

Waynesboro' Village Record.

Thursday, July 31, 1873.

An aged couple were murdered in Lyecoming County, last Tuesday, and robbed of $9,000 in gold.

The Sheriff of the City of Baltimore is said to be worth the nice little sugar plum of $20,000 per annum.

An inventory of the estate of the late Oakes Ames shows a total valuation of nearly six million dollars.

A young man twenty years old, a citizen of Augusta, hung himself the other day because his coat wrinkled in the back.

A. T. Stewart made his will before sailing for Europe last week. It shows him to be worth one hundred millions of dollars.

The Hon. Asa Packer, of Pennsylvania, it is stated, has given $1,000,000 and fifty-six acres of land to the Lehigh University.

Miss Ida Greeley has been so annoyed by the attentions of a young gentleman named Hudson, who persisted in visiting her, that she has had him arrested.

Hembold, of buchu fame, is still flourishing. On the fourth of July last he gave a grand free-lunch to American residents in Paris, and entertained 800 persons at his house.

It is estimated that this year's wheat crop in Minnesota will be from five to fifteen millions greater than that of last year. The wheat crop in Kansas this year is the largest ever known.

The attack of paralysis which has recently afflicted Vice-President Wilson is looked upon by his friends with the most serious forebodings. Although it is stated that his physicians held out hopes of his recovery, it is known that the most experienced medical practitioners rarely succeed in successfully treating cases similar to that of the Vice-President.

The affection of his speech, it is feared, will become permanent, and the chances are now that he will never be able to take the Vice-President's chair in the Senate.

The destructive ravages of the cholera continue in different places in the west, although not with as great severity as several weeks ago. In the northern part of Missouri there have been upwards of fifty deaths.

At Mount Vernon, Ind. there was quite a panic, more than half the population having left the town, and there were a great many deaths. Out of one family of ten persons, but one was living on Sunday, all the others having in a few days died of the scourge.

In Evansville, Mount Carmi and other places there have also been a number of deaths.

Terrible Fire in Baltimore.—About 10 o'clock on Friday forenoon a fire broke out in the Planing Mill, belonging to Jos. Thomas & Co., on Clay street near Park, and soon extended so that a general alarm was given.

In a short time the fire had increased, so that it seemed as though the city was to be destroyed, and engines were sent from Washington to assist in extinguishing the flames.

The fire was got under control by 4 P. M., but by that time about 100 buildings were destroyed, among which were Dr. Smith's Presbyterian, and Dr. Baclaays Lutheran Church. Two firemen are known to be killed and many persons were overcome with the heat.

The total loss is estimated at $1,000,000.

The Insurance Companies using by the fire are all Baltimore corporations.—The Maryland loss about $1,000, the Peabody $7,500, the Hanover $2,100, the German $45,250, the Fireman's $29,000, the Equitable $40,900, and the United German $16,800. The entire insurance is probably a little more $150,000.

Dr. Mary Walker in Baltimore.—Among the passengers who arrived at Camden Station yesterday from Washington in the 2.20 P. M. train was the well-known Dr. Mary Walker, who insists upon wearing pantaloons. The doctor was arrayed in a pair of black pataoons, a tight-fitting blue frock coat, the skirt of which reached below the knees, and upon her head a stylish Mackinaw hat.

Her delicate throat was encased in a Byron collar, and adorned with a white cravat, and on her feet a pair of No. 3 gaiters.—Her coat, like that of Grimes, was buttoned up to the throat, notwithstanding the warm weather.

After alighting from the train Dr. Mary entered the ladies' reception room, and by her strange wardrobe and dashing manners caused considerable amusement among a large number of ladies awaiting the departure of a train for Washington, who had never before seen that sort of style.

After remaining in the room a short time the eccentric doctor left the depot and passed up Howard street, followed by a crowd of white and colored boys, whose attentions did not annoy her in the least.—Sun.

A Harper's Ferry man owns a whole mountain and offers to trade for a shut gun.

On the 1st of July, 1872, the wife of Henry Westfall, of Preston county, W. Va., gave birth to three boys, and on the 14th of June last, gave birth to two girls.

