

—Prof. Allen, of razor powder fame, is dead.

—The present year is the centenary anniversary of the United Brethren church.

—Mrs. Jones, a colored woman, aged 104 years, died at Frogburg, Alleghany county, Md., last week.

—The Prince Frederick Charles of Prussia is to make a tour of the world next summer, and visit the United States, landing at San Francisco.

—A colored woman died on Chestnut Ridge, Baltimore county, Md., two or three weeks ago, who had reached the age of one hundred and seventeen years.

—The bill to revive, in part, the franking privilege, was defeated in the House of Representatives one day last week by the close vote of 129 yeas to 131 nays.

—Senator Cameron has thus far been foiled at every step in his effort to force through the Senate the entering wedge of a three million appropriation for the Centennial celebration at Philadelphia.

—The Lancaster and Reading papers are at present disputing as to which of those two cities has the oldest apple butter. Lancaster claims to have some boiled in 1820.

—Mr. Joseph Longworth, of Cincinnati, has made the munificent donation of fifty thousand dollars in Five-twenty United States bonds to the Art School of the Cincinnati University. This school has been in existence five years.

—The Empire mine, near Wilkesbarre, Pa., which has been burning for two months past, caved in extensively Monday, causing great consternation among the people living near, and families are moving from the dangerous proximity.

—There are nearly 50 women practicing medicine in New York and Brooklyn, most of them homopathically, and many of them have incomes of $2,000 and $3,000 while several reach $5,000. There are three medical colleges there, and a fourth is now building.

—In Baltimore city on Saturday night last, the breaking of a coal oil lamp in the dwelling of a Mr. Wm. Adams, resulted in the burning to death of a little son of Mr. Adams, aged three years, and the terrible burning of Mr. and Mrs. Adams.

—Governor Woodson, of Missouri, offers a reward of $2,000 apiece, dead or alive, for the men who robbed the passenger express and mail train on the Iron Mountain Railroad at Loch Hill. In addition to this, it is understood that the governor of Arkansas has offered $2,500 and the Post Office Department $5,000, making an aggregate of $9,500.

—Each cadet, educated at West Point, costs the government $8,000, and one who pretends to know, says that there is not a more corrupt and profligate set of young men turned out of any institution than those graduated at the two Government schools of Annapolis and West Point.

—Ann Eliza Young, the nineteenth wife of Brigham Young, the autocrat of Mormondom, is now in Boston. She escaped from her lord after a family rum-pus and is now in the North showing up the vain tricks of her husband. In an "interview" with a reporter she said that "he (Brigham) has $7,000,000 in the Bank of England, and his possessions in Utah embrace perhaps one third of all the property there. His monthly income is estimated at not less than $40,000.

—Ex-President Millard Fillmore died at his residence in Buffalo, N. Y. on Sunday night last. The dispatch says he was conscious up to the time of his death. His last words were—"the nourishment is palatable." His death was painless. He was in the 75th year of his age, having been born in Cayuga county, N. Y. January 7th, 1800.

—The death of the ex-President was announced in the United States Senate on Monday by Mr. Fenton, and that body immediately adjourned as a mark of respect. Mr. Fillmore's death was also announced in the House of Representatives, after the call for bills had been completed. Mr. Wood, Mr. Maynard, Mr. Cox and others delivered eulogies. A committee of seven members was appointed to attend Mr. Fillmore's funeral.

—Planigan, of Texas, was declared in the Senate that the use of intoxicating liquors led to the rebellion, and for fear of a repetition of the war he proposes that congress pass a national liquor law, prohibiting the manufacture, importation and sale of all intoxicating drinks, under that clause of the constitution which empowers congress to provide for the general welfare. The Hon. John Scott is said to take the same view of the constitutional aspects of the question.

—"Pink Eye," is the name given to the new horse disease which recently broke out in New York.

—New cucumbers are for sale at Boston at $1 each.

—The women's crusade in Chicago has been abandoned.

