Advices from Panama give full deails of the recent earthquake which has almost utterly destroyed the city of San Salvador, in Central America, and caused a loss of life which is variously estimated at from fifty to five hundred souls. The shocks continued for several days, the people fled in dismay and terror to the hills, and their homes and the public buildings fell in ruins to the ground. This is the eighth time within one hundred and fifty years that the city has been utterly destroyed by earthquakes. But even from its earliest settlement it has been subject to these calamities. As far back as 1659 it was thus ruined. The last great earthquake previous to this one occurred in 1854, and then, as now, there was scarcely a building left standing. Situated as it is in the midst of a district of active volcanoes, it can never be safe from such disasters. The people are even now preparing to rebuild, but the lessons of experience showing that wooden structures are the only ones that withstand the shocks they are proposing to erect a timber city

THE ENGLISH WHEAT DEMAND.-It was estimated, while the supply will be supplies at 32,000,000 bushels, and adds that to all present appearances we are now worse off with reference to our probable supplies than we were six months ago.-The estimate then formed was carefully made on what appeared to be reliable data. It was smaller than some of the estitimates put forth at the same time; unforlarge. But that our wants will be met there is no doubt. They may be of necessity somewhat curtailed by higher prices. Globe last week, was 7,413,589 bushels against 9,273,110 bushels as compared with the same time in 1872. The prospects of good prices will place in the market every available bushel of grain.

RIOTING AND BLOODSHED.—A bloody iot between the whites and blacks occurred at Colfax, Grant parish, Louisiana, on Sunday the 13th inst. A despatch dated April 15 says: The negroes had strongly entrenched themselves in the court house, and built breast works three or four feet high. About noon some one hundred and fifty men, who had gathered from the surrounding parishes made an attack on the breastworks, and a brisk fight was kept up till about three P. M., when the works were stormed and captured, the negroes taking refuge in the court house, the doors of which were barricaded. After some further fighting the negroes threw out a flag of truce and several detachments of men advanced on it; when they were fired on by the besieged party, wounding several, among whom were Capand, it is feared, fatally wounded.

The whites retreated outside of the breastworks, and, as the only means of disledging the negroes, the court house was set on fire, and the blacks were shot as they came from the burning building. It is reported that nearly one hundred negroes were killed, and there were none-tobe found for miles around.

Of the massacre the Baltimore American says: The slaughter of the colored men at Colfax, Louisiana, becomes more bloody and savage as the details are brought to light. The official despatches published more than confirm the worst that has been reported. It is difficult to conceive of a more outrageous crime than that of the men who in cold blood butchered a hundred negroes.

The causes which led to the massacre may be briefly detailed. The election in Louisiana last November resulted in a double set of returns and a double set of officials in every parish in the State. The "Fusion" or McEnery candidates in Grant parish (of which Colfax is the county seat) obtained certificates of election. But the Courts of the State decided in favor of the Kellog or Republican candidates throughout, and those in Grant parish took posession of Court House at Colfax. They were there and in posession in obedience to and compliance with the mandates of the highest legal authorities. But the defeated party, beaten in the Courts and account of the attack of the troops on the smarting under defeat, were counseled to riot and led into rebellion by their leaders. The ruffians of Grant, Rapides and POSTAGE COUNTY PAPERS.—The new postage law which goes into effect on the first day of July next, requires the payment of postage on all regularly issued publications sent through the mail. Each rears to this office $14,5)—ten dollars for subscriber by going to the Postmaster at subscription and four dollars and fifty the office where he receives his paper on or before the first of July, can with five cents prepay the postage on it for the next three months, or for ten cents six months. We would advise this prepayment for not longer than six months by all residents in the county, as doubtless the law will. be modified early in the next session of Congress, so far at least as regards the circulation of papers in the county where published. The proviso attached to the Postoffice Appropriation bill, which abolished the free circulation of papers in the the county where published, was evidentily what is known in legislative practice as a "snake," and probably not understood by one out of ten members who voted for it. TEN cents will pay the postage to Jan. 1, 1874, when the new Congaess will have been in session a month.

The above we clip from the local columns of the Newville Star. The same, of course, will apply to subscribers to the Record in this county.

The only objection to the new system we have heard advanced is that no money for the workingman on Saturday means a scanty table for the wife and children on Sunday. But as those who scatter their earnings in vice are not likely in any event to save much for their families, this objection falls to the ground. Much of the poverty-and suffering among the laboring classes is directly due to the dissipation of him whose wages, if husbanded, would be sufficient to maintain his family in comfort. If he should be paid off on Monday the money that on Saturday would go to the tavern-keeper would be deposited in the household treasury instead. And the bettering of family relations means the improvement of society The majority of the assaults, wife-beatings and murders are committed on Saturday night and Sunday by men who are crazed with drink. Keep them sober and they are in the average steady and peaceable. This is a powerful argument in behalf of Monday payments, and it is being very generally appreciated.
