The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has been convicted of cruelty to animals by packing calves in a stock car so closely that some of them died, and sentenced to the full extent of the law.

The marriage of Lieut. Fred. Grant, son of the President, and Miss Honore, of Chicago, is announced to take place in the latter city on the 26th of October. The bride is a daughter of H. H. Honore, a wealthy real estate dealer, and a sister of Mr. Potter Palmer.

The Tom Thumb troupe has just made a three year's tour around the world, during which they traveled 55,480 miles, and gave 1,471 entertainments. During the trip they did not meet with a single accident, nor lose a single appointment by sickness.

While Mr. George Lines, of Long Run district, Garrett county, was engaged in cutting down a tree a few days since his two little children, aged four and six years, who were playing close by, were struck by the falling tree, killing one instantly and the other dying in half an hour.

Cleveland boasts two of the champion stinging men in America. One gave a car conductor nineteen cents for returning him $50 worth of revenue stamps; the other, when a boy restored him his pocketbook with $500 in it, invited the youngster around to a fruit stand, bought a dime's worth of peaches, gave the youth one, and put the rest in his own pocket.

A Mobile man, who, on returning home from his day's business, was surprised to receive the congratulations of his friends at his having narrowly escaped from drowning, thought it a very good omen, and laughed immoderately until he learned that they had handed his best Sunday-go-to-meeting suit to a darkey who had called to break the news, and get him some dry clothes.

In Bedford County, a decedent has left an estate which is slightly scattered around. The amount to be distributed to the legatees of Christiana Winebrenner is $4,037.14, in sums ranging from $9.40 to $221.23. There are eight heirs of three generations, residing at thirty-four different post offices, in twenty-one counties and seven states.

It is possible that to the sad mystery that now hangs over the fate of little Charlie Ross may be added another overwhelming sorrow. The father of the missing boy is seriously ill, and it is feared that his mind may become impaired. The editors of the Reading Eagle, against whom a prosecution for libel has been instituted by Mr. Ross, for publishing an article in which it was stated that the alleged abduction was a fraud, were arrested in Philadelphia and held to bail to appear and answer at the Court of Quarter Sessions. A physician appeared at the preliminary hearing and testified that Mr. Ross was unable to attend. From the account which he gave of his patient's condition, it would seem that both his reason and his life are seriously threatened by the extreme nervous prostration that has overtaken him.

Mrs. Elizabeth Condy, aged 28 years, of Baltimore city, a lady much respected, attempted to kindle a fire in her cooking stove by pouring coal oil on the wood from a can. An explosion followed, and Mrs. C. was so terribly burned that she died the same evening. She had an infant, aged ten months, in her arms at the time of the explosion, and that too, was fatally burned. The husband was also burned on the hands in his efforts to subdue the flames which consumed his wife and child.

A strange passage across the Atlantic was made last night.

THEN AND NOW.—Many persons say that Perry County taxes—wonder why taxes are higher now than formerly, and why there is so much greater scramble for office at the present time, than there was a few years ago. These things will be no longer a wonder if the prices now paid for official services are compared with former rates. When such men as Shunk, Bigler and Johnson, were Governor of Pennsylvania the Governor's salary was $3,000. Now it is $10,000. Then the Governor's messenger received $400, now $1,200. There were then no pages in either House. Now there are about seventy-five. Then the public grounds were cared for by an old man for $300 a year. Now the State pays $3,000 for that duty. To inaugurate a Governor cost $300 or $400. Now it costs $4,000. The State then contributed nothing toward the burial of a Governor, but the recent burial of an ex-Governor cost the treasury from $4,000 to $5,000.—The members of the Legislature then considered $300 sufficient pay for their services each session. The last Legislature voted themselves $1,500, and made the pay of their successors $1,000. And thus we might go on with a long list, but the above will be examples enough to show why taxes are higher and greed for office greater than in former years. The people can remedy these evils whenever they learn to consider honesty and capacity of more importance than party success.

