

Two feet of snow is reported in the northern portion of the State.

The battle field of Bull Run, which was a farm when the famous battle was fought, is now a village with about three hundred inhabitants.

The Union Banking Company, of Philadelphia, which suspended during the panic, has resumed business, with its capital increased to $700,000.

On Friday night a week the barn of Nicholas Rupp, in York county, was destroyed by fire, five horses and eighteen head of cattle perishing in the flames.

The jury in the case of the negro Tolliver, charged with the murder of Annie Butler, at Falling Waters, having failed to agree, were discharged at Martinsburg on Wednesday last.

Ingersoll, another of the New York ring thieves, was convicted on Wednesday in Judge Davis' Court, and on Friday will be sent to keep company with Tweed.

Numerous offers have been tendered to the state or national authorities from all parts of the country to fight the Spanish. Five thousand negroes in Georgia met in council and wanted a hand in taking Cuba.

Stokes and Walworth are both to be removed from Sing Sing prison to Auburn. Both are in delicate health, and their removal will therefore not be immediate. Walworth, it is said suffers greatly from remorse.

The Cuban question has absorbed so much attention that the people appear for the time to have nearly lost sight of the financial panic. The situation, however, is regarded as more hopeful. There have been no more heavy failures and trade seems to be improving.

The mammoth steer owned by Mr. Tobias Seitz, near Newville, has reached the enormous weight of nearly two tons. Mr. Seitz has had the steer in his possession for several years, and has fed it upwards of seven hundred bushels of grain.

At Frederick, Md., on Saturday afternoon, John Filby, in a difficulty with John McCormack, struck the latter in the face, causing him to fall to the ground and receive such injuries as to produce death within an hour. Filby was committed to jail.

Tweed was finally sent to the penitentiary on Blackwell's Island on Saturday. In answer to the usual questions he described himself as "a statesman" and of "no religion." According to usage he had his head shaved, donned the "larceny jacket," was numbered 34, and confined in an ordinary cell.

Alexander Campbell Goss was re-arrested in Baltimore, last week on an indictment charging him with conspiracy to defraud certain insurance companies, and was finally released on $10,000 bail. Goss was married on the 3rd of November to Miss Clara A. Ardin, a daughter of Mrs. Udderzook by her first husband.

Financial affairs seem to be steadily improving in Philadelphia. The Ledger money article says money is plenty at six per cent; prime paper sells readily at twelve; the currency in the banks is increasing, and "money is accumulating in all the large cities." The panic seems to be gradually passing away.

Jay Cook & Co. have been forced into bankruptcy in Philadelphia, and Jas. Mason, Esq., has been appointed as the receiver. Creditors will now get their money through the complicated machinery of the law, and they must be content to take their pro rata share of whatever is left after the court fees and the lawyers are paid. Blessed are they who expect little for they shall not be disappointed.

A special despatch to THE AMERICAN from Washington conveys the happy intelligence that our difficulty with Spain has been settled. The people of the United States should be profoundly thankful that they have escaped a war, through the statesmanship, the moderation and the good sense that characterize the Republican Government of Spain. The terms of adjustment are substantially the same as previously reported, namely, the surrender of the Virginias and the American citizens who were captured on board of her, and the raising of our flag at Havana. No mention is made in our despatch of indemnity to the families of those who were murdered. Let us all rejoice that we are to have peace.

Walter Grayson, aged 65, a Creek Indian farmer and stock dealer, living near Parsons, Kansas, was robbed the night of the 21st ult., of over $30,000, mostly in gold and silver, by the white man. He did not tell where his money was concealed, until he had been hanged to a tree and taken down six or seven times, and the robbers had threatened to hang his wife. Several half-breeds and negroes were about the house, but were afraid to offer any resistance. Grayson is very ill from the effects of his maltreatment.

THE NEW CONSTITUTION.—The principal modifications proposed in the new Constitution are as follows:

Biennial instead of annual sessions of the Legislature—Senators to be elected for four years and Representatives of two. Every bill to be read on three different days before its passage; and no special legislation in cases "which have heretofore appeared objectionable" whatever that may mean. On matters as to which special legislation is permitted, bills must be advertised in the localities to be affected by their passage, thirty days before their introduction. Executors, trustees, &c., are prohibited from investing trust funds in the bonds or stocks of any private corporation.

