

Waynesboro' Village Record.

Thursday, January 29, 1874.

The funeral of Gov. Geary cost the State $4,306.41.

Mr. Alexander Riemann, of Baltimore, has been elected President of the Western Maryland Railroad.

John T. Rigney Superintendent of the Western Maryland Railroad, has been retired from that position.

Saure Kraut imported from Germany is sold at Altoona at 15 cents per quart.

The trial of Fred. Heidenblut of Philadelphia for the murder of Godfrey Kuhle, a baker, was concluded on Tuesday noon. The jury returned a verdict of murder in the first degree.

The Richmond Va. Enquirer says: "The North and South are together again, and forever. They are dependent upon each other. They are peopled by the same people. They have fought, made peace, and shaken hands."

Hon. John R. Lynch, colored, is next to the youngest man in the United States House of Representatives, having been born in 1847. He was a slave, without education, at Natchez, until the Union army entered that town. He is but twenty-six years old.

Rev. A. Jump, of the Rockville circuit, Baltimore conference, Methodist Episcopal Church, has been suspended for misconduct, and has delivered his parchments to Rev. Dr. Lanahan, presiding elder of the Washington district of that conference.

The marriage of the Duke of Edinburgh, Victoria's second son, to the Grand Duchess Maria, daughter of the Czar of Russia, took place at St. Petersburg Friday last. The event was doubly celebrated in England and in Russia, by the ringing of bells, the display of flags, and other tokens of rejoicing.

James F. Shunk, son of the late Governor Francis R. Shunk, died suddenly at the Bolton House, Harrisburg, on the 20th inst. He was yet a young man, not having attained his 38th year; a man of fair education, an extensive reader, and a writer of rare ability.

The physicians of Philadelphia, N. York and Boston are making an earnest effort to secure the bodies of the Siamese twins for autopsy. Between eight and ten thousand dollars have been raised, and a letter has been sent to ascertain upon what terms the families will part with the remains. Several days will elapse before an answer can be returned.

The case of the State vs. John M. Resley, for the murder of Loyd L. Clary, was taken up in the Circuit Court for Allegany county on Monday. Clary was the editor of the Cumberland News, and the publication of an article reflecting upon the official conduct of Resley's father, the Clerk of the court, was what led to the murder, Resley shooting him down in his office. Only four jurors were obtained on Monday, and one hundred and twenty-five takersmen were summoned to appear.

The sad effects of an uncontrollable temper are shown in the reported death of a young lady at West Jefferson, Ohio, on Sunday the 4th inst. She remonstrated with her brother for playing the violin, and went so far as to jerk the bow from his hand. The young man instantly seized the poker and struck her on the head, killing her almost instantly. The anguish and remorse that followed were of course, intense, and the remembrance of the deed will embitter his whole future life. They were the children of a widowed mother.

The Reading Eagle asserts that the managers of the Reading Railroad have determined to supply the places of the 5000 striking miners with laborers from Europe. Majority of the stockholders are English capitalists and they want to enter into such arrangements with laborers as will ensure them against the losses usually entailed by strikes. Men who will strike these times when they are already getting living wages are standing much in their own light.

The death of Dr. Livingstone in the wilds of Africa is again announced, this time with a particularity of statement as to the place and cause of death and the disposition of the body that would seem to warrant belief in the report. Dr. Livingstone's first visit to Africa took place in 1849, and most of his following life has been spent there. He started on his last expedition in 1858. Previous to that he had travelled over eleven thousand miles of African territory, much of which had never before been explored. The last expedition was perhaps still more extended. His death in this report proves true, will be greatly deplored by the scientific world, but was perhaps not unwelcome to Dr. Livingstone himself, as it was understood that he manifested a disposition to spend the remainder of his days in Africa.

A girl of Youngstown, Ohio, broke her arm the other night, while striving to kiss a young man at spelling school.

Lancaster has a violin 358 years old.

Pottstown has a "school boy" sixty years old.

—The election, Feb. 17.

—Read new advertisements.

—Who is the coming man for Burgess?

—Sunday last was the anniversary of the conversion of St. Paul.

—We are again enjoying a season of mild weather.

—We learn that several weddings will soon take place in this town and vicinity.

—Ash Wednesday falls this year on the 18th of February, and Easter Sunday on the 6th of April.

—School Directors are required by law to visit the schools under their charge once a month at least.

—The Court of Appeals has not yet rendered a decision in the case of the condemned murderer, Joseph Davis.