Mr. Beecher was before the Grand Jury Saturday morning, and after answering a number of questions he certified to the correctness of the indictment for libel against Mr. Tilton. The document sets forth that Theodore Tilton, wickedly and maliciously, with intent to injure and scandalize the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher in his good name, fame and character, subjecting him to contempt and disgrace, and to provoke him and his friends to commit a breach of the peace, published on or about September 13, or caused to be published, in the Daily Graphic, and circulated in the city of Brooklyn and elsewhere, a false, scandalous and malicious libel concerning him. The Grand Jury also read to Mr. Beecher a second indictment against Mr. Tilton, which is worded similar to that found against Mr. Tilton charging him with libelling Mr. Beecher by causing the publication of false, malicious and slanderous reports in the Daily Graphic. Moulton and Tilton were to go into Court on Monday morning to answer to the indictment.

There is one conspicuous exception to the general run of full crops, this season, and that is corn. In some sections of the west where, last year, they sold corn for 20 cents a bushel or burned it for fuel, stock-raisers are buying corn now at from 50 to 60 cents. The corn crop, it is said, will not realize more than one third of the usual average. The drought which prevailed from the plains to the Atlantic until the recent rain storms may be regarded as appearing at a fortunate time. The spring and early summer rains were unusually copious in most portions of the country, and therefore the wheat and hay did well. It was certainly better to have good crops of these than to have them suffer at the gain of a great corn yield.

The large crops throughout the country make it possible for the poor to ride over the discomforts and slender resources of this winter. And if the winter prove not disastrous, we may anticipate in the spring a brisk trade movement, and the infusion of new life into various business interests that have scarcely yet recovered from last year's panic.

The following incident is related of the recent fire at Fall River: It is said that the little fellow, scarcely a dozen years old, jumped from one of the upper windows to the ground, and, when the spectators rushed forward to pick up the mangled body they were astonished to see him spring to his feet, apparently uninjured, and start on a run for his home.—Bursting into the house in breathless haste he shouted to his mother, "The mill is on fire!" and then he suddenly dropped to the floor lifeless, the fearful sixty-foot jump having resulted in fatal internal injuries which the excitement of the moment prevented his feeling.

Austin Abbott, Esq., who has given much attention to the public schools of New York, proposed some time ago premiums, not to the best scholars, but to those who made the greatest improvement. The thought was admirable, and the plan worked beautifully. Those who had the least advantages, the neglected, the dull, those who had no help at home, and many discouragements, were aroused, and "the rear guard" was brought well up toward the front. He who makes one talent earn ten may be more deserving a reward than the man who, having ten to start with, earns a hundred.

A SILENT ORATOR.—A wealthy Pittsburgh merchant is reported as having said: "I always feel happy when I am advertising, for then I know, that walking or sleeping, I have strong, though silent orator, working for me; one who never sleeps, never makes mistakes and who is certain to enter the households from which if at all, my trade must come."

WOOD.—Will some delinquent send us a load of wood within the next few days?

Messrs. Hess & Bro. will have a supply of lime on hand after Monday next.

RELIGIOUS.—Services in St. Paul's Reformed Chapel (Rev. Wm. C. Schaeffer, Pastor) next Sunday morning and evening. Sunday School in the afternoon.

HOME AGAIN.—Mr. L. S. Forney who had been on a Western pleasure tour for six or eight weeks, returned home on Friday evening last, in good health and delighted with his trip.

The witty editor of the Boonesboro Odd Fellow gets off the following: Waynesboro boasts of a heat that weighs six pounds. Boonesboro can heat that heat. We have one here that weighs about 170 pounds—he is a "dead beat."

THAT "BLACK LIST."—A reader of the Record for seven years, who so far failed to pay as a penny, writes: "I'll settle my account in full within the next twenty days. Don't put my name on that list." Twenty days will be in time, but we advise him not to extend pay-day much beyond, as we purpose a general weeding out of this class of patrons.