The Governor's term of office, now three years, is increased to four. A Lieutenant-Governor is to be elected, who shall preside in the Senate, &c., as in other States. A Secretary of Internal Affairs is to be elected, instead of a Surveyor-General, whose office is abolished.

A Board of pardons is created, to consist of the Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Secretary of the Commonwealth, Attorney-General, and Secretary of Internal Affairs. The Governor is empowered to veto any item of an appropriation bill, and to approve the remainder of it. The number of supreme Court Judges, now five, is increased to seven, and their term, now fifteen years, is increased to twenty-one years.

A separate judicial district is provided for every forty thousand inhabitants. The day of the general election is changed from the second Tuesday in October to the first Monday in November; the local elections to be held on the third Tuesday of February. A residence of at least two months is required of each voter to entitle him to vote; foreigners must be citizens at least one month before the day of election; every ballot must be numbered and recorded on the list of voters, opposite the name of each elector, and all contested elections, including electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, are referred to the courts.

Taxation is required to be uniform upon the same class of subjects, and levied and collected under general laws. The State is to maintain an efficient system of public schools and make an annual appropriation of $1,000,000 for that purpose. A section in regard to railroads and canals authorizes any association or corporation to organize for the purpose of constructing lines between any points in the States, and regulates the freight charges. "No officer of any railroad shall furnish materials or supplies for such company. Free passes, except to officers and employes, are forbidden.

REAL ESTATE EXEMPTED FROM TAXATION.—On the twenty-third day of February, 1866, Governor Curtin signed an act entitled "An act to amend the revenue law of the Commonwealth." The 4th section of this act provides as follows, viz: SECTION 4. From and after the passage of this act real estate of the Commonwealth shall be EXEMPT from taxation for State purposes. Provided, That this section shall not be construed to relieve said real estate from the payment of any taxes due the Commonwealth at the date of the passage of this act.

Here we have the plain language of the act that real estate shall hereafter be EXEMPT from taxation. Remember the language—"EXEMPT," not repeal. Now look again at the several articles in the new Constitution, which read as follows: ARTICLE IX.—TAXATION AND FINANCE. SECTION 1. All taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects within the territorial limits of the authority levying the tax, and shall be levied and collected under general laws; but the General Assembly may, by general laws exempt from taxation public property used for public purposes, actual places of religious worship, places of burial not used or hired for corporate profit, and institutions of purely public charity.

SECTION 2. ALL LAWS EXEMPTING FROM TAXATION other than the property above enumerated SHALL BE VOID. Is this language not plain enough to restore the taxes on Real Estate? It was EXEMPTED from taxation in 1866, and now the new Constitution says all such laws SHALL BE VOID.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

MEETING OF CONGRESS.—The forty-third Congress commenced the long session Monday last. This will be the first Congress assembled under the new and increased apportionment in the House of Representatives, making the number of members 292. The administration will hold 193 seats, giving it a majority of 98. The opposition will be in a greater minority than in the last Congress, as it then numbered 111 members out of 243, and now there are but 97 democrats and liberals in a total of 292.

It is to be hoped that among the first matters attended to at the approaching session will be the passage of a bill allowing the free circulation of newspapers in counties they are printed, thus removing the unjust tax which the last Congress put upon the subscribers to county papers.

When a person feels disposed to overestimate his own importance, let him remember that mankind got along very well before his birth, and that in all probability, they will get along very well after his death.

Christmas is drawing nigh.

Local Items.

NOTICE TO DELINQUENTS.—As our accounts for subscription, advertising, etc. are numerous and widely scattered, and are difficult of collection under present circumstances, we make the following proposition to delinquents, viz: Upon all accounts settled in full, or in part, before the first day of January next, a reduction of TEN PER CENT. will be made. After that date the costs of collection will be added. Those at a distance making remittances will have the per centage placed to their credit.

Christmas, three weeks from to-day. NIGHT SCHOOL.—See business locals. See sale advertisement by Theodore Wiesner. WANTED.—A cord or two of good wood. Pork is selling at $8. Beef (prime) 10 cents by the quarter. "The cash man is looked for as the 'coming man.'"

