

Waynesboro' Village Record.

Thursday, June 11, 1874.

Tobacco sellers of Carlisle have received orders to keep close doors on Sunday.

Paul Morphy has not played chess for ten years, nor even seen a chess board. He has taken an antipathy there to.

The bill to admit Colorado in the Union as a State was passed in the House of Representatives on Monday last by a majority of more than a hundred.

The work of the Contractionists has made a mark upon the business interests of the country that cannot easily be overlooked or ignored. In a single branch of business, the iron manufacture, 175,000 men have been thrown out of employment; out of 466 rolling mills 208 are idle, and out of about 700 furnaces 300 are to day standing still.

The village of Tampico, White-side county, Illinois, was demolished by a tornado on Saturday night. Two persons were killed and a number seriously injured. A thunder storm passed over a portion of the state of New York, which threw down a bridge, and sunk four canal boats at Troy, and capsized a boat on Lake Oneida, containing a fishing party. It is reported that twenty persons were drowned.

A remarkable report comes from Williamsport, Pa. where five members of the Fire Department have confessed to having been incendiaries for the past three years, during which time they have caused the destruction of a million dollars' worth of property. It seems strange that men could have continued constant practice of such a crime in a comparatively small town for such a space of time, and the motives which prompted them to their terrible work are no less mysterious.

Saturday, the 30th of May, was observed in all parts of the country in memory of the soldiers who fell during the late war. In New York and the neighboring cities the floral offerings, processions and other features of the occasion were upon a very grand scale, and witnessed by vast crowds. The decorating of the soldiers' graves was carried out with such a display of flowers and plants has probably never before been witnessed upon this memorial day.

If the House of Representatives on Saturday, the bill to provide for the payment of postage on printed matter and for other purposes, reported from the Committee on Postoffices and Post Roads, was passed. Under the provisions of this bill, weekly and daily newspapers addressed to subscribers of news agents, are to be sent through the mails at the rate of one cent per pound. The packages are to be weighed at the mailing office and a stamp affixed. Newspapers addressed to subscribers in the county in which they are published are to be carried free.

Governor Kellogg, of Louisiana, sent the following message on Monday to the Secretary of War: The Relief Committee reports that the suffering from the overflow remains unabated in Attala, Lafourche and Ouachita valleys, although there is some abatement on the banks of the Mississippi. The committee is issuing fully forty thousand rations daily. In some districts they are compelled to restrict the relief to women and children; even where work is not attainable for the able-bodied. If the General Government would order the issuance of twenty thousand daily rations more than the first appropriation it would avert much suffering.

Chief Justice Waite, sitting in the Circuit Court at Richmond, on Friday, declared the amendment to the Bankrupt bill, passed in 1873, to be unconstitutional and consequently null and void. The petitioner for the benefit of the Bankrupt laws was Mr. Daniel Dechert, formerly editor of the Hagerstown Mail. He was indebted to several gentlemen in Hagerstown and Chambersburg, upon contracts entered into before his removal to Virginia, and before the new Constitution of that State, providing a homestead exemption of $2,000 had been adopted. The intent of the act of 1873 was to give petitioners for the benefit of the Bankrupt law an opportunity to plead this homestead reservation in bar of debts contracted before the Constitution of 1869, and the exemption laws passed in pursuance thereof, had gone into effect. Judge Waite held the act of 1873 to be void, and decided the Hagerstown judgments (afterwards recorded in Virginia) to be liens on the bankrupt's estate.

A HARD CASE.—General O. O. Howard was compelled to spend over $5,000 in the recent investigation in order to vindicate his good character from malicious charges in regard to the conduct of the Freedman's Bureau. No better evidence is needed of his integrity than the fact that he is now compelled to sell his house and furniture, his only property, to pay the expenses incurred in the investigation. His enemies have the unenviable gratification of knowing that, if they have not been able to blacken the character of this gallant one-armed hero, they have at least reduced him to poverty.

Captious and refreshing rains yesterday.

