

The first Pennsylvania Assembly met March 13th, 1683.

The borough of Cambria, in Cambria county has a woman, Mrs. Sheehan, aged 108 years.

The people of Baltimore by a majority of 5000 votes have decided against the improvement of Jones Falls.

A Washington correspondent of the American telegraphs that a compromise currency bill is in preparation, upon which the inflationists and contractionists will unite.

A ladies' Centennial Committee has been organized at Washington. Among those present at the meeting of organization were five great-granddaughters of signers of the Declaration of Independence.

Charles Rose, a young man convicted of perpetrating an outrage upon the person of Miss Sarah E. James, aged nineteen, at a picnic near Baltimore last summer, was sentenced by the court to imprisonment in the penitentiary for seventeen years.

Washington Rosley, superintendent of the Baltimore City street railway, died on Sunday last from glanders, which he contracted from a horse belonging to the railway company. Mr. Rosley's was the second death from glanders communicated from the same horse, Mr. Christian Hoover, an employee of the company, having died with the disease on the 2nd inst.

The President last week took the inflationists in Congress by surprise by returning the Finance bill to the Senate with his veto. He declines to sign any bill which looks towards an increase of paper currency. This bill in his belief, is a departure from the true principles of finance, and its approval would be a departure from principles expressed in every message sent to Congress by him on the subject. He recommends earnestly such legislation as will secure as speedily as practicable a return to specie payments, and refers to the pledges of the Government to make provisions at the earliest practicable moment for a redemption of United States notes in coin.

The flood in the Mississippi and its tributaries are increasing in magnitude and danger, and great injury has been inflicted by them. In Louisiana numerous breaks have occurred in the levees, and a large area of land has been inundated, destroying and rendering people homeless. President Grant has ordered rations of flour, meat, rice and beans to be issued to people in distress, and also supplies of clothing. Steamers are rescuing people from boats and rafts, and many people it is said, must either drown or starve to death. Extensive inundations are reported in Alabama, destroying crops and driving people from their homes. Subscriptions for the benefit of the sufferers are being taken up in a number of cities.

Terrible Suicide.—At Escaton, Pa. on Friday a week, Theodore Marone, a workman in the Lackawanna Iron and Coal Company's foundry, committed suicide by plunging into a scorching furnace, which at the time was at a white heat. His cries attracted the attention of one of the workmen, who, together with his companions, ran to the furnace and looked down, only to see Marone gyrating amid the liquid fire, and waving his hands and feet in the most intense agony. A long-handled shovel was lowered to him, but he was unconscious of its presence. One of the men stopped the blast, but human aid was of no avail to save the unfortunate man, and he was dragged up as quickly as possible, by means of a large hook, a charred, disfigured, and unrecognizable mass.

Encouraging.—The Department of Agriculture has very favorable information of the condition of the winter wheat crop throughout the country. In the South the crop is luxuriant, and in the Middle States the promise is good, especially in Pennsylvania, where nine-tenths of the counties make favorable returns. Three-fourths of the Ohio Valley report an average or favorable condition. Missouri and Kansas make even a better report. In California, it is estimated that the crop will be forty millions of bushels. This is glorious news.

A Spunky Drinker.—The Lewistown Sentinel says:

On Monday of court week a well-dressed gentleman, rather tipsy, being espied by Judge Bucher in the court room, was called before his Honor, and interrogated as to where he got his liquor; but he refused or was unable to answer, whereupon the Judge sent him to jail. After laying in limbo until Saturday, he was again brought before the court—this time perfectly sober—and again interrogated as to where he got the liquor. He replied that he could not tell without being guilty of a breach of confidence, and therefore must decline to do so.

"Well," said Judge Bucher, "you will have to decide between telling or going to jail for contempt of court."

Flicking up his hat the man there upon turned round, saying "Come on, Sheriff, I'll go to jail!"

The Modoc war cost this country $6,000,000.

Correspondence.

Pittsburg, April 20th, 1874.

Mr. Blair.—We have been thinking that perhaps you would again like to hear how the Temperance war is being waged in our city. The public mind is much agitated; everyone seems to be manifesting interest in one way or another, yet many are misled in their minds as to whether the Women's Crusade is the best possible means to alleviate this great evil; but unmindful of diversities of opinion there are more temperance meetings held every day and the number increases who are willing to enter saloons and bar-rooms with singing and prayer.