RETURNED.—Our young friend, Mr. H. C. Barr, for two years a student at the Royal Veterinary College of Glasgow, Scotland—interesting extracts from whose letters we have been publishing from time to time—returned to this place on Wednesday of last week, in fine spirits but somewhat reduced in flesh. Mr. B. completed his studies in April last; the most of the time since he spent in traveling, visiting London, Dublin, and other places of note in the United Kingdom. The character of the Glasgow College, at which he graduated, ought to be sufficient of itself to commend him to favor as a veterinary surgeon wherever he may locate.—He will remain here for a few months when he purposes looking up himself a permanent location. He can in the meantime however be consulted in reference to diseases of domestic animals of all kinds.

DECEASED.—We are called upon to announce the death of another aged citizen, that of Mr. Alex. Hamilton, which took place at his residence about 8 o'clock on Sunday evening last. His health had been gradually failing him for several months. Mr. H. was a man of more than ordinary energy and business tact and for upwards of forty years had ranked among the most prominent and useful citizens of our town. The M. E. church, of which he had long been an exemplary member, and the community generally, in his death have sustained a serious loss. On Wednesday his remains were escorted to the M. E. Church burying ground for interment by a large procession of friends and neighbors. He had attained to the ripe age of 81 years, 7 months and 13 days.

On Friday evening last Mrs. Jane Frey, consort of John Frey, late of this borough, died, departed this life at the age of 66 years and 20 days. The deceased had also been a consistent member of the M. E. Church for many years. She had been a great sufferer having been confined to her room for about three years with dropsy. On Sunday morning her remains were interred in the M. E. Church burying ground, the citizens of the town generally joining the friends in the funeral procession, which was one of the largest witnessed for a long time.

P. S. Since the above was in type we received an interesting communication on the death of Mr. Hamilton which will be found in another column over the signature of "B."

The following items we copy from the last Public Opinion: Ex-Sheriff J. W. Taylor and wife start on a trip this week to be absent several months among their children in Indiana, Kansas, and Missouri. He disposed of his residence on Queen street to Mr. Charles Ludvig for $2,800 and also sold some of his personal property, but it is his purpose to return to Chambersburg.—We wish them a pleasant journey and safe return.

REAL ESTATE.—The assignees of Jacob Stouffer, Messrs. Scott, Armstrong, and Stewart, sold the Middlesex property in Cumberland county at an adjourned sale last week for $38,000. Purchasers, Embrie, Knisley, Witmer and Brennon.—The total amount realized from the real estate of Mr. S. in Cumberland county was $40,735.00.

ALMSHOUSE REPORT.—The expenditures at the Almshouse during the last month are as follows: Dry goods, $60.19; groceries, $31.99; beef cattle, 150; pork, $22.05; shoes and shoemaking, $24.15; hats, $11.20; hardware, $6.90; tinware, $18.47; saddlery, $6.40; cider vinegar, $11.26; coal for fuel, $23.97; bedsteads, $45; stationary and postage, $2.05; peaches, $9.07; wages $45; blacksmithing, $3.92; crocks, $4.80; brooms, 6; grinding grain, $3.67; drugs, $39.12; removals, and justice's fees, $23.39; O. D. P's coffee, $10; support of O. D. P., $312.50; officers' salaries, $336.30; Meals furnished to Tramps, 627; Number of inmates 127.

DEATH OF MR. HAMILTON.—Alexander Hamilton, Esq., one of the oldest citizens of this place closed his earthly pilgrimage in great peace on last Sabbath evening, at ten minutes before 7 o'clock, aged 81 years, 7 months and 13 days.