PHILADELPHIA, July 28.—Additional details received from the scene of the McBride massacre, near Williamsport, shows that Wade, the murderer, is one of the most consummate villains that has been produced by this State for years.

The coolness of his every action at the time and after the perpetration of the horrible deed, and the devil-may-care air he assumes, rank him as a second Quantrel.

After killing Mrs. Isabella McBride and securing the gold and silver stored in the old farm house, the murderer deliberately made his way to Williamsport and began to drink, paying for the liquor and cigars with specie.

Towards evening on Wednesday, however, his strange actions led to his being "shadowed," and finally, to his arrest. This was brought about through information received of a lad to whom Wade showed several bags of gold.

This so excited the boy's curiosity that he asked Wade to allow him to count the money, and together they went to a barn in the outskirts of Williamsport, when Wade opened a large bag and threw its contents of gold and silver to the ground.

Once in prison he began to laugh, and seemed to be greatly amused and pleased on account of the sensation he had created. He sent for an officer and related the whole story of the murder of Mrs. McBride, giving a description of the old lady's actions with the club, and went so far as to even attempt to imitate her cries.

In this heartless undertaking he was speedily checked, and he assumed an air of injured innocence because he was not allowed to proceed.

He said that during his career he had killed several people, among whom was a Spanish woman, and that the desire to murder had grown on him. His first murder as he related, was committed on the plains several years ago, and since that time he had put out of the way all whom he did not like, and he had never been even suspected. He said he did not fear death, and was ready to swing whenever they got ready.

His troubles he attributed to the want of proper training when young. This he did not receive as his parents died and left him alone in the world when about five years of age.

He refused to give the names of any of his victims, but said he would before he was hung. The specie has been recovered. Old Mr. McBride, still remains in an unconscious state, the physicians have no hope of his recovery.

An Insurance Murder.—A year or more ago one William Goss of Baltimore had his life insured to the amount of $25,000 in several leading insurance companies. Goss was an inventive mechanic and was experimenting in a small building in the suburbs of Baltimore, in January, 1872, when the building took fire and was consumed. A half consumed body was taken from the debris of the fire, and recognized as the body of Goss, by his wife and brother, and as such buried.

The companies refused to pay the insurance, and suit was brought by Mrs. Goss, which terminated in her favor in May last. Figuring prominently as a witness for the plaintiff was a man of the name of Udderzook, who now figures equally as prominent in a very mysterious murder in Chester, Pa. A few weeks ago Udderzook and companion stopped at a small village in Chester county, and then disappeared. Since that time the dead body of the stranger who was with Udderzook was found in the woods near the village so decomposed as to be almost unrecognizable. A ring, however, on the finger of the dead man has led to investigation, and letters have turned up which leads to the belief that the dead man was no other than Goss, murdered by Udderzook for a reward from those who were to reap the benefit of the insurance on his life, the companies claiming on the trial that Goss was not dead. It has the appearance of a deep mystery, and only a legal investigation will clear it up.

A Princely Inheritance.—The Harrisburg papers of last week announce that the will of Thomas M'Kee, of Allegheny, whose death was announced a few days ago, has been filed in the register's office. Nettie Adelia M'Kee, a daughter aged about twenty years, who has spent a portion of her time attending school in Harrisburg, is the sole possessor of her father's immense wealth, estimated at from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000. Here is a chance of which fortune hunters should endeavor to avail themselves. According to the will, the only daughter is to have all his household furniture, thirty-three shares of stock in the Stubenville and Middletown Turnpike Company, all his money and other personal property and all his real estate in Stowe township, Allegheny Co., comprising a tract of land over 400 acres; also fifty-three acres in Chartiers township, 207 acres and 127 perches in Susquehanna township, Dauphin county, eleven lots in Allegheny City and four lots in Rock Island, Illinois. The daughter is requested not to encumber the estate by any mortgage on her own account or for any husband to whom she may be married and not to divide the property but retain it, whole, living on the rents, issues and profits thereof.

The horse-chestnut is now used in France for the manufacture of starch.—The nut yields about seventeen per cent, of pure starch.

Ross Winters of Baltimore, has finished a splendid palace at Newport.

Local News.

