-A. T. Stewart's anual cadvertising bill is about half a million.

-A dispatch announces frost in Maine on Monday morning last.

It is said that the mind of Mrs. Ross, the mother of the missing child, is becoming disordered through her trouble

Rev. John S. Glendenning, of Jersey City, has been under arrest, charged with the seduction of the church organist. The lady died on Tuesday, and on her death bed charged Glendenning with his guilt. He however persists in his denials, and exhibits a paper signed with her name, asserting his innocence. This paper. she affirmed before her death, he had forced her to sign by holding a pistol at her head. Public sentiment runs high against Glendenning.

Monday night some miscreants entered the stable of Patrick Dwyer at New York, and stabbed nine fine horses. Six were found dead when the foreman entered in the morning, and three others are not expected to live. Each horse was stabbed in the flank. The society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals offered a reward of one hundred dollars for such information as will lead to the arrest and conviction of the offenders. The three horses lay writhing in agony and giving utterance to their disress by pitiful grons.

The New Orleans Picayune is much alarmed at the possibility of a labor exodus which it fears as a consequence of the violence of the white leaguers in that State. It dislikes to see the negro depart for Texas, leaving waste the fields where he might have labored well; but it dreads also to have him remain. From the testimony of the Picayune and other Louisians papers it would seem that the colored laborers, with their wives and families, are rapidly leaving many sections of the State, and that they are urged to that course by the hostile attitude of their white fellow-citizens.

A one-legged soldier, a Mormon, recently asked Brighrm Young to supply, by a miracle, the missing limb; the apostle not to be caught made this reply: "I can in an instant produce a new leg in the place of the old one, but then, you see, if I do, it will cause great inconvenience to you in Heaven, for after your exaltation to glory the original leg will come back to the spiritualized body, mine also being of divine origin becomes immortal, and, in this case, observe how very awkward a three-legged angel from Utah would appear among the inhabitants of the eternal world!"

The New York Independent last week for the first time took notice, editorially, of the proceedings against Mr. Beecher and his formal defence. It expresses such a judgment as the friends of Mr. Beecher, and those who believe in the innocence of the charge against him, will be glad to hear. No other newspaper in the country could speak from a more abundant knowledge of the history of the case than the Independent: for Mr. Bowen has long been in the most intimate relations with all the parties and the opinion of no other journal will begin to receive the attention and respect to which it is entitled. Mr. Bowen is no partisan of Mr. Beecher, but he has the fairness and the candor to say, what is apparent to so many others, that the case against him so far has failed.

A war of races seems to have begun in good earnest in Garrard county. Ky. The despatches are too vaugely alarming to obtain credence for exact circumstantiality, but they convey definite information of fighting. Hostilities have been going on since Wednesday, and on given of harm done. The troubles have arisen from political differences between Sellers, a Republican, and Kennedy, Democrat. Sellers has about him fifty negroes and whites, armed with Spencer rifles, entrenched near his house, which was burned. Gov.Leslie has called out the militia. and two hundred and fifty men have left Louisville for the seat of war. The report of casualties presents the usual characteristics - five negroes killed and several wounded. Another account states that firing on the negroes has been kept up all the evening, and that the burning of Seller's house was with intent to burn up the negroes, who are surrounded. It is reported that some United States troops who attempted to suppress the riot were fired on by both parties. The white man who was killed was a brother-in-law of Kennedy and one of his adherents. The trouble grew out of a contested election case for the office of Clerk of the Circuit Court.

. New York, August 24.-Mr. Morris. Theadore Tilton's counsel, is to-day preparing complaints against various newspapers, which, it is claimed, have published libelous articles against Mr. Tilton, The damages are laid at $50,000 each .-The only papers named as yet are the Brooklyn Eagle and New York Tribune and World. The suit against H. W. Beecher will te the first prosecuted .-Messrs. Tracy, Sherman and Sterling are

With a manner of very pleasant simplicity and precision a writer in the Penn Monthly relates of the perils of modern Quakerism. If we may believe him. the Quakers in the South during the re bellion suffered nearly as deeply as did their ancestors in old Colonial days and under the thumbs of the royal Charleses. The Southern Quaker wouldn't fight, and wouldnt't pay his exemption tax, conse quently he was dragged into the ranks and mild means failing to make him car ry bayonet or spade, he was tortured after fashions that recall the agreeable ways of Claverhouse. Instance after instance is is told of the passive but resolute resistance these thoroughly believing men made .-After all manner of punishments had proved of no use, one of them was led before a squad of men to be shot. As the order to fire came to the officer's lips, the Friend raised his hands and said simply "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do." No one fired ; the soldiers said they "could not shoot such a man." These stubborn Quakers would not run a way; imprisonment had no effect upon them; and in sheer despair furloughs were given them because they were impediments, of no use to the army. It is a pleasure, in these somewhat flabby days. to read of the absolute devotion with which these men are represented as clinging to their convictions.

IMPROVING WHEAT SEED.-A writer says: It has been my practice for the last 18 years to run my wheat for seed over a very coarse seed screen, so as to show nonbut the largest kernels. By so doing I have improved my wheat so as to have sold nearly all of it at home for seed. But in 1872 I hit upon a new plan, I had a piece of Tredwell wheat that was injured by insects in the previous fall and was killed by freezing in the winter, so that there were spots not worth cutting. After harvest I observed a few scattered heads of unusual size. It occurred to me that there was wheat that had withstood the ravages of the insects and rigor of the winter. I gathered enough to sow one rod square, from which I realized twenty pounds of wheat, unusually large, even berry, which was at the ratio of over fifty bushels to the acre; last harvest I had twenty bushels which weighed sixty-six pounds per bushel. It is my opinion, we realize the best crops from the best and most perfect seed in the vegetable as well as the animal kingdom.

FOR POLITICAL EFFECT.—For severa weeks past we have had telegraphic des patches from the South announcing startling stories of negro rlots, from which we might suppose that an alarming state of affairs exists in that unreconstructed region. (And such a state of affairs does exist, so far as the safety of the negroes are concerned.) We hear of negroes taking possession of a town, and a small sized army of whites, with Generals, Colonels and other officers, was gotten up to cap ture or kill. But when the truth comes out, all these reports turn out to be lies, gotten up no doubt for political effect.-And what is most remarkably strange, when there is any riot or bloodshed it always turns out that no one but negroes are killed or wounded. Is it not strange that if negroes are the aggressors, as these reports would have us believe, that the whites always escape injury. Let justice be done.

The Hagerstown Twice A Week makes the following true remarks: It is popularly thought that anybody, good, bad or indifferent, is capable of teaching small children, but it is a great mistake to suppose so. It is more important to start right than to be very particular afterward. A competent teacher can lay a foundation that will not give way in after life half so readily as it otherwise would. It is also a mistake to frequently change teachers. When a child has become familiar with its instructor, it has to commence over again to know a new one, if sent to another school.

He told her that she had been guilty of a double murder, (from evidence the child was alive when taken from Miss Ross,) for which she might have been tried, but that she had been convicted only of abortion, which was a statutory offence, and the statute left the court a large discretion in inflicting the punishment. Knowing, there fore, her circumstances, the court would impose no fine, but would sentence her to six years imprisonment in the penitentiary, which was far short of an adequate pun ishment of her crime. As to her child he said the court had taken all precautions to have that cared for and put under proper persons and properly educated away from her contaminating influences, and that she ought to look upon it as a mercy that the little one was taken from her.—Pitot.