AN HOUR OF TERROR.—There arrived in the city Friday morning over the Grand Trunk Railway a man named Patrick McArthur, who met with a thrilling adventure about six miles east of the junction Thursday night. He is a laboring man, and having no money, and failing to get a chance to work his passage down from Port Huron on a boat he started to walk down on the railroad track. While crossing the tracks where a switch leads down alongside the main track he got his foot caught fast in a 'frog' and his efforts to extricate it were of no avail. In fact, the boot was wedged in the 'frog' so closely that the man's toes were severely pinched. He pulled this way and that, wrenched and twisted, but the 'frog' held the foot like a vise. At length he could hardly move his leg for the pain, and he found that he must either be run over by the next passing train or make some other understanding his situation. After the man had been a prisoner for upward of an hour he heard the whistle of a down freight train. He had a match box in his pocket, papers in his bundle, and the idea came to him to signal the train. Tearing the paper off his bundle and getting at a number of letters, he rolled them into a heap, and for fear that the flame would die out too suddenly he added two flannel shirts from the bundle. The bundle was then made fast to the end of his walking stick, matches produced, and he waited until the head light of the locomotive should appear up the track. It finally greeted his vision, looking like a bright white star, as it glided afar up the track. The rumble of the train grew louder, the star grew larger and brighter. He struck his match. The flame blazed up brightly, but as he moved it toward the bundle a little gust of wind blew it out. Was there time yet? Up the track he could hear the thunder of a hundred heavy wheels, and the great light of the locomotive glared at him like the fiery eye of some wild beast. Another match, an instant of fear and doubt, and then the paper blazed up and curled over and around the bundle and swayed right and left with the wind. He waved the signal of fire back and forth, and just when he was ready to believe that death under the wheels was certain he heard the whistle for brakes. He could hear the wheels grinding and groaning, the hiss of steam as the engineer threw back his lever, and then the heavy train came to a stop with the great light, shifting down upon him, paling his dying signal. He was saved, but the engine had only thirty feet more to go to crush him. The fireman came forward, got a crowbar and released him, and he was taken back to the caboose.—Detroit Free Press.

HORRIBLE TRAGEDY.—Mrs. Michael Devine, who lives with her husband and three children at No. 35 North Eighth street, Brooklyn, N. Y., last Tuesday morning, shortly after rising, came behind her husband and struck him a violent blow on the head with a cooper's adze. He rushed to the station-house and had his wound dressed. Officers immediately started for the house, and on arriving there discovered that the woman had murdered her three children, Maggie, James and Timothy, aged respectively 7, 4 and 2 years. It appears that after her husband left the house she seized a large flat iron and beat the children's brains out with it. On being asked why she had murdered her children, she said that she was going to heaven and wanted her children to go before her. Devine's skull is fractured, and his injuries will probably prove fatal. He has been on a strike for a week past, and thinks that led to his wife's derangement. It has been ascertained that Mrs. Devine was about a year ago an inmate of the Kings county lunatic asylum, and was thought to have entirely recovered. She is only twenty-six years of age.

In taring down a famous gambling house in San Francisco, a short time since, it was found that under the floor and through the walls a system of wires and eyelet holes were arranged, by which information of the state of the hand of an opponent could be conveyed to the opposite party. Thus managers of the house could always chat and win. Such devices are common, and yet fools will go in and be swindled without hesitation.

FOUND WANTING.—On Monday, May 25th, ninety-nine applicants for cadetship at West Point, put in an appearance there for examination. Two of the ninety-nine failed physically after a most rigid examination by three skillful surgeons. This was quite a creditable physical average, but the intellectual one was not so gratifying. Out of the 97 examinees as to educational fitness 32 failed to come to the standard required for admission, being almost one-third.

SENTENCED.—John Tolliver, convicted of the murder of Annie Butler, of Berkeley county, W. Va., on the 6th day of October last, was sentenced on Monday last, the 1st inst., to be hanged on Friday July 31st next ensuing, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 2 p. m., at some convenient place to be appointed by the sheriff of said county. SPEAKING.—The spirit of enterprise in the paving line, referred to in our last issue, we are gratified to state is spreading. Since our last issue Mr. James P. Wolf has relaid his pavement, and Mr. Daniel Mickle, sen., not wishing to be behind his enterprising neighbor, is also putting down a new one. Brick are cheap and plenty. Who will be the next?

