

Waynesboro Village Record.

Thursday, Oct. 17, '72.

The Democratic majority in Georgia has reached 55,000.

Only two ex-Presidents are living—Millard Fillmore and Johnson.

A wealthy miner has fallen in love with Mrs. Fair, and will marry her.

Norton P. Chipman (Rep.) has been elected Delegate to Congress from the District of Columbia. His majority is 5,600.

Jesse Uppercue has been indicted in the Criminal Court of Baltimore for the willful murder of Mrs. Amelia Wheat, on the 27th of August last, and a day for his trial will soon be fixed.

Mrs. Parton, better known to the reading world as "Fanny Fern," sister of N. P. Willis, and wife of the historical writer and essayist James Parton, died in New York on Thursday.

Rev. J. F. Kennedy, financial agent of the Ohio Wesleyan University, committed suicide at Delaware, Ohio, on Monday. Recent domestic bereavements are supposed to have unsettled his reason.

Emanuel Shaffer on trial at Harrisburg for the murder of his two wives and John Sharlock by poisoning, was found guilty of murder in the second degree, and on Monday sentenced to the Penitentiary for thirty-six years!

Mr. Silas Cooper, who lives five miles from Lincoln Court House, W. Va., was 106 years old, in March last, and is said to be the oldest man in that State. He is as active as ordinary men of fifty. His wife died in March last at the age of 110. The Greenbrier Independent says "he is candidate for matrimony and wants an active, industrious and handsome companion of 16 years."

Wednesday a week was the anniversary of the great fire in Chicago, and was generally observed as a holiday by the people of that city. The rebuilt burned district was visited by thousands of persons inspecting the improvements made during the year. The city papers published large supplements, containing reminiscences of the days of fire, and descriptions of the rebuilding so rapidly progressing.

The Saratoga County Bank at Waterford, New York, was robbed on Sunday night of $300,000 in money, bonds and stocks. The heaviest loss falls on special depositors. The burglars secreted themselves in the Cashier's house, and when all things were in readiness sprang from their concealment, overpowered the members of his family, gagged and tied them, and then compelled the frightened bank officer to open the vaults.

The Scheppe-Stinnecke case has assumed a new phase. The petition filed by Dr. Scheppe in 1869 has been withdrawn, and his counsel has filed a petition with the Register which claims for him the right of administering upon Miss Stinnecke's estate, because of his marriage to her on the 14th of January of that year, a date subsequent to the execution of the will in his favor under which he claimed in his former petition.

On the 21st of August last, Mrs. Timothy Bradley, of Trumbull county, Ohio, gave birth to eight children—three girls and five boys. They are all living, and are healthy but quite small. Mr. Bradley was married years ago to Miss Eunice Mowery, who weighed 275 pounds on the day of her marriage. She has given birth to two pairs of twins, and now eight more, making 12 children in six years. Mrs. Bradley was a triplet, her mother and father being twins, and her grandmother the mother of five pairs of twins.

President Thiers does not have faith in clasping hands across the bloody chasm. Two more Communists sentenced to death and nearly six hundred exiled to penal colonies is his latest installment of punishment for the unfortunate rebels of Paris. The Bonaparte family are in no greater favor with him. Prince Napoleon and the Princess Clothilde have received notice to quit France, to which they reply they will not. How the shiftiest and unluckiest Plon-Plon could endanger the Republic it is difficult to understand, but it seems that Thiers fears him, and he must go.

Hon. Wm. H. Seward died at Auburn, in the State of New York, on Thursday last. In the death of Mr. Seward another of our greatest Statesmen has been gathered to his fathers.

The New York Times reviews his whole political life in a long obituary, which closes as follows: "As a citizen, full of earnest patriotism and zeal for the welfare of the nation, Mr. Seward will long be remembered, and his record is one of the brightest on the page of our national history. His death will be a source of sorrow to a large circle of personal friends and acquaintances, as well as a loss to the entire country."

The Presbyterian Church at Hancock has succeeded from the Baltimore and joined the Winchester Presbytery or Southern wing of the Church. Rev. E. L. Wilson has been installed as Pastor.

FARM FOR SALE.—We call attention to the valuable farm offered at public sale in to-day's paper by Messrs. Trimmer & Fogler, Trustees of J. B. Price.

The Republicans carried Quincy township for Hartman by a majority of fifteen votes. The first time in the history of the township when any other candidate for governor than a Democrat had a majority at that poll.

From the "signs of the times" we infer that there will be several quiet weddings in our town ere leap year closes, and certain persons will be proud and happy. We trust their fondest hopes may never be blighted, and their most sanguine expectations may be realized.