A series of religious meetings are now in progress in the Lutheran Church of this place. Boys, learn a trade. A boy without a trade is worse off than a calf without a tail in fly time. Our "conscience fund" is now open for contributions from all who owe us for their paper.

Remember the worthy and deserving poor! Do not let them suffer for food, fuel or warm clothing. Examine your sleigh runners and look up the bells, for the snowflake season is drawing nearer and nearer.

SECOND ARRIVAL.—Messrs. Amberson, Benedict & Co. announce in this issue their second arrival of new goods. The man with the "big feet" made his appearance the other day, the first time for several months.

RELIGIOUS.—Rev. P. S. Davis, D. D., of Chambersburg, will preach in St. Paul's Chapel, on next Sunday, morning and evening, Dec. 7th. DEAD BEAT.—Geo. Cordell, of Washington county, Md., refuses to pay his subscription account at this office. We put rogue on our "black list."

LARGE HOGS.—Mr. John Bell of this place one day last week slaughtered two hogs which cleaned eight hundred and twenty-four pounds.

SOLD.—Chas. West, Assignee of David Gipe, on Saturday last sold a house and lot near this place for the sum of $1101. Purchaser, Mr. John Fourthman.

REVIVING.—Our merchants say business is reviving. Glad to hear it, and hope it will continue to do so until the good effects are felt in this direction. Remember, citizens, our five apparatus stands condemned—unfit for service. Therefore be unusually careful respecting fires, and also look to your insurance policies.

The sledding season has arrived and the public schools being closed this week the juveniles are enjoying a merry time. Plenty of bad colds will be the result, no doubt. PUBLIC MEETING.—A meeting will be held in this place on Tuesday evening the 9th inst. at which addresses will be delivered by J. McDowell Sharpe and John Stewart, Esqs. explanatory of the New Constitution.

THE WEATHER.—The weather during the first days of this week was of a most disagreeable character, alternating between rain, sleet and snow. On Tuesday morning the streets and public roads were too icy for safe traveling.

RUN OFF.—On Wednesday evening of last week a horse belonging to a young man, son of Mr. Philip Morgal, took fright in the Waynesboro' hotel yard and ran off. The runaway was captured not far from town, but the buggy was badly wrecked, one wheel smashed, the shafts broken, etc.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday morning the 25th ult. Daniel Benedict, Jr., whilst sawing wood with one of Metcalf's boring machines with circular saw attachment, had his right hand nearly sawed off. Drs. Burkholder and Snively dressed the wound and are doing every thing to save the hand. THANKSGIVING.—Thursday last, Thanksgiving Day, was very generally observed by our citizens by a session of business. Union services were held in Trinity Reformed Church in the morning. A discourse practical and very appropriate to the occasion was delivered by Rev. John Donahue of the M. E. Church. In the afternoon a goodly number of citizens, the ministers and town choirs included, repaired to Green Hill Cemetery for the purpose of dedicating the ground. We understand pertinent addresses were delivered and that the exercises were otherwise quite interesting.

The Phenological Journal commends itself as a magazine to all who appreciate the good, true and improving in literature. Its candid and liberality and clearness in the discussion of all topics, adapt it to all classes of readers. We welcome each number to our table. See the December edition, which contains: The Evangelical Alliance in America, with portraits of the Dean of Canterbury, Rev. Dr. Geo. Fisch, of Paris, Rev. Dr. Dörner, of Berlin, Rev. N. Sheshadri, of Bombay; The Face Factory, No. 2; Sketches from Real Life, No. 4; The Church of the United Brethren, with 12 portraits; a chapter on Lovers, very amusing; Money—Its Functions and Requirements, No. 2; J. M. Bandy, of New York Mail; "By the Neck until Dead;" Architecture; Lecturers and Lectures; Genesis of Geology, No. 2; Agricultural Hints, etc. Price, 30 cents. $3 a year, with excellent premiums. S. R. WELLS, 389 Broadway, N. Y.