APOLOGY.—Last week we were compelled to "cut" about seventy-five of our subscribers. Owing to the extremely warm weather our roller refused to do its work, and after experimenting with it for a half day we were compelled to throw that number aside to be used as wrapping paper. To those who failed to receive the paper we offer this apology and promise them that we will guard against like occurrences in the future.

SCHOOL EXAMINATIONS.—The examination of the public schools in this place was commenced last week and will close to-day or to-morrow. We were not present on either occasion owing to business engagements, but understand the examinations proved highly creditable to pupils, teachers, and the Principal, Prof. Benz. If some one who witnessed the examinations will furnish us a satisfactory account of them we will cheerfully give it a place in our next issue.

Farmers and "Horse Men" are continually inquiring what we know of the utility of Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders, and in reply, we would say through the columns of the Record that we have heard from hundreds who have used them with gratifying results; that is also our experience.

Last week Gardner's steam saw mill, located about six miles west of Hancock, Washington county, Md., was destroyed by fire, the work of an incendiary; loss $19,000.

FRIGHTFUL ACCIDENT.—One of the most shocking accidents that we have ever been called upon to chronicle happened on Monday evening last on the Western Maryland Railroad at its northern entrance into this town. A pretty and interesting little girl, aged between eleven and twelve years, named Florence Keshner, whose parents reside on the Green-castle road near where the above named railroad crosses it, in the northern suburbs of the town, a few moments before the freight train going East was expected, placed a couple of pins one upon the other upon one of the rails in order that they might be flattened into what the little innocent termed a pair of scissors. It seems that occasionally at this point of the road the locomotive is detached from the cars for some purpose or other and it was the case on Monday evening. When the cars are detached, the locomotive, of course, runs ahead. The child, watching the moving engine and not thinking of anything being in its rear, rushed out to the track to get her pins, when, just as she stooped, a car came down upon her severing both of her legs from the body above the knees, leaving them upon the track, dragging her fully one hundred yards and finally dropping her insensible form into a cattle guard, from which it was shortly after lifted and carried to her home. The best surgical assistance was promptly summoned, but the injuries were found to be so extensive as to preclude any possibility of recovery, and they were, fortunately, so great as to have paralyzed her beyond the sense of pain. She lingered on until yesterday morning perfectly conscious, however, when she died at about ten o'clock.—Hagerstown Twice-a-Week.

TRADESMAN'S BUREAU.—The Agent for the Cumberland Valley Tradesman's Bureau is now canvassing our town.—This enterprise of Messrs. Allen Brock & Co. of Philadelphia who are establishing a Commercial Agency and Collecting Bureau should interest business men of all classes. The Public Opinion says:—"The agency affords to the merchants and business men generally through the attorneys, appointed through the United States, a speedy and reliable system of collecting accounts long over due and often considered by creditors worthless. In connection with the above, the company issue reports to members showing the names and post office address of parties from whom demands are uncollectable, thus preventing members from extending credit to customers who have been closed out of one business house, and who go to another. Members are furnished with blanks upon which to make up their past due accounts and place them in the hands of the several attorneys for collection."

THE HAIL STORM.—The hail storm in the neighborhood of the Marsh, noticed in our last issue was more destructive to the crops than what was first reported. In addition to those already mentioned, the crops of the following persons were either entirely destroyed or very considerably damaged: Jacob Stine, (tenant on Daniel M. Baker's farm) Hillery Gosser, (tenant on Christian Beaver's farm) Samuel Martin, Abram Strite, Henry Miller, George Unger, Joseph Shank, Henry Schriver.—The latter suffered the loss of about eighty window lights. We understand very considerable damage was done to the grass, corn and fruit. Mr. John Harbaugh, who it seems was also in the track of the storm had to re-plant one field of corn. Several of the parties above mentioned were new beginners, upon whom the loss will fall heavily.