The Pastor elect of the Presbyterian Church in this place will be installed on Wednesday evening of next week, the 23d inst., by a committee of the Presbytery of Carlisle. The exercises will begin at half-past seven o'clock, and will consist of a sermon by Rev. Dr. Robinson of Harrisburg, who will preside and put the constitutional questions, a charge to the pastor by Rev. Dr. Strong of Harrisburg, and a charge to the people by Rev. Mr. Richardson of Greencastle.

"THE BELL."—We have received the first number of a neat monthly publication with the above title, a notice of which was mislaid last week. It is published at Chambersburg by Messrs. Sydney H. Johnson & Alex. Forbes. Mr. Johnson, formerly of Ringgold, Md. is a clever young man and a fine literary writer. With several years experience as contributor to newspapers and periodicals he will doubtless continue to make "The Bell" a welcome monthly visitor.

AN ACCIDENT.—We regret to learn that Mr. Andrew Wilson of our town met with a serious accident on Monday last. Contractor for the erection of a new dwelling house for Dr. John M. Ripple, he was superintending the work of putting up the rafters when one of them fell on him breaking and dislocating his hip bone.—The injury is a serious and painful one, and likely to confine him within doors for several weeks at least.

IN ARREARS.—JOHN D. BARR, Millstone Point, Wash. Co. Md. owes this office for subscription $10.50. Account forwarded several times but no response.—GEO. CORDELL, Hancock, Md. is also in arrears to the tune of $14.00. George has also been importuned on the subject several times but continues as silent as the grave. We propose to continue notices of this kind from time to time with the hope that at least some of the parties may thereby be induced to settle their accounts in whole or part, which will be promptly and conspicuously acknowledged in our local column.

PARDONED.—John C. Harbaugh of Washington County has been pardoned by the Governor. He had been sentenced to the penitentiary for three years for an assault with intent to kill upon the persons of two men named Bowman, near Smithsburg last spring.

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP OFFICIALS.

The following is the official vote at the late election in Washington township:

Table listing officials and their votes: Governor (368), Auditor General (296), Judiciary (368), District Delegates (364, 294, 363, 295), Congress (365, 292, 355, 293), Congress at Large (368, 368, 368, 298, 298, 298), Asssembly (372, 282), Prothonotary (300, 366), Clerk Courts (422, 242), Register and Recorder (368, 298), Commissioner (352, 314), Dir. Poor (368, 298), Auditor (369, 369, 297, 297), Coroner (370, 293), and a list of names for the Republican majorities in the county.

DECEASED.—Dr. JOHN NEWCOMER, eldest son of Mr. Daniel Newcomer, formerly of this vicinity, expired at his residence near Mt. Morris, Ogle county, Ill., on the first inst. in about the 54th year of his age. The deceased was a medical student with Dr. Benj. Frantz of this place. About the year 1851, after graduating, he commenced the practice of medicine at Quincy, in this county, where he followed his profession successfully for a few years and then removed to Mt. Morris, and after practicing several years there, was disabled from inflammatory rheumatism, in which situation he remained until death relieved him of his sufferings. The Dr. was naturally of a kind and social disposition. He had many warm friends and admirers in this region who will receive the announcement of his death with feelings of profound sorrow. A widow and several children mourn the loss of a kind husband and father.

ANTIETAM NATIONAL CEMETERY.—

We are informed by Thos. A. Boul, Esq., Secretary and Treasurer of Antietam National Cemetery, that all the material for the construction of the monument has been raised from the quarries at Westerly, Rhode Island. The monument is to be 45 feet in height from the ground to the extreme top, the pedestal 25 feet and the statue 20 feet, the whole to be constructed of white granite, and weighing 300 tons, the statue alone, which is to be a colossal American Soldier, will weigh 65 tons, composed of two blocks, weighing in the rough 85 tons. This work of art will be the largest statue in existence. It will be finished in time to be erected, we presume, on the eleventh anniversary of the battle of which it is in part commemorative.—Twice A Week.

REAL ESTATE SALE.—The large sale of real estate by David H. Wiles, Esq., trustee of Jacob Sheekey, dec'd, came off in Ringgold District, Washington county, Md. on Saturday last. The Home Farm containing 101 acres was purchased by the widow of the deceased for $126 per acre. The Gehr Farm containing 135 acres by Joseph M. Hess for $109.25 per acre, and farm No. 3, containing 117 acres by Joseph Shockey, for $100 per acre.—The timber land was sold at an average price about $155 per acre and the mountain land at about $40 per acre. This was certainly, the times considered, a fine sale.

The sales we learn amounted to about $45,969.

The friends of Woman Suffrage throughout the state are requested to send their names, with Post Office address, to the Penn'a Woman Suffrage Association, 700 Arch st., Philadelphia. Those wishing documents, or specimen copies of the Woman's Journal, will be supplied.

Capt. L. F. Byers, of Westminster, has been appointed Postal Route Agent on the Western Maryland Railroad, between Baltimore and Hagerstown, at a salary of $960 per annum.