CONTRADICTED.—We have been informed by District Attorney McGowan that the rumor, which has found its way into public print, that a chemical analysis of the contents of the stomach of Mrs. Dr. Hess, of Quincy, whose death is involved in mystery, has developed the presence of poison, is without foundation. Mr. McGowan asserts that when this statement was first published no analysis whatever had been made, and that it is wholly unreliable.—Repository.

Our reference to the matter was made upon the authority of a reliable gentleman who represented that he had obtained his information from "head quarters." About the same time news of the same import was despatched to the Baltimore American. The circumstances considered, we confess the affair is mysterious. If a wrong impression has thus unintentionally been made we cheerfully admit the above as a correction.

The French steamship Ville du Havre, which left New York for Havre on the 15th ult., collided with the Lochearn, a British vessel, in midocean on the 23d ult., and sunk in twelve minutes after she was struck. Two hundred and twenty-six passengers went down with the vessel among them several distinguished Professors of Theology, who had been attending the meeting of the Evangelical Alliance at New York. Judge Peckman, of the New York Court of Appeals, was among the lost. The Lochearn picked up most of the officers and crew of the Ville du Havre and eighty-seven of her passengers. The accounts of this most lamentable disaster thus far received are exceedingly brief and unsatisfactory.

ACCEPTED.—Rev. S. S. Miller, of Jefferson, Frederick Co., Md., has formally accepted the call extended to him some time since from the Reformed congregations of Boonsboro and Funkstown. If no opposition is offered by the Classis he will enter upon the discharge of his pastoral duties about the first of next January. Rev. Mr. Miller was expected to be married on Tuesday to a Miss Bisor, of Burkettsville, Md. This latter will be bad news to the single ladies of this charge.—Odd Fellow.

DECEASED.—On Tuesday night at 12 o'clock at his boarding house on W. Washington street, J. C. Zeller, Attorney for this county, departed this life after an illness of a considerable length of time. Deceased was one of our most popular young lawyers, genial and generous, and by a certain pleasantness of disposition, and peculiarity in conversational powers, had endeared himself to a large circle of friends. He leaves a wife and one child to mourn his early death.—Hag, Twice A Week.

DEATH OF A PROMINENT CITIZEN.—We were pained to learn on Wednesday that Mr. John Davis, of Cavetown, one of the prominent men of the county, died at his residence in that place on Tuesday night. The deceased had been a severe sufferer for some time past. He was Register of voters for that district and was much respected by a large circle of acquaintance.—Mail.

THE DAMSTED FARM.—This farm was sold on Monday last by the Assignees of Jacob Stouffer, Mr. Christian Wolff, of this place, becoming the purchaser. The place is situated about two miles North of Chambersburg and contains 217 acres. The price paid was $76.50 per acre.—Opinion.

The grand jury of Washington county, Md., have found an indictment against Mrs. Susan Hays as principal, and Mr. John McCauley as accessory in committing, procuring and causing abortion upon the body of Miss Louisa Ross, who, it will be remembered died in Hagersstown, at Mrs. Hays' house in August last.

Jas. M. Miller, week before last, in Philadelphia, pleaded guilty to the charge of robbing the mail at Fannettsburg, this county and was sentenced to three years imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary.

The sentence of Joseph Davis, convicted of the murder of Abram Lynn, has been postponed by the Governor of Maryland until the 11th inst. to give his counsel time to visit Indiana to secure the evidence of Shue.

The mansion farm of Mr. Philip Ptry, near Keedysville, Washington county, Md., containing 140 acres, has been sold to Mr. Daniel Wyand at $100 per acre.