—The time of holding the Sunday School Convention of Franklin County has been changed from the 10th to the 24th of February.

—The 22nd of February this year falls on Sunday. Saturday will therefore be observed as Washington's Birthday.

—P. D. Gambrill, of Hagerstown, wants wheat, rye, oats and corn, for which he will pay the highest cash prices. See advertisement.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING.—The Democratic voters of Washington Township are requested to meet in Miller's Hall, on Saturday, January 31, at 3 o'clock, P. M., to nominate candidates for Township and Borough officers.

REPUBLICAN MEETING.—The Republicans of Washington Township will hold a meeting in this place on Saturday afternoon, 7th of February, for the purpose of nominating a ticket to be supported at the coming spring election.

UNION PRAYER MEETING.—This (Thursday) is the day appointed for prayer for colleges, schools and seminaries, and it will be observed generally over the land. A union meeting of the churches of town will be held in the Presbyterian church, this evening.

NEW FIRM.—It will be seen by reference to our advertising columns that Messrs. Miller & Bro. have leased the room recently occupied by Mr. C. Rutes, and will continue the Boot and Shoe making business.

Mr. Lewis Fox, of Hauver's District, has a turkey on his premises, which weighs 42 pounds live weight. The gobler came from Ohio.

—The veteran bachelor of the Mechanicstown Clarion, brother Need, is authority for the above.

Mr. Jacob Hoover of Willow Grove Mills, informs us that he has a tree in his garden the buds of which are nearly open. This of course must be ascribed to the extremely mild and spring-like weather of December. Well grounded fears may be entertained for the safety of the next season's fruit crop.

CONFERENCE MEETING.—The Conference of Lutheran ministers was convened in this place on Monday evening. The sessions, which are said to have been quite interesting, were brought to a close yesterday (Wednesday) evening. We have no particulars as to the action of the conference.

TAXES.—It will be seen by reference to our advertising columns that an abatement on all county taxes of 10 per cent. will be made at the office of the County Treasurer, if payment is made on or before the 3d of April next.

LARGE FUNERAL.—The first interment in the new Cemetery on the Leitersburg turnpike took place on Friday last. The remains of Miss Barbara Newcomer—a brief announcement of whose death we published last week—were escorted to the ground by a very large procession of friends and acquaintances. About 80 vehicles were in line of procession.

—Wm. Patterson continues to pay the highest cash price for wheat. When not at the mill can be seen at the Bowden House.

A MOST DISTRESSING EVENT.—On Tuesday morning about eleven o'clock, Mr. Charles West, on returning home after an absence of a few hours found his son Charles, aged about seventeen years, suspended from a rafter in his barn, a lifeless corpse. The alarm was given at once, and the neighbors hastened to the scene of the tragedy and assisted the almost frantic father to cut down his unfortunate boy. No cause can be assigned for the act, other than the fact that his appearance for some months past, indicated gradual decline in health, but not to such an extent as to cause him to complain of being sick. He had been troubled very much with bleeding from the nose, and on the night before his death, on returning from church with his sister, he had an unusually exhaustive hemorrhage which doubtless so depleted his brain of its natural stimuli as to deprive reason, and left him to do what under other circumstances he would have shuddered at. Young West was a lad of pure morals, an even disposition and a consistent member of M. E. Church. He commanded the esteem of all who knew him, was a faithful and obedient son, a kind and affectionate brother. The family have the most tender sympathy of the entire community.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mrs. Hannah McKean, wife of Mr. Robert McKean, died very suddenly about 8 o'clock on Wednesday evening of last week. She had been under medical treatment for Dropsy for the last twelve or eighteen months, but on the evening in question was about in her usual state of health. She ate her supper as usual. Her daughter, Miss Lizzie, returning from prayer meeting found her sitting in her chair sewing and singing. After a few minutes conversation she suddenly fell back in her chair and before friends or a physician could be summoned life was extinct. Mrs. McKean was a kind wife and affectionate mother. Her loss, under the circumstances has caused more than ordinary anguish in the little family circle, consisting of husband, son and daughter. Her remains on Saturday morning were followed by a large procession of friends and neighbors to Trinity Reformed burying ground for interment.