New Goods.—J. W. Miller & Co. are opening their first supply of new goods.—Adv't. next week.

Mr. B. T. Hauley, well known in the West and South, and whose fortune is estimated at $3,000,000, is said to be dying in Texas. In 1823 Mr. Hanley engaged in the mercantile business in Cincinnati, selling fine silks and ribbons.—He was very successful for a time, and invested every cent he had in his business. He finally became involved in debt, and was on the eve of bankruptcy. Mr. S. W. Davis, of the same city, a book-seller and blank book manufacturer, hearing of Mr. Hanley's misfortune, and although being a stranger to him, knowing his integrity and honesty to be beyond question, helped him out of his difficulty. Mr. Hanley strove to repay his benefactor, but he was doomed to a greater misfortune than he had experienced before. One night his store was burned to the ground, and he was reduced to poverty. Mr. H. determined to leave the city, and Mr. Davis advanced him sufficient money to pay his expenses and engage in some new enterprise. It was not until October, 1869, a lapse of forty-five years, that Mr. Davis heard from Mr. Hanley again. During this interval Mr. Hanley had amassed a large fortune, estimated at $3,000,000, the whole of which, with the exception of a small bequest, he now wills to Mr. Davis.

The rolling mill buildings of the Cambria Iron Works, covering about five acres of ground, at Johnstown, Pennsylvania, caught fire about 12 o'clock on Saturday night, and only a portion of the main building and west wing were saved in a damaged condition. The light machinery is not much damaged. The workmen have organized and volunteered to contribute a certain part of their work to assist in rebuilding the works.—The machinery will be erected under a temporary roof, so that the delay in manufacturing will not be longer than two weeks. The steel works, shops and furnaces are uninjured. The fire is supposed to have been accidental. Several of the firemen were injured, but none fatally. The new building will be made fire-proof. Loss about $400,000; insurance $100,000.

The Presidential Election two weeks from Tuesday next, November 5th,

ADDRESS.

To the Board of Directors of Waynesboro, Graded Schools:

GENTLEMEN:—We, the undersigned teachers of Waynesboro Graded Schools, would respectfully recommend the publishing of Dr. E. A. Hering's address, exercised at the opening of the dedicatory exercises of our schools. The candor, the unfeigned sincerity, and the deep devotion that characterize his production should, in our estimation, receive from this community more than a passing or casual notice. If it represent the sentiments of the entire Board, it should be submitted to the calm and careful attention of our people, so that they may see and appreciate the cause and the benefits that attend their labors, and enlist their interest in the great and sublime cause that is divinely commissioned to redeem our world. No production was better conceived, better suited, better expressed; and none ever came under our observation that set forth the strivings of the soul after the "marvelous light" of intelligence more earnestly and truly than that by the President of the Board.

Hoping, gentlemen, that you will look upon our recommendation as an earnest desire, We remain very Respectfully,

PHILIP H. BENTZ, WILLA Z. MATTHEWS, J. ZUCK, Jr., M. COLEMAN PHREANER.

Waynesboro, October 12th, 1872. PHILIP H. BENTZ, et al.—Assured that the sentiments, contained in the address so flatteringly referred to in your note of the 12th inst., receive the hearty indorsement of my associates in the board of directors, and that I do not decline to concur in your request, for its publication. With the deepest interest, for, and an abiding faith in, the success of our schools, I am with great respect, &c., Yours, E. A. HERING.

Friends and Neighbors.—The world in which we live is crowded with more than interesting and important; but we meet, today, under circumstances of more than ordinary interest. We meet, to dedicate this house to educational purposes, and to make these beautiful halls the schoolrooms of our children. I congratulate you, my friends, on an event of so much importance to us all, and fondly cherish the hope, that our brightest anticipations, growing out of the establishment of a school, may be fully realized. There is but little in life of greater importance—and of greater interest to us as parents—than the education of our children. This being true, how deeply interested we should feel in the success of this school! Every one who contributes to its support, and strives to make it as good as possible. My associates in the board of directors and myself have labored, for more than a year past, to build such a house and establish such a school as in our judgment the wants of the community demanded. How well we have succeeded, it will be for you to determine. It appeared clear to us that a graded school was necessary, and that it should embrace a high school department. In accomplishing this, a good site, suitable grounds, and a properly constructed building were necessary. The site has been selected, the house built, and the school established. Single or combined, we think they are worthy of Waynesboro. Let us, by your hearty and unceasing efforts in sustaining it, prove that we are worthy of such a school.