PHILIPS, DODGE & Co.—The case of this firm for alleged violations of the customs laws was frequently before the public some months ago. During the pending investigation of abuses by the customs house officials, the leading importers and business men of Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore, have had an opportunity of presenting their grievances. They all confirm the story of the high handed dealings of JAYNE (the informer) and his ilk.

William E. Dodge, of the firm of Phelps, Dodge & Co., made a long statement giving the history of the case in which they paid $270,000 as a compromise, and showing the manner in which the firm had been treated by Jayne and other Government officers. Mr. Dodge said it was not his intention to trouble the committee with his case, but this seemed to be now necessary after the extraordinary course of the special agent (Jayne), who had spoken to the committee concerning what he called duplicate and fraudulent invoices, injurious to him personally and to his firm. He had occupied the position of merchant for fifty years, but had not until lately been assailed and maltreated by officers of our Government, one of whom had made statements for the purpose of satisfying the committee that a great wrong had been committed by his firm.

Mr. Dodge said that after the case had been before the public some time they paid the money. The press, not understanding all the circumstances, made unfavorable comments. Rather than subject themselves to a suit for $1,000,000 they paid the $271,000 demanded. He said then, and now, that a great injustice had been done them. He mentioned to his attorney it appeared that Jayne could write or sign a letter, saying that instead of letting the matter go to court, where there might be a formal judgment for $1,000,000, the payment of $271,000, the actual value of all the goods, was not the amount of money they owe, but that the sum of $1,640, on $6,000 of under valuation, was all the Government was entitled to receive. The attorney took this paper to Jayne, and afterward reported that Jayne acted in an ugly manner regarding it. Mr. Dodge then showed the committee the working of the law, saying at the present time and without any agency on the part of his firm, an attempt was made to again parade their case before the public, as one of the most terrible that ever occurred under the customs service, and attempts were also made to show there was evidence beyond all question that there had been a premeditated fraud for a series of years.

—Mr. S. T. Brengle's stable in Frederick, Md., was destroyed by fire on February 27th, caused, it is supposed, by an incendiary. The celebrated stallion "Wade Hampton," aged ten years, and valued at $5,000, was burned to death, also a sorrel horse, valued at $2,500; a "jack" valued at $200, and a dog, together with a buggy, harness, saddles, hay, &c. Wade Hampton was very stylish, and perhaps one of the finest single foot rackers in the country; his record in Baltimore is 2.35, and considered very fast; his trotting record is 2.30. In a race at Philadelphia, directly after returning from a race in New York, he trotted over a very heavy track with fourteen ounces of lead to each foot, in 2.35. His owner was confident that in a year he would be worth $10,000. The sorrel horse, only five years old, had a record of 2.33. The total loss is said to be about $10,000, with no insurance.

—The bill exempting $100 of wages from attachment in the hands of employers, has passed both Houses of the Maryland Legislature, and been signed by the Governor. Both Houses have also passed the bill requiring barber shops to be closed on Sunday; the bill to empower the Frederick and Pennsylvania Line Railroad to lease its road and the bill appropriating $5,000 to the Washington county Confederate cemetery.

—The House has also passed the bill to empower the County Commissioners of Frederick county to subscribe $100,000 to the Frederick and Pennsylvania Air Line railroad. The local option bill was reported upon favorably, and made the order of the day for Tuesday last.

—The Kentucky Lunatic Asylum has a farm of three hundred acres and a vegetable garden of sixty acres. The entire work of cultivation is done by the patients. The cooking and housework are done by the female patients, who also make all their own clothing and the underclothing of the men. Dances, gymnastic exercises, lectures, and games keep the minds of the inmates from melancholy.

—The organ of the Republican party at the Capital of Michigan, shows that of the thirty-seven leading Republican newspapers in that State, twenty-nine are opposed to inflation, and takes the Inter-Ocean, the organ of the Administration in the Northwest, severely to task for advocating the policy of Mr. Logan and the frog in the fable.

—A colored debating club at South Bend, Ind., at their last meeting debated the question, "Who 'done' the most to liberate the slaves, Abraham Lincoln or Jeff Davis?" The Confederate President was awarded the palm, his partisans arguing that if it hadn't been for Jeff Davis Mr. Lincoln couldn't have issued any emancipation proclamation at all.

