Railroad cars are henceforth to be supplied with bibles by the American Bible Society.

This is said. A Louisiana minister says he won't change his shirt until this Beecher business is settled.

P. T. Barnum, the showman, was married Wednesday morning, to a daughter of John Fisk, of Southport, England.

Hon. A. H. Boteler of W. Va. will deliver the annual address before the Washington County, Md., Agricultural Society next month.

Rev. Thomas Guard, of Baltimore, the distinguished Irish Orator, has become entirely blind, by the bursting of a blood vessel connected with the eye nerves. So says an exchange.

In a single county in Vermont there are ninety-five farms vacant, and one hundred and thirty-five abandoned farm houses. Lack of railroad facilities is the cause assigned for this wholesale exodus of farmers.

The Baltimore American declares that it has retired from the field disgusted, and resolved to have nothing more to do with party affairs, and that those who worked to build up the Republican party in Maryland have no more influence at Washington than a procession of newboys and bootblacks.

On the 2d inst., at Sycamore, Wyo., and on the 2d inst., at Sycamore, Wyo., thirteen leading ladies of the village went into the only saloon there, carried out all the liquors, knocked in the heads of casks, poured contents on the ground, and warned the proprietor that if he sold any more to minors or drunkards they would tar and feather him.

Moulton and Tilton take it turn about in hashing up fresh details of the Brooklyn scandal. The latter on Friday issued another long manifesto against Beecher, utterly unfit for publication. Miss Proctor meanwhile has brought suit against Moulton for libel in alleging criminal intercourse between her and Beecher, laying her damages at $100,000.

Despatches from Rock Island, Ill., report great damages to property in the vicinity of those cities during the storm of last week. A freight train on the Illinois Central Railroad ran into a bank caused by the flood. The engine was completely wrecked, and the brakeman was killed, and the engineer and fireman were fatally injured.

In many of the Western States, political parties are wonderfully cut up and divided and sub-divided into rings and factions. In Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, Kansas and Wisconsin, etc. besides the regular Republican and Democratic parties, there are Graeger and Independent nominations, Liberal Republicans and Reform Democrats, Prohibitory License laws and People's Party men. Among such a mass of political conglomeration it is very difficult to tell what will be the result in November.

REMARKABLE FREAK OF LIGHTNING.—A correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, writing from Upperville, Va., September 9th, gives the following account of a disastrous stroke of lightning:

During a thunder storm yesterday evening Colonel R. B. Bolling had thirteen horses killed instantly by lightning—nine colts and four horses—none of them under two years old, and some of the finest stock in the country. The most remarkable part of it was the position of the horses. I saw them just as they had fallen, within a space of fifteen feet square, nearly all touching each other. There were in the field twenty-two horses, but whether all were together it could not be ascertained; the probability is that they were not, as the others did not appear to be affected. There were no trees where the horses stood, but each one stood with its head in the same direction, evidently gathered together in consequence of the hail that fell during the storm.

They are still talking about the Prince of Wales' extravagances. The latest story is that the three principal creditors of the Prince are the Duke of Sutherland, Mr. Poole, the tailor, and Mr. Lawson, the principal proprietor of the Daily Telegraph. The Prince had about £1,000,000 saved up for him when he attained his majority. He has ever since had an income of about £120,000 a year. His wife is not extravagant. But now he is in debt to the tune of £1,000,000, and it is a great mystery where the money has gone to. In about twelve years he has managed to spend more than three and a quarter millions sterling, or nearly $17,000,000. This is the insignificant looking youth who was over here not many years ago.

VICE PRESIDENT WILSON was observed among the attendants at the Universalist Convention in New York, and being called to the platform declared that though not of the Universalist faith he was in sympathy with the Assembly as with any association of men who might be striving to do good and advance the world.

Slight frost on Wednesday morning.

THE SITUATION SOUTH.—The news from New Orleans last week was of a most startling character.

There had been a troublesome state of affairs there for a couple of years, two parties claiming the office of Governor, Kellogg and McEnery, but the President decided in favor of the Kellogg administration. A mass meeting of White Leaguers was held on Monday and business in the city generally suspended. A demand was made on Gov. Kellogg to resign his office which he refused. Armed bodies assembled, and fighting began. The police force under Gen. Longstreet were put to flight, six or eight citizens and about as many police being killed. On Tuesday morning the entire Kellogg forces surrendered, Kellogg and Longstreet taking refuge in the Custom House, D.B. Penn, the Lt. Gov. on the McEnery ticket assumed the reins of authority, and issued orders, proclamations, &c. The President, however, being notified, promptly issued his proclamation giving the insurgents five days to disperse or take the consequences; and with this manifesto, according to latest accounts, they have complied and the Kellogg administration is again in authority.

