided for the coming winter, and contributions of clothing and provisions are therefore asked for by the Mayor. Thousands of laborers are employed in cleaning up the debris preparatory to rebuilding the destroyed houses. It is said that all the records of deeds and mortgages are destroyed, that hardly a law library or law office is left in the city, not a paper to show that their is a suit pending in any of the Courts, and not a single indictment left against any accused person in the county.

TERrible SUFFERING.—Phoebe Cousins, in a letter to the St. Louis Republican, gives the following graphic picture of suffering during the great Chicago fire:

"Then the sick and dying, women in confinement, many giving birth to children along the bleak shores of Lake Michigan, and no eye save God's to witness. I am told by the physicians here that as many as five hundred cases of premature birth have been reported, and the many helpless mothers who gave birth to children along the lake can be numbered by scores. I can only weep as I hear this terrible tale. One, told me last night, is also too much for human heart to bear."

The daughter-in-law of a clergyman here gave birth to a child in the flight along the shore, and was separated from the family, and neither mother nor child have been found. Another—a lady in the Sherman House—was carried out in the arms of her husband, the new born babe clasped to her breast, and both died in the father's arms before reaching a place of safety. The poor man, crazed with grief, was last seen along the shore of the lake, with his dead across his shoulder. Again I heaved of a fine looking woman in a night dress being seen wandering along the lake shore with twin babes, all of whom have died without recognition, and been buried by the city. These are but a few among the many awful horrors of the night. The people of Chicago are well nigh bereft of reason, and I am only surprised that they can think and act with any intelligence at all."

THE GREAT FIRE.—The Door County (Wisconsin) Advocate gives a full account of the loss of life and property by the great fire in that county. Up to the night of October 8 fires had been raging through the towns of Brussels, Union, Gardner, Forestville, Claybank, Neenah, Sturgeon Bay and Sebastian, burning fences and timber, but leaving the houses untouched.

At nine P. M., Sunday, a tornado of fire swept down from the southwest, beginning at the Belgian settlement, at Brussels, sweeping through the towns of Union and Gardner, the western part of Sebastian, and down the east side of the bay, consuming every building in its path. At Williamson's mill everything was burned and the most destruction of human life ensued. Out of eighty persons at the mill, fifty-seven were burned to death. The few survivors tell horrible tales of the scene. After the fire forty-five bodies were found in a potato patch, in the centre of the clearing, and others were found scattered in various places; some in wells. Many were disfigured in a terrible manner, in some cases beyond recognition.

This great destruction was the work of but fifteen minutes, and was effected by the same tornado that burned Fishhook and twelve hundred human beings. Great loss of life is reported in other places. Twenty-two were burned at Brussels.

There is hardly a house or barn standing in the line of the fire. Efforts for relief are not spared here, or anywhere in the State, and donations from abroad are arriving to make comfortable those who survive.

Contributions of money may be sent to Alexander Mitchell, President of the Milwaukee Marine and Fire Insurance Bank.

Clothing or provisions to Harrington Ludington, Mayor of Milwaukee.

THE WESTERN SUFFERERS.—On the 18th the New York Chamber of Commerce adopted a memorial to the President, appealing to him to aid in providing food and clothing for the sufferers by fire in Michigan, Wisconsin, &c., and expressing the conviction that Congress will approve the measure which necessarily demands.

In noticing this memorial the Pittsburg Chronicle says: "These memorial words touch a grand key. It is right now that the nation vouchsafe aid to her suffering children. She has facilities to do it, that are peculiar. She will be delinquent if she do not. It will be a benediction, to see her foster the thousands of homeless and hopeless ones of Wisconsin and Michigan. Our hearts prompts us to ask the President to answer this memorial promptly and cheerfully. The need is pressing. Winter drops its bleak shadow already at the door. The sharp winds whistle dolefully in the naked trees. The cry for help for shelter, food, raiment—is more than the people can answer. O! it will be Christ like for the Nation to go up into the desolate districts and become a 'nursing mother' to the weary and poor and dying."