—A bill has been introduced into the Legislature requiring vocal music to be taught in the public schools of this Commonwealth.

—The wave on which many a poor fellow has been carried away, is the wave of a lace-edged cambric handkerchief.

A REMINDER.—As the first of April is fast approaching we would again remind those of our patrons who are in arrears for subscription, advertising, etc. that we have several hundred dollars of debts to pay at that time. We therefore appeal to this class to either call and settle their accounts, or, if not within bounds, to enclose us their check or a P. O. Order. A general compliance with this request would prove a great relief and we assure them to be highly appreciated. We have notified many subscribers by Postal card of the amount of their indebtedness and will expect a favorable response from each before the first.

We request a settlement of all accounts for sale bills and advertising contracted since the first of January, besides a few of longer standing.

—St. Patrick's day—Tuesday next.

—March will have five Sundays.

—See advertisement of our new Photographic Artist in another column.

—The days and nights will soon be equal.

—Beware of fire these stormy days and nights.

—There is death in an immoderate use of the cup.

—Get your cabbage seed ready. St. Patrick's day will soon be here.

—To take out an advertisement on the score of economy is worse than taking down your sign.

—Rev. L. A. Gotwald, of Chambersburg, has accepted a call to St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church of York, Pa.

DEAD BEATS.—Our list of "dead beats" will be ready for publication about the first of May. We will make and old sinner whose arrearages foot up $30.00 the "bell sheep."

—The liquor dealers of Baltimore city, Frederick, Cumberland and Hagerstown, received postal cards last week requesting them to desist from the sale of liquor.

COMING BACK.—Rev. A. M. Kester, a former Pastor of the M. E. Church in this place, purposes taking up his residence here with his family in the spring. Mrs. K. will open a Millinery and Fancy store.

THE GRAIN.—The weather during the past few days must have been rather damaging to the grain fields. The previous moist and mild weather started the growth of the tender plants to soon for such a "cold snap."

—Waynesboro, Pa. boasts of a haunted distillery, which is just the place where one would naturally look for spirits.—Clarion.

According to the above our brewery has been strangely metamorphosed into a distillery.

CONCERT.—An Old Folks' Concert will be given in the Odd Fellows' new Hall, on Thursday evening, the 26th inst., preparations for which have been going on for some time. The entertainment will no doubt prove novel and highly interesting and draw a large audience.

PUBLIC SALES.—A couple more fresh sales of personal property will be found in to-day's paper by John Stoner, Daniel Row and Sophia Fitz. Read their advertisements. One insertion of such sales through the columns of the Record—the circulation being very general—is of more value than two or three hundred posters.

BUELL FAMILY VOCALISTS.—These popular singers will give one of their pleasing entertainments for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. in the Presbyterian church, on Monday evening next, March 10th. The program will be entirely different from that recently given in the Methodist church. Tickets only 25 cents.

A few days ago a very handsome lady entered a dry-goods house in this place and inquired for a "bean." The polite clerk threw himself back and remarked that he was at her service. Yes, "but I want a buff not a green one," was the reply. The young man went on measuring goods immediately.

MARCH.—The first few days of March was so exceedingly mild (or lamb-like) as to induce the belief that the back-bone of winter was broken, but the last few days have effectually dispipated the fond delusion. The atmosphere has been frigid enough almost for mid-winter, with heavy and almost continuous gales of wind from the north-west. There is this consolation, however, that Old Sol is daily gaining strength and that the present chilling blasts must soon give place to sunnier skies in balmy breezes.

NEARLY SUFFOCATED.—Jacob Hoffhine and wife, residing near Quincy, came very near being suffocated one night last week. They had a coal stove in their sleeping room and, it seems, did not ventilate the room properly. In the morning Mr. Hoffhine was completely unconscious, but his wife had strength enough to get to a window and throw it up and thus saved both their lives.—Spirit.