Governor Kellogg has resumed the office from which he was driven by force a week since, and is re-establishing the authority of the State Government as best he can. Two thousand United States troops have already arrived, and more are on their way, so that there need be no apprehension of another outbreak in New Orleans, although there may trouble in some of the country parishes if the White League officials, who made haste to take possession of the offices from which the rightful incumbents had been expelled, refuse to surrender the same. A committee representing the leading men of both parties had a conference on Saturday for the purpose of arriving at some satisfactory solution of existing difficulties. The White Leaguers pretend that the registration law gives the Kellogg party an unfair advantage in the pending election, and Governor Kellogg professes a willingness to make any reasonable concessions to satisfy them that no fraud is contemplated. On the other hand, McEnery and his friends are asked to stop the proscription and violence to which Republicans, white and black, are subjected.

A most heart-rending catastrophe occurred at Fall River, Massachusetts, on Saturday. A large cotton factory, called "Granite Mill, No. 1," took fire from the machinery used in one of the upper rooms, and owing to the combustible nature of the oil used in the machinery, the flames were communicated to the main stairway in an instant, rendering it impossible for the operatives on the upper floors to pass down. Some of them rushed to the elevator, but it would not work. Those that had sufficient presence of mind then ran to the fire-escape ladders, and descended in safety; but many of the girls and children threw themselves from the upper windows and were dashed to pieces by the fall. Some were let down by ropes, others jumped on mattresses hastily collected from the dwellings near the mill, and were saved. When the firemen arrived and put up their ladders, a great many clambered down and thus escaped a terrible death. It has not been definitely ascertained how many perished, some accounts placing the number as high as seventy-five. The factory was only partially destroyed. This dreadful disaster will, no doubt, lead to a careful inquiry into the manner of constructing large cotton mills, and the means provided for the escape of the inmates in case of fire. In this instance the appliances seem to have been entirely inadequate.

Mrs. Isaac A. Appleton of Selzburg, Mich., met with a sad fate. Noticing a squirrel on the gate post, she took her husband's double-barreled shot gun cocked both barrels stood in the doorway, fired one barrel and killed the squirrel. While putting the gun down the other barrel accidentally discharged. The contents passed through her heart. The husband witnessed the shooting of the squirrel, and started for the house to congratulate her on her marksmanship. He was met at the door by his wife, who exclaimed with uplifted hands, "I'm shot. I'm shot." She fell dead at his feet.

Moulton has made another statement. He goes into a lengthy argument to disprove Beecher's black-mailing charge, and winds up with what he gives as a confession by Beecher of having committed adultery with another woman besides Mrs. Tilton.

It is said that Beecher will take immediate legal proceedings against Moulton for libel.

The Legislature to be elected the ensuing fall will be the first under the new Constitution, and will consist of double the number of members that composed the Legislature heretofore.

A total eclipse of the moon will take place on the 24th and 25th of October. It will commence at 11.43 P. M. on the 24th, and end at 4.48 A. M. on the 25th.

A man to be known must keep his name before the people. He must let them know where he is, and what he is doing.

O. W. Good of this vicinity who has been dealing in horses for some time passed our office on Monday, with one of the finest looking animals we have yet noticed on our streets. Mr. G. confines his operations to first-class stock. Persons wanting a good riding or driving horse will not go amiss to give him a call.

The Pavilion recently erected at Blue Ridge Station, on the W. M. R. R., by Hon. J. L. Chapman, was opened with a picnic on Monday last and ended with a cotillion party in the evening. The attendance we learn was large, persons being present from Baltimore, Westminster, Emmitsburg, Hagerstown and other points along the line of the road. The Band of the 6th Maryland Regiment was in attendance, and the music furnished is represented as having been grand.

GONE SOUTH.—J. W. Jameson well known to many of our citizens who has been sojourning at Monkton, Md. for sometime, encloses $5 and requests that his paper be forwarded to Hustonville, Lincoln Co., Kentucky, where he expects to spend the fall and coming winter season at saddle business. During the last thirty years Mr. J. spent a considerable portion of his time in our town. At his particular branch of business he is excelled by few if any workmen, and is withal, a clever and intelligent gentleman.

BUSINESS COLLEGE.—We are pleased to learn that Prof. A. M. Trimmer, of the Dickinson Inland Chain of Business Colleges, has decided upon Chambersburg as a permanent location for one of his Institutions. This College we understand will be first class in all its departments, including a regular Telegraph Institute, supplied with circuit of wire and instruments. Open Oct. 1st, 1874.

For circulars giving particulars, write enclosing green postage stamp. Address: A. M. Trimmer, Chambersburg, Pa.

SEEDING.—The farmers in this section of the county are more tardy than heretofore about seeding their ground. The work has not been commenced here yet. This is owing to the partial and in some instances complete failure of the early sowing for the past few years by the ravages of the fly.

