Politics in West Virginia is in a complete muddle. For the election to be held there on the 22d inst., there are no less than four State tickets in the field, while in almost every district there are independent candidates for Congress in opposition to the regular nominees.

In the fall of 1870, a family named Leib, of Quincy, Ill., permitted their little son, a child four and a half years of age, to go into the street to play, and from that time have never heard of him. There is no doubt that the child was stolen.

The parents placed the matter in the hands of the detectives, and caused a photograph to be sent to every city in the United States and Canada, offering a liberal reward for the return of the child.

On the 2d, a beggar was arrested in New Castle, Pa., with a boy, six years old, thought to be Mr. Leib's child. Mr. Leib came on, and declared the child was not his. As the child is evidently a stolen one, it is still detained, awaiting further information.

On Friday evening, 26th ult., Alpheus Glover, a farmer aged about forty years, with his daughter, aged eighteen, and a son of six years, residing on Beaver Creek, Fayette Co., Pa., went out to look at a sick cow lying in the road near the farm of a neighbor, named Staub. Some hogs were worrying the cow, and Mr. G. hissed a small dog upon them. Just then Staub and his son, aged sixteen, approached, the former armed with a revolver and the latter with a rifle. As they came up, Staub called out, "I'll shoot your heart out!" Glover's daughter stepped before her father, but as Staub roughly told her to get out of the way, she became frightened, and stood aside. The little boy clung to his father's knees, crying piteously. Staub and his son then fired together, and Glover fell over his little son, crying, "My God, Jake, what have you done to me? He died instantly. The murderers were placed in jail in Uniontown, Md.—The murder was the result of an old family feud.

HANDSOME OFFER.—Mrs. Carleton Bell, a worthy matron of Locopolis, Miss., now of the Coleman house, in New York, has addressed a letter to Mr. Joseph Strauss, president of the Alsace Lorraine society, in which she makes the following offer to a colony of from four to five hundred persons:

"I could give homes to sixty families, besides a manufacturing colony of a hundred to sixty families whose occupation is farming. To each cottage I would let fifty acres; fifteen to be rent free, and to be planted in corn, peas, potatoes and other vegetables to sustain their families; the remaining thirty-five acres in cotton—half that is made to belong to me. If the season is a good one the tenant will realize about $2,000; if bad he will not lose, for I will share with him. I want honest, industrious people; if they have not the means to start themselves, I will lend it to them. I will devote the remainder of my life to their welfare and prosperity in this new world. The place is at the head of navigation for large vessels up the Yazoo river, half way between Memphis, Tenn., and Vicksburg, about forty-eight hours by railroad from New York city."

The largest brewery in the world is that of Barclay, Perkins & Co., London. They use annually 18,000 bales hops, and make over 1,000,000 barrels of ale. Their place covers twelve acres in the heart of London, for which they recently were offered the sum of $20,000,000, or $1,750,000 per acre.

India rubber trees, it is stated, occupy a belt of land around the globe for five hundred miles south of the equator. These trees yield on an average three table-spoonful of sap a day, and can be tapped for twenty successive seasons.—They stand so close together that one man can gather the sap from eight trees. In a tract of country thirty miles long and eight miles wide there have been forty-two thousand India rubber trees counted.

PROPERTIES FOR SALE.—Two desirable small properties in Quincy township are offered for sale. One by Josiah Burger and the other by Wm. Stall. For description see advertisements.

FINE RAIN.—This section was visited with another fine rain on Monday night last. The gust set in about 10 o'clock and continued for a couple of hours, but the weather continues at about the same temperature notwithstanding, nine-six in the shade.

PUBLIC OPINION.—The Public Opinion, published in Chambersburg, by M. A. Foltz, has attained an extended circulation, and is perhaps more generally read than any other county paper. Persons having farms or other property to sell will find it a first-class advertising medium.

Wm. Green, colored, a couple years since confined in our county jail for stealing a watch from Mr. J. K. Wolfersberger, has been committed at Hagerstown for theft at the Clermont House (Miller's) on the Mountain. This time Bill, it appears, fancied a gun among other valuables.