CAMERON'S BIRTH-PLACE.—It is perhaps not generally known that this township is the birth-place of the Hon. Simon Cameron. He was born in the house now owned and occupied by Isaac Shockey, Esq., a couple miles east of town. Mr. Cameron, in company with Gen. James Burns, of this place, visited Mr. Shockey in 1863, just after Lee's retreat from Gettysburg. He stated that he was four years of age when his father removed to Harrisburg. Notwithstanding the tender age at which he left the place he professed to have retained some recollection of its surroundings, the stream, situation of the buildings, etc. His father, Chas. Cameron, was a tailor, and besides cultivating a small farm, carried on the tailoring business. Mr. Cameron, like many of our country's great men, was of an honest but humble parentage, and commenced life poor. If not now one of the State's most opulent citizens he is in public life one of its most influential.

PORTABLE CHICKEN COOP.—On Saturday last we examined a chicken coop, gotten up by our ingenious townsman, Mr. F. Geiser, which we regard as a useful and much needed improvement. This well known inventor—the originator of the finest grain separator in the country—has for years given particular attention to raising poultry, young chickens especially. He now offers to the public the fruits of his labors in this ingenious contrivance. It is in a measure self-feeding and self-watering, and is especially adapted to cleanliness, and to the comfort and health of fowls, affording both ground and wood floor, and is easily removed from one spot to another. It is also a complete protection from rats, cats, rain and storm, and when required can be used for trapping large chickens, and can be used even as a cat and rat trap. Mr. Geiser, who speaks from practical experience, claims that the proper seasons for brooding young chickens is in the winter and early spring months, that chickens so reared will be more healthy and more profitable. Thro' the means he has provided chickens can be hatched and raised equally, it not more successfully during these months, than in summer. All who engage in raising chickens should be provided with one or more of these coops. Call and examine for yourselves.

EARLY INFLUENCE.—There can be no greater blessing—says somebody—than to be born in the light and air of a cheerful, loving home. It not only ensures a happy childhood—if there be health and a good constitution—but it almost makes sure a virtuous and happy manhood, and a fresh young heart in old age. We think it every parent's duty to try to make their children's childhood full of love and of proper joyousness, and we never see children destitute of them through the poverty, faulty tempers, or wrong notions of their parents, without heart ache. Not that all the appliances which wealth can buy are necessary to the free and happy unfolding of childhood in body, mind or heart—quite otherwise. God be thanked; but children must at least have love inside the house, and fresh air and good play, and some good companionship outside—otherwise young life runs the greatest danger in the world of withering, or growing stunted, or sour, and wrong, or at least prematurely old, and turned inward on itself.

DEATH OF HON. ROBERT FOWLER.—Hagerstown Twice A Week says.—This gentleman who spent a considerable portion of his life in this town, died on Tuesday after an illness of some five or six weeks at Barnum's hotel, Baltimore. Mr. Fowler was so well known throughout the state, both privately and in various official capacities, that a recantipation here is unnecessary. He was in the 62d year of his age and leaves a wife, five sons and two daughters. His funeral took place on Thursday and was attended by the Legislature of the State in a body and hundreds of other persons. The remains were deposited in Loudoun Park Cemetery, the services being performed by Rev. Mr. Haines, formerly rector of the Episcopal church of this town, but at present of Catonsville, assisted by Rev. Fleming James, of St. Mark's church Baltimore.

The Legislature of Georgia has been memorialized by persons who represent that the songster of the South, the mocking bird, is in danger of extirpation on account of the number captured and sold. They ask that the capture and sale of young mocking birds be prohibited for a season to give the birds an opportunity to increase.

One of our exchanges has this: A Westmoreland county debating society has the following conundrum under discussion: "Whether a dirty woman with a sweet temper is to be preferred to a cleanly one with a sour temper?"