According to the last Mechanicstown Clarion, the Frederick county farmers would seem to be on the other extreme. The Clarion says: "Some of the wheat sown in August and the 1st of September is up and looking well. Some have expressed their fears if warm weather prevails, it will be subject to the ravages of the fly. A few farmers are not yet done sowing, preferring a later day to an earlier one."

PREMIUM AWARDED.—We are gratified to be able to announce that at the State Fair recently held at Cincinnati, Ohio, the first premium was awarded to Messrs. Frick & Co. of this place for their Steam Engine, "Eclipse," over all competitors. We understand there were some forty engines on exhibition. In consequence of late improvements added their sales have been largely increased, and this last flattering testimonial will doubtless have the effect to still further extend their sales. The fact that this premium was awarded among strangers and over the great engine builders of the west speaks favorably for Messrs. Frick & Company's Steam Engine Works.

PERSONAL.—Dr. T. D. French, of Vicksburg, Miss., is now on a brief visit to his friends in this place. In a day or two he expects to return to the South with his family.

On Sunday last, communion occasion, the Pastor of the Presbyterian Church, was assisted by his uncle, Rev. O. O. McClean, D. D. of Lewistown. During his stay the Bev. gentleman favored the congregation with several very able and instructive discourses.

WASHINGTON COUNTY AGRICULTURAL FAIR.—The annual exposition of the Washington County Agricultural and Mechanical Association will take place on the 13th, 14th, 15th, and 16th of October, and it promises to be the best that has occurred for many years. The officers of the association seem to be sparing no expense to make it a success, and several new features will be introduced. The premiums have been increased in nearly all departments, and the grounds are being put in a condition that will make visitors comfortable. Every provision will be made to accommodate for the accommodation of their stock, machinery, products, goods, &c.—General Grant, and Cabinet have been invited, as well as other prominent men of the country the most of whom have consented to be present. A large attendance is expected, and should the weather be favorable it is thought it will take the lead in county fairs of this state for the present season.

ANOTHER RAILROAD PURCHASE.—On Monday last the Hanover and York Short Line Railroad Company purchased the controlling interest, or 367 shares of stock in the Littlestown railroad for $50,000. This road connects with the Hanover and York Short Line road at Hanover, and extends to the Maryland line, where it connects with the Frederick and Pa. Line Railroad. The Hanover Branch Railroad Company owns the remaining shares in the Littlestown road.—Con.

RELIC.—Whilst strolling over Roundtop, a few days ago, Mr. Melchior Soeks found a gold watch. His foot, disturbing some leaves exposed it to view. It is a Geneva "railroad time-keeper," considerably blackened, and was doubtless lost during the battle, in July, 1863.—Com.

The Ross abduction case, which has caused so much talk and so profuse a waste of public sympathy, is at last approaching the conclusion which shrewd observers believed it would come, and that is that there has been no abduction at all. The Germantown Telegraph, which should be good authority concerning a matter of this nature, has just published an issue, containing the following in its last issue: "In the Ross abduction case, which for months has excited this community so much and occupied so wide space in the newspapers, it is now generally believed—and was by many at the beginning—that no thieves or sharpers, for the sake of ransom, had any hand in it at all; in a word, that no crime was committed, and that the boy is not harmed or likely to be. If such is the fact then somebody has incurred a responsibility to the community which will not easily be got rid of." The Reading Eagle has also published a letter from Germantown, which purported to have been written by a neighbor of the "stricken" family, and to represent the opinions of the neighborhood generally upon the so-called kidnapping case. The writer states that about ten years ago the father of the missing child married a rich Western lady, and that during their happy days, the two boys, Walter and Charlie, were born to them. A few years ago, he says, the parents ceased to live amicably together, and finally Mrs. Ross returned to her family in the West. Subsequently another person was brought in to fill the place vacated by her, and still occupies it. After narrating substantially what is stated above, the same writer continues thus: "The following is the theory of those who know the family, and who are acquainted with Ross personally: Some months before the kidnapping Mr. Ross received letters from his first and only wife asking and demanding for the children. It will be recalled that even up to this time he had refused to show any of the letters he received, with the exception of the blackmailing note, and it will be also borne in mind that the attempt was made to steal both the children. It was not until three days after the kidnapping that the fact was made public, and at that time the child was safely in the hands of its mother or her friends in the West."

BLACK LIST.—The following individuals have swindled us out of the sums annexed to their names, or so far, at least, have refused to settle any part of their accounts, and in order that they may not successfully play the part of "dead beats" in other localities, we give the public their names, and will continue to add "a few more of the same sort" from week to week, and as they appear their names will be dropped from our list as subscribers: HENRY L.