John W. Baughman, Esq., editor and publisher of the Republican Citizen, of Frederick, Md., died on the 31st of July. His brethren of the press of Frederick City passed resolutions of respect to his memory, and attended the funeral in a body.

ENLARGED.—The Williamsport Pilot, published at Williamsport, Washington county, Md., by Messrs. T. F. & G. W. McCordell, reaches us this week considerably enlarged and beautified generally in appearance. The Pilot is a live local paper and merits a liberal patronage in that section of Washington county.

TRANSFERS OF REAL ESTATE.—The following transfers of real estate were filed for record in the office of H. T. Snyder, Register and Recorder of Franklin county, during the last week:

Sohn S. Cell to Wm. Dixon, 160 acres and 60 perches of land, in St. Thomas township, for $16,000.

Catharine Bell to Henry Blubaugh, 2 acres and 143 perches of land, in Quincy township, for $300.

Catrin Spelman to Daniel Hollinger, 17 acres and 60 perches of land, in Washington township, for $120.

FATAL AFFRAY.—A difficulty occurred at the Waynesboro' Hotel on Friday last between a young man named H. H. Little, of Chambersburg, son of D. B. Little, and a stranger connected with the Forest City Circus, which has terminated in the death of the former. The young man is said to have been under the influence of liquor, and having had some words with the stranger repaired to the street and re-entered the Hotel with several stones for the purpose of assaulting him, when he was struck on the forehead with a tumbler and knocked down. He was removed in an insensible state to an adjoining room, and the same evening conveyed by his father to Chambersburg.

An eye-witness informs us that young Little was clearly the aggressor and that the stranger tried to get out of his way. According to the Public Opinion he expired on Sunday evening last. Another sad commentary upon the evil effects of discipline.

The Spirit says: On Monday, H. B. Davison, Esq. summoned a jury and held an inquest upon the body. Drs. Lane and Boyle made a very thorough post mortem examination of the body and testified before the inquest that they had found a fracture on the left side of the skull from which death resulted. Their opinion is that the injury was caused by a blow with some blunt instrument—that it could not have been caused by a blow with the fist alone.

Efforts are being made for the arrest of the man who is charged with the offence, which we understand are likely to be successful.

P. S. It appears a man connected with the Forest City Circus has been arrested and committed to jail, but he turns out to be the wrong person, the one who committed the assault having made his escape. A couple men connected with the Circus arrived here on Tuesday evening and yesterday morning started for Chambersburg with Messrs. Minter and Fullwiller, landlord and bar-tender, for the purpose of establishing the innocence of the individual under arrest.

The Harrisburg Telegraph referring to the Carlisle District Camp Meeting which commenced near Oakville on Wednesday of last week says:—A handsome two-story house has been erected for the use of the preachers. There is an abundance of good water, and two mammoth boarding houses—the most essential of all accommodations. For those who desire refreshments there are buildings in which soda water, ice cream, fruits, etc., can be obtained, and a photograph gallery for such as desire copies of themselves. Vegetables, fresh meats, ice, &c., can also be procured on the grounds. A post-office in the camp receives daily mails from all points, and a religious book store supplies those who want reading matter or stationery. A telegraph office has been opened a short distance from the camp.

PERSONAL.—Rev. A. Buhman, former pastor of the Lutheran congregation in this place, now of Milton, Pa., paid our town a visit last week.

Lewis C. Gilbert, more familiarly known as "Doc. Gilbert," after an absence of about nine years, spent several days among his friends in this place and vicinity last week. He is an enterprising young man and has many friends in this region. Is engaged in business at Cleveland, Ohio.

S. A. Stephenson, Esq., and family, and Franklin and Alfred T. Johnson, all of Pittsburg, Pa., are also at present sojourning among their friends in this place.