THE TEMPERANCE MOVEMENT.—The temperance reform movement is meeting with great success, especially throughout the West. The women appear to be doing what legislation has failed to do. Hardened old sinners, who could go to sleep under man's preaching, listen to the songs and prayers of the women, and give proof of their conversion by closing their saloons, and emptying their liquor in the streets. A summary of the temperance movement in Ohio made on Monday a week from sixty Ohio towns and villages shows in eleven towns liquor selling has been entirely stopped, and in over forty from five to twenty-six places in which liquors have been sold are closed, and that the work everywhere is going on vigorously. Brandenburg, the liquor dealer at Oxford, Ohio, who has a petition pending to enjoin the women from praying in front of his saloon, surrendered, poured out his liquor, and signed the pledge Saturday. Bells were rung and grand rejoicing ensued. Judge Barlow, of Springfield, has ordered the sheriff to close the saloons of the Lagonda and Murray hotels, as nuisances, until the proprietors give bonds not to sell spirituous liquors.—Ex.

Another of our exchanges, the Shenandoah (Va.) Valley, thus discants upon the same subject: "Among all the singular movements of the century, none, perhaps, affords more food for reflection than the bands of praying women, who have been organized in many of the North and Western States, and who hold prayermeetings in bar rooms or in front of saloons, and beseech the saloon-keepers to quit the sale of liquor. We have no faith in such spasmodic efforts, and even should they temporarily accomplish anything, it would not be lasting, and would be at the cost of injury to true, religious feeling. We would think that a more reasonable mode of accomplishing the results desired would be to secure the passage of more wholesome laws to regulate the traffic, and then appoint committees to see that these laws were strictly carried out to the very letter and intent." This might be made a continuing corrective of evil, whilst the crusaders will only amount to putting money into the pockets of adventurous organizers, who in reality care more for the money than the cause. Our observation has taught us that the great difficulty in the enforcement of laws is, that no one desires to take the responsibility of laying informations of infractions. And yet every good citizen should feel himself as much obligated to see that the violators of law are punished, as he is to obey the law.

An act, entitled an act to authorize and require the auditors to publish an annual statement of the receipts and expenditures of the road commissioners, supervisors, overseers of the poor and school directors of the several townships and boroughs of this Commonwealth, has passed a second reading in the lower house of the State legislature. FATAL SURGICAL OPERATION.—Last Thursday Dr. J. L. Adee, of Lancaster, assisted by some fifteen physicians, including Dr. A. H. Strickler, of this place, attempted to remove an ovarian tumor from a lady residing in Mercersburg, but unfortunately found that the tumor had grown fast not only to the walls of the abdomen but also to the intestines, and after removing about two buckets of fluid it was found impracticable to do anything further, and the wound was sewed up. The patient died the next morning. She was unmarried.

STRANGE.—The Martinsburg Va. Statesman records the following strange circumstance: "We learned while in Charlestown yesterday, that Mr. Holmes McGuire, a talented young lawyer of Berryville, Va., died under rather strange circumstances, on last Saturday morning. It seems that on Friday he went to the undertaker and ordered his coffin, and then went to see several of his friends, requesting them to act as pall-bearers, asserting that he would die on the following morning, and desired to be buried at 3 o'clock Sunday evening—all of which came to pass as he predicted."

The following is said to be a certain cure for the bite of a mad dog: "Mix one pound of common salt in a quart of water, and then bathe with and squeeze the wound with the same one hour, then bind a little more salt on the wound for 12 hours."

The author of this recipe was bitten six times by mad dogs, and always cured himself by the above mixture, and offered to suffer himself to be bitten by any mad dog in order to convince mankind that what he offered was a real truth, to which numbers could testify."

MY POEM. My teacher has to me assigned, A piece of poetry to write; And if my thoughts can be combined, I'll try and do it with all my might. To write a poem I've never tried; That is to read in public; So if I fail, I cannot pride Myself on being perfect. I've studied long, but can't decide, Just what to write about; But think the school which I attend Will do, without a doubt. Our school this year is very small, The smallest in the township; There are some who do not come at all, And so many now are absent. The absent ones we miss them yet, Their school-days here have fled; It seems so long since last we met, And some of them are dead. And we must leave; we too must go Before so very long, To seek our fortunes in the world, Amidst the busy throng. Soon school will close, and we must part, And that will give us pain; Then will arise within our hearts, When shall we meet again? And soon we, too, shall leave this place, Our names will then be forgotten; But oh! time never can efface Loved ones from my memory. FEBRUARY 19, 1874. E. G.