Camp meeting time is coming. Our town is healthy. The country ditto.

They have full houses and lively times on the mountain.

Lighting rod men and sewing machine agents are again on the wing.

The lean crop is said to be a failure.

The bite of the potato bug is poisonous.

The music of the "Katy Did" will soon be heard.

Be careful of the horses. Poor brutes, they are incapable of giving expression to their sufferings.

Advertisements and business locals should be handed in not later than Tuesday evening.

Because the moon is to change five times during August a wet time is predicted.

Roasting ears, the first of the season, were retailed here on Tuesday at 25 cents per dozen.

Be very liberal in the distribution of disinfectants. Permit nothing of a decomposed nature to be about your premises.

The masons are now working on the second story of the Odd Fellow's Hall. The brick, etc. are hoisted by horse power.

PUBLIC SALE.—Special attention is called to the Trustees' Sale of valuable personal property at Ruggold, Md., advertised in this issue.

The "ice man" is always on time and consequently well patronized. The institution is a good one as long as the thermometer continues at 90 or thereabouts.

The Carlisle Herald says that track laying on the Harrisburg and Potomac railroad, will commence this week, at Mt. Holly Springs, at the junction of the South Mountain railroad, and be pushed rapidly forward to its eastern terminus.

Y. M. C. A.—The Young Men's Christian Association of this place will hold a meeting at Tomstown on Sunday next at 8 o'clock, P. M. Also one on the same day and at the same hour at Pikesville. At both of these places the meetings heretofore have been largely attended.

A SICK CHILD.—A small child of the Rev. H. W. Hibshman on Monday last swallowed a part of the contents of a blacking box, from the effects of which it was taken suddenly and alarmingly ill. The necessary emetic was administered by Dr. A. H. Strickler and the little one thus relieved.

ABSENT.—The Presbyterian congregation of this place have granted their Pastor, Rev. R. F. McClean, a vacation during the heated term. He left on Tuesday to pass the time, or a portion of it at least, among his Adams county friends. He expects to return about the first of September.

WARM SPRING.—A warm spring, strongly impregnated with iron, has quite recently been discovered about one hundred yards from the Beautiful View Springs property on the mountain. The stream is not a large one however. Our informant who was at the spring and tasted the water says it discharges about three barrels per day.

A thunder gust passed over Greencastle on Sunday evening, the rain falling in torrents until the streets were covered with water to a considerable depth and nearly all the cellars in the town were filled with water. Such a rain it is said is without record in the memory of the oldest inhabitant of the town.

ENCOURAGING.—The Riddlesberger Hercules Lifting Jack, the patent right of which was sometime since purchased by Dr. I. N. Snively, proves popular wherever introduced. We understand the Dr. has already effected large sales of territory. We congratulate him upon his success so far with this simple yet useful invention.

The Neville Star chronicles the killing of a blowing viper last week on the farm of Samuel Alexander, near Waynesboro', Pa., five feet four inches long, with a two-inch horn on its tail.—We have not had the pleasure of scraping an acquaintance with the gentleman referred to, but presume he has a "local habitation" somewhere.

RAIN.—On Saturday afternoon and evening last this section was visited with the most copious and refreshing rain showers, pretty thoroughly soaking the parched earth. The protracted drought and intensely warm weather had to some extent injured the growing corn, but these showers seemed sent just in time to save the crop. A week later and the earlier planting would doubtless have been beyond reviving. The same is perhaps true of the second planting of potatoes.

S. S. Schmucker, D. D., an eminent Lutheran Theologian and Professor, in the Seminary at Gettysburg, died suddenly at that place on Saturday night.

LEASING ORE LANDS.—Some of our citizens have taken exceptions to the communication published in our columns last week over the signature of "A Landholder."

From a letter addressed to us upon the subject, we extract the following: "Waiving the point of this being a fair transaction only concerning the parties themselves—the article published was unjust, because in the 1st place—These leases were read and fairly explained throughout to the parties who leased.

2nd. The price (to be) paid was exactly the same as in the leases now made to Mt. Alto Company, (25 cents per ton,) and considering the hauling by wagons one mile to road, &c.,—a fair price—more than 50 cents on near fulling land.