At a meeting of the managers of the Franklin County Bible Society, held June 1st, 1874, the following was adopted: In view of the fact, that the Lord has lately called to himself the President of this Society, Rev. B. S. Schneek, D. D. therefore Resolved, That we record our sense of the great loss we have sustained by his removal. Resolved, That in our brother, Dr. Schneek, our Society recognized a most efficient worker in the cause which it seeks to advance; a most admirable and competent officer; and also, a christian in whose life and character were beautifully illustrated the great principles of our holy religion. Resolved, That we tender to the afflicted widow and family the assurance of our sympathy in this day of their great trial.

REPUBLICAN TICKET.—The Republican County Convention at Chambersburg, on Tuesday, nominated the following ticket: Assembly, Hastings Gehr, Dr. Critzman and Samuel Garver; Sheriff, Thos. McAfee; District Attorney, W. F. Patton, County Commissioner, Dr. Flickinger; Director of the Poor, David Detrich; Auditor, George J. Balsley.

For Congress the Convention instructed in favor of Col. George B. Weistling, and for Col. Theo. McGowen for State Senator.

The law in this State makes it a penalty of fifty dollars for any one to fish upon premises where notices are published in the papers forbidding it.

LITERARY CURIOSITIES.—A few days since we dropped into the office of Dr. Benj. Frantz in this place where we saw two German Medical works of very ancient date. One is three hundred and forty-two years old, having been printed in 1532, forty years after the discovery of America by Columbus; the other is two hundred and fifty-five years old, having been printed in 1619, twenty-one years previous to the landing of the Pilgrims in Massachusetts. The printing is plain, paper strong and binding still substantial.—The state of preservation in which they are found is surprising. The works seem to be complete, embracing all branches of medical science as far as discovery went at those very remote periods. The paper is much heavier than the quality now used and of a rather bluish cast. One of the books contain about fifteen or sixteen hundred pages. We give below the original and translated titles of both: "Speigel der Artzney, vor zeltzen zu nutzen und troet den Leyegemacht, durch Laurentium Friesen, aber oft un-gelichtet durch denselben Laurentium yetz-und durch denselben Laurentium yetz-und gebessert und in Seinem ersten glantz gestelt. Hiemit sollen widerufft tnd falsch declarirt sein alle exemplar ditz buchels vor dissem truck angangen sein. M.D.LXXII. Mirror of Materia Medica for the use and comfort of the suffering sick; by Laurentius Friesen. The errors through the carelessness of the printers of former editions are corrected by the author, and the work again restored to its pristine clearness. Hereby shall be recalled and declared counterfeit all copies of this book previously published. M.DCCXXII.—1532. The older book contains portraits of principal physicians and medical authors of ancient times, as follows: Macheon, Podalirius, Hippocrates, Dioscoridan, Herophilus, Erasistratus, Asclepias, Theophrastus, Pliny, Theophrastus, Dioscorides, Grotius, Soran, Antonius, Nicander, Orribasius, St. Luke, Galad, Paul, Serapion, Cosm., Damian, Avicenna, Rases.

Beneben einem Dictionario der unverstandlichen worter weit ungleichem vollkommern Register aller Glieder, Krankheiten, Arzenien, Krauten, Wurzel, mineralien, &c. Gedruct zu Frankfort an dem Rhin Hartmanno Palthenio im Jahr M.DCC.LX.

A new medical book wherein is contained a description of the diseases affecting nearly all the different members and parts of the human body, from the head to the soles of the feet, and the remedies by which the same by the help of God with the means that He has provided can in various ways be relieved and cured. Divided into eight books or parts. Originally by the right Honorable Lord Christopher Wirsing. Compiled with especial care from the most celebrated authors of modern as well as ancient medical works, and more especially from the united experience of the learned brought into their conference and discussions in Royal Assembly. The present edition is revised and freed from many errors in respect to doses and weights as well as inaccuracies which inadvertently crept into the text and improved with useful marginal notes by the Right Honorable and Learned Lord Peter Offenbach Doctor of Medicine and highly esteemed Physician of the city of Frankfurt. Besides a dictionary of technical terms as well as a complete index of all parts of the body—diseases, prescriptions, herbs, roots, minerals, &c.

Printed at Frankfurt on the Main by Hartmann Palthenio in the year of our Lord one thousand six hundred and nineteen.