THE STORM.—The severe rain storm of Monday evening of last week proved quite destructive along the Marsh Run. It is said that stream was never before known to be so much swollen. Fences along its course were swept away and many corn fields much damaged. The force of the water was so great that in some instances gullies six feet in depth were opened in corn fields and even piles of stones carried from one field into another. Report says a Mr. Loose, on the Bachtel farm, in Washington county, sustained a loss amounting to about $2,000. The turnpike between this place and Leitersburg was considerably damaged.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—Mr. Andrew Senner of this vicinity met with a serious accident on Friday last. He was engaged at threshing his wheat crop with one of the old-timed machines, when a strap broke which so increased the speed of the horses as to cause the fly-wheel to burst, a piece of the timber striking him on the head and face and inflicting a frightful wound. He continued in an insensible state until the next day. But last accounts his condition somewhat improved.

SEVERE ACCIDENT.—Two little girls, one the daughter of Postmaster Wm. Logan and the other of Mr. James Fisher, whilst playing upon a balcony attached to the second-story of a house on Franklin street were precipitated to the brick pavement below by the giving away of the banisters surrounding the porch. Mr. Logan's daughter was picked up in an insensible condition, terribly bruised and bleeding, and with her right arm broken below the elbow. Dr. Scott is attending the little sufferer, who is improving under his treatment. The daughter of Mr. Fisher was badly bruised, and while no bones were broken, it is feared she may be injured internally.—Twice A Week.

The Leitersburg wells are all dry.

Grapes will be plenty.

PROFESSORSHIP ACCEPTED.—The Rev. W. E. Krebs, A. M., who was elected to fill the chair of Mathematics in Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa., by the Trustees of that institution, at their late annual meeting, has concluded to accept the position. To enable him to carry out his purpose, he has resigned his charge, and Classis has dissolved his pastoral relation. He expects to enter upon the duties of his new position with the opening of the next term in the institution. The friends of Marshall and Franklin College will be gratified with the result reached in his case, by the late action of the Board of Trustees.—Messenger.

All members of the Good Templar organization are requested to meet at the Lodge room to-morrow (Friday) evening. Important business.

HORRIBLE MURDER.—A horrible murder was committed near Yates City, Illinois, on Monday morning, the victim being the wife of John Mathewson, a farmer married but a few months. The murderer went to the house about 8 o'clock in the morning, while Mathewson and his hired man were working in a distant field, and ordered breakfast. While Mrs. Mathewson was preparing breakfast he undertook to ravish her. She resisted, and her clothing and person showed unmistakable signs of a terrible struggle for life.

When her husband returned at night he found her body in the cellar with her throat cut and skull crushed. Great excitement prevails in the neighborhood, and mounted horsemen are scouring the country in search of the murderer. A reward of $1,000 has been offered for his apprehension.

HEMLOCK'S FALL.—It is evident that Hemlock's failure was due to great vanity. It is about forty years since he was making his greatest dash, and then his career certainly was a remarkable one. He had only been three years in trade in New York, and during that time had made his remedies famous and had become rich.—His income was $50,000 per year, and all that was required was a continual attention to the business which he had established. Instead of this however, he became ambitious of political distinction.

When Grant was nominated for the Presidency, A. T. Stewart advanced $30,000 toward an electioneering fund. Hemlock, who had the folly to believe in Seymour's chances, determined to outdo Stewart, and consequently advanced $40,000 to his party. Forty thousand dollars is a large sum of money. It has generally been considered a capital sufficient for many kinds of business. That any man should deliberately throw such a sum away can only be explained by the proud desire to outrival Stewart. Hemlock, it is true, expected to make money rapidly but pride was continually in the way of enduring success. Having outbid Stewart in the political fund, he determined to distance the Belmonts and Commodore Vanderbilt in equestrian style, and hence his equipage at Long Branch was the grandest ever seen there, with the single exception of that displayed by Jim Fisk.

There was an incessant rivalry between this brace of fools; but in the long run Fisk came out ahead, which might have been expected from his unbridled ambition and vast resources. Hemlock changed his team every day in the week, but still Fisk excelled him. They have both reaped the reward of their folly—the one lying in a dishonored grave, while the other is a wanderer in a foreign land.