3rd. The tracts leased (with three exceptions) are all upon mountain land (timber reserved) on which a good ore bed would pay from 500 to 1,000 per cent—annually—but if never opened are comparatively worthless.

4th. These leases are not like those of the Southern Penn's Iron & Railroad Company, differing altogether as to time, condition and price, and free from other privileges given in those.

5th. The contracts in Cumberland county are 50 cents per ton for washed ore, here they are 25 cents per ton for unwashed ore.

6th. These leases are made to secure a Railroad—which experience has shown cannot be made by subscription—and won't come anyhow, as the article says."

ORE LEASING.—A Railroad Promised. The operations of Joseph Douglas, Esq., and Mr. Geo. Middour, who have been engaged for several weeks in leasing ore lands in this section, has awakened considerable interest, particularly so in Quincy township, where most of the leases have been obtained. It appears that wealthy and responsible capitalists have agreed to build a railroad into this section of our county, where valuable ore in inexhaustible quantities is believed to be imbedded, provided a certain number of leases are secured. If we have been correctly informed, more responsible parties than those represented by Messrs. Douglas and Middour are perhaps not to be found in the State of Pennsylvania. So that if a sufficient amount of territory is leased and an examination reveals the fact that ore in quantity and quality abounds there, we believe the promised road will be built. Persons having lands to lease should consider the fact that these lands without a railroad are comparatively valueless, and must so remain for time to come, and further, the cost of building a road. Self-interest should prompt such persons to aid any project looking to a development of their lands. We are also assured that an Anthracite Furnace is in contemplation. Such a Furnace along the line of the road in Quincy township, in a pecuniary point of view, would prove a vast benefit to the people at large.

O. F. Pic Nic.—The Odd Fellows' picnic held at Blue Ridge Summit on last Friday was the largest picnic of the season. It is estimated that from 2500 to 3000 persons were present during the day. At 11 o'clock the Good Samaritan Lodge of Mechanistown, accompanied by hundreds of their friends arrived at the Station, and were received by the Potomac Lodge. The welcome was offered by Samuel L. King, Esq., of Hagerstown, and responded to by Fred. White, Esq., of Mechanistown. [Mr. W. in the days of auld lang syne was a merchant doing business at the corner of the public square and Church Street, Waynesboro'. He looks as if the weight of years rested lightly on his brow.]

The day was intensely hot. An increasing stream of people surrounded the pump which did good service supplying the thirsty with a constant supply of pure sweet water. Some of the young folks enjoyed themselves "tripping the light fantastic toe" in the warehouse.

A large number of our citizens attended this picnic. Twenty-five or thirty members of the Waynesboro' Lodge were present.

EXCURSION TO BALTIMORE.—A short time since the Farmers' Club of Washington county, Md., decided to make an excursion to Druid Hill Park, Baltimore. The day has not yet been chosen, but it will be in the early part of the month of September. It is believed that a thousand persons or more will go from Washington county. The Club has become a very popular organization and its members are counted by hundreds. The President told the writer of this that the people of Pennsylvania and Virginia were cordially invited to participate in this excursion. The fare for the round trip to those who obtain their tickets from the properly authorized committee will be but $2.00.—John Phillips, Esq. is the proper person to whom our citizens of town and vicinity will apply for tickets.

FRIGHTFUL CUT.—On the 24th inst. Mr. John Kugler, who resides about two miles West of town, whilst cutting wood let fall a heavy piece upon his axe. The axe flew up the bit of it striking and almost severing his nose, cutting the blood vessels into the bones of his face, from which a frightful hemorrhage ensued.—Dr. L. N. Snively tied the bleeding vessels and replaced the parts. At last accounts Mr. K. was doing well though somewhat prostrated from the loss of blood.

A STATEMENT OF THE BIBLE WORK IN WAYNESBORO'.—Rev. F. Dyson, Bible Agent, furnishes the following statement for publication:

No. of families in the place, 294; population, 1,341; No. of Church members, 637; No. in Sabbath Schools, 593; No. of families destitute of the Bible, 11; No. of families not in any Church, 21.