It is indeed a strange spectacle to witness in these modern days, a band of women threading their way from one drinking saloon to another in silence yet with an air of persistent earnestness.

Though they have met with many rebuffs, nothing seems to discourage them, neither inclement weather, abuse or scoffing and not unfrequently they are assailed by their own sex in language uncouth and uncomplimentary. Hitherto when not allowed to enter the public houses the sidewalk was made an altar of prayer, but the crowds of lawless rioters are becoming so great that the Mayor has issued an order against the sidewalk being blocked hereafter; so where admittance is not gained the Crusaders must pass on. Meetings of unusual interest were held in the Temperance Alliance rooms last week; large sums of money were offered as bail in case the women were arrested; it was thought there was much danger of this being done, liquor men are becoming indignant and claim the protection of the law.

Whilst one part of the multitude is longing for the hour when the law will be enforced against the fair crusaders, the other portion is crying "Let them fill the jails with our wives, mothers and sisters, and if it be God's work he will confound the nation by reaching out a hand as powerful to save as that which broke the yoke of bondage from our land."

If this excitement be of only a few weeks duration, there is one class in our cities which will have cause to regret the decline of interest and that is the news-boys who have found the papers most salable which contain the longest account of the crusade. Reporters are admitted to all the meetings and the ladies report of them that they are among their best friends. At a mass meeting held in the Temperance U. P. Church last Monday evening the liquor men gathered in force and attempted to take possession of the meeting, but the temperance men proved in number too strong for them, a squad of police were called in and order was soon restored. A stirring and exciting address was made by a W. H. Zeigler, formerly of your place.

We look anxiously for the Record each week, but too often it is a messenger of sad intelligence, for it pains us to read the death of familiar friends, and lately we read and re-read the announcement of Mr. P. Dock's death before we could realize the truth in our minds. We first thought of how severely the church will feel the stroke of one so eminently useful, in various ways, his presence which was punctually given, his prayers, his songs, his deep experience. Oh how much these will be missed! But then we thought of his little family and we grew more sad at heart than ever, for the loss the church sustains is no comparison to theirs; but it is a great thing to know he fell in the faith, and though his family have cause to feel broken and bruised and his church and community feel a void, it is a blessing for all to hold in remembrance, the memory of one whose life shed a benign influence. "Mark the perfect man and behold the upright, for the end of that man is peace."

Yours Respectfully, PITTSBURGER.

SCHUYLER COLFAX ON RESUMPTION.—A recent letter written by the ex-Vice President, Schuyler Colfax, is going the rounds of the Western papers proposing the redemption of Treasury notes in gold or interest-bearing bonds, at the option of the Government, said notes thus redeemed to remain in the Treasury unaccounted until used in the purchase of other bonds. This plan, of course does not contemplate the diminution of the volume of greenbacks. Mr. Colfax mentions the following reasons in support of his proposition, namely:

"First. It would end forever all the charges that the greenback in its promise to pay, while no fund at all is provided for its redemption is a lie.

"Second. It would reinstate the profuse of redemption in bonds, with which the greenback first started on its journey.

"Third. By the 'option' remaining with the Government whether to redeem in gold or in a gold-bearing bond all disastrous runs on the Treasury would be prevented; and the danger of immense amounts being presented for coin redemption would be, to a large degree, avoided.

"Fourth. The existence of the 'option,' with its controlling power to prevent runs on the Treasury vaults, would tend powerfully toward bringing about the desired result, without the great shock to business interests and the unsettlement of values, which has been so widely feared.

"Fifth. Even supposing the worst—that large quantities of greenbacks should be presented for redemption, and should be funded in bonds—the greenbacks would then be in the Treasury unaccounted as part of the surplus cash there, available for the purchase of other bonds, thereby equalizing the bonded debt, without contracting the volume of the currency."

CINCINNATI, April 27.—Charles Wagner, with the assistance of his wife, today forcibly ejected several lady crusaders from his premises. An immense crowd collected in front of his saloon, which was dispersed by the police, who also ordered the ladies to move on.

Wagner has been arrested for an assault on the crusade leader.

There is a man in Patterson, Moffin county, who prophesies eight more snow storms. His neighbors talk of hanging him.

Removed.—Joseph Anderson now occupies Dr. Strickler's room on Mechanic street as a tailor shop.

This week another rogue has been added to our black list of "dead beats." Paper refused with arrearages unpaid.—The list will be published next month.