DECEASED.—Mr. Jerome Beaver, a former well known citizen of this place, expired at his residence in Marysville, Perry county, Pa., on Sunday morning last. Mr. B. had been in declining health for several months, but we did not learn the nature of his disease. His remains arrived here on Tuesday evening and on Wednesday were interred in the new Cemetery. Waynesboro' Lodge I. O. O. F., of which he was member escorted the funeral procession to the ground, where the customary formula of the order was gone through with in connection with the usual religious ceremonies. Mr. B. was a worthy citizen and leaves a widow with large family to deplore his loss.

THE LECTURE.—Although kindly favored with complimentary tickets circumstances prevented us from attending the Lecture which was delivered in Trinity Reformed Church on Tuesday evening, by Rev. Dr. Poulson, of Baltimore. But we learn the lecture was quite a success. The spacious edifice was well filled and the audience delighted with the entertainment. The attendance would doubtless have been increased but for the fact that the Lutheran Conference was in session at the same hour, and services also in the Presbyterian church.

RELIGIOUS MEETINGS.—The Pastor, Rev. R. F. McClean, commenced a series of interesting religious meetings at the Presbyterian Church in this place on Thursday evening last, which was continued morning and evening during the week, the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper being administered on Sunday morning. Meetings were also held and discourses delivered on Monday and Tuesday evenings of this week. The Pastor was assisted by Rev. D. K. Richardson and Rev. John Agnew of Greencastle.

The new Constitution materially changes the qualifications of voters. Many voters postpone paying their taxes to election day. This won't answer now. At the coming February elections, every voter must have resided in the district where he offers to vote at least two months immediately preceding the election. If 22 years of age or upwards, he must have within two years paid a state or county tax, which shall have been assessed at least two months, and paid at least one month before the election.

Reading of the right sort greets the one who opens The Illustrated Phrenological Journal. Every number is a gem. That for February, now at hand, contains sketches, with portraits, of Richard A. Proctor, the Astronomer; Ario O. Pardee, the Eastern Benefactor; The late Prof. Agassiz; Emilio Castelar, the Spanish Statesman; Ex-Marshal Bazaine; besides, Vice and Crime, their Causes and Cure; The Mound Builders, illustrated; The Indian Medicine-Man; "Shall my Boy Strike Back?" "Pet Delusions; Lotteries; Fire Proof Buildings; The Great Pyramid; Hoosac Tunnel; with Diagrams; What Pays the Best in Farming, etc. Price of the No., 30 cents, or $3.00 a year. S. R. Wells, Publisher, 389 Broadway, New York.

DEATH OF "LITTLE PECK."—The Fulton county papers contain the particulars of the death of John P. Peck, Esq., generally known as "Little Peck" from his exceedingly small stature, who died at the residence of Sheriff Morton, on last Thursday. The Republican remarks: "There is probably not one of our readers, be he aged, middle-aged or young, who has not seen or heard of the subject of this article. 'Little Peck,' the name by which he was generally known,—a name which if not euphonious was very appropriate—was born in Thompson township, this county, in the year 1815, and died on the 15th inst. 'Little Peck' was four feet high, and 36 inches around the breast, and physically a man, but his diminutive stature attracted all eyes.—Meticular and active, he could challenge the strongest and tallest, and in a moment lay them on their back. He was well known in all this section of country, and kindly known, for he never let the slurs upon his stature mar his temper, but let them pass by with a laugh. He held the position of County Auditor and was a candidate for Associate Judge before the Democratic nominating Convention that met in Harrisville a couple of years ago, but like Dan Rice, he hadn't votes enough. With many, we regret to see his quaint pigmian form removed from our midst. He was genial and kind-hearted, and demonstrated that a man is not reckoned by his stature." The Democrat further particularizes: "At the time of his death, he held a commission as Justice of the Peace and came to town on the 13th inst., to make settlement with the Commissioners of the unpaid taxes collected by him. Having done this he concluded to indulge a little in the 'ardent,' and while on his way home, on Wednesday, fell from his horse two or three times, sustaining injuries by the falls from which death is supposed to have resulted. On arriving at the home of Sheriff Morton, who accompanied him from town, he was laid in bed and the next morning was found to be dead. He considered himself somewhat of a musician and had taught classes of vocal music in many of the counties of this State, and in several of the States of the Union. More attended his musical entertainments to be amused than for the value of the instruction. His age is about fifty-nine years."