Reformed Church, $18.30—families that gave, 29; Lutheran Church, $8.55—families that gave, 18; Methodist Church, $10.00—families that gave, 14; Presbyterian Church, $6.30—families that gave, 12; German Brethren Church, $1.50—families that gave, 5. The Rev. J. Fohl lifted a public collection in the Methodist Church in the spring, amounting to $7.90, making the whole amount from Waynesboro' $52.75.

The Agent sold, while visiting, Bibles and Testaments amounting to $31.05. The whole number of families visited, up to this time, is about 4,500; of these more than 400 were without an entire copy of the Bible.

The sales of the Agents to this time amount to $1,125.12. These have all been sold at cost prices. The donations made by the Agents to this time amount to $220, more or less.

The Agents in their visitations have been kindly received and entertained by the families. Those destitute generally, have received Bibles with gratefulness. The cases of unwillingness to accept the word of God are very rare—scarcely any. This important work cannot but yield good fruit. The aim of the Christian Churches, in this county, fumble to this good work, is to place a copy of the Bible in every family; so that in the day of Judgment, these destitute persons cannot say, "You knew our destitute condition, and you cared not for us."

The Bible is at the foundation of all that is really and religiously good, in Church and State organizations.

SHERIFF'S SALES.—The Sheriff, S. F. Greenawald, advertises the following property, which will be offered in front of the Court House, in Chambersburg, on Friday, August 8, at 1 o'clock.

The property of Samuel Koontz, house and lot of ground, in Waynesboro'. Samuel K. Smith's house and lot in the same place.

Fifty acres of land in Montgomery twp., the property of Jacob Horst, administrator, &c.

A log house and lot in Pikesville, the property of George F. Embly.

The undivided half of a house and lot in Quincy township, the property of Jacob Meatz.

The Adams Hotel, in Greencastle. A farm of 189 acres with improvements in Montgomery twp., the property of Jacob Hawbecker.

A house and lot in Waynesboro', and other property. Taken in execution as the property of Levi Sanders.

The Fair Grounds, Chambersburg. Sixty-four acres and improvements, in Montgomery twp., the property of J. J. Filer and C. C. Kerling.

Six acres and improvements, in Antrim township, the property of Moses Anderson.

A house and lot in Greencastle, the property of Jacob L. Detrich.

H. & P. R. R.—The Harrisburg and Potomac Railroad must prove a grand success when taken into consideration that at least 500 tons of ore will be loaded and hauled away from the banks every day. This estimate has been made by parties who have the reputation of knowing whereof they speak. The subscribers to the stock in Penn and other townships complain of the slowness of the road getting in their direction, many of whom have paid down their money. These must remember that before a locomotive could possibly get there the lower end of it must be laid first and when completed it will facilitate the laying of the upper. There is little doubt that when the road is finished to Cleversburg, the gap between that place and Waynesboro' will not be long in filling up. Progression makes progression and this has never been more fully demonstrated than in railroads.—Five hundred tons of ore will make fully five freight trains daily, and we feel we are not too sanguine in saying that in a few years the people on the southern border of this county will be realizing a prosperity rarely enjoyed by any section of the State outside of the coal or lumber regions.—Neville Star.

FOR SALE.—One of the most desirable homesteads in Waynesboro' is now, we are authorized to say, for sale. We refer to the property of Mr. P. Geiser. Any person wanting a pleasant private residence with a couple acres of highly improved land, will do well to call on Mr. Geiser.

AN ACCIDENT.—A small son of Mrs. John W. Good, on the 23d inst., fell from the upper floor of Mr. James Cook's barn, near Mt. Hope, to the barn floor. It sustained a great shock, but fortunately no bones were broken.

A stack of wheat in the vicinity of Cavetown, Md., was struck by lightning on Saturday last and consumed. It contained about 400 bushels and was the property of Mr. Huyett. So says the Daily News.

There is a young lady in town who boasts of two beaux,—but they are clowns.