Rev. Dr. Thomas Guard, of Baltimore will lecture in Chambersburg, Thursday evening, May 7th. Subject: "Nature and Revelation."

DECEASED.—Dr. Wm. Carl, druggist, died at the residence of his father in Greencastle, on Friday morning last, in the 48th year of his age.

The communication from a "Pittsburg" should have appeared last week, but from some cause did not reach us in time.

New Stock.—Mr. E. Eiden the past week has been receiving a stock of new boots, shoes, hats, caps and notions. Advertisement next week.

REMOVED.—James A. Fisher has removed his tailoring establishment from Dr. Strickler's room on Mechanic Street, to the Stoner house, next door to the Waynesboro' Hotel.

Some one who is weather-wise asserts that warm weather will commence with Ember Day, but we are without the means to inform our readers when that day occurs. Hope it is not far distant.

THE FRUIT.—Several persons who have quite recently inspected the peach buds inform us that they have so far sustained but little damage from frost, but the character of the weather at present is such as to place all kinds of fruit in great peril.

REAPERS.—Mr. H. X. Stoner is the authorized agent for the sale of the Buckeye Table-Rake Reaper in Washington and Quincy townships. It would be well for farmers to call on Mr. S. and examine this Reaper before making engagements elsewhere.

AN ACCIDENT.—On Sunday last Percy, a small boy, son of Mr. Daniel H. Garver of this vicinity, fell from the hay mow through an opening to the first floor, severely fracturing one of his arms. Dr. Snively was called and adjusted the broken bones.

Post Master Nevin has so far recovered from his protracted and severe illness from Asthma, as to be able to walk about his house. By the time the weather becomes settled it is thought he will be able to get out of doors. He has certainly had a trying time, housed for several months, most of which time he was confined to his chair day and night.

DECEASED.—We regret to announce the death of Jacob Sanders, son of Mrs. Aquilla Sanders of this place, which occurred a few days since at Coalburgh, Trumbull county, Ohio. He was about 35 years of age and leaves a wife and children. We have no particulars more than that he was under medical treatment at the time for sore eyes.

THE CENTURY.—We are in receipt of the first number of a monthly publication with the above title, issued at Gettysburg by "The Century Publishing Company," of which James McConaughy, Esq., son of Ex-Senator McConaughy, is editor. The Century is a twenty-four column paper, neatly executed mechanically, and edited with more than ordinary ability. Price per annum 40 cents.

SOMETHING NEW.—D. B. Russell & Son have a chemical preparation for sale for purifying kerosene oil. Every thirty days one teaspoonful is put in the lamp, which prevents explosion and the cracking of globes. The test was made in their establishment by lighting the wick and putting it to the oil in a lamp. The globe was then allowed to become as hot as it could be made and water was thrown against it without making any impression on it.

HANDSOME PRESENTS.—Rev. R. F. McClean, the esteemed Pastor of the Presbyterian church in this place, was recently, we understand, made the recipient of several presents from the ladies connected with the congregation. They comprised a fine coat and vest, and a handsome carpet and lamp for his study. The Rev. gentleman enjoys the confidence and esteem of his people generally, as such simple acts of kindness fully attest.

The State Medical Society will meet in Easton on the 13th of May.

Wet Season.—Comparatively speaking the winter months passed by with little snow or rain, but April so far has made ample amends for the deficiency. Since the first inst. we have enjoyed few days of sunshine. Cloudy skies and rainy weather have so far characterized the month. Saturday last was one of the most disagreeable April days of which we have any recollection. A cold rain storm prevailed all day long interspersed at intervals with slight sprinklings of hail or snow. A chilling air prevailed from the Northwest during Sunday, with a milder atmosphere and more sunshine on Monday, but at this writing, Tuesday morning, the indications are that another storm like that of Saturday it yet in store for us, the sky being darkly clouded, with strong currents prevailing from the Southeast. This state of the weather must have the effect to very materially retard farm operations.

P. S. As apprehended above, rain commenced falling about nine o'clock on Tuesday, the storm continuing at intervals during the day, and at this writing, Wednesday morning, the aspect is winter-like in the extreme, the house-tops being covered with snow to a depth of about three inches.

