place a couple of months since to superintend his father's milling interests. Although he had not yet perhaps reached his eighteenth year he was manly and gentlemanly in his deportment, as much so as though he had attained a much riper age; and was universally esteemed by all with whom he was in any way associated. The fact of his having been thus light cream color. Mr. F. informs us that suddenly cut down in the full vigor and he obtained the seed through the Patent bloom of youth, has caused many a sad heart among his more intimate acquaintances and cast a gloom over our village. The grief-stricken parents, who were at the bedside during most of his illness, took their departure for Pittston with his remains vesterday morning.

P. S.-Since the above was put in type we have been requested by Mr. Patterson, through a friend, to return thanks to Dr I. N. Snively, the attending physician, and young men of the town for their kind attencions to his son during his illness.

THE ELECTION.-The election in our town on Thursday passed off quietly, a very light vote having been polled. At the time we put our paper to press (Wednesday afternoon) the votes had not been counted out, and we have for this reason been compelled to defer giving the result until next week. We understand 36 is the Republican majority on the State ticket. Mr. Mackey, the Republican candidate for Assembly was opposed by some of his party on local option grounds, which gave Mr. Welsh, his opponen, the unusu-

The melancholy days have come, The saddest of the year.

We would like to depart with October that the falling, faded leaves, might be strewed upon our fresh made grave, by the wandering winds which would sigh a sad farewell as they passed. The snow would come and lend its white covering to its nakedness, and silence might brood over it as our image faded from the memories of men.-Ex.

I visited and spent several days with the Seven Day Baptists at the far famed Snow Hill, near Quincy, where I was received and treated very cordially.

It is known to all who are acquainted with their history that they keep the last day of the week as their Sabbath, which they observe not only in refraining from secular business, but also in their diet.-I found at each of their meals on that day. that bread, coffee and spreads were only served to sustain nature, which I much admired, and consider worthy of imitation by all Christians. Many who profess christianity ignore the Fourth Commandment by feasting the body on that hallowed day, instead of having the inner man fed with the Bread of Life.