[COMMUNICATED.] Mr. Editor.—All agree that the rising generation should be educated. The means which are to be used to obtain the desired end are variously understood.—Some have an idea that any boy or girl who is 17 years old, and who has attended a public school 5 months each winter, and who can manage to get a certificate from the County Superintendent, is fit to teach a primary school. Others have an idea that a person who has finished up a course at college, is fit to "draw out" and furnish the mind. We think the first class have not sufficiently expanded their minds so that they are able to see how broad and deep is the extent of the work to be performed. While the second class are like the recently unfortunate aeronaut, or like an ignorant engineer on a railroad or steamboat, or like a doctor who knows nothing of the properties nor the quantity of medicine to be administered. The mind is a wonderfully complicated machinery; those who pretend to train it should study the science of the mind.—They also need skill in practice. The best and shortest way to acquire this is by daily practice under the criticism and instruction of an expert. This is what Normal Schools aim to do. Our advice to young people is that they first ascertain whether they are naturally adapted to teach; next take a thorough Normal course before they begin, and then the results in teaching will soon appear. This can only be brought about, however, by directors holding out the inducements. They must pay to first-class teachers from eight to ten hundred dollars a year. Until this reformation is brought about, our schools will, as a general thing, turn out only dwarfs. IMPROVEMENT.

SUDDEN DEATH.—At an early hour on Friday morning, says the Hagerstown Daily, our citizens were astounded by the report of the sudden death of Mr. Blackstone Lynch, for many years prominently engaged in the livery business in our town, and generally known and esteemed throughout the county. At an early hour crowds of sympathizing friends were in the vicinity of his boarding house anxious to hear the particulars and to tender their aid and sympathy. Until a jury was summoned by Coroner Wright, and the evidence heard, many rumors were prevalent and many suspicions indulged in: The jury, however, were satisfied that the cause of death was apoplexy, and so rendered their verdict. It is a singular circumstance that just one year from the funeral of his wife Mr. Lynch should be thus stricken down in so sudden a manner. He leaves two children, a son and a daughter, who have in the space of a year been rendered truly orphans. They have in their sorrow the sympathy of the entire community.

DEATH OF AN AGED LADY.—On Friday morning last, Mrs. Hager, relict of the late Jonathan Hager, Esq., died at the residence of S. D. Straub, Esq., her son-in-law, on South Potomac Street of this town, in the 78th year of her age.

Mrs. H. was a daughter of Jonas Hogmire, Esq., one of the first Surveyors of the Co., and a very prominent, wealthy and influential citizen in his early days, and was his last surviving child. With her death, the last link in the chain, connecting the present with the past in the case of this once influential family, has been removed, and thus it has been, thus it is, and thus it will be in the case of all our old families.—Herald.

BARN DESTROYED.—The barn of Mr. J. W. Crider, situate in Hamilton township, on the old Loudon road, was struck by lightning on Saturday afternoon, and entirely destroyed.—Spirit.

The President has granted a full and unconditional pardon to George M. Lout, of Hagerstown, Washington county, convicted on the 13th of May last, of the violation of the revenue laws in failing to stamp cigars, and sentenced to six months imprisonment and to pay a fine of $100.

CORAGEOUS FEMALE.—A young Woman Attacked by a Panther.—A correspondent at Lock Haven writes the following to the Pittsburg Commercial: On Thursday last a party of young women went out from Queen's Run on to the mountain just back of the settlement, gathering huckleberries. One of them, Jerusha Bryan, advanced a little farther into the woods than the others, when she was attacked by a huge panther. Her companions, hearing the brute scream, sought safety in flight, but Miss Bryan, finding escape impossible, determined to stand her ground, and seizing a huge pine knot gave her enemy battle. The contest was a close one for a few minutes, but human courage, judgment and coolness soon triumphed over brute strength, and the heroic woman soon had the satisfaction of laying the bloodthirsty monster dead at her feet. Her garments were torn into shreds, and her face and arms badly scratched, but she walked home with a firm step, the light of triumph in her eye, and was able to give a good account of herself. The dead panther was soon afterwards found by the people of Queen's Run, and proved on measurement to be six feet and ten inches long. Miss Bryan is the Hero (or Heroess) of the neighborhood, and she well deserves to be recorded whether an instance can be found on record of more cool, heroic bravery and wise discretion developed by any woman, even in the most heroic and perilous days of Pennsylvania.