PERSONAL.—Rev. Zarnan, of Greencastle, a pioneer minister of the United Brethren Church, who weighs about 330 pounds, recently visited our sanctum and gave us an interesting account of his past itinerancy. His last field of operations, before returning to Greencastle, was a mountainous region in West Virginia, where he traveled and preached one year. The spinning wheel he informed us was in operation there about as it was in this section fifty or sixty years ago. He preached to congregations numbering as many as four hundred persons, but rarely ever saw any other than home-spun goods, and among the female portion no other head-gearing than the common sun-bonnet. He further stated that a carriage or buggy was almost unknown throughout his travels in that region. He thinks West Virginia, or that portion of it at least, is, in almost every respect, from fifty to one hundred years behind Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Among the places at which the Rev. gentleman stately preaches, he mentioned Shady Grove and Oak Hill, in this county, and Ringgold and Smithsburg in Washington county, Md.

THE DUNKERS.—A correspondent of the Harrisburg Telegraph makes the following statement in reference to a paragraph which we quoted in our last issue:—

"In regard to numbers, if the writer had said 100,000 instead of 25,000, would have been nearer the truth. In regard to remuneration when employed as missionaries is an error. The church only provides for the ministers' wants, and not for wages; also, for the wants of the poor lay members. Deny the doctrine of the trinity is an absurd falsehood; we claim to believe the whole truth the bible teaches us, without any exceptions, among which the doctrine of the trinity is one of the leading features, which we preach from the pulpit and also exhibit and put in practice in the administering of baptism, which is administered by immersion, imitating Christ in the name of the Father, and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost, one motion to each name. Therefore, as Father, Son and Holy Ghost constitute one God, so, therefore, immersion constitutes one or makes one baptism. Therefore by word and action, we show forth the doctrine of the trinity. Future punishment we believe in, and also preach the same that it lasts from eternity to eternity, that is forever. Is that not long enough? Our origin is not from Germantown, but from Christ and the Apostles."

The bill before the House of Representatives, declaring the true meaning of the liquor license laws of the State to be that licenses shall be granted to brewers and distillers to manufacture and sell spirituous and malt liquors in different counties of the State agreeably to the laws in force before the adoption of the local option law, was passed to its first reading on Wednesday of last week, after an all day's fight. Fifty temperance women and a large number from Harrisburg were present during the discussion.

Since the vote referred to above was taken the committee on Vice and Immorality reported a bill repealing the Local Option law, and it is thought the bill will pass the House. Of course the old license law, or one perhaps more stringent, would be substituted in its stead. This state of things would be decidedly preferable to the act in relation to brewers and distillers.

NEEDED IMPROVEMENTS.—Many of our pavements are not only sadly in want of repair, but some of our street crossings are in the same condition. The one nearly opposite our office can be classed among the number. This crossing is a private one and we understand an effort is now being made to put down a more creditable one by private subscriptions, which is certainly commendable. Next to cleanliness there is nothing more to be desired than good pavements and street crossings, particularly in the business part of a town.

Attorney General Syster of Hagerstown, Md. has been selected by the faculty of Mercersburg College to deliver the Annual Oration at the Commencement in July.

A Lancaster county man is said to have eaten 56 eggs on Easter Monday. A hog, if true.

A hundred years ago—says the Baltimore American—there were but four small newspapers in America; steam engines had not been imagined, and locomotives and steamboats, and railroads, and telegraphs, and postal cards, and friction matches, and revolvers, and percussion caps, and breech-loading guns, and stoves and furnaces, and gas for dwellings, and India rubber shoes, and Spaulding's glue, and sewing machines, and anthracite coal, and photographs, and chromo paintings, and the compound blow pipe, and free schools, and spring mattresses, and wood engraving, and Brussels carpets, and lever watches, and greenbacks, and cotton factories, in anything like the present meaning of these terms, were utterly unknown.

A hundred years ago the spinning wheel was in almost every family, and clothing was spun and woven, and made up in the household; and the printing press was a cumbersome machine worked by hand; and a nail, or a brick, or a knife, or a pair of shears or scissors, or a razor, or a pair of woven stockings, or an axe, or hoe, or a shovel, or a lock or key, or a plate of glass of any size, was not made in what is now the United States. Even in 1790, there were only 75 post offices in the country and the whole extent of post routes was less than 1900 miles. Cheap postage was unheard of, and had any one suggested the transmission of messages with lightning speed, he would have been thought utterly insane.—The microscope on one hand, and the telescope on the other, were in their infancy as instruments of science; and geology and chemistry were almost unknown. In a word, it is true that to the century past have been allotted more improvements in their bearing on the comfort and happiness of mankind, than to any other which has elapsed since the creation of the world.