ANOTHER STORM.—Another hail storm passed over the country Northeast of our town on Monday evening last. We understand the wheat crop of Mr. Christian Shockey, near Hopewell Mills, was considerably damaged by the hail. Window lights were broken at Tenstown, at Bear's Factory and in other localities in range of the storm.

At a meeting of the managers of the Franklin County Bible Society held June 1st 1874 the following officers were elected for the present year: President Jacob Hoke; Vice President J. A. Crawford; Secretary F. Dyson; Treasurer James B. Gillan; Agent F. Dyson; Assistant agent J. Fohl.

GAME OUT OF SEASON.—One day last week John Kemple shot a wild turkey hen in Hamilton township. He was prosecuted before Esquire Reisher for violation of the game law. The penalty for shooting a wild turkey out of season is $10. The hen was supposed to be hatching.—Spirit.

Woodashes sprinkled upon currant bushes for three mornings in succession is said to be an excellent remedy for the currant worms.

A bill fixing the pay of the county Commissioners at $2 per day, was passed by the legislature.

OUR BUSINESS HOURS.—It has long since been the custom of our business men in Waynesboro' to prolong their day's labor by confining themselves to their store rooms late, late at night. This is yet the rule, and we cry aloud against it. However great the ambition for the mighty dollar, we deem it improper for men to shorten their days by close confinement to store rooms. This system so practiced in Waynesboro', we wish would be brought to a close. Often we have passed the stores long after nightfall and pitied the poor clerks as we saw them, with countenances expressive of weariness of a long day's work. Yes, we may well say a long day's work, when we see them work seventeen or eighteen hours out of every twenty-four, giving from six to eight hours for recreation and sleep. Is this the medicine you use for health and long life? Surely then you should value your life. We know there is a class of men who loaf and lounge about the streets and shops until bedtime, and then attend to purchasing what they want, keeping the storekeepers from a good night's rest, and depriving them from attending to duties outside of the store room. How much better would it be for those people to be at home with their families, and let others have a little time to look around too. We hope some one will make a move (as we believe it was suggested) to close the stores during these warm summer months at eight o'clock. It will not take long to get the people in the way of attending to their business during decent business hours. AN OBSERVER.

BUILDING ASSOCIATIONS.—The building association bill which passed the last Legislature, and has received the signature of the Governor, gives the privilege to loan money on any security the association may think desirable. Not so with the old law, which prohibits the loaning of money except upon real estate security. The new bill contains the following clause: Clause 1. They shall have the power and franchise of loaning or advancing to the stockholders thereof the moneys accumulated from time to time, and the power and rights to secure the repayment of such money, and the performance of the other conditions upon which the loans are to be made by bond and mortgage, or other security, as well as the power and rights to purchase or erect houses, and to sell, convey, lease or mortgage the same at their pleasure, to their stockholders, or others, for the benefit of their stockholders, in such manner; also, that the premiums taken by the said associations for the preference or priority of such loans, shall not be deemed usurious, and so, also, in case of non-payment of installments or interest by borrowing stockholders for six months, payment of principal premium and interest without deducting the premium paid or interest thereon, may be enforced by proceeding on their securities according to law.

Another feature in the bill is that it allows new associations to have a capital of $1,000,000, and allows the association to place the par value of their shares at a sum not exceeding $500.

ARMY REDUCTION.—A bill reducing our army from 35,000 to 25,000 men has passed the House of Representatives at Washington and will likely pass the Senate.—The regular army officers oppose the reduction, but the people generally will approve, if it leaves the army still large enough to keep hostile Indians in check, as that is the only work we have for them at present. It will save $7,000,000 a year to the government, no small item when we remember that our revenues are so low that there has been talk of reviving the income tax in order to meet current expenses.

If Johnson's Anodyne Liniment is half as valuable as people say it is, 1.0 family should be without it. Certainly no person, be he lawyer, doctor, minister, or of any other profession, should start on a journey without it. No sailor, fisherman, or woodsman should be without it. In fact, it is needed wherever there is an ache, sprain, cut, bruise, cough and cold.