It is a duty we, as parents, owe to our children to give them an even start in the race of life with the children of other sections of the country, and we would have them compete with others, we must make their educational advantages equal. With less than this, we ought not to be satisfied, and, I trust, you will unite with me in saying now, that with less than this, we will not be content. It would be difficult for us to impress our children with the idea that their education is a matter of much importance, when they feel that we are content to see them sit, for long weary hours, every day, in houses such as have been used in the past—houses utterly destitute of the slightest external attraction, and, for want of proper arrangement and sufficient ventilation, were really not only uninviting, but positively deleterious to health and threatening to life itself. Nothing, however, has been done in the past, with the deepest solicitude, the fresh bloom of health gradually fading from the fair face of her daughter or noble boy, but knew not the cause.—a few visits to the school-rooms of her children, especially in the winter months, would have explained it all. Neither an Abernethy nor a Brodie would have been necessary to explain to her the cause of their declining health. That which would be objectionable in a good school house, was the only commendable feature in our schools in the past, namely, the small portion of each year allotted to them.

The erection of this building cost thirteen thousand seven hundred and seventy-nine dollars. The furniture, fixtures, grading, paving, cistern, bell, &c. (the latter not included, the board not having determined yet the kind to procure), will cost three thousand dollars additional. The grounds cost three thousand dollars; this was fully met by the sale of the old school property for a like sum. The entire cost of the school property when completed, will somewhat exceed twenty thousand dollars. This will necessarily increase our school tax beyond the amount we were accustomed to pay in the past, but we can better afford a heavier tax, since we shall now receive an ample return for the money invested, whereas before, we received little or no benefit from it. The school we have established will, we trust, be a good one, and will enable the poorest widow of Waynesboro to fit her sons for business and her daughters for teaching, and for such as desire a collegiate course, it will enable them to enter the highest schools.

We now place the school in charge of an able corps of instructors, who, we doubt not, keenly feel the responsibilities resting upon them. To you we commit the intellectual training of the children of hundreds of families, and we know that the labor will be arduous and the responsibilities great; but our faith in you, bids us be of good cheer, and now we would simply say to you in conclusion, in the beautiful language of Mrs. O.—"Work for some good be it ever so slowly, Cherish some flower be it ever so good, Labor! All labor is noble and holy, Let thy great deeds be thy prayer to thy God."

On what terms can the Directors of Waynesboro Public School admit scholars from different localities?

Mr. Editor, I noticed an advertisement in the Record in which the School Directors of the borough propose to admit students from different sections of the county to the public schools on reasonable terms. Can the Directors admit scholars living out of their own school district on terms proposed by themselves? This proposal has no sanction of law, and in calling the attention of the citizens to it I will quote the law bearing upon this subject for the special information of those who have no copy to refer to, and then the people can decide the question for themselves, whether such a proposal is according to the law or not. "Pupils from an adjoining district are to be charged for by the month at the same rate as it costs the district receiving them per pupil to keep its own schools in operation." By what authority they propose to admit scholars from the township I know not, but I am sure it is not by authority of the school law, unless they are procured from the Legislature a special act authorizing them to do so, for such a course is not within the purview of the school law. Would it not be well for the Directors to read the school law carefully before they attempt to make such an anticipated organization of the school a reality?

COMMUNICATED.

This new theoretical experiment about to be put into operation appears to have originated in the minds of the Directors that are averts in advance of the law. Directors cannot specify any conditions whatever upon which they will admit scholars out of their own school district, because the conditions are already specified in the law. "That if it shall be found that on account of great distance from or difficulty of access to the proper school house in any district some of the pupils thereof could be more conveniently accommodated in the schools of an adjoining district it shall be the duty of the directors or controllers of such adjoining district to make an arrangement by which such pupils may be instructed in the most convenient school of the adjoining district and the expense of such instruction shall be paid as may be agreed upon by the directors or controllers of such adjoining districts by resolution or agreement entered upon the minutes of the respective boards." The law does not confer discretionary power upon Directors to receive pupils from a distance and charge their parents for their schooling. "The board receiving pupils from an adjoining district has no claim on their parents but only on the board of their proper district, and that charge should be a written agreement on the subject of their admission." To speak the truth, the Directors have no legal right to admit scholars from the township at all on any other terms than those specified in the law. Directors have no right to vary the true meaning of the law to make it conform to their own particular views, for such a variation is not at all consonant with a correct explanation of law. What precise meaning shall be put upon the words "free school" the Directors will disagree, and an agreement cannot be made for instruction given in our common schools which are to be supported by taxation only. "Residence in the district and age are the only requisites to entitle a person to admission in a common school in Pennsylvania." It will be observed that the law makes residence one of the requisites for admission to a common school, and age the other; therefore to admit scholars without residence from different localities to school in the borough, and charge them tuition, is certainly illegal. It is a clear point of law that in all the cases where scholars are permitted to attend school in an adjoining district, that there must necessarily be an agreement between the different boards, for without such an agreement scholars cannot be admitted without a violation of the school law.—AN OCCASIONAL OBSERVER.