RESOLUTIONS.—At the regularly stated meeting of Waynesboro' Lodge, No. 219, I. O. O. E., held in their Hall, April 21, 1874, the following resolutions were presented and unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God to remove by death our friend and brother, Peter Dock, therefore

Resolved, That we express our high appreciation of the moral worth and Christian character of our beloved brother; of his readiness to co-operate in every good work; of the humble, quiet and unobtrusive piety so constantly displayed by him.

Resolved, That as a Christian and Old Fellow, his intercourse with his brethren and citizens generally was ever most pleasant.

Resolved, That we rejoice in the grace of God, by which he was enabled to live a consistent Christian life, an earnest and faithful member of our order, beautifully exemplifying its noble principles in his walk and conversation.

Resolved, That we sincerely sympathize with the family in their bereavement, and affectionately and prayerfully commend them to that blessed Saviour who ever showed so much sympathy for the bereaved, and who has proclaimed himself "the God of the widow and the father of the fatherless."

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the family of our deceased brother, be entered on the Lodge Journal, and a copy be furnished the Record for publication.

The Phrenological Journal and Life Illustrated for May suit all classes of readers, so diversified is its reading matter. Beginning with an appreciative sketch of Charles Sumner—a portrait accompanying—the large pages are filled with other interesting subjects, viz: Conversations about Faces, or running analyses of several distinguished characters; Horse Physiology, with illustrations; Are Troubles Blessings in Disguise?—a southern lady's opinion of affairs down South; Charity, True and False—a practical hint for these times of scarcity; The Latin and Teutonic races—an elaborate learned article on the causes of modern Germanic Growth; A Visit to Pompeii—a pleasing recital of an incident of travel; How to Govern and Train Children—the mothers who read the Journal will be grateful for this; Yale Metaphysics—a sharp and logical consideration of Dr. Porter's strictures on Phrenology; A Real Gentleman—everybody should read it; Life in the Deep Sea—an elegant bit of composition; Sir Bartle Frere, the African Commissioner, etc., etc. Price, 30 cents; $3 a year. Address: S. R. WELLS, New York.

MERCERSBURG BANK.—The Mercersburg Bank is no longer a question of probability. The stockholders met on the 17th instant and perfected the necessary organization. George C. Steiger, William Boyd, Frederick C. Waidlich, Andrew Boyd, Frederick C. Waidlich, Joseph Winger and John Smith were unanimously elected directors. W. M. Marshall, Esq., formerly of Hagerstown, was elected Cashier.

DEAD.—Rev. Henry Slicer, of the M. E. Church, died in Baltimore on Thursday last, in the 74th year of his age. He was licensed to preach in 1821, and spent 53 years in the ministry.

In Lancaster county the supervisors sell their roads to the lowest bidder, to keep them in repair for the year, and it is said the plan works very satisfactorily.

Southern Floods.

SELMA, April 27.—The Alabama river is two feet above the high-water mark of July, 1872, and is still rising slowly. The water lacks two inches of being in the press room of the Daily Times building, which stands sixty feet above low water. The river lands south of Selma are submerged. There has been great damage to plantations and destruction of crops.—The oldest inhabitant never saw three overflows in six weeks.

SAVANNAH, April 27.—It is reported the lower Chatahoochee river is overflowing its entire length, and considerable damage is done.

NEW ORLEANS, April 27.—A resolution of a public meeting held in West Baton Rouge states that three hundred families in that parish have been rendered homeless by the inundation from the crevasse. Brashear City is overflowed. The railroad embankment there is the only thoroughfare.

LOUISVILLE, April 27.—The steamer Exporter left here yesterday afternoon with 75 tons of Government rations for the Louisiana sufferers.

BOSTON, April 27.—The contributions in Boston for the Louisiana sufferers now amount to $33,000.

Dr. A. Johnston, one of the most successful practitioners of his time, invented what is now called Johnston's Anodyne Liniment. The great success of this article in the cure of Bronchitis and all diseases of throat and lungs, will make the name of Johnston not less favorably, but more widely known, than that of Louis Napoleon.

The public are hereby assured, through the columns of the Record, that Parson's Purgative Pills contain no injurious principle, but that they may be administered to children and the most weak and shattered constitutions in small doses, with great certainty of success.