Mr. Hamilton commenced business in Waynesboro when a young man—afterwards was united in holy wedlock to his recently departed wife, with whom he lived nearly fifty-four years. They were blessed with a large family of children, some of whom have preceded them to the spirit world. Sometime after they were married he was led by the providence of God to realize more fully the necessity and importance of securing immediately a personal interest in the atoning merits of the Lord Jesus Christ as his Saviour, which he did during a severe affliction to the full satisfaction of his mind, and afterwards united with the Methodist Episcopal Church of this place, of which his wife had been a worthy and exemplary member before they were married; here they lived and worshiped their God happily together until last February, when she preceded him to the rest above, at the age of 73 years, 9 months and 26 days.—From the time of Mrs. Hamilton's death he began evidently to fail and continued growing more feeble until his son Alexander, who had been a severe sufferer for many years with spinal affection, was called from suffering to rest, about one month before him, aged 33 years, 7 months and 7 days. After that he continued to fail more rapidly until he calmly and peacefully fell asleep in Jesus in the presence of all his surviving children and most of his grand-children.

Mr. Hamilton as a business man was strictly honest, honorable and energetic. Punctuality was one of the leading traits of his life; he was punctual to his family and private religious duties; the fire upon the family altar never went out until he became too feeble to speak or kneel in prayer. As a neighbor he was kind and obliging; the poor around him were made to rejoice by his deeds of kindness and charity. As a friend he was true and earnest, having the confidence and esteem of all with whom he dealt, and all who had the privilege of sharing his friendship can never forget the substantial expression of his attachments.

His society was agreeable though he was naturally of a modest, retiring disposition; his motto was business before pleasure, which he practiced through life.—Firmness and energy marked his long life.—His views were broad and positive, a man of great moral strength who delighted in the promotion of just, laudable, and righteous undertakings. In his death the church in which he was long an active member has lost an upright and faithful friend, the family a kind father, a wise and safe counselor and the community a liberal and enterprising citizen. He will be missed. May the mantle of his many virtues rest upon his descendants to the latest generation.

Another Charley Ross.—There was much excitement on Tuesday night on the train bound south from Charlottesville, Virginia. In the palace was a gentleman who had stopped aboard at Charlottesville with a child muffled from head to foot in shawls. Before the train had gone far the occupants in the other compartments of the car heard a child's cry, then another. Then came the angry tones of a man's voice, "You are not Charlie; you are Tommie; and if you make any more noise I'll throw you out of the window." "I want to go to mamma. I am her own Charley," the child was heard to say. Then blows were heard, and a passenger said, "It is little Charley Ross," and a rush was made. The man was dragged from his compartment, and the ladies sprang forward and got their arms about the child. They removed the covering from his face and found that instead of Charlie Ross they had in their embrace the wooden automaton with which the ventriloquist Wyman is wont to amuse the public. The practical joker was Wyman himself, who was on his way to Lynchburg.

The Rochester Union says: "The northern half of the Union, with every element of wealth and prosperity—with its shops turning out the results of mechanical skill, and the fields blossoming with abundant harvests—is in a state of stagnation because of the condition of the South; for it is as much against reason to expect that one-half of the country can be in a sickly condition, approaching death, and the other half in a healthy condition, with vigorous life, as to expect that one-side of one's body can be a mass of putrefaction and the other side a type of perfection."

INFORMATION WANTED.—A man named Jno. McKnight left his home at Dudley, Pa., in the month of June, 1867, since which time no tidings have been learned of his whereabouts. Any information concerning the missing man, whether he be dead or alive, will be thankfully received by his brother, Lawrence McKnight, at Dudley, Huntingdon county, Pa.

G. W. Dively, postmaster at Phillipsburg, Centre county, Pa., was arrested a few days ago by the U. S. authorities for embezzling money order funds and stealing money from registered letters. He had put in $1500 bail on the first charge, and while looking for bail on the second charge, he made his escape but was afterwards retaken and sent to Pittsburgh. He was a member of the M. E. Church, a leader of the choir, and of apparently irreproachable character.