DEATH IN A DENTIST'S CHAIR.—Miss Julia W. Doolittle, aged 31 years, of Hudson near Fulton Avenue, reported at R. C. Brewster's dental establishment, at 303 Fulton street, in that city yesterday morning to have a number of teeth extracted preparatory to getting a false set. She had been there on the Saturday previous, and said that she would be unable to submit to the operation without taking laudanum or chloroform, but the dentist hesitated about administering chloroform. He finally administered laudanum, but it did not have the desired effect. She wanted to take chloroform then, but Mr. Brewster refused to use it. He told her, however, that if she wished to take it she must bring a physician to the office to administer it to her.

An engagement was accordingly made for yesterday morning at 9 1/4 o'clock, and at the time Miss Doolittle called at the office and met Dr. G. S. Little, of 171 Dalton avenue, one of the most experienced physicians in the city. The doctor asked Miss Doolittle whether she was perfectly healthy, and she said that she was, but that she had once had slight palpitation of the heart, which she did not view as anything serious.

Dr. Little then administered four drachms of chloroform to her in the presence of Mr. Brewster and his assistant, J. W. Eggleston, who were in readiness to extract the teeth. After the latter had drawn ten teeth, the doctor suddenly announced that the woman's pulse was becoming weak, and that she was sinking rapidly. They became alarmed and began to apply restoratives, but without effect. Several other physicians were summoned, and a galvanic battery was used for more than an hour, but all efforts to revive the woman failed, and she died.

Dr. Little was shocked at the fatal result of the operation. He said that Miss Doolittle had called at his office on Saturday, and made an appointment with him to go to Mr. Brewster's office yesterday morning. He met her there, and administered four drachms of chloroform on a napkin when she was under the influence of the drug the dentist began to extract her teeth. The doctor finding her pulse growing weak, began to apply restoratives, but without effect. He had soon Miss Doolittle about a month or six weeks only. She was a native of Connecticut, and had lived in Brooklyn ten or twelve years. She was employed in Despard's sewing machine establishment in Fulton street at a good salary, and was a first-class operator.

The body was taken to the residence of a brother-in-law in Portland and Myrtle avenues, and corner Jones impaled a jury preparatory to an inquest.—New York Sun.

B. Russell.

LOOKOUT FOR THEM.—A dangerous counterfeit $20 greenback note has recently been put in circulation. It is said it is difficult to distinguish between the spurious bill and the genuine, so well have the counterfeitors done their work—the only weak point being the central figure, which is done rather coarsely. When presented in a package this figure is not likely to be noticed in rapid counting. In order to avoid deception from these bogus bills the best plan is to examine carefully every $20 greenback you handle.

CHURCH DEEDICATION.—The Robert Kennedy Memorial Presbyterian Church at Welsh Run was dedicated to the service of Almighty God on 30th ult. The officiating clergymen were Rev. Dr. Thomas Creigh, Rev. Dr. Thomas G. Apple, Rev. J. G. Brown and Rev. W. R. Thorntop in charge.

The church structure is neat, pretty and comfortable, its site on one of the most beautiful to be found anywhere, and is located in the midst of a thickly populated, wealthy and intelligent community.

The good people of Welsh Run are largely indebted to the christian generosity of Elias Davidson Kenedy, Esq., of Philadelphia, (who is the only surviving son of the late Rev. Robert Kennedy,) in perpetuation of whose memory the church was built, and who was pastor in charge of the old Welsh Run Church for many years for the construction, his check covering the entire indebtedness.

Mr. Kennedy was present on the occasion, and was so much pleased with the appearance of the church and the interest manifested, that on his arrival home, he sent the Trustees a check to cover the expenses of furniture, and also presented the congregation a handsome organ—Valley Echo.

There lie their goods on the shelf to day worth 75 cents on the dollar, while their customers have to pay for the loss. The decline has commenced. "The Bull" have run the length of their rope, and now the "Bears" are having a glorious time. Last week the slaughter was terrible, and as usual, we were on hand for the bargains.