FAEMERS' GRANGE AT RINGGOLD.—A meeting was held in the school house at Ringgold, on Thursday evening last, which was organized by calling Mr. Lewis Garver to the chair, after which Mr. Oscar Good delivered an able address.—He was followed by Mr. Daniel Shockey, who also delivered a wonderful speech.—He proceeded to explain the object of the grange movement. He said the object was not to trample upon the laborer and the mechanic but to build up and advance the agricultural interests of the country, and in order to accomplish this it was necessary for the farmers to associate themselves into secret orders to carry out their designs. He further said that we have too many doctors, that they had to make heavy charges to live, and that the storekeeper was making 20 per cent, and turned his money twice a year, while the farmer could turn his but once. He also spoke of railroad companies and large corporations, that they were making all the money, etc.

I think the city of Pikesville ought to be proud of her eloquent speakers. They learned Ringgold a thing or two.

After Mr. Ben. Welty and Mr. Jacob Good delivered their speeches the meeting adjourned to meet on next Thursday evening.

The February number of Wood's Household Magazine is really a marvel of what can be furnished for only one dollar a year; considering the cost and the quality this is the cheapest magazine which comes to our table. Its articles have a chasteness about them which is not always found in periodical literature, which adapts it to fill a place now too largely occupied by cheap publications that are positively injurious to the young, without being exactly immoral.

We have not room to specify the articles which fill the pages before us—but they are many and excellent. The magazine contains three engravings—a pretty house design—also the New York Fashions (illustrated) prepared expressly for the Household by Mme. Demorest. The publisher announces that hereafter the magazine will always be illustrated.

Subscriptions may begin with any number. Only one Dollar a year, or with Chromo Yosemite, $1.50. Address Wood's Household Magazine, Newburgh, N. Y.

COMPULSORY EDUCATION.—The bill for the compulsory education of the children of Illinois has been passed by the House of Representatives. According to its provisions children between the ages of 9 and 14 must be sent to school for three months of the year, and six weeks of the schooling must be continuous. Poverty cannot be pleaded as an excuse for failing to comply with the law, as the books necessary will be supplied by the State, and clothes will be given to destitute children. Parents or guardians who neglect to obey the law will subject themselves to prosecution and to fines for thirteen weeks, rising from $1 to $5 for each week of such neglect.

We make the following extract from a published account of the Siamese Twins, who died on the 17th instant: The chief points of their lives is given as follows: Their mother bore 17 children, never giving birth to less than two. The twins were united at the anterior part of the band the size of the hand.—This band of flesh is about two inches broad and four inches thick. The whole mass is tough and capable of being considerably extended. One could whisper in the ear of one without the other hearing; while volatile salts applied to the nostrils of one had no effect on the other; and while pinching the arm of one excited no sensation in the other, still if you put stick a pin in the exact vertical centre of the connecting link both would flinch from the hurt.

The twins were seldom observed to converse with each other. After attracting a vast amount of attention among scientists and physiologists in the Old World, they married two sisters, and settled down near Salisbury, N. C., on a well stocked plantation. In addition they had at one period ample funds invested through their agent in New York.—During the war they continued to reside on their plantation and lived in the same quiet and harmony as ever, until some few years afterwards. Of course, no one ever thought of drafting them. The brothers probably never would have had any difficulty, but that their wives, though sisters, turned away their hearts, and children were the cause of this estrangement.

Up to the period that each had five children all prospered well enough, but one of them had a sixth, and this awake envy and jealousy to such a degree that the twin sisters, not being bound together like the twin brothers, would no longer live under the same roof. The brothers were, it seems, about fifty-four years of age, but one, we believe, the smaller and feebler of the two, looked it, it is said, ten years older than the other. They could turn either back to back, or face to face, but that is as far as the remarkable bond that united them permitted. It is almost certain that should either die the other could not survive even more than a few minutes, as there an artery as large as the femoral artery that connects them. A few years since they corresponded with some of the leading surgical operators in London as to the possibility of the umbilicus being cut, so that in case of the death of one the life of the other might be saved. At the request of the London surgeon they visited that city, and many experiments were tried to determine the safety of such an operation. Among other things a ligature was tied firmly for a few minutes around the connection between them, so as to prevent the circulation of blood through the artery. But it seemed as if each would expire if this was persisted in. The smaller of the two fainted away and lost all consciousness, and there were symptoms that the same effect would follow to the other, but the process could not be continued long enough without endangering the life of him who was the first to faint. Since the breaking out of the rebellion the twins both dressed in the Confederate gray, and both were members of the same church, having united with a small Baptist church in their neighborhood, of which they were considered very worthy members, though born Siamese.