"Yes" or "No." Mr. Editor.—The New Constitution is to be voted upon by the freemen of Pennsylvania this month. In the adoption or rejection of this instrument they are called upon to assume an immense responsibility. It behooves every man to scrutinize each section of the document, particularly as the convention which framed it saw fit in its wisdom (or rather unwisdom, as we think) to submit it as a whole. The adoption of any one section; it should be borne in mind, involves the adoption of the entire instrument. Is the instrument free from defects? We think not. Indeed, we believe it to be a medley of the most startling and radical defects. A careful examination will reveal this to every fair minded man in the Commonwealth. Two of its most earnest defenders with the pen and upon the rostrum (Col. Foreman and A. K. McClure) publicly proclaim that it contains much which they would have left out while there is much left out which they would prefer to have in. They are compelled to admit its demerits, but urge its adoption on the ground that the good it contains, as they allege, overbalances the bad. The fact is, the pill is so nauseous that they find it necessary in order to get the people to swallow it, to attempt the sugar-coating business. Would it not be a much better way to remand the document to its authors and compel them to remedy its defects or make provision for submitting it to the people to be voted upon by sections, so that they could reject all those provisions which strike a mortal blow at some of our most vital interests. It is not our purpose Mr. Editor, (we know you would not have the space to print them) to point out the many monstrosities of the document. Our purpose is simply to arouse the people to a careful examination of it in the short space allotted to them before the election. Especially, as yours is an agricultural region, would we call the attention of every farmer to the article on "Taxation and Finance" (Article 9), Sections 1 and 2. It is held by many able men that these sections repeal the law exempting real estate from State tax. Read and judge for yourselves. Then, again, the Legislature is prohibited from making appropriations for "charitable, educational, or benevolent purposes to any person or community." I cannot do better than give you the words of the venerable Eli K. Price upon this subject. Mr. Price is one of the purest and ablest lawyers in the State.—He says: "Are the people of our State prepared for such prohibition, or even the risk of it? If we accept them in our Constitution we can never hide them. We bind them on our forehead to be seen of all people. No appropriations shall be made for charitable, educational, or benevolent purposes. We will do this too while we are inviting all peoples and nations to come here and witness the evidences of our progress in civilization and refinement. All charity may decay, the institutions of learning languish, and benevolence be exhausted of resources; pestilence may sweep through the land, our cities be laid in ashes, yet the sovereignty of our Commonwealth, self-paralyzed by this Constitution, will be impotent to apply one dollar for the succor of her beneficent institutions or the relief of a widely-suffering humanity. The liberal deeds of other States may put her to shame, but in helpless sorrow she must endure her humiliation. We can be no longer proud of our good Commonwealth when she shall be so stripped of her sovereignty as to be disabled to do deeds of mercy and goodness." And so, Mr. Editor, we are obliged to leave this new Constitution without touching upon any more of its numerous defects. Our old Constitution is somewhat antiquated and needs amendment, but let the people, who have prospered under it, ponder well before they cast it aside for a new one such as is now attempted to be thrust down their throats by such pure patriots and disinterested reformers as the McClures, the Forneys, the Woodwards, the Blacks, the Buckalews, the Biglers, and others of the same ilk. Why, the very fact that these gentlemen, who have long since been retired by the people on account of their eccentricities in the political arena, advocate the new instrument, should lead the progressive people of our good old State to look upon it with suspicion. Adieu. J. RALPH HALDEMAN, Philadelphia, Nov. 22, 1873.

A SINGULAR CASE.—A correspondent of the Daily Millionian notes the following singular occurrences: On Monday of last week a little son of S. McLelland living near Conly, Montour county, aged about three years, received a slight cut on the end of his finger from a pair of scissors.—The end of the finger was cut only a little more than skin deep. The cut continued without intermission to drop blood in spite of all efforts to stop the bleeding, until the parents became alarmed and applied to a physician. The Doctor recommended an application that soon stopped the bleeding. On Thursday night the attention of the parent was attracted by the unnatural breathing of the child, and in the twinkling of an eye, almost, he was dead.

The particulars of a sad affair which occurred in Bedford County, on Thursday afternoon of last week, are thus given by the Bedford Inquirer: "Mr. Henry Gates, a gentleman of about seventy years of age, was stopping with his son, Martin Gates. During the day, the little children came to the conclusion that it would be proper to have chicken for supper for grampa, and requested him to shoot the chicken. The mother and a little boy about four years of age stood in the door to watch the proceedings. The old gentleman went around the barn, and espied a plump pullet perched on a stick on the barn floor. He took aim and fired—the chicken dropped, with its head severed from its body, but the fatal bullet, after passing through the barn door, struck the child, penetrating the brain, causing death in four minutes."

MARTINSBURG, West Va. is now lighted by gas.
